STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S REPORT.

July 1, 1926.

The Hon. Friend Wm. Richardson,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

Dear Sir: Under the provisions of section 1928, Political Code of California, I submit my report of activities of this department for the period July 1, 1920, to June 30, 1926. This report includes the administration of a former State Adjutant General from July 1, 1920, to November 30, 1923.

Very respectfully,

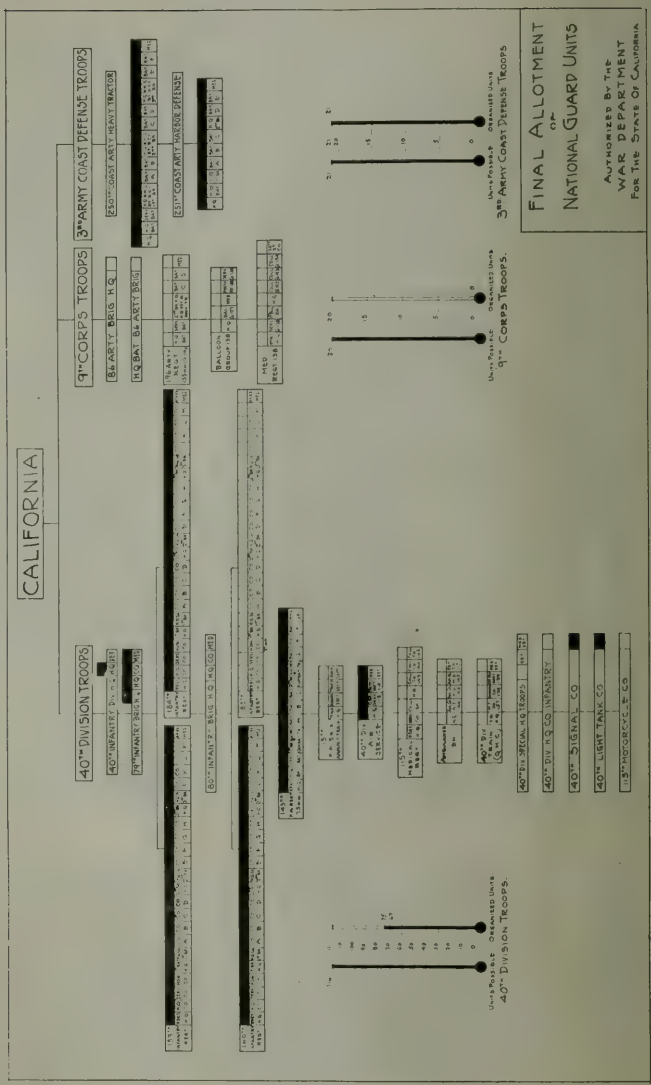
R. E. MITTELSTAEDT,
Brigadier General, C. N. G.,
The Adjutant General.

EFFICIENCY, STRENGTH AND STATION OF NATIONAL GUARD UNITS.

Report of this department covering the operation of the National Guard and California High School Cadet Corps is hereby submitted. The report includes statistical data of the administration of former Adjutant General J. J. Borree up to and including November 30, 1923.

The morale, discipline and efficiency of our National Guard has never been better. This is demonstrated by the drill attendance which has increased from a monthly average of 45 per cent in 1923 to an average of over 72 per cent in 1926, by the excellent showing made and attendance at the camps of instruction (1926 attendance 4282 or 82.67 per cent) and the annual armory inspections made by the War Department. Out of a total of 82 units the 1926 inspections indicate that 49 units were very satisfactory, 32 satisfactory and only 1 unsatisfactory.

The National Guard is no longer purely a state force, but is recognized with the regular army as our country's first line of defense. It provides an adequate and effective force available for use by the States or United States in times of emergency and is a component of the Army of the United States in time of war. The Governor is the commander-in-chief of the National Guard until called or drafted into the service of the United States.



The National Defense Act of 1916, as amended June 4, 1920, fixed the strength of the National Guard at 435,000 men or 800 men per senator or representative. However, due to the necessity of reducing expenditures, a modified program, which fixed the strength at 250,000 men, was agreed upon. This strength was to have been reached by June 30, 1926, but the plan was not carried out, due to the lack of federal financial support. On September 30, 1924, the National Guard strength was 189,722. The War Department suspended the organization of new units and reduced the number of authorized armory drills from 60 to 48 per year. The allotment of divisional and army troops of California, under the modified program, is 7535 and 1634 corps troops. (See Chart A.) This state has been the most backward of all states in organizing its National Guard. The Fortieth Division, the greater portion of which is allotted to our state, is less than 70 per cent complete whereas the seventeen other National Guard Divisions are more than 90 per cent complete. The Guard has been increased from 3200 to 4231, the present maximum strength authorized by the War Department, since January 1, 1924.

ARMORIES.

There are four state-owned armories in the state and thirty which are leased or rented. The state-owned armories are located at Los Angeles, Stockton, Sacramento and San Francisco. The arsenal is located on the ground floor of the Sacramento Armory.

The forty-sixth legislature appropriated $100,000 each for the completion of the Los Angeles and San Francisco armories. These buildings, although erected in 1914, had never been completed or roofed. These amounts proved insufficient and the Governor and Board of Control granted deficiency appropriations amounting to $20,000 for the San Francisco Armory and $60,000 for the Los Angeles Armory.

The additional money secured for the San Francisco Armory will not complete the building but is sufficient to install the roof. A considerable revenue could be derived by renting this building to outside interests if it were completed.

State-owned armories to replace the buildings which are leased temporarily would greatly increase the efficiency of the National Guard and would prove an economical measure. San Jose, San Diego, Long Beach, Oakland, Berkeley and many other cities are badly in need of such armories.

The Attorney General, in a decision to this office, held that neither the Adjutant General, nor any other state agency or department, had authority to rent or lease armories to outside interests. If authority was vested in the Adjutant General to rent armories at such times when they were not required by the National Guard to other interests a large revenue would accrue to the state. (See recommendations.)

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.

The office of The Adjutant General at Sacramento has been entirely reorganized and is now conducted as a well organized military headquarters.

The maintenance of records, handling of mail, distribution of orders, regulations, answering of correspondence, etc., is so conducted as to keep The Adjutant General's office as well as the organization and personnel files up to date.

This improvement has resulted in bringing about a stricter attention to administrative duties by regimental headquarters and organizations.

CIVIC INTEREST.

The interest manifested in organizations by communities is a particularly pleasing improvement. Three years ago there was an almost entire lack of this interest, while now in many communities an active interest is manifested by civic organizations and town and city authorities.

No one thing is of greater importance to the Guard than the knowledge that a community is back of the local organizations and approve of their aims and objects.

PERSONNEL.

The personnel of the Guard, both commissioned and enlisted, has steadily shown improvement in class. Officers and men are now more carefully selected—this being made possible by the fact that formerly in order to secure officers and keep the organizations filled with enlisted men it was necessary to accept practically all those who applied, while now applications greatly exceed requirements and the chance to pick and choose is offered. The yearly turnover, while still leaving much to be desired, is being steadily reduced.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 20.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, March 29, 1924.

The following is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

Major Joseph P. McQuaide, Chaplain, 250th Artillery, Coast Artillery Corps, California National Guard, died today in Los Angeles, California.

Major McQuaide was exceptionally gifted for his position as Chaplain, which he so long and honorably held, because of his manliness, his bearing as an officer, and his deep interest and sympathy with all other officers and enlisted men with whom he ever came in contact. He was a man of sterling character; always courteous, always cheerful, ever mindful of the best interests of his comrades, no matter what their rank, and ready to give the last bit of his energy for their welfare. He was not only respected and honored, but also deeply beloved by officers and enlisted men alike.

A marked characteristic was the universality of his interest and sympathy. While always true to his own religious convictions, he never allowed creed to make the slightest difference in his ministrations as Chaplain. He was a brother to all men; hated cant; he was genuineness personified. Although he was a man of very high attainments, the lowliest man in the service who knew him felt perfectly at home in his presence. No one could know him without saying to himself "Here, indeed, is a true friend." Major McQuaide's life was devoted to service to his fellow man. His finest monument are the words he so well exemplified and fulfilled, "Whosoever will be great among you, let him be your minister."

Chaplain McQuaide was born in Boston, Mass., July 5, 1867. He was at one time rector of Sacred Heart Church, San Francisco, Cal. In addition to attending the public schools in San Francisco, Cal., he was a graduate of Sacred Heart College, San Francisco, Cal.; Santa Clara University, Santa Clara, Cal., and St. Mary's University, Baltimore.

Major McQuaide served as Chaplain in the 1st Infantry, California National Guard, and the California Coast Artillery Corps, and was drafted into the United States service with the latter organization for the World War, on August 5, 1917, having seen service in France with the 62d Coast Artillery Corps, and was honorably discharged on March 3, 1919. He also served as Captain and Chaplain with the 8th Army Corps, Philippine Islands, in 1899 and 1900. Following his discharge from the World War service he was commissioned Captain and Chaplain, December 31, 1920, and attached to the California Coast Artillery Corps, and was promoted to Major (Chaplain) on November 14, 1922, which position he held at the time of his death. Prior to his discharge from the World War service Chaplain McQuaide was recommended for a majority by the commanding officer of the 62d Coast Artillery. He was also awarded the distinguished service medal by France.

Flags will be displayed at half staff on all National Guard Coast Artillery Armories for a period of thirty days, and the officers of the 250th Artillery will wear the usual badge of mourning for a period of thirty days from date of this order. The regimental commander will provide the prescribed escort for the funeral which will be held from St. Mary's Cathedral, San Francisco, Cal., Monday morning, March 31, 1924, at 10 o'cock.

BY ORDER OF THE GOVERNOR:

R. E. MITTELSTAEDT,
The Adjutant General.

GENERAL ORDER, No. 7½.

May 13, 1924.

1. It is with deep regret that announcement is made of the death of Captain William H. Mallett this date.

2. Captain Mallett first enlisted in the California National Guard on November 21, 1894. Since that date he served as an enlisted man in the various grades. He was first commissioned on February 10, 1908 and since that date served as a Lieutenant for two years and five months; as a Captain nine years and one and one-half months; and as a Major slightly over five years. Captain Mallett served on the California State Rifle Team for three years.

3. By direction of the Adjutant General the flag of the Armory at these Headquarters will be displayed at half mast for a period of thirty days and the officers of this command on duty in San Francisco will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days. The Commanding Officer of the 1st Battalion will make suitable arrangements for the funeral escort.

BY ORDER OF THE COMMANDING OFFICER:

JOHN L. FARLEY, Adjutant.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 38.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, June 23, 1924.

This office regrets to announce the death of Lieutenant Colonel Jacob Alexander, California National Guard, Retired Personnel Registrar in the office of The Adjutant General which occurred today at Sacramento, California.

Lieutenant Colonel Alexander has been connected with The Adjutant General's Office since 1904, serving under five administrations. His loyalty to those he served under, faithfulness and attention to his duties, won the respect and admiration of all he came in contact with.

Lieutenant Colonel Alexander was born in Sacramento, 55 years ago. He was a member of the Spanish-American War Veterans and Ancient Order of Foresters of America.

The following is his military record:

Enlisted in Battery A, 1st Artillery, N. G. C., January 31, 1890; transferred to Battery E, 1st Artillery, April 1, 1892; Sergeant Major and Staff Orderly, 4th Brigade, February 15, 1894; Sergeant Major and Staff Orderly, 3d Brigade, October 20, 1895; discharged September 22, 1897; per Special Orders, No. 31, Headquarters, 3d Brigade, November 22, 1899.

Sergeant, Company F, 6th California Volunteer Infantry, Spanish-American War, May 11, 1898, to December 15, 1898, constituting entire period of the regiment's service.

Sergeant Major (Regimental), 2d Infantry, N. G. C., April 27, 1900; commissioned 2d Lieutenant, 2d Infantry, N. G. C., January 23, 1905, qualified January 25, 1905; commissioned 1st Lieutenant, 2d Infantry, January 31, 1907, qualified February 4, 1907, recommissioned April 17, 1909, qualified April 21, 1909; commissioned Captain, 2d Infantry, N. G. C., September 23, 1910, qualified September 24, 1910; detailed Adjutant, 2d Infantry, September 24, 1910; detailed Commissary, 2d Infantry, May 29, 1911, effective June 1, 1911; commissioned Major, Adjutant General's Department, August 27, 1915, qualified August 28, 1915.

Transferred to National Guard Reserve, June 9, 1917. Returned to status of Major, Adjutant General's Department, September 18, 1917. Transferred to National Guard Reserve, December 18, 1922.

Resigned from National Guard Reserve, January 26, 1923.

Placed on Retired List January 26, 1923, with rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

BY ORDER OF THE GOVERNOR:

R. E. MITTELSTAEDT,
The Adjutant General.

DEFENSE TEST DAYS.

Upon the request of the President of the United States, through the War Department, the Governor of the state directed that the Adjutant General cooperate and take necessary steps to carry out the spirit of Defense Test Days, September 12, 1924, and July 4, 1925.

This office established headquarters in Sacramento and communicated with every city and town in the state having a population of over one thousand. Intensive, vigorous campaigns were inaugurated and the civil authorities were advised of the objects of the day. At the suggestion of this office, committees were appointed, patriotic programs arranged and parades held.

The response was generally good and practically all communities arranged some form of recognition of Defense Test Days in 1924 and 1925.

FIELD TRAINING.

Camps of Instruction.

Possibly the acid test as far as the success of the Guard is concerned, is the result of the yearly summer camps of instruction.

The camps of instruction each year since 1923 have shown a very marked improvement.

In a force such as the National Guard, two objects must be achieved: First—Camps of instruction must demonstrate that the military instruction imparted has been absorbed by the personnel attending and that the programs followed were best fitted to prepare the Guard to meet the test of mobilization and first line duty it would be required to perform if emergency required. Secondly—Camps must return to home stations personnel that is happy and contented and which will broadcast the news that as far as they were personally concerned the camps were a success and they anticipated future camps with pleasure. That these two objects were accomplished in 1925, is evident from reports received from all sources.

It must be remembered that the personnel of the Guard can take it or leave it and therefore, notwithstanding any hard-boiled old army ideas one may have, the Guard must be sold on this basis.

The outstanding features of the later camps were:

The quiet and orderly manner in which the training was conducted.

The entire absence of disorder or serious breaches of discipline—not a single instance of a serious breach of discipline having been reported.

The improved athletic and recreational activity programs followed.

The cleanliness and sanitation of camps.

The improved messing and subsistence accounting.

The better care and guarding of property and absence of losses of same.

The independence of command delegated regimental and other commanders who were given time and opportunity to follow programs and devote all their time to supervision and inspection.

A particular accomplishment in training camps was the camp of the 250th Coast Artillery at Santa Cruz, in 1925. The report of the Regular Army Inspector, Major R. R. Welshmer, who accompanied the troops, is quoted:

"The regiment secured motor transportation from various sources and put it in good condition using regimental mechanics trained in the regiment. Tractor drivers and mechanics were trained in the regiment principally on Sundays using intensive training methods. Camp was established at Santa Cruz, California, by an advance detail and the maneuver involved a 160-mile march over the steep winding grades of Santa Cruz Mountains. Camp was broken by the regiment. Both going and returning the movement was executed as shown in march graphs attached hereto. The inspector saw the first gun leave the San Francisco Armory on schedule and on return trip saw the last gun (rear of column) parked within 40 minutes of scheduled time—the delay being due to congested Saturday traffic throughout city streets of San Francisco. The regiment used the latest fire control devices—percentage corrector, impact board, deflection board, Cloke plotting board, and modified range board, all such devices, except plotting board and range board, having been manufactured locally. The regiment performed its own orientation work, laid a communication net according to Coast Artillery Board Project No. 315, conducted artillery training in accordance with the latest training regulations and Coast Artillery Board Project No. 75—Fire Control for 155 G. P. F. Guns. All these things required great initiative and careful planning. The entire plan was carried out in accordance with schedule and reflects great credit on the entire command.

The following table shows the number of officers and enlisted men attending encampments by year:

Year	Officers	Enlisted men	Total
1921	99	1592	1691

FINANCE.

Immediately upon assuming office, and at my request the State Board of Control made a complete audit of the accounts of the office of the Adjutant General and installed the standard state system of accounting. Up to this time the office had no modern system of bookkeeping and the manner of keeping accounts and handling funds was very unsatisfactory.

The practice of paying all expenses and rents of units directly from this office was discontinued and a system of budgets was installed whereby every organization was allotted a specified sum for each quarter of the fiscal year and organizations required to keep their expenditures within the amounts allotted.

General Order No. 2 was issued on January 3, 1924, which organized armory boards for the purpose of administering the financial affairs of the armories. The boards were authorized to collect from each unit quartered in the armory a pro rata share of the expenses required for the maintenance of the armory, thereby placing all armories on a self-supporting basis. Secretary-treasurers are bonded and accounts audited semiannually by a representative of this office. Over $100,000 was saved annually by this method.

A system of purchasing was installed and other economies were instituted which reduced the cost of maintaining the National Guard considerably. The following figures indicate the cost per man:

	Average strength	Total expenditure	Cost per man
73d fiscal year 1921–22	2,757	$296,361 03	$107 49
74th fiscal year 1922–23	3,493	369,392 59	105 72
75th fiscal year 1923–24	3,756	198,116 05	52 75
76th fiscal year 1924–25	4,834	238,835 97	49 41
77th fiscal year 1925–26	5,200	258,765 83	49 76

The money appropriated for the support of the National Guard by the state during the past four years has not been adequate and this office has worked under a severe handicap in this regard. It is estimated that the per capita cost should be approximately $60.00 per man. The per capita cost in California is one of the lowest in the United States. The cost in Illinois is $128.81; Pennsylvania, $128.58; New Jersey, $109.33; New York, $92.39; Massachusetts, $83.15; Connecticut, $99.30.

The federal government allotted $794,250.93 or $180 per guardsman in the National Guard in California during 1925 while the per capita cost from state funds was only $49.41.

It is also interesting to note that the value of the federal property in the hands of the California National Guard June 30, 1923, was less than $2,000,000, while today it is in excess of $4,500,000.

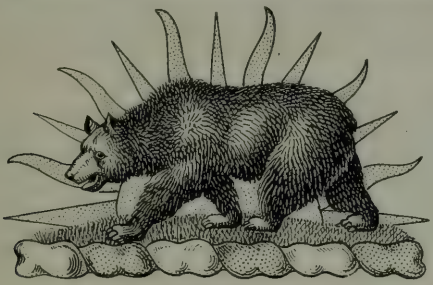
GENERAL OFFICERS.

Brigadier General J. J. Borree resigned his commission as Commanding General, 79th Infantry Brigade, on December 13, 1924. He was succeeded by Colonel David P. Barrows, Commanding 159th Infantry.

Upon the organization of the 40th Division June 18, 1926, Brigadier General David P. Barrows was promoted to the rank of Major General and assigned to command the Division. Colonel Walter P. Story, Commanding 160th Infantry, was promoted to the grade of Brigadier General and assigned to command the 79th Infantry Brigade.

Both officers passed a rigid examination prepared by the Command and General Staff School, in accordance with War Department regulations, in a highly creditable manner.

HIGH SCHOOL CADET CORPS.



This organization is supplementary to the Junior R. O. T. C. in our high schools and is maintained in seven high schools throughout the state which can not secure the R. O. T. C. units due to the lack of federal appropriation.

This corps has been reduced from two hundred and fifty to twenty-four companies and three bands since the R. O. T. C. system entered the schools and it is thought that it will not be a success as long as the cadets are required to furnish their own uniforms. The appropriation from the state is not sufficient for this purpose and strenuous efforts made by this office to secure uniforms from the federal government have not been successful.

HISTORIES, COAT OF ARMS AND SERVICE MEDALS.

As a means of promoting esprit de corps and perpetuating the history, tradition and service of each organization our National Guard organizations which are entitled to carry colors or standards under regulations of the War Department are authorized to have the shield of the Coat of Arms embroidered on the eagle's breast, the regimental motto on the scroll in the eagle's beak and the crest approved for regiments which for this state is the grizzly bear.

The blazonry and description of the crest for the National Guard of this state, approved by the Secretary of War is as follows:

BLAZONRY.

CREST: On a wreath or and gules the setting sun behind a grizzly bear passant on a grassy field all proper.

DESCRIPTION.

California, the Sunset State, the Golden Gate commonwealth; the grizzly bear was on the flag of the California Republic. The original white settlement within the state was of Spanish origin and the twists of the wreath are accordingly gold and red.

Each regiment accordingly has adopted a coat of arms and motto. Those of the 250th Coast Artillery and the 143d Field Artillery have been approved by the War Department while the others are now awaiting approval.

For the purpose of preserving the traditions and continuity of the various organizations of the National Guard of this state, the following historical record as to dates of organization and other changes affecting each unit, is published:

BRIEF WORLD WAR HISTORY OF THE 159TH INFANTRY.

The regiment entrained at Camp Kearny, California, July 28, 1918, arriving at Camp Mills, Long Island, August 4, 1918, and embarked on four transports August 7, 1918, for overseas, departing August 8, 1918, and arriving at Liverpool, England, August 20, 1918. The regiment entrained at Liverpool August 21, 1918, arriving at Winchester, England, August 22, 1918, where it entrained August 24, 1918, for Southampton, arriving there the same day and embarking to cross the English Channel, reaching La Havre, France, August 25, 1918. At La Havre, the regiment entrained for Nerondes, France, arriving August 27, 1918, where it remained until October 30, 1918, sending four-fifths of its officers and men to front line divisions as replacements, many of whom were subsequently killed or wounded. On October 30, 1918, the regiment entrained at Nerondes for Amiens, France, reaching there on November 1, and was assigned to and became part of the 2d Corps composed of the 27th and 30th Divisions, both National Guard units.

On December 27, 1918, the regiment entrained at Amiens for Cadillac, south of Bordeaux, to await transport for the United States, arriving in the United States in the spring of 1919.

The 159th Infantry was demobilized at the Presidio of San Francisco, California, May 1, 1919. The official credit for service in the World War of this regiment is, "Participation in France from August 25 to November 11, 1918.

BRIEF WORLD WAR HISTORY OF THE 160TH INFANTRY.

The regiment entrained at Camp Kearny, California, July 26, 1918, arriving at Camp Mills, Long Island, August 1, 1918. On August 7, 1918, it embarked from the port of New York, sailing for Liverpool, England, on August 8, 1918, and arriving there on August 20, 1918. It entrained at Liverpool, England, for Winchester, and from there to Southampton, where it embarked for La Havre, France. Upon arrival there the regiment entrained for La Guerche, France, remaining there until October 6, 1918, furnishing replacements to the 1st, 2d, 42d, and 77th Divisions, all front line divisions.

On November 4, the regiment entrained for Revigny, Department of Meuse, and was attached to the First Army. On January 6, 1919, it was ordered to Bordeaux to await transportation to the United States. Here it embarked on March 13, 1919, and arrived in New York on March 25, 1919, remaining at Camp Mills, Long Island, for two weeks. It then entrained for Camp Kearny, California.

The 160th Infantry was demobilized at Camp Kearny, California, April 15, 1919. The official credit for service in the World War of this regiment is "Participation in France from August 25th, to November 11, 1918."

Note—1st Field Artillery, C. N. G., was originally the 1st Sep. Bn., Field Artillery, which was expanded to a regiment on August 3, 1917.

WAR HISTORY.

World War.

The regiment entrained at Camp Kearny, California, on August 1, 1918, and arrived at Camp Mills, Long Island, on August 8, 1918. It embarked at the port of New York on August 16, 1918, and arrived at Liverpool, England, August 28, 1918, where it entrained for Southampton, August 30. At Southampton the regiment embarked to cross the English Channel, and arrived at La Havre, France, on September 1, 1918. At La Havre it entrained for Portiers and remained there ten days, after which it departed for the Artillery Camp at Camp de Souge, Gironde, near Bordeaux, for training in the service of the 75mm. gun.

Orders were received assigning the regiment to the First Army, as Army Artillery, but on account of the signing of the Armistice, the regiment did not leave the area.

The regiment began to embark at Bordeaux on December 8, 1918, and upon arrival in the United States entrained for the Presidio of San Francisco, where it was demobilized on January 28, 1919.

The official credit for service in the World War of this Regiment is, "Participation in France from August 28 to November 11, 1918."

This Battery was organized into Battery B, 65th Artillery from the enlisted personnel of the 5th, 8th, 13th and 14th Companies, Coast Artillery Corps, California National Guard. It was organized on January 1, 1918, at Fort Rosecrans, California, and left there on February 28, 1918, for overseas, going by rail to San Francisco, and thence by way of the Panama Canal to New York and Camp Merritt, New Jersey. On March 25, 1918, it embarked for Liverpool and arrived there on April 2, 1918. It then entrained for Southampton and upon arrival embarked for La Havre, France, where it entrained for Limoges, France, remaining there until July 31, 1918, when it departed for La Courtine. On August 21 it entrained for Rouvroy, remaining there until August 28, and was assigned as Army Artillery, First Army.

The Battery took position at Saint Jacques on the St. Mihiel salient on September 1, participating in the St. Mihiel offensive on September 12, from which point it moved to a new sector in the Argonne Forest, and participated in the first Argonne offensive on September 26, 1918, being in position at the Rendezvous des Chasse.

The Battery was then attached to the Seventeenth French Army Corps and took position in Ravin des Vignes on the east bank of the Meuse River, and participated in the French offensive beginning October 7, 1918.

On October 23, 1918, the Battery took position in the Bois des Forges on the west bank of the Meuse River and participated in the offensive against the Bois d'Etrayes.

On November 1, 1918, the Battery was assigned as Corps Artillery to the First Army Corps and took position at Lancou in the Argonne Forest, and operated against the enemy positions until the signing of the Armistice.

On December 25, 1918, it entrained at Rouvroy for Brest and embarked on January 15, 1919, arriving at Philadelphia on January 30, 1919. On February 11, 1919, it entrained at Camp Dix, New Jersey, for Camp Kearny, California, where it was demobilized February 20, 1919.

The battery was in the front line 72 days and fired more than 2000 rounds of high explosives and suffered 28 casualties.

CALIFORNIA GUARDSMAN (Magazine).

The first issue of this paper appeared in December, 1924, as the official state paper of the California National Guard. It is published by a board of publishers appointed by this office and the cost of publishing is met largely from money secured from advertisements. Each unit is assessed a small sum to help defray expenses.

The paper is a great success and has done much to unify our Guard and build up a splendid esprit de corps.

UNITS MUSTERED OUT OF SERVICE.

143d Ambulance Company, Berkeley, disbanded June 10, 1924. Enlisted personnel transferred to Medical Detachment, 159th Infantry.

Company D, 184th Infantry, Fresno, disbanded February 11, 1925. Below reasonable standard of efficiency.

Company F, 184th Infantry, Colusa, disbanded September 30, 1925. Below standard of efficiency.

Company G, 159th Infantry, Palo Alto, disbanded October 5, 1925. Below standard of efficiency.

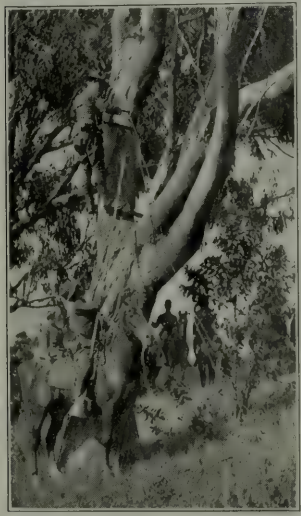
ORGANIZATION OF NEW NATIONAL GUARD UNITS SINCE JANUARY 1, 1924.

Due to a reduction in the Departmental Budget for the 75th, 76th and 77th fiscal years, it was thought that it would be impossible to add to the existing fifty-three units by organizing any of the new organizations allocated to this state by the War Department. However, after an intensive study of the situation and the adoption of a systematized and economic program in the operation of the National Guard, the state was able to organize forty new units.

During this period four units were mustered out of the state service for various reasons and reorganized in other cities on application of prominent citizens and civic organizations of such cities.

It has been the policy of this department to organize new units only in cities and communities where the project had the support and cooperation of the civic bodies as such cooperation and support is essential for the successful maintenance of the National Guard in any community.

The following named organizations are now authorized in this state by the Secretary of War and are 100 per cent organized and functioning:



Divisional Troops.

Headquarters 40th Division
Headquarters 79th Brigade
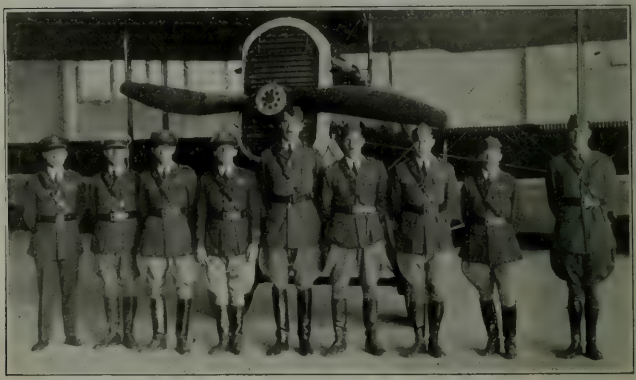
Headquarters Company 79th Brigade (Including Medical Department Detachment)
40th Division Air Corps
(Including 115th Observation Squadron, 115th Photo Section and Medical Department Detachment)
40th Signal Company
40th Tank Company
159th Infantry
160th Infantry
184th Infantry
143rd Field Artillery

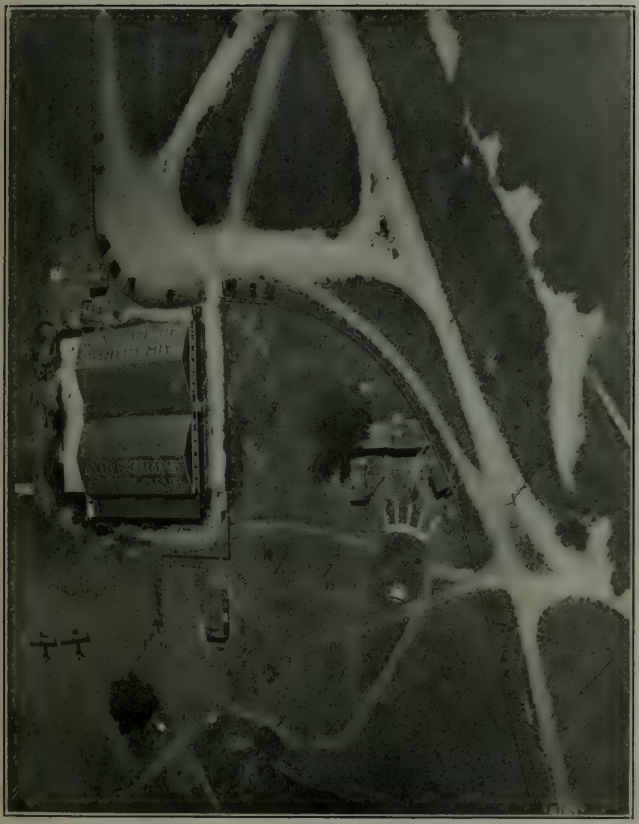
Army Troops.

250th Coast Artillery, 155 mm (T.D.)
251st Coast Artillery, (H.D.)

Headquarters 40th Division was organized June 18, 1926, with station at Berkeley. Major General David P. Barrows, formerly Commanding General of the 79th Brigade, commanding. The Headquarters 79th Brigade was moved from Berkeley to Los Angeles June 18, 1926, and is now commanded by Brigadier General Walter P. Story.



40th Signal Company Laying Telephone Lines.



AIR CORPS.

The officers of the 115th Observation Squadron, 40th Division Air Corps, which was organized at Griffith Park June 16, 1924, are all qualified aviators and were very carefully selected. Many of these officers have enviable records of service in France during the World War and a number have been decorated by our government as well as by several of the foreign governments for valor in action against the enemy.

The air port at Griffith Park was leased to the state by the city of Los Angeles without cost and through the cooperation of the city of Los Angeles, State of California and federal government, one of the best air ports in this state has been developed. The material for the hangars and other buildings was furnished by the federal government and erected by the state.

The squadron is equipped with eight J. N. Curtiss planes of an old model but these planes, however, are being gradually replaced by the federal government with the most modern type of ship.

The organization of the 40th Division Air Corps was completed by the organization of the 115th Photo Section and Medical Department Detachment on May 3, 1926.

Major C. C. Moseley who is a First Lieutenant Air Corps of the Regular Army, is in command of this organization, and also its instructor.

40TH TANK COMPANY.

This company is equipped with eight light tanks armed with one-pounder and machine guns, a radio tank and other motor equipment necessary to function as an independent unit. This arm was developed during the World War and is indispensable in dislodging machine gun nests and otherwise clearing obstacles for the Infantry. Captain Francis E. Heple is in command of the company.

INFANTRY.

When authority was received to organize, the 184th Infantry units of the 159th Infantry, which were located in the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys, were withdrawn from that regiment and formed a nucleus for the new regiment. The unassigned units located in the Bay District were assigned to the 159th Infantry. The 184th Infantry is commanded by Colonel Wallace A. Mason and the 159th Infantry by Colonel A. J. Eddy.

There have been practically no changes made in the 160th Infantry, which is located in Los Angeles and vicinity, with the exception of a change in the commanding officer, which was necessitated by the promotion of Colonel Walter P. Story to the rank of Brigadier General. This regiment is now commanded by Colonel Harcourt Hervey.

Escort of Governor Richardson to Camp Del Monte; 159th Infantry Band and 3d Battalion, 159th Infantry, Honor Battalion Chosen as Escort.

Service Company and Band, 160th Infantry.

143D FIELD ARTILLERY.

This regiment, which is a 75 mm. horse-drawn regiment, was organized as a regiment on July 30, 1924 but its formation was not completed until June 18, 1926. Colonel Marchall G. Randol is in command of the regiment. (This officer is also a Major, Field Artillery, Regular Army, on duty as an instructor with the regiment.)

A Section of 143d Field Artillery.

COAST ARTILLERY.

The 250th Coast Artillery was reorganized November 1, 1924, into two artillery regiments. The headquarters and those units stationed at San Francisco were designated the 250th Coast Artillery, and the Headquarters of the Second Battalion and the units stationed at San Diego, Long Beach and San Pedro were designated the 251st Coast Artillery (Harbor Defenses) with headquarters at San Diego. In this reorganization the 250th Coast Artillery was converted into a tractor-drawn regiment equipped with eighteen 155 mm. G. P. F. guns, twenty-four ten ton tractors, forty ammunition trucks and other motor vehicles. These vehicles are stored in the State Armory, San Francisco.

This Imposing Array of "Big Guns" Was Emplaced Near the Highway; Battery "A" Guns on the Left.

This regiment can move under its own power to any threatened point on the coast line and its mobility will also permit its use for other than coast defense purposes. This regiment is the only regiment of its kind on the Pacific coast.

The 251st Coast Artillery is a Harbor Defense Regiment and will, in time of emergency, man the coast defenses of San Diego and Los Angeles.

The 250th Regiment is commanded by Colonel R. E. Mittelstaedt and the 251st by Lieutenant-Colonel Walter G. Gastil.

CARE AND ACCOUNTING OF PROPERTY.

One of the greatest improvements and to many, in a pecuniary sense, the most important, are the improved conditions in connection with the caring and accounting for individual and organizational equipment and property.

There need be no surmise as far as these conditions are concerned. They are facts sustained by reports and inspections.

This condition has been brought about by education and it can be safely said that the personnel of the guard is now well instructed in these duties, which had previously been more or less neglected.

Store rooms are now properly arranged according to standard plans and present an orderly, neat appearance.

The special regulations covering the care, issue and storage of property are observed.

Forms 32 and 33 recording the issue of property to enlisted men are generally accurately kept.

Losses, when discovered, are promptly accounted for.

The property accounts are up to date and are maintained according to regulations.

Proper checks are made of property issued and in storage at stated intervals so that losses are determined and adjusted without loss of time.

Losses of property, which previously assumed excessive proportions, have now been reduced to the minimum.

STATE ARSENAL.

The State Arsenal at Sacramento has been entirely reorganized into a systematically arranged warehouse, where property is stored and cared for in the most approved manner. It is now possible to determine an inventory and to receive and ship out property in the minimum of time.

The stock card records of the arsenal as well as the memorandum Receipt Records covering the property in the hands of organizations are up-to-date and permit the transfer and adjustment of property responsibility with the least practicable delay.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

That the sum of $150,000 be appropriated to purchase a permanent camp site for the use of the California National Guard. (This is its most vital need.)

The War Department has adopted a policy of not authorizing the expenditure of any federal money on camp sites which are not owned or under a long lease by a state. The camp site which has been used by the California National Guard during the past several years has become inadequate due to its growth. The area comprising the site now habitually used during the field training period is entirely too small to accommodate and properly train the National Guard troops of this state. It is most essential that a proper camp site for maneuver and training purposes, and suitable in an emergency for a concentration and mobilization camp be purchased. The temporary buildings erected about five years ago at the present site used, are dilapidated and unsanitary, and can not be used much longer. In fact, the Regular Army Quartermaster has recommended against their further use. Due to the temporary latrine waste disposal system, which has been in use for over five years, the ground is in a very unsanitary condition.

Furthermore this site is used by the C. M. T. C. and Organized Reserves and is not available at times best suited to the National Guard. If a permanent camp site were secured the federal government would fully equip it with permanent improvements and build warehouses in which all the heavy camp equipment could be stored thus saving many thousands of dollars annually in transportation charges alone.

A tract of land of approximately two thousand acres is necessary and should be centrally located at some point which has a cool climate during the summer months. The acquisition of a camp site is a most vital matter to the National Guard of this state and would greatly increase its efficiency.

To indicate the unsuitability of the present site, the following report of a Regular Army Instructor is quoted. This report has been concurred in by the War Department.

"The camp grounds at Del Monte and Gigling are entirely unsuited to National Guard Field Artillery training because of the sandy soil. Firing can be conducted only on platforms and then it is slow because of the heavy sands. Roads approaching the firing points are very heavy and cause a lot of time to be lost. Drill grounds are also poor for mounted work, the sand being very hard on the animals. Terrain is not suitable for good instruction in artillery reconnaissance, selection and occupation of positions."

That the San Francisco Armory be completed at a cost of approximately $50,000 in order that the Armory can be rented to outside interests and a revenue derived therefrom.

That the Adjutant General be authorized by law to rent armories to private persons at such times when armories are not required for National Guard purposes or when it does not interfere with the National Guard; that rental so acquired above actual expenses incident to such rental shall be placed in a state armory building fund and used to build and repair state armories. If this is not approved, a ten-year armory building program should be inaugurated and the legislature asked to appropriate $100,000 annually to cover cost of erection. The city or town desiring an armory should donate the site.

That a revised state military code be adopted.

MILITARY LAW.

The present State Military Law does not conform to the National Law in many respects. A study has been made of the laws of all the states and based upon this study a new military code has been prepared. There are no drastic changes recommended in its present laws.

RIFLE MARKSMANSHIP AND RANGES.

The great need in many parts of the state for rifle ranges is being overcome. Adequate ranges are being constructed and it is expected that before the year closes all organizations will be supplied with rifle ranges.

The rifle range at Leona Heights, Oakland, which is the largest and best equipped range in the state was leased during 1924 for an additional period of five years.

Rifle competitions have been held annually and state rifle teams, both National Guard and Civilian, have been sent to the National Matches held at Camp Perry, Ohio.

The California Civilian Team in 1925 did excellent work. They finished in twelfth place and were awarded the Soldier of Marathon Trophy. The credit for this largely belongs to Mr. Ned Cutting of Los Angeles who was the team captain.

The National Guard Teams who participated in the matches during the period this report covers made the following record:

Year	Team Captain	Results
1920	Major Earnest E. Kirk	Unclassified
1921	Major J. B. Dickson	Unclassified

SERVICE SCHOOLS.

There has been a continued increase in the interest shown by our officers and enlisted men in the three months' courses in the Service Schools provided by the War Department and the number of applicants now greatly exceeds the allotment to the state.

The men detailed to these schools are selected with great care as the object is to utilize them as instructors upon graduation. It is highly gratifying to note that all men sent from this state have graduated.

The following table shows the number of graduates since the last report:

	1920	1921	1922	1923	1924	1925	1926 to June 30

WAR DEPARTMENT COOPERATION.

This report would not be complete without recording the splendid cooperation of the Militia Bureau, Corps Area Headquarters and the commissioned and enlisted personnel assigned to the California National Guard for instruction and inspection purposes.

This cooperation has manifested itself in every department and the spirit of helpfulness and consideration shown has played a most important part in bringing about the improved efficiency and high standing this report indicates.

EIGHTH REPORT

OF THE

CALIFORNIA STATE BOARD OF ARCHITECTURE.

To His Excellency,
FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of the State of California.

The California State Board of Architecture herewith submits for your consideration, its eighth report, covering the period from March 31, 1923, to March 31, 1926.

In accordance with the provisions of "An act to regulate the practice of architecture," the State Board of Architecture shall consist of ten members, five of whom shall reside in the Northern District of California and shall constitute the Northern District Board for the examination of applicants for certificates to practice architecture in this state, and five members of said board shall be residents of the Southern District of California and shall constitute the Southern District Board for the examination of applicants for certificates to practice architecture in this state. Due to the resignation of Mr. Edward Glass from the Northern District Board on August 25, 1925, and the untimely death of Sylvain Schnaittacher on February 11, 1926, the Northern District Board consisted of but three members until the appointment of Mr. Albert J. Evers to fill the unexpired term was made by your excellency on April 22, 1926.

The California State Board at present is constituted as follows:

CLARENCE R. WARD, San Francisco ---------- President
WILLIAM H. WHEELER, San Diego ---------- Vice-President
A. M. EDELMAN, Los Angeles ---------- Secretary-Treasurer
ALBERT J. EVERS, San Francisco---- Assistant Secretary-Treasurer
JAMES R. MILLER, San Francisco.
JOHN J. DONOVAN, Oakland.
WILLIAM J. DODD, Los Angeles.
JOHN PARKINSON, Los Angeles.
MYRON HUNT, Pasadena.

The Northern Board, with offices at 537–538 Phelan Building, San Francisco, is as follows:

CLARENCE R. WARD---------- President
ALBERT J. EVERS---------- Secretary-Treasurer
JAMES R. MILLER.
JOHN J. DONOVAN.

The Southern District Board, with offices at 1124 Sun Finance Building, Los Angeles, is as follows:

WILLIAM H. WHEELER---------- President
A. M. EDELMAN---------- Secretary-Treasurer
WILLIAM J. DODD.
JOHN PARKINSON.
MYRON HUNT.

Since the submission of the seventh report the following modification of the rules of the board was adopted at the meeting of the joint boards held in Los Angeles on April 10, 1924: "In all cases where the applicant for a certificate to practice architecture in the State of California shall submit to the board satisfactory evidence as to character, honorable practice, competency and qualifications, and show that he has been continuously engaged in the practice of structural engineering on his own account or as a member of a reputable firm or association of architects or structural engineers for more than ten years prior to the date of his application, then and in such case the demonstration of the applicant's knowledge and ability so made, if found sufficient by the board, may take the place of written and oral examinations in the subjects of Materials and Specifications, Strength of Materials and Structural Design, provided, however, he passes a satisfactory examination in Theory of Architecture, History of Architecture and Architectural Design."

This rule was acted on and passed by the board due to the numerous applications received from engineers of long experience who are seeking certificates as architects because of the close relation to the work.

At this same meeting held on April 10, 1924, a resolution was adopted regarding the eligibility of applicants for the oral examination and written examination to read as follows: "Applicants must have received a diploma of graduation from the full four years' course in architecture in any university or technical school, approved by the board, with at least three years' experience in an architect's office after receiving such diploma or, in lieu of this, ten years' experience in the practice of architecture. Applicants not having had this experience and training and desiring to become certificated by passing the written examination, must have had five years' experience before they are eligible to take the written examination."

At the annual meeting held in Los Angeles on April 15, 1926, the above resolution regarding the oral examination was again modified to read that applicants must have received a diploma of graduation from the full four years' course in architecture in any university or technical school, approved by the board, with at least a combined four years' experience in an architect's office during such course and after receiving such diploma or, in lieu of this, ten years' experience in the practice of architecture.

At this same meeting held in Los Angeles in April, 1926, a resolution was made regarding the reinstatement of a person whose license had been canceled either by request of such person or had been revoked by the district board for nonpayment of annual license fees. It was resolved that a person whose certificate had been canceled by request, desiring to be reinstated as a certificated architect of the State of California may have a new certificate issued to him by submitting satisfactory evidence to the district board as to his character and honorable practice since the cancellation of his certificate and upon receipt of the necessary remittance to cover the current year's annual license fee and the board certificate fee; the board certificate in turn to be sent to the Secretary of State, Sacramento, accompanied by the necessary fee for the state certificate, and this state certificate to be recorded in the county recorder's office of the county in which said applicant shall practice. However, when a person whose certificate has been revoked by the district board for nonpayment of annual license fees, desires to be reinstated, this same procedure would be taken with the exception that all annual license fees for the years intervening between the date of the cancellation of this certificate and the date of his request for reinstatement must be paid, or, in lieu of this latter, said person might file a new application and go through the same procedure and expense of applying for a certificate as in the first time.

The annual meetings of the joint boards were held as follows: Los Angeles, April 10, 1924; San Francisco, May 12, 1925; Los Angeles, April 15, 1926. Special meetings were held in San Francisco, February 14 and 15, 1926, and in addition, each board has held the usual stated monthly meetings. Two written examinations have been held each year for the Northern District Board at the University of California at Berkeley, and for the Southern District Board at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles. (For the number of certificates issued, see financial statements.)

In February, 1921, the California State Board of Architecture became a member of the National Council of Architectural Registration Board located at Chicago, Illinois. Briefly stated, that council constitutes a clearing house for the convenience of the registration authorities of the various states having laws regulating the practice of architecture. While the council does not recommend the acceptance of applicants who apply for transfer of registration through the council, it is in a position to and does furnish state examining committees with the results of an unprejudiced and disinterested investigation of the applicant's moral, educational and legal qualifications. Architects desiring reciprocal transfer of registration credit from one state to another find it convenient and practical to effect this transfer through the medium of the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards. The membership of this council is not elected but is constituted of those states whose registration authorities subscribe to its constitution and by-laws and pay the annual membership fee.

The board desires again to endorse the principles laid down by its predecessors, that the act if properly amended can be made an instrument of value in that the certificate of the state board to practice architecture is evidence that the possessor has a reasonable degree of competence in his profession, and is a protection for the public against the shyster and incompetent, while at the same time permitting such operations as do not encroach on the misuse of the title "architect."

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Dated March 31, 1926.

CLARENCE R. WARD,
President.

A. M. EDELMAN,
Secretary.

AN ACT TO REGULATE THE PRACTICE OF ARCHITECTURE.

(CHAPTER CCXII.)

(Approved March 23, 1901.)

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Within sixty days from and after the passage of this act, the Governor of the state shall appoint ten persons, which persons so appointed shall constitute a board, which board shall be known and designated as the State Board of Architecture. Five members of said Board of Architecture shall be residents of the Northern District of California, and shall constitute the Northern District for the examination of applicants for certificates to practice architecture in this state. And five members of said board shall be appointed from the Southern District of California, and shall constitute the Southern District Board for the examination of applicants for certificates to practice architecture in this state. The Northern District shall be all that portion of the state north of the northerly line of the county of San Luis Obispo and the county of Kern and the county of San Bernardino. And the Southern District shall be all that portion of the state south of the northerly line of the county of San Luis Obispo and the county of Kern and of the county of San Bernardino. Said State Board of Architecture shall be appointed by the Governor as follows: Five members shall be appointed from the members in good standing of the San Francisco Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, or some similar institution or association of architects, two of whom shall be designated to hold office for two years. Five members shall be appointed from the members of the Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, or some similar institution or association of architects, two of whom shall be designated to hold office for two years. Each person so appointed shall hold office for four years, unless so designated to hold office for two years. And thereafter, upon the expiration of the term of office of the persons so appointed, the Governor of the state shall appoint a successor or successors to such outgoing person or persons whose term of office shall have expired, to hold office for four years; provided, that the membership of the State Board of Architecture shall be composed as herein set forth. Each member shall hold over after the expiration of his term of office until his successor shall have been duly appointed and qualified. Any vacancy occurring in the membership of the board shall be filled by the Governor of the state for the unexpired term in like manner. The members of the board shall serve without compensation from the state. The expenses of the board shall be paid out of the fees collected from applicants for certificates.

SEC. 2. The members of the State Board of Architecture shall, before entering upon the discharge of the duties of their office, take and file with the Secretary of State the constitutional oath of office. The said State Board of Architecture shall, within thirty days from and after their appointment, meet and elect from their number a president and a vice-president, one of whom shall be a resident of the Northern District, and one a resident of the Southern District, and two secretaries, one from each district. The secretaries shall also act as treasurers. The person receiving the highest number of votes shall be secretary, and the person receiving the next highest number of votes, assistant secretary. Said persons shall hold office for two years, or until their successors shall have been duly elected and qualified.

SEC. 3. The board may adopt rules and regulations for the government of its proceedings, not inconsistent with this act. The state board shall adopt a seal for its own use, and one for each of the district boards. The seal used by the Northern District Board shall have the words "Northern District" inscribed thereon, and the one for the Southern District shall have the words "Southern District" inscribed thereon, and the secretary and assistant secretary shall have charge, care and custody thereof. The secretary shall keep a correct record of all the proceedings of the board, which shall be open to public examination at all times. Six members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business of the State Board of Architecture, and three members shall constitute a quorum of the district boards for the transaction of business. Special meetings of the State Board of Architecture shall be called by the secretary upon the written request of four of its members, and by giving twenty days' written notice of such meeting, and the time and place at which such meeting is to be held, to each member of the board. The district boards shall call special meetings upon the written request of two of its members made to the secretary, and upon five days' written notice to each member of said district board. Within thirty days from and after the date of their appointment, the state board shall meet to organize, elect officers as in this act provided for, and formulate and adopt a code of rules and regulations for its government in the examination of applicants for certificates to practice architecture in this state; and such other rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper, not inconsistent with this act. The board may from time to time repeal or modify its rules and regulations, not inconsistent with this act. The state board shall meet annually, on the second Tuesday in April, for the purpose of transacting such business as may lawfully come before it, not inconsistent with this act. The district boards shall hold their regular meetings for the examination of applicants for certificates to practice architecture on the last Tuesday of January, April, July and October of each year. The board of the Northern District shall meet in San Francisco; and the board of the Southern District shall meet in Los Angeles, and at such other times and places as they may elect, to examine applicants for certificates. Any person shall be entitled to an examination for a certificate to practice architecture, upon payment, to the district board when he makes application, a fee of fifteen dollars, which fee shall be retained by the board; should the applicant pass a satisfactory examination by said district board, the secretary shall, upon the payment to him of a further fee of five dollars, issue to the applicant a certificate, signed by the president and secretary, sealed with the seal of the district board, and directed to the Secretary of State, setting forth the fact that the person therein named has passed a satisfactory examination, and that such person is entitled to a certificate to practice architecture in this state, in accordance with the provisions of this act; and upon the payment to the Secretary of State of a fee of five dollars, the secretary shall at once issue to the person therein named, a certificate to practice architecture in this state in accordance with the provisions of this act, which certificate shall contain the full name of the applicant, his birthplace, and age, together with the name of the district board issuing the certificate, and date of issuance thereof. All papers received by the Secretary of State on application for certificate shall be kept on file in his office, and a proper index and record thereof shall be kept by him.

SEC. 4. Any architect in good standing, who shall show to the satisfaction of the district board of the district in which such architect may reside, that he was engaged in the practice of the profession of architecture on the date of the passage of this act, shall be granted a certificate without passing an examination, on the payment to the district board of a fee of five dollars; provided, such application shall be made within six months from and after the passage of this act. Said certificate shall set forth the fact that the person to whom the same was issued was practicing architecture in this state at the time of the passage of this act, and that the person therein named is entitled to a certificate to practice architecture without having to pass an examination by the district board; and the Secretary of State shall, upon the payment to him of a fee of five dollars, issue to the person named therein a certificate to practice architecture in this state, in accordance with the provisions of this act. Each certificated architect shall have his certificate recorded in the office of the county recorder, in each and every county in this state, in which the holder thereof shall practice, and he shall pay to the recorder the same fee as is charged for the recording of deeds. A failure to have his certificate so recorded shall be deemed sufficient cause for revocation of such certificate.

SEC. 5. After the expiration of six months from the passage of this act, it shall be unlawful, and it shall be a misdemeanor, punishable by fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, for any person to practice architecture without a certificate in this state, or to advertise, or put out any sign or card, or other device which might indicate to the public that he was an architect; provided, that nothing in this act shall prevent any person from making plans for his own buildings, nor furnishing plans or other data for buildings for other persons, provided the person so furnishing such plans or data shall fully inform the person for whom such plans or data are furnished that he, the person furnishing such plans, is not a certified architect; provided, that nothing in this act shall prevent the employment of an architect residing out of the State of California, to prepare plans and specifications for buildings or other structures within the state, conditioned, he shall present satisfactory evidence to the board of the district in which the structure is to be erected, that he is a competent architect, when such board shall issue to such architect a temporary certificate for such employment, upon the payment of a fee of five dollars. Architects' certificates issued in accordance with the provisions of this act shall remain in full force until revoked for cause, as hereinafter provided for in this act. A certificate may be revoked for dishonest practices, or for gross incompetency in the practice of the profession, which questions shall be determined by the district board of the district in which the person whose certificate is called in question shall reside, or shall be doing business; and upon a full investigation of the charges by the district board, an opportunity having been given the accused to be heard in his own defense or by counsel; and upon the verdict of at least four members of the district board, the board may issue its certificate to the Secretary of State revoking the certificate of the person accused; and the Secretary of State shall thereupon cancel such certificate. And on the cancellation of such certificate, it shall be the duty of the secretary of the district board to give notice of such cancellation to the county recorder of each county in the state, whereupon the recorder shall mark the certificate recorded in his office, "cancelled."

After the expiration of six months, the person whose certificate was revoked, may have a new certificate issued to him by the Secretary of State upon the certificate of the district board by which the certificate was revoked.

Every certificated architect shall have a seal, the impression of which must contain the name of the architect, his place of business, and the words "certificated architect," with which he may stamp all plans prepared by him.

SEC. 6. This act shall take effect from and after its passage.

AMENDMENT TO ACT.

An act to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate the practice of architecture, approved March 23, 1901," adding a new section thereto to be numbered section seven, relating to an annual license fee.

(Approved March 26, 1903.)

The people of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. An act to regulate the practice of architecture, approved March 23, 1901, is hereby amended by adding a new section thereto to be numbered section seven.

SEC. 7. Each regularly certificated architect shall pay an annual license fee of five dollars, said fee to be paid to the secretary of the board of the district of which he shall be a resident, and shall be payable in advance on January 1, and shall become delinquent the first day of April of each year, after which date it shall be delinquent, and the certificate of such architects who shall fail to pay their license fees by April 1 of each year, shall be subject to cancellation by said district board, and notice of such cancellation shall be sent to each county recorder of the State of California and to the Secretary of State, as provided in section five of the act to regulate the practice of architecture, approved March 23, 1901, for cancellation of certificates. And the secretary of said district shall issue a receipt signed by the president and secretary of the district, and under the seal of the district board, to each architect paying said license fee, showing that said certificated architect has paid his annual license fee, which license receipt shall be displayed in a prominent place in the office of said architect. The fees so collected shall be used to meet the expenses of the State Board of Architecture.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE CALIFORNIA STATE BOARD OF ARCHITECTURE.

RULES.

Robert's Rules of Order are adopted as the rules of this board for the conduct of business at its meetings.

OFFICERS.

The State Board of Architecture shall elect from its number a president and a vice-president, one of whom shall be a resident of the Northern District, and one a resident of the Southern District, who shall be respectively the president of the district boards; and two secretaries, one for each district. The secretaries shall also act as treasurers. The person not resident of the same district as the president receiving the highest number of votes shall be the secretary, and the person not resident of the same district as the vice-president receiving the highest number of votes shall be assistant secretary. The secretary and assistant secretary must be residents of different districts and shall be secretaries of their respective districts. Said officers shall hold office for two years, or until their successors shall have been duly elected and qualified.

The board shall adopt a seal for its own use and one for each of the district boards. The seal used by the Northern District Board shall have the words "Northern District" inscribed thereon, and the one of the Southern District shall have the words 'Southern District" inscribed thereon, and the secretary and the assistant secretary shall have respectively the charge, care and custody thereof.

The secretary shall keep a record of all the proceedings of the board, which shall be open to public examination at all times.

Six members shall constitute a quorum of the state board and three members shall constitute a quorum of the district board, for the transaction of business.

The certificates of competency to practice architecture, shall be signed by the president and secretary of the district board by which the certificate shall be ordered issued.

MEETINGS.

The annual meetings of the state board shall be held alternately in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The quarterly meetings of the district boards shall be held respectively in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The annual meetings of the state board shall be held on the second Tuesday in April. Special meetings of the state board shall be called by the secretary, upon the written request of four of its members, and by giving twenty days' notice in writing of such meeting, and the time and place at which such meeting is to be held, to each member of the board.

The district boards shall hold their regular meetings for the examination of applicants for certificates to practice architecture, on the last Tuesday of each month.

The district boards shall call special meetings for their respective districts, upon the written request of two of its members, made to the secretary of the district, and upon five days' written notice to each member of such district.

The chief place of business for the Northern District shall be San Francisco, and for the Southern District, Los Angeles.

Special meetings may be held for the purpose of examining applicants for certificates, at such places as the district board may elect, due notice of the time and place being given to the applicants.

FINANCE.

The conduct of the finances of each district board shall conform to the rulings of the State Board of Control. All checks shall be signed by the secretary-treasurer of each district board.

CERTIFICATES.

The district boards shall issue certificates to practice architecture in the State of California to all persons qualified to receive them as provided for under Sections (3) and (5) of the Act to Regulate the Practice of Architecture in the State of California, as approved March 23, 1901.

The district boards shall have authority to issue temporary certificates to nonresident architects of the state, who shall show to the satisfaction of the board their competency to practice architecture. Such temporary certificates shall be for stated buildings. The fee for such temporary certificates shall be five dollars ($5), issued by the board of the district in which the structure is to be erected.

Each member of a firm practicing architecture must have a separate certificate.

EXAMINATIONS.

Every applicant must pass either an oral or written examination before having issued to him a certificate to practice architecture in the State of California; provided, however, that in all cases where the applicant for examination submits to the board satisfactory evidence as to character, honorable practice, competency and qualifications, and shows that he has been continuously and exclusively engaged in the practice of architecture on his own account or as a member of a reputable firm or association of architects for more than ten years prior to the date of his application, or that he has been granted a certificate to practice architecture in another state or country where the standard of qualification is not lower than that required by the board, then and in such case the demonstration of the applicant's knowledge and ability so made, if found sufficient by the board, may take the place of written and oral examination.

In all cases where the applicant for a certificate to practice architecture in the State of California submits to the board satisfactory evidence as to character, honorable practice, competency and qualifications, and shows that he has been continuously engaged in the practice of structural engineering on his own account or as a member of a reputable firm or association of architects or structural engineers for more than ten years prior to the date of his application, then and in such case the demonstration of the applicant's knowledge and ability so made, if found sufficient by the board, may take the place of written and oral examinations in the subjects of Materials and Specifications, Strength of Materials and Structural Design; provided, however, he passes a satisfactory examination in Theory of Architecture, History of Architecture and Architectural Design.

In carrying out this rule the personal appearance of the applicant before the board shall be required before the granting of a certificate if the applicant be a resident of the state. Applications for certificates from residents of other states may be considered at any meeting of the board without the personal appearance of the applicant, provided, the exhibits as submitted with proofs of the execution of the applicant's works are satisfactory to the board and establish an ability equal to that demanded by a regular examination.

NOTE.—The California State Board of Architecture is a member of the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards, and holders of certificates to practice architecture in other states or nonresidents desiring to make application for a certificate to practice in this state will materially facilitate the consideration of their applications by applying through the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards, No. 5 North La Salle street, Chicago, Illinois.

A diploma of graduation from the full four years' course in architecture in any university or technical school, approved by the board, with at least a combined four years' experience in an architect's office during such course and after receiving such diploma, may be accepted as satisfactory evidence as a competent knowledge of architectural design and construction required for a certificate to practice as an architect in California according to law. Those applicants for certificates not having college or technical training shall have at least ten consecutive years' experience in an architect's office prior to making application for examination. Applicants not having either the above technical training and experience or the ten consecutive years' experience in an architect's office and desiring to become certificated by passing the written examination, must have had five years' experience before they are eligible to take this examination.

The president, vice president, secretary-treasurer and assistant secretary-treasurer of the board shall constitute a standing committee for all written examinations. The written examinations are held semi-annually at the University of California at Berkeley and at the University of Southern California at Los Angeles, approximately in the months of January and May. This regular class examination shall occupy not less than four days, two days shall be devoted to ascertain the ability of the candidate to make practical application of his knowledge in the ordinary professional work of an architect, including structural design and supervision of buildings, and two days will include an effort toward ascertaining the qualifications of the applicant in architectural design, theory and history.

Applications will be received at all times. If the number and urgency of the applications received make it seem expedient to the board to institute examinations at any other than the times heretofore mentioned, due notice of such additional examinations will be forwarded by the secretary to those whose applications are on file at his office. Applications for the regular examinations should be at the secretary's office, one week before the date set for examinations, and should be attested by a notary and filed in duplicate.

The board meets on the last Tuesday of each month, at which time candidates may present themselves before the board with drawings (3 sets complete), photographs, letters and other data demonstrating their experience and qualifications.

ARCHITECT'S INDIVIDUAL SEAL.

The architect's individual seal is for the purpose of making an impression, hence a rubber stamp will not be permitted.

SUBJECTS FOR EXAMINATION.

Subjects covered by the written examinations are as follows:

Theory of Architecture	½ day
History of Architecture	½ day
Design	1 day
Architectural Practice	½ day
Materials and Specifications	½ day

NOTES.

Sample examination papers can be seen at the office of the board.

Fees connected with taking out a license are as follows:

Application fee	$15 00
Certificate fee	5 00
State fee	5 00
License fee	5 00
Total	$30 00

An additional fee of $10 is required of each candidate taking the written examinations in one or all subjects a second time.

Fees are not refunded for any cause.

NOTICE TO ARCHITECTS.

Many certificated architects fail to comply with section 4 of the "Act to Regulate the Practice of Architecture," which provides that each certificated architect shall have his certificate recorded in the office of the county recorder, in each and every county in this state in which the holder thereof shall practice. Your failure to observe this provision may jeopardize your position in the event of legal proceedings of any kind in which you might become involved.

It has also been brought to the attention of the board that the use of the seal on all drawings as mentioned in section 5 has been neglected. This provision of the act is mandatory as to the use of a seal.

It can not be too forcibly brought to your attention that it is incumbent on you to assist in upholding professional standards by using all legitimate means to impress the public with the dignity of the position of the certificated architect, and by using the seal on your drawings and other documents you will be assisting very materially to this end. The impression of the seal as being correct as to form can be obtained from the secretary. The seal when applied to tracings will blue-print better if slightly blackened with pencil.

CALIFORNIA STATE BOARD OF ARCHITECTURE,
A. M. EDELMAN, Secretary.

REPORT OF STATE ATHLETIC COMMISSION OF CALIFORNIA.

To the Honorable
FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of California:

Pursuant to statutory directions, the State Athletic Commission of California begs to submit herewith its report for the period commencing December 26, 1924, the date of organization of said Commission, and ending November 30, 1925.

Since the creation of the Commission the sum of $134,891.65 was collected in license fees and from the 5 per cent state tax obtained from boxing and wrestling clubs operating under the law. During this period of time, the operating expenses of the Commission amounted to $21,328.54, leaving a net balance in the State Athletic Commission Fund of $113,313.11 to be appropriated for the purpose of maintaining a home for the veterans of any war of the United States as the legislature of California may direct.

There were 1077 boxing and wrestling exhibitions held during this eleven-month period of Commission control.

These shows drew a total attendance of 1,605,664 boxing and wrestling fans who paid into the coffers of the various clubs a total of $2,249,219.50.

The following licenses were granted during the time covered in this report:

Referees	114
Managers	328
Boxers	2,246
Seconds	598
Wrestlers	137
Physicians	71
Timekeepers	67
Trainers	10
Matchmakers	1

A total of eighty-seven boxing and twenty wrestling clubs were issued licenses, twenty-three of the eighty-seven boxing clubs being American Legion Clubs, which under the initiative measure are exempt from the 5 per cent state tax.

Out of a list of 2246 licensed boxers but two have died, and after a thorough investigation the boxing bout, in which they were engaged prior to their death, was in no way responsible for their demise.

The total suspensions during this eleven-month period amounted to 156, said suspensions being imposed on account of various infractions of the rules and regulations of the Commission.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF STATE ATHLETIC COMMISSION OF CALIFORNIA

To the Honorable FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of California and to the Legislature of the State of California:

Pursuant to the provisions of section 2 of an act approved by the electors of the State of California on November 4, 1924, entitled "An act to authorize boxing and wrestling contests," the State Athletic Commission of California presents herewith the second annual report of its proceedings and activities beginning on the first day of December, 1925, and ending November 30, 1926.

In accordance with the act, which gives the commission permission to hold meetings at places other than where the general office is located, meetings were held in Hollywood, San Diego and in San Francisco, all matters pertaining to a proper enforcement and administration of the law were discussed and such action taken as deemed necessary.

The State Athletic Commission has at no time allowed any one to question its authority, and has demanded from all respect for and obedience to its rules and regulations.

All clubs and individuals licensed under the initiative measure, the commission believes, have come to a full realization that the rules and regulations of the commission must be observed and obeyed at all times if it is their desire to enjoy the privilege accorded under the law.

Boxing and wrestling under the initiative act have proved to be popular with the public if the patronage of the various clubs throughout California may be taken as a criterion.

The contests staged from one end of the state to the other, during the time boxing has been legalized, have been free from brutality, and under specific instructions from the commission, the official referees have terminated all contests when it became apparent that the contestants were unevenly matched.

In the larger cities and clubs where a championship was at stake or an unusual interest taken in a match, one of the members of the commission selected the referee, whose name was not announced until he entered the ring. This it will be seen makes it practically impossible for any one to influence the referee in any way, and is a very important safeguard, assuring the public that all contests held under the law are only of honest competition.

It is indeed gratifying to the commission to report to the electorate who voted for the measure that sham or collusive contests are no longer perpetrated upon the public in this state.

AMERICAN LEGION

At this time a word regarding boxing and the American Legion may not be amiss.

At the beginning of 1925, and through the major portion of that year, the commission was flooded with an avalanche of applications from American Legion Posts all over California requesting a license to conduct boxing in their respective localities. This was caused primarily by the wonderful success of the Hollywood Legion and secondly on account of the provision in the boxing law exempting the Legion from the 5 per cent state tax.

In each instance a thorough investigation was made and if conditions did not seem to warrant the granting of a license the petition was denied, which caused, for the time being, no little hard feeling amongst the members of the Legion toward the commission.

After one year's attempt at boxing a great many of the Legion clubs did not ask for a renewal of their license, namely the ones at Susanville, Crescent City, Stockton, Escondido, Compton, Redding, Torrance, Westwood, Hollister and Pittsburg.

The following Legion clubs have quit after being granted their 1926 license: San Bernardino, Woodland and Compton.

American Legion Posts at Calexico and Bishop were granted a 1926 license but have never held a show.

The American Legion clubs at Hollywood, Brawley, Fresno, Eureka and Ventura are staging shows weekly and biweekly. The American Legion club at Oakland gives four shows a year, while the Legion at Sacramento has been given permission to stage a show every fifth week. Los Banos Legion stages a show about every two or three months.

As mentioned elsewhere in this report the staging of boxing is a real business and can not be run as a side issue successfully. When the Legion shows are managed and staged by a committee, friction soon arises amongst the members, each thinking the other is assuming a little too much authority and the box office receipts begin to dwindle. Unless a city or lodge is large enough to employ a paid matchmaker who can devote his entire time to the game the success anticipated is not forthcoming.

SUSPENSIONS

The commission has found it necessary to discipline those who have been guilty of violating its rules and regulations. It is gratifying to state, however, that in the past twenty-three months less than eighty-five of the licensed boxers have been given an indefinite suspension and thirty-five of these have been pronounced physically unfit and are out of the game for good, unless they can show a health certificate from one of the duly licensed physicians.

In some instances where a suspension was not deemed advisable a fine has been imposed. During the time this report covers, a total of $3,211.93 has been collected and turned into the state treasury.

Figures are always interesting and the following is an account of the exact number of suspensions during the past year and the reason therefor:

Fouling	63	Physically unfit	30
Stalling	26	Mentally unfit	1
Frame-up	3	Convicted crime	6
Unreliable	8	Bad eyes	7
Dissipating	3	Under 18 years of age	4
No ability	2	Infraction commission rules	30
Biting	1	Nonappearance as per contract	62
Suicide	1

This table, with a total of 248 suspensions, is indeed a most creditable showing, considering the fact that there were 3184 licenses issued and those licensed participated in 1158 shows.

SHOWS HELD

Following is a list of the number of the shows held in California during the period covered in this report:

1925—December	86
1926—January	78
February	76
March	98
April	92
May	103
June	104
July	105
August	105
September	111
October	106
November	94
Total number of shows held	1,158

REPORTS

Four reports of each show are required by the commission, said reports must be mailed within seventy-two hours after contests have been held. The report submitted by the state inspector shows capacity, deadwood and number of tickets sold, prices, total receipts, amount of 5 per cent tax, also number of press and complimentary tickets issued. The report submitted by the club must be acknowledged before a notary public and embodies practically the same data as the inspector's report. Both reports are checked off and compared at the main office of the commission so that a complete record is always on file of each particular contest, thus eliminating all chances for dispute between clubs, managers and others interested. The physician's report shows in detail the exact condition of each boxer or wrestler before he enters the ring.

The referee's report gives the state an official record of those participating at each show and also who won or lost. All reports are on file at the secretary's office and may be seen by any one at any time.

RECENT RULINGS

A ruling which is rigidly enforced is that a boxer can not compete in a main event or semiwindup until after a period of seven days shall have elapsed. This gives the boxer time to prepare for his next bout and is a protection to the fans as well.

In order to raise the personnel of those about to engage in boxing, a ruling has recently been made whereby the amount to be paid the boxer must not be less than $5 per round. The minimum fee of $1 per boxer or wrestler examined by physicians has been established.

SEVENTY PER CENT BOND

A recent ruling of the Commission and another step in the direction of running the boxing game on a strictly business basis was one governing the emolument for boxers and referees, the requiring of all boxing and wrestling clubs to file a bond with the secretary covering 70 per cent of the gross receipts of their house. This action was taken solely in the interest of those participating and all can box or wrestle with the assurance that their money will be forthcoming if the gate receipts fall down.

REFEREES

The Commission points with pride to the licensed referees in California. They realize it is one of the most difficult and exacting positions in the boxing game to fill. Considering the large number of shows the past year, the record of the referees is most gratifying—not a single suggestion of wrong doing nor the finger of suspicion pointed toward any of the eighty-one licensed referees in California.

INSPECTORS

Section 9 of the initiative act says that "the commission shall appoint officials designated as 'Inspectors' who shall be present at all matches and act as the legal representatives of the state and the commission." A great deal of pressure from all parts of the state was brought to bear toward appointing of inspectors. The appointments made, however, were of the highest nature with no thought of "pull" or political influence. The personnel of those acting in this capacity today are men whose integrity is above reproach and are a credit to the game in their respective locality.

ATTENDANCE

Quite amazing are the facts and figures regarding the gross receipts and attendance of the boxing and wrestling clubs. It is almost unbelievable to think that during the year 1925, 1,605,644 fans witnessed the exhibitions of the fistic sport and paid into the clubs a sum in excess of two and one-half million dollars.

During the first eleven months of 1926 the total gate receipts of the clubs in California amounted to $2,295,419.49 with a record attendance of 1,612,602 persons attending the shows.

Thus it can readily be seen that boxing today in California represents nearly a three million dollar business annually.

A very conservative estimate is that at least 60 per cent of the gross receipts of a show is immediately paid to the boxers, so with very little figuring one can easily see the amount of money turned back into the channels of trade from this legalized sport.

LICENSES ISSUED

During the year just closed the Commission issued the following number of licenses:

Clubs (boxing and wrestling)	76
Referees	81
Managers	324
Boxers	2,000
Seconds	512
Trainers	3
Timekeepers	54
Physicians	63
Matchmakers	21
Wrestlers	126

Section 10 of the initiative measure says, "The referee shall have power in his discretion to declare forfeited any prize, remuneration or purse, or any part thereof, belonging to the contestants or one of them, or any part of the gate receipts for which said contestants are competing, if in his judgment such contestant or contestants are not honestly competing."

In accordance with the power given them under the law the sum of $5,182.28 has been declared forfeited by the various referees officiating, and has been deposited to the credit of the State Athletic Commission Fund with the state treasurer.

The members of the State Athletic Commission of California believe that they have carried out the provisions of the initiative measure as voted on by the people November 4, 1924, in full accordance with the letter and spirit of the act.

It has been impossible to please every one with whom the commission has had dealings but the commissioners feel that their decisions have been for the best interest of the game at all times.

$40,000 ANNUAL APPROPRIATION

At this time it may not be out of order to call attention to section 15 of the act whereby "All moneys to the amount of forty thousand dollars annually are hereby appropriated to be used to defray the expenses of the Commission and to pay the salaries of the officers and employees provided for herein."

During the period covered in the first annual report of the Commission, the total expenses including the purchase of furniture equipment for the main office at Sacramento and a branch office at Hollywood was $21,328.54 for eleven months activities. The total expenditures for the next twelve months, December 1, 1925, to November 30, 1926, was $22,270.80, making a total expenditure of $43,599.34 or $36,400.66 less than the money which the law legally allows for the carrying out of the provisions of the act during the two-year period.

The Commission has at all times tried to conduct the affairs of the office in as efficient yet economical manner as possible. The figures covering the expenditures speak for themselves, and the saving is indeed gratifying. The commissioners serve without pay, their only compensation being actual traveling expenses when on official business.

SECRETARY'S OFFICE

The secretary of the Athletic Commission has tried to run the office with as little expense as possible. In accordance with that policy all the help in the Sacramento office has been done with "part-time" clerks for the past two years. From the secretary's office each week is mailed a weekly bulletin to every active club, to the newspapers, to the New York, Pennsylvania, English and Mexican commissions. The first of each month comparative monthly statements showing in detail the amount of moneys collected the previous month, the various sources, the gross receipt of all clubs, the attendance, number of shows held, the receipts of the Commission to date, together with the same data the corresponding month of the previous year; also a list of the 5 per cent tax paid by the clubs is mailed to each member of the Commission. Throughout the month a detailed memorandum of each bank deposit is mailed the members of the Commission, so that at short intervals through the month they can readily see the amount of moneys collected.

Advance notice of each show is mailed to the secretary's office. In this way a complete check is kept on shows to be held, boxers who are participating, amount each contestant receives, etc. Contracts between boxers and wrestlers and the clubs employing them are on file at the secretary's office and may be viewed at any time by those wishing to see them. A complete check of the boxing and wrestling game is kept and at any time through the month or year data of any club holding boxing or wrestling contests may be had.

As a result of this initiative measure many thousands of people in all walks of life, including ladies, have been enabled to witness boxing and wrestling contests amid decent and orderly surroundings.

DISPOSITION OF SURPLUS

Section 15 of the initiative act makes a specific statement as to the disposition of balance of all money remaining in the state treasury after the expenses of running the commission are deducted. It says: "Such balance is hereby appropriated for the purpose of maintaining such homes for the care of veterans of any war of the United States as may be existing at the time this act becomes effective or that may be established as the Legislature of the State of California may direct." With such a wonderful disposition of the earnings and profits of the commission it is with pardonable pride and real genuine satisfaction that the sum of $236,932.21 is now available for this worthy purpose.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

To His Excellency, FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of the State of California,
Sacramento, California.

SIR: In compliance with section 3 of the Chiropractic Act, I have the honor of submitting for your approval the second annual report of the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners.

In filing this resume of the activities in which the board has been engaged in the past year, I wish to also present for your consideration a supplemental report covering the operations of the board from July 1, 1925, to November 30, 1925.

In the past year the board has been forced to meet many obstacles. Court orders of various kinds have retarded the normal function of this department. On December 6, 1924, the Attorney General granted to Joseph A. Sanford "leave to sue" the members of the board to test their right to hold office; because, it was alleged, they did not possess the necessary qualifications to occupy their positions, under the terms of the Chiropractic Act. The suit was in the nature of a quo warranto, and is still pending in the courts. The filing of this action paved the way for numerous court orders issued against the board itself, which has caused an endless amount of work and for a time produced a chaotic effect upon the chiropractic field.

Under the wise and careful management of Mr. Frank V. Kington, the attorney for the board, the legal situation has now been greatly clarified; the board has been able to carry on its work, and this department is fast becoming established upon a normal basis.

Taking into consideration the tremendous opposition encountered, excellent progress has been made. The expense connected with the operations of the board has been greater than was anticipated, due to the number of hearings that were held for the purpose of ascertaining the educational fitness of several hundred applicants for licensure, and to the necessity of conducting numerous examinations to take care of the many candidates whose applications had accumulated since the spring of 1923.

It is the intention of the board to bring the chiropractic situation under complete control at the earliest possible date, and to legally restrain all persons from practicing chiropractic, regardless of any exemptions they may claim, unless they have met the requirements of the Chiropractic Act.

Respectfully submitted.

JAMES COMPTON, D.C.,
Secretary.

Sacramento, California, December 1, 1925.

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE BOARD OF CHIROPRACTIC EXAMINERS.

For Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 1925.

APPLICATIONS FOR LICENSURE.

There were 472 applications for licensure accepted for filing during the past year. In the files there still remain 997 applications of candidates who have not yet written an examination. The board is now in a position to give these applications immediate attention and it is confidently expected that the files will be cleared and all qualified applicants licensed within a few months.

EXAMINATIONS.

The board has conducted seven examinations under section 8 of the Chiropractic Act, in which 902 candidates for licensure have participated. No examination has been held under section 5. The number of candidates participating in six of these examinations, and the places in which the examinations were conducted was contained in our previous report. On December 12, 1924, an examination was held in Sacramento. There were fifty-four candidates that reported. Of this number twenty-seven were persons who had failed in previous tests, and were making their second attempt. Fifty-two were successful.

RECIPROCITY.

No reciprocal agreement has been established with any state except that of Nevada. While 42 applicants for licensure by reciprocity have been granted certificates, only one licentiate of the California board has sought registration outside this state.

LICENSES ISSUED.

By Examination.

January 3, 1925	471
April 1, 1925	291
April 11, 1925	8
May 11, 1925	31
May 19, 1925	51
Total by examination	852

By Reciprocity.

September 27, 1924	3
October 24, 1924	4
November 7, 1924	2
January 3, 1925	12
March 23, 1925	3
May 11, 1925	17
May 25, 1925	1
Total by reciprocity	42

The total of 894 license certificates issued in the past year, added to the 252 granted by the board first appointed, make a grand total of 1146 persons who have been benefited by licensure in the state, under the operation of the Chiropractic Act.

On September 15, 1924, immediately after the first examination was given, Joseph A. Sanford, as petitioner, secured a writ of prohibition against the board which prevented the issuing of licenses but did not stop the work of giving examinations. After the seventh examination was completed, the writ of prohibition was dismissed, and, on complaint of Joseph A. Sanford, an injunction pendente lite was granted against the board.

By reason of a stipulation entered into at the time the latter order was signed, licenses could be issued to candidates whose educational qualifications had been fully established and they had been successful in examination.

Sanford afterward refused to abide by the stipulation, and opposed the issuing of licenses. He argued that a permanent injunction could not be modified. After considerable delay the court decided in favor of the board.

The injunction has been modified on four different occasions. Approximately, only one hundred licenses have been issued without a court order.

HEARINGS.

Soon after the board began to function charges were filed against several hundred applicants for licensure. The complaints alleged that these persons were educationally unqualified. The charges, in most instances, were unfounded, but the hearings caused months of delay in the normal work of the board.

The complaints against the following named applicants were dismissed in toto. Hearings were held in San Francisco, Sacramento and Los Angeles.

On March 6, 1925, Joseph A. Sanford was called before the board for a hearing. The complaint that had been filed charged Sanford with fraud or deception in applying for licensure. The case was completed at the second hearing on March 14th. Sanford produced no evidence that he had ever pursued a course in chiropractic training. He was found guilty and license denied.

COLLEGE INVESTIGATION.

On August 27, 1925, the board made a thorough investigation of the Berkeley Chiropractic High School, and on October 1, 1925, an investigation of the Berkeley Chiropractic College was begun. The latter case was continued until December 4, 1925. The decision of the board in the former was postponed until the meeting of December 4th.

In securing the evidence in regard to how these schools are operated, many witnesses have been summoned. The testimony of students as to the class work given by a school daily is all important in an investigation of this kind. The board would not feel justified in rendering an opinion as to whether a chiropractic institution maintained a curriculum that met the requirements of the Chiropractic Act without looking into the matter very carefully. It is an easy thing to secure a charter to conduct a school; but a charter, per se, is of no value to students, from the standpoint of learning, and a school that holds up a charter as its principal asset could not expect to make much of an impression when it came to an investigation of its merits.

P. Purviance, principal and president of the Berkeley Chiropractic High School and the Berkeley Chiropractic College, respectively, objected to the board making an investigation of his schools. He held that the board had no legal right to question the integrity of his institutions. In this connection the opinion of the board's counsel, Mr. Frank V. Kington, is quoted:

> Answering your inquiry concerning the board's powers to investigate schools and colleges, I am referring you to my brief filed in the case of Berkeley Chiropractic College et al. vs. Board of Chiropractic Examiners, Superior Court, San Francisco, No. 161827. Dept. 2.
> I verily believe that my investigation into the law involved is thorough. This leads me to the opinion that notwithstanding that the power is not expressly provided for in the act, it is necessarily implied therefrom.
> The Chiropractic Act provides that the board shall have power to examine applicants and to issue and revoke licenses. This express power necessarily means that the board shall investigate all of the qualifications of every applicant for licensure. The statute also provides that one of the qualifications of such applicants is that the same shall be graduates of chiropractic schools teaching a minimum requirement of twenty-four hundred hours.
> Let me, in answering the question, ask another, namely, "If such collegiate qualification is essential to an applicant's qualification, and the board must investigate the applicant, how can the facts concerning the applicant be determined without investigating the source of his education?" Common sense tells us that the board must investigate the school. It would be impossible to pass upon the qualifications of an applicant without investigating the school which he came from.
> The Chiropractic Act also says that the board shall have power "To do any and all things necessary or incidental to the exercise of the powers and duties herein granted or imposed." Again, if the board has the power and the duty to investigate the applicant, and the question of the school being incidental to the qualifications of the applicant, then the statute expressly gives the powers to make the appropriate investigation.
> Personally, I am so firmly convinced of these things, that it would take a Supreme Court decision to change my opinion.

A school that has nothing to conceal need not fear an investigation. The board has no desire to probe into the affairs of any college through idle curiosity or for the purpose of injuring the institution.

In past years, before chiropractic was legally recognized in California, many ill-named chiropractic schools were operated. The persons who purported to teach chiropractic in some of these so-called colleges were, many times, inadequately educated in the fundamental principles of the science they were supposed to represent. Schools of this character serve no worthy purpose. Many students, with an indefinite knowledge of chiropractic, and perhaps a vague smattering of clap-trap ideas concerning the use of a miscellaneous assortment of therapeutical contrivances, were turned out and permitted to label themselves "Chiropractors." The public was without protection as there was no existing board, possessing any knowledge of the principles and practice of chiropractic, or that was interested in the perpetuation of this health system, that was vested with authority to cope with the situation.

The Chiropractic Board, in the interest of the public, expects to scrutinize all chiropractic schools to see that they meet the requirements of the law. If the courts hold that the Chiropractic Act does not delegate such powers to the board, then it will be necessary, in the future, to more thoroughly investigate each applicant for licensure. Public protection demands that every precaution be exercised that only those chiropractors who are adequately trained shall be licensed to practice in the State of California.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

To His Excellency, FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of the State of California,
Sacramento, California.

SIR: As secretary of the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners of the State of California, I have the honor of presenting for your approval the third annual report of the activities in which this department has been engaged for the 77th fiscal year. This complies with the requirements of section three of the Chiropractic Act.

Respectfully submitted.

JAMES COMPTON, D.C.

Sacramento, California, November 1, 1926.

THIRD ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE BOARD OF CHIROPRACTIC EXAMINERS.

For the Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 1926.

APPLICATIONS FOR LICENSURE.

There were 398 applications for licensure accepted for filing during the year. This was 74 applications less than the number received during the seventy-sixth fiscal year.

RECIPROCITY.

Only six applications for license by reciprocity with the state of Nevada have received the attention of the board. Of this number five were favorably considered.

While five applicants for licensure by reciprocity have been granted certificates, only two licentiates of the California board have sought registration in the above named state. They were George L. Solid (certificate signed November 12, 1925) and Robert Burgess (certificate signed January 29, 1926).

The reciprocity agreement with the state of Nevada was canceled at the meeting of the board in Los Angeles on January 12, 1926, the same becoming effective on February 15, 1926.

MEETINGS.

The board meetings for the year have been nine in number. The place and date of each is as follows:

July 14-15, 1925 (statutory)----------Sacramento
August 14-15, 1925----------Los Angeles
August 28-29, 1925----------San Francisco
October 1-2, 1925----------San Francisco
November 6-7, 1925----------Sacramento
December 4-5, 1925----------San Francisco
January 12-13, 1926 (statutory)----------Los Angeles
February 5-6, 1926----------San Francisco
May 15, 1926----------Sacramento

At five of the above meetings examinations were held. The results of four of these tests were contained in the supplemental report to the Governor for the period ending November 30, 1925. The fifth was held in Los Angeles on January 12 and 13, 1926. The following tables contain the data:

SECTION V.

Date	Number participating	Number passed	Number failed
January 12, 1926	105	94	11

SECTION VIII.

Date	Number participating	Number passed	Number failed
January 13, 1926	8	7	1

Hearings Before the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners.

Name	Charge	Disposition
David F. Baldwin	Illegal advertising	Found guility; reprimanded and dismissed
H. S. McMahon	Fraud or deception in application	Found not guilty December 4, 1925
Percy Purviance	Fraud or deception in application	Found guility; license revoked May 22, 1926
Chas. Brockman	Fraud or deception in application	Pending
Chas. H. Wood	Fraud or deception in application	Pending
Frederick J. Oakes	Illegal advertising	Pending

The board spent a number of days in session at different periods making a direct investigation of the Berkeley Chiropractic College and the Berkeley Chiropractic High School. P. Purviance, the president of the institution held that the board had no legal right to make such an investigation, as the law did not expressly provide such authorization. The superior court of San Francisco, where he had filed suit, upheld him in his contention and a permanent injunction was granted which restrained the board from proceeding with the hearing. As a result of this injunction a decision was not rendered by the board. (See Legal Department.)

In Memoriam.

ERNEST H. ESCHER.

On August 17, 1926, Ernest H. Escher, examiner of the Department of Civil Service of the State of California, died at his home in Sacramento. His death came suddenly and without warning after a day of unusual effort and diligence at his duties in the department. The world moves on in its accustomed way even when men drop out of the ranks and others step forward to take their places, but the passing of Ernest Escher caused the business of state to pause. It removed from the ranks of the employees of the State of California one of the ablest, best posted, most versatile, and most conscientious public servants. No task was too arduous, no burden too great for him to undertake. He added to a thorough college training and wide experience a constructive, intensive study and application of civil service theory and practice, and was considered one of the best civil service men in the west.

Withal he was patient and kindly, courteous and generous, the soul of honor. His life was a benediction to those around him, and the world is better because he lived.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
DEPARTMENT OF CIVIL SERVICE.
DAVID J. REESE, Commissioner.

To His Excellency FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of California,
Sacramento, California.

SIR: In accordance with the provisions of the Civil Service Act (subdivision 8, section 5) I have the honor to submit herewith the seventh biennial report of the Civil Service Commissioner, setting forth the activities of this department during the biennium, the rules and regulations adopted by the Commissioner and now in force, information as to exempted positions, together with statistical tables showing the number and status of employees in state service, the number and results of examinations, a financial statement for the biennium, and other information.

Respectfully submitted.

DAVID J. REESE,
State Civil Service Commissioner.

(EXCERPTS.)

The legislature of 1913, responding to the pledge made by the administration, passed the first Civil Service Law of the State of California. The design of the law was to place the public service of the state upon the basis of merit and efficiency alone, and its prime purpose, of course, was to destroy the pernicious practice arising from political patronage. * * * Sufficient time has elapsed for us unhesitatingly to say that it has accomplished its prime purpose and that under the present administration of the law, political patronage is at an end, * * * and the advantage of destroying political patronage, of removing the state's service from politics, outweighs such disadvantages as may occur.

From Governor Hiram Johnson's message to the legislature, 1915.

It is an impossibility now in California to use the public service for political purposes, or to direct the political activities of those who hold official positions. * * * the spoils system has been eliminated, and a political machine among employees is not possible. * * * From this standpoint alone the law has been justified and has been of unmeasurable value.

From Governor Hiram Johnson's message to the legislature, 1917.

More and more do we see the great benefits accruing from the death blow given to the spoils system by the introduction of civil service. Merit is the only determining standard.

From the message of Governor Wm. D. Stephens to the legislature in 1919.

Civil service has demonstrated its value in increasing efficiency and in stabilizing the work of the state departments. The importance not only of selecting competent employees to enter the service, but of encouraging them to stay in the service when once trained to do effective work, can not be overestimated. The Commission is devoting its thought and attention to this end.

From the message of Governor Wm. D. Stephens to the legislature in 1923.

Civil service has proved its worth * * * to be fully appreciated, it must be contrasted with the old spoils system.

From Governor Friend Wm. Richardson's inaugural message, 1923.

The Civil Service Department has never worked more efficiently nor rendered greater service than during the past two years. * * * While it has its defects, it is vastly superior to the old spoils system. It is a protection to the employees of the state. It has been of great benefit to me in establishing a business administration. I have stood strongly against all efforts to break down the efficacy of the civil service.

From Governor Friend Wm. Richardson's message, 1925.

SEVENTH BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

STATE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSIONER.

The "merit system" in the determination of the eligibility and in the selection and appointment of the civilian employees of California has been in force in this state for thirteen years. It is no longer an experiment. Thirteen years' experience has demonstrated its efficacy and there is not a department of state government which would honestly and conscientiously vote for a return of the old spoils system. Three successive governors of the state have testified to its worth and value in the administration of government, in the efficiency of the service of the various state departments and in the advantages secured by it as compared with the political spoils system. Practically without exception, all department heads of state government have come to appreciate the benefits of the merit system, are working in full accord with the provisions of the Civil Service Act, and are cooperating with the Commissioner in making the merit system more effective in bringing the best and most competent employment service to the state.

The Civil Service Act with its endorsement by the executives of California and its enforcement by its administrative officers has played its part in the government of this state, not alone as a means of abolishing political patronage and the distribution of spoils, but as operating in the public interest, in securing efficiency and economy.

If efficient administrative practice and an adequate employment system are necessary in industry, and the business world has long since so decreed, then without question these are more vital in the conduct of government. The merit system aims to secure stability of administration through the selection of intelligent and expert employees by means of competitive tests of fitness. Its best indorsement today in California is in the sympathy and support of appointing officers, in the commendation of political parties, in the support of press and public opinion.

The British Civil Service Commission in a recent report shows the high place which the merit system has come to hold in that government:

> The civil service is becoming more and more the indispensable servant of the community, and it is the business of the community to insure that all who serve it are appointed on the score of capacity and character alone, and that those who reach the highest posts in the service shall do so by virtue of ability and merit. The inevitable result of any shortcomings in these matters will be weakness and failure.

Previous reports of this department have had to do largely with the establishment and development of civil service and the merit system, with its difficulties of operation and of its needs, with the statutory limitations as to its authority and the necessity for intelligent legislation to safeguard the merit system in California.

This report is intended to present the main features of the activities of the department, to give brief consideration to some of its problems and to outline the principles upon which in our judgment a sound and effective personnel system for the state should be built.

While the merit system as an acknowledged branch of the administrative machinery of the state has been thoroughly established; while standard practices and administrative procedure have been developed under it, yet eternal vigilance is the price of safety for civil service, and those who would preserve it for the state must be ever on guard.

Industry today, especially those industries which have attained the greatest measure of success in reducing turnover and employment controversies, in securing efficiency of employment and maximum of production, demands a central personnel office charged with the procurement of qualified and able personnel. The Civil Service Commissioner of California under the law must serve as an effective instrument in the control and solution of the important personnel problems in the state service, as a central personnel office for the various departments of state government.

With this objective in view it has been the purpose of this department, as a result of continuous study and consideration of the personnel problem in government and in industry, as a result of surveys and investigations of both, to formulate an employment policy which if accepted by the state and its various departments will insure an effective, efficient and economical public service. To this end recommendations have been made in previous reports, some of which have been adopted and are now in force. Additional and repeated recommendations are made in this report which we believe are vitally necessary and which should be adopted if civil service is to become the vital force in state government which we believe it should be.

THE PROGRAM OF THE DEPARTMENT.

In the interests of effective and economical administration this department has had constantly before it a positive and constructive program, the accomplishment of which has been considered necessary for the future growth and development of the merit system. Included in this program and recommended from time to time have been these outstanding features: (1) Development and completion of the classification of all positions and the standardization of all salaries; (2) the adoption of an employment policy which will give the state the same businesslike, efficient and economical system as private enterprise enjoys; (3) a definite and uniform policy respecting hours and conditions of employment in all departments; (4) the reorganization of departmental working forces, where deemed advisable, eliminating wasted effort, and overlapping duties, as well as duplication of employees and salaries; (5) the elimination of statutory salaries in all departments; (6) extension of the merit system to all departments of the state service; (7) the adoption of a comprehensive and equitable pension and retirement system for all civil service employees.

Consummation has marked some of the features of this program. Progress is noted in all others. The classification of positions in state service and the standardization of salaries have been completed and may now be accepted as permanent, though as occasion demands the Commissioner has made needed changes and amendments in both. Departments are coming to recognize the need for a carefully and intelligently selected personnel department. Statutory salaries have been abolished to some extent. Many departments have seen the wisdom in and necessity for adopting uniform hours of employment. But there has been no effort whatever up to the present time in the formulation of an adequate and financially sound pension and retirement law, in the reorganization of working forces and elimination of overlapping service and duplication of effort; or in the extension of the merit system to departments now exempted and outside the act. For these last named the Commissioner again renews his recommendations.

SALARY CONTROL AND REGULATION.

The Civil Service Act provides (Sec. 5, sub. 1) that the Commissioner shall > Classify positions to be held under state authority in accordance with the provisions of this act and in accordance with the duties attached to such positions. The Commission shall grade all positions within each class with respect to salaries, to the end that like salaries shall be paid for like duties, and shall establish minimum and maximum salary limits for each grade in its classification of positions, and shall provide by rule for advancement of salary within each grade in its classification of positions, and shall provide by rule for advancement of salary within each grade on the basis of efficiency and length of service.

In compliance with this provision of the law, which contemplates not only the principle of equitable compensation but also like salaries for like duties, the salary standards which have been heretofore established have been strictly enforced. The requirement of the law for providing by rule for advancement of salary within the grade is a part of the salary standardization plan, and has made necessary close cooperation with the state budget authorities. As a guide to the various departments the Commissioner has adopted the following rules:

Rule 12. Salary Increases.

Section 1. To conform to classification. Advancement of salary within each subclass or grade shall be based upon efficiency and length of service, and the rate of advancement or the amount of salary increase shall be in accordance with the salary schedule established for each subclass or grade in the classification of positions as adopted and made a part of these rules.

Sec. 2. Increases not oftener than once each year. Advancement of salary based upon efficiency and length of service shall be made only upon recommendation of the appointing power and not oftener than once each year, preferably on July 1 of each year, except in emergency cases presented to and approved by the Civil Service Commissioner.

Sec. 3. Requests for increases. All original requests for increases in salaries shall be filed with the Civil Service Commissioner.

Sec. 4. Increases not retroactive. In no case shall advancement of salary be retroactive.

Because of this power conferred upon the Commissioner by the law and because of the rules adopted in accordance therewith, thousands of dollars have been saved to the state during the biennium. Appointing powers are prone to recognize merit and to reward favorites by increases in salary. The civil service schedules prevent unreasonable increases, the time limit prevents too frequent increases, and the maximum rates established in the civil service classification prevent making the sky the limit.

In addition to this provision of the act there is given in section 17 a further power to the Commissioner. Section 17 reads:

> It shall be unlawful for the controller or other fiscal officer of the state to draw, sign, issue, or authorize the drawing, signing, or issuing of any warrant on the treasurer or other disbursing officer of the state for the payment of, or for the treasurer or other disbursing officer to pay any salary or compensation to anyone holding any position under the provisions of this act unless the estimate, pay roll or account for such salary or compensation, containing the name of the person to be paid, shall bear the certificate of the commission that the persons named in such estimate, pay roll or account are holding positions as provided by this act and the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder. Any sums paid contrary to the provisions of this section may be recovered from anyone making such appointment in violation of the provisions of this act and of the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder or from any officer signing, or countersigning, or authorizing the signing or countersigning of any warrant for the payment of the same, and from the sureties on his official bond in any action in any court of competent jurisdiction of this state maintained by a citizen resident therein, who is assessed for and is liable to pay, or within one year before the commencement of such action has paid, a tax therein. All moneys recovered in any action brought under the provisions of this section must, when collected, be paid into the treasury of the state, except that the plaintiff in any such action shall be entitled to receive for his own use the taxable costs of such action.

This provision of the statute has been undoubtedly the most potent of all the means of enforcing the law. The provision of the law requiring certification of pay rolls proves itself most valuable. Without such a provision, appointments might be made without strict observance of the civil service rules, and fiscal officers might at times be persuaded to pay compensation to those irregularly selected. Systematic presentation to the Civil Service Commissioner of all pay rolls, with careful scrutiny of such pay rolls, is necessary in order to maintain this important feature of the civil service law.

NEED FOR CLOSER CONTACT.

During the past two years the Civil Service Commissioner has had frequent opportunities to attend and to participate in the conferences of the Department of Institutions. These conferences have resulted in a better understanding of the purposes and procedure of civil service administration and a greater willingness to cooperate with and submit to the civil service law and regulations. They have resulted, too, in a better understanding of the attitude, the desires, the needs, and the situations obtaining in the respective institutions and a corresponding willingness on the part of this department to adjust itself and its procedure to the particular institutions, each of which may have its own peculiar and particular situations.

There is need for this closer contact and relationship between the several departments and the Civil Service Commissioner, because the latter department has wider interdepartmental dealings than any other department of state service. A little more freedom of relations, a greater desire for actual cooperation will result in better administration and better government. The Civil Service Department welcomes opportunity to confer, to explain its procedure and to adjust itself to the needs of other departments in so far as the law will allow.

As a matter of fact, and this perhaps is beside the issue, there is too much aloofness in state government. Under our constitution state officers are elected by the people and administer their offices independently of one another. There is no cooperation, no united effort to secure efficiency, or effectiveness in government activity. There is more reason why department heads should work in unison and cooperation in a state government than in the national government. This Department has heretofore pointed out in its reports that there is unquestionably overmanning of departments, duplication of duties and efforts, and laxity in discipline, all of which tend to increase the number of employees and pay roll, and to reduce effectiveness of service. The Civil Service Commissioner will welcome the day when a new constitution of this state may centralize governmental activities in a cabinet form of government comparable to that of the federal government, when the chief executive may appoint his department heads to the end that the policies of an administration may have opportunity to be carried out by officials working in unison instead of all departments working at cross purposes as under the existing system.

This Department recognizes that these questions are not its particular concern. It recognizes that these recommendations are not within its province; it will not be admitted that this function belongs to this department. But in line of a more effective and more economical employment policy the recommendation is offered for what it is worth.

REORGANIZATION OF THE COMMISSION.

The outstanding feature of the biennium in civil service administration is the reorganization of the Commission. The legislative measure approved by the Governor May 10, 1925, provided for the creation of the office of State Civil Service Commissioner. The original Civil Service Act adopted in 1913 provided for three civil service commissioners, each serving at a salary of $3,000. The act of 1921 provided for a commission of three members, one of whom was designated as president and executive member at a salary of $4,000 per year and two others as associate members at salaries not to exceed $500 each per year. The act approved by the Governor and effective July 24, 1925, provided for one commissioner at a salary of $5,000 per year.

By this reorganization of its Civil Service Department, California becomes one of the three governmental organizations in the United States which have an appointed commission consisting of one person. The state of Maryland has had a one-man commission for the past six years, and in the city of St. Paul, the civil service administration is in the hands of one official. Five provinces of Canada each have a commission of one commissioner, and the same form is found in Australia and New Zealand. It is true also that in the industries where employment departments have been established, with few exceptions, an individual has been placed at the head of the department.

The advantages of a one-man commission, viz, the placing of responsibility where it belongs, the centering of responsibility and resultant promptness of action, the placing of quasi-legislative and quasi-judicial functions in the hands of one person; when contrasted with the disadvantages of the plan, viz. the reluctance of departments to place these powers with one person, the lack of sufficient experience to determine the feasibility of the plan, and the doubt as to whether the control may safely be placed in the hands of an inexpert administrator, show that the advantages and disadvantages are about equally divided.

THE ADOPTION OF NEW RULES AND REGULATIONS.

With the reorganization of the Commission, changes in the rules were imperative and the Commissioner rewrote the rules and regulations, elaborating upon the rules already extant, making needed amendments to conform to existing conditions and changes in the act, and eliminating old provisions, all in accordance with the law. The Commissioner believes that the California Department has the most comprehensive set of rules of any civil service department in the country.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE RULES.

The injustice of the leave of absence rule adopted with the inauguration of civil service had long been recognized. Department heads in the past had taken advantage of this unwise rule to dismiss civil service employees and thus evade the civil service law by giving them leaves of absence which meant nothing except a polite dismissal, with no opportunity of return. When the new rules were written and adopted, a new leave of absence rule which means a real leave of absence was promulgated. Naturally enough, department heads have recognized the justice of the new rule and have accepted it graciously. At the time of its adoption the following notice was sent to all departments:

> The State Department of Civil Service, after a long and careful study of the "leave of absence" question in so far as it concerns the civil service employees of this state, has drafted and has adopted a new "leave of absence" rule which is now in effect.
> The outstanding features of this new rule are as follows:
> 1. Leave of absence is granted only to permanent employees.
> 2. It is granted only for good cause.
> 3. It is granted only for three months. (With permission to extend for good cause.)
> 4. It is granted only after faithful service.
> 5. It is not granted to an employee who leaves to accept a position in state service or private employment.
> 6. It is granted with the definite understanding that the employee shall be restored to his position on or before the expiration of his leave of absence.
> 7. It is granted with the definite understanding that the vacancy caused by such leave shall be filled by a temporary employee appointed on certification.
> 8. Request must be accompanied by report of performance.
> It will be seen from the above that leave of absence is not a mere formality, that it is something employees should earn and merit, that it is not granted for any and every paltry excuse and that department heads should not grant or recommend it for employees who have not earned a return to their positions and whose return department heads do not desire.

PAMPHLET FOR INFORMATION.

Immediately after the adoption of the new rules and regulations a pamphlet of civil service information was compiled and published in order that department heads and civil service employees as well might be fully informed. These were widely distributed, and from the many requests made for them, it is evident that they have filled a genuine need.

JURISDICTION OF THE COMMISSION.

The Civil Service Act (section 7) specifies the classes of employment exempted from the jurisdiction of civil service. There are fourteen of these classes, most of them including chief assistants and confidential employees, and these constitute a small part of the entire employee force of the state. But there are also included in this exempt class the employees of the Railroad Commission, the legislature, the penitentiaries, and the University of California. Notwithstanding this large number of exemptions allowed by law, there were on July 1, 1926, 7138 civilian employees of the state under civil service jurisdiction. A statistical table submitted herewith and made a part of this report will show the distribution of these civil service employees in the various state departments.

ACTIVITIES OF THE COMMISSION.

By reason of its particularly intimate contact with every department of state service, with all of the employees of the state service under its jurisdiction, with the thousands of persons on its eligible lists, and with the other thousands who have aspirations to be numbered among the elect on the eligible lists, this department is one of the most active in state government.

The examination work of the department includes not only the conduct of examinations and the preparation and rating of all tests, but also the decision as to examination requirements; the confidential investigation of all applicants; the survey of requirements of positions; investigation and conference with outside agencies; correspondence with applicants; the review of citizenship and veterans' papers; and the compilation of eligible lists.

Its responsibility for classification of positions and standardization of salaries involves correspondence and personal interviews on matters relating to the classification of positions and rates of compensation; the collection and compilation of salary and wage data in public and private employment; the survey of the employment requirements of positions in public and private employment which are comparable to those in the state service; investigation as to cost of living; intimate contact with employees' associations and labor unions; survey of departments to assist in the reorganization of such departments; and the classification of all positions to which certification is requested. During the past two years it has responded to the request of department heads and has made surveys and thereafter recommendations as to the reorganization of said departments, which have resulted in the elimination of unnecessary effort and the combination of many positions; it has had many interviews with employers' associations and labor union representatives in its investigations as to salary schedules and it has classified hundreds of positions to which certification has been requested.

In addition to all this, it has passed upon and has approved or rejected all requests and recommendations for salary increases in all departments of state service. Twice each year, in June and in December, the regular proposed salary increases are presented and every month of each year, as well, emergency increases, increases based upon transfers, promotions and changes of duties are also considered. These are carefully considered, first as to standardization schedules, again as to maximum limits, again as to the length of time since the last increase, and finally as to the civil service standing of the employee. The result of this diligent attention and consideration is the rejection of hundreds of unequal, ill-advised and unfair salary increases and the saving of thousands of dollars every year to the state.

That the provisions of the act may be strictly enforced, the Commissioner must be responsible for the checking of the pay rolls of every department, for the prompt reporting of any and every discrepancy or irregularity in salary list or civil service eligibility, for the compilation of a complete card record of every one of the 7138 employees of the state, and for registering upon the official roster all appointments, separations, transfers, and promotions of civil service employees.

And, finally, the department must of necessity attend to the duty of maintaining eligible lists immediately upon the completion of the examinations; of notifying eligibles as to their standing; of issuing all certifications of eligibles upon requests of departments; of notifying departments of the availability of eligibles and of the requirements of the Civil Service Act.

EXAMINATIONS.

There is less complaint today than ever before that examinations for civil service positions are not practical. It has been the constant endeavor of the Commissioner not only to maintain the same high standard which has always characterized its examinations, but also to make improvements wherever opportunity offered. The most earnest efforts have been made, and with gratifying results, to inspire confidence in the fairness of tests submitted and in the integrity of this department. A great measure of the success attained in examination procedure is due to the voluntary and generous assistance and cooperation of men high in the industries and professions of the state, as well as of technical experts of various governmental departments and the universities of the state, who have sacrificed time and effort in their desire to see that the "best shall serve the state." Civil service procedure in California no longer requires or demands the impractical in examinations. The oral examination and the practical test have superseded in many instances the written examinations, and have been found to be the most satisfactory method of examining applicants for positions requiring a degree of proficiency and skill which comes only with years of actual experience.

It is generally recognized that actual demonstration of manual dexterity and skill gives a far more accurate index of relative proficiency than any written test that has yet been devised, and so wherever possible the oral examination of tradesmen includes or is supplemented by a practical test of the applicant's ability to use tools or equipment peculiar to his trade.

In the development of tests and in the improvement of its examination methods the Department has had the cooperation and assistance of the Bureau of Public Personnel Administration at Washington, D. C. This bureau, established through the efforts of the National Assembly of Civil Service Commissioners, serves not only as a clearing house of information on personal problems for Civil Service Commissions and other employment administrators, throughout the United States, but also as an experimental and research laboratory for the analysis, development and standardization of examinations and other means of measuring the absolute and relative ability of applicants for employment. The problem of developing tests to measure human capabilities has heretofore received but little attention, but since its establishment in 1922 the bureau has made a tremendous contribution toward the solution of this problem. The success of the civil service examination system depends so largely upon the reliability of tests that civil service administrators are deeply indebted to the bureau for its splendid work.

To meet the requirements of the various state departments for eligibles and to maintain its eligible lists, the Commissioner has held during the biennium, July 1, 1924, to June 30, 1926, 422 open competitive examinations, and 57 promotional examinations, with a total of 12,675 applicants. It is worthy of note that the total number of applicants for this period exceeds by 2030 the total number of applicants for any preceding biennium in the history of the Department This is the best possible evidence of the increasing confidence of the public in the fairness and integrity of the California Civil Service system. In these examinations 5559 have qualified and have been given places on the eligible lists.

EXAMINATIONS FOR PLACES OF HIGH SALARY.

Examinations have not been confined to minor positions in state service. On the contrary, many responsible positions have been open to certification and examinations have been held to secure eligibles for them. These include the following:

ELIGIBLES AND ELIGIBLE LISTS.

The significant facts in connection with the examinations held by this department are the wide range of positions for which the Commissioner is required to establish eligible lists, and the comparatively small number of applicants in a number of these examinations. There is but one answer to the latter situation. Important positions in industry and in private employment which require education and experience and expert knowledge are commanding higher salaries than the state is paying or is able to pay. As a result, notwithstanding state employment is a preferred employment in many ways, the examinations for these high-class positions in the state service do not attract applicants.

The records of the Civil Service Commissioner show that there are now in existence 288 different eligible lists for different classes of positions in the state service. These lists contain the names of 2034 eligibles.

From the establishment of the Civil Service Department in August, 1913, until the end of June, 1926, there had been certified and appointed from the civil service eligible lists 17,032 employees for state service.

At the time of the establishment of civil service in California, 4489 employees were "blanketed in" to the service under the provisions of the Civil Service Act. Today, after thirteen years, only 517 of the original 4489 are still in the service of the state.

TEMPORARY AUTHORIZATIONS.

If and when there are no eligibles upon eligible lists from which to certify to fill vacancies or new or additional positions, the Commissioner is empowered to issue temporary authorizations to fill such positions. In a state as large as California where department employees are widely scattered it is impossible to provide eligibles because of location, of tenure of office, and of salaries, and therefore temporary authorization is found necessary for such departments as Agriculture, Highway Commision, etc. For clerical positions, the registers are always more than adequate. The registers for stenographers and typists are replenished monthly. But for scientific and technical positions the supply of eligibles is as a rule insufficient. There is a large turnover of attendants, nurses, institutional trades positions, and it seems practically impossible to secure applicants for examinations for these positions. Temporary authorizations are granted for thirty days and not to exceed three months, but it has been found necessary to extend these authorizations repeatedly.

On June 30, 1926, there were 2016 employees under temporary authorization, the smallest number of temporary employees in the history of the department since the days of the war. Of this number 1159 (or more than half) were employees at the different state institutions and with the California Highway Commission on construction and maintenance work in various parts of the state. These are the positions which are the most difficult to fill from our eligible lists.

EXEMPTIONS.

The Civil Service Act provides that the Commissioner shall furnish in his biennial report information as to exempted positions as required by the act.

There are at this time in marked contrast to the situation prevailing at the time of the adoption of the act, practically no requests for exemption of positions from civil service jurisdiction. On the contrary, department heads are requesting that certain positions heretofore exempted by the act or by request and action of the Commission be placed under the provisions of the Civil Service Act.

During the biennium there has been but one exemption; namely, fire fighters, State Department of Forestry.

CLASSIFICATION.

The Commissioner has endeavored during the biennial period to improve and perfect the classification of the state service on the basis of work performed. It has frowned upon and has been loath to grant requests for the creation of new positions. In this endeavor it has had a considerable measure of cooperation from most departments, but there have been several unreasonable requests which have had to be denied. Each request for a change of classification is followed by an investigation, and wherever necessary a survey is made of the duties, requirements, and salaries paid for similar work in other governmental agencies, as well as in private employment, to determine whether the change is warranted. Where the investigation shows a change to be unnecessary, it has been the consistent policy of the Commissioner to deny the request. The creation of new departments with the extension of governmental activities has demanded some new classifications, and these have been granted, but for the most part the new positions established were readily placed within the existing classification.

ORGANIZATION.

It is not a recognized function nor is it the province of the Civil Service Commissioner to direct or even suggest what the departmental organization of any office, board or commission of state government shall be; and yet with organization experts on its staff, with a great fund of organization material and information at command, this department is prepared to assist, and during the biennium period has assisted several departments, not only in the reorganization of their work, but also in bringing about a more efficient and logical distribution of duties and a consequent adjustment of salaries. Its services in this regard are always at the command of department heads.

EFFICIENCY AND PERSONNEL RECORDS.

Section 5, subdivision fifth, of the Civil Service Act provides:

> Fifth—Records of individual efficiency of holders of positions in performing their duties shall be established in all offices and places of employment affected by this act. Such records shall be made by the appointing power, unless otherwise directed by the commission, and under and in accordance with such rules and regulations as the commission may prescribe, and a copy of such records shall be filed with the commission. The commission shall investigate all such efficiency records, and may make its own records, and shall rate upon such records the item of "ascertained merit" in examinations for promotion. The commission shall establish and enforce rules and regulations under which records of unsatisfactory service may lead to reduction in grade and compensation of the person holding the position concerned, and shall further provide for the manner in which persons falling below the standards of efficiency fixed by its rules and regulations may be removed from their positions by the commission proceeding substantially as provided in this act and with the same effect as in case of removals by the appointing power.

Efforts have been made by this department to inaugurate efficiency and personnel record systems in the various state departments with rather indifferent success. Because of limited appropriations this department has not been able to prosecute its studies and investigations to successful conclusion, but it is evident that a service record of employees is as necessary to the work of the Department as an inventory is to a business establishment. The importance of such records will be understood when it is realized that without it legislation can not be intelligently devised nor salaries intelligently regulated. Such a record will eventually have to serve, not merely for the purpose of checking appointments, but for statistical purposes, for promotions, for increases in salaries, and, if it ever be adopted, for computing the annuity of employees upon retirement. The Civil Service Commissioner hopes to be able to recommend a definite efficiency rating system and to direct the establishment of such system and a record in every department of state service within the coming biennium.

PENSION AND RETIREMENT.

Civil service and the merit system have become a permanent function of state government. To insure their greatest effectiveness and to bring about greater efficiency in service there must be adopted as a part of the laws of the state a pension and retirement law which will be adequate and comprehensive so far as employees are concerned, and particularly sound from a financial and actuarial standpoint. All governmental units which have adopted a civil service law are in time recognizing the necessity for such a law. The merit system has a two-fold significance in its theory of operation: the necessity for merit and fitness and efficiency as qualifications for the appointment of an employee, and merit and efficiency and production as necessary qualifications for an employee to remain in his position. But there comes a time in the lives of men and women when they can not render the service required of them, the service which can be expected of younger men and women. Heartless demands for efficiency would relegate these employees to the scrap heap, but sentiment and justice would deter such action. It is unjust to an employee after years of service to summarily dismiss him for lack of efficiency, but it is also unjust to the state to continue a man in office when his eye has dimmed and his step is failing.

A pension and retirement law is the only solution to the problem. In our own state, Los Angeles County, San Francisco and Oakland have adopted pension and retirement laws. The territory of Hawaii has recently enacted a most satisfactory law. Baltimore has a pension and retirement law which has been pronounced as sound financially by the best actuaries of the country. New Jersey, Wisconsin, the federal government, and many other governmental units have adopted such laws. It will be a wise policy for this state to adopt such a law based upon correct principles and patterned after systems which have proved successful elsewhere.

SUPPORT AND COOPERATION OF THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

A civil service law reaches its highest state of effectiveness only when it is in the hands of its friends. The chief executives of the state without exception have not only given their support and advocacy to the Civil Service Act and to the Commission, but have aided and cooperated in the enforcement of the act and in the rules of the Commission, thus making increasingly effective the purpose of the Commission of regulating and improving the civil service of the state.

Governor Richardson's policy through his entire administration has been one of noninterference with civil service procedure; a consistent, conscientious support of the merit system; an insistence that all state departments live up to and comply absolutely with the provisions of the civil service law and the rules of the Civil Service Department.

Not in a single instance, directly or indirectly, has there been a request nor even an intimation or a suggestion, for the selection of an appointee for political, personal, or other reasons. On the contrary, when appointments have been made in the executive department, which is exempt by law from the provisions of civil service, the Governor has invariably requested the appointment of civil service eligibles.

The fact that all departments of state government are not only working in full accord with the provisions of the Civil Service Act, but are in harmony with and are accepting civil service regulations, is due in a large measure to the belief in and approval of the merit system by the chief executive.

NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE ASSEMBLY.

This Department has been enabled to continue its membership and participation in the National Assembly of Civil Service Commissions and to gain from the conferences and proceedings of said assembly suggestions and assistance that have been of benefit to civil service administration in this state. Of particular interest was the convention at Philadelphia in September of 1926 when Sir Stanley Leathes, Commissioner of Civil Service of the British Empire, attended and gave to the assembly delegates the benefit of his experiences of seventy years of the British commission.

BOUQUETS.

It is gratifying to note among many commendations of the civil service and the merit system the following letter from Hon. Robert M. Morton, State Highway Engineer, California Highway Commission, in response to an inquiry from an engineer in Texas as to the operation of the civil service law. The State Highway Engineer has given the Civil Service Department support and cooperation at all times. His letter is published with his permission. He says:

> This department has been under the regulation of the Civil Serice Commission almost since its original organization in 1911. We consider that the application of civil service to our work has been very satisfactory. From an administrative standpoint, operation under the civil service law creates a less flexible organization than would be the case without civil service. For its successful operation, there is required on the part of the employees a good understanding of the rules and regulations and the system of advancement. Over a period of years, the employees acquire this knowledge and usually cooperate to the fullest extent.
> What few drawbacks the civil service method may have from an administrative standpoint are far overbalanced by the entire elimination of political considerations in the selection and advancement of employees. This department has never been harassed by politicians, and all of our employment is on a merit basis. Our Civil Service Act prescribes an adequate course of procedure in eliminating undesirable employees, and the Civil Service Commission cooperates with us to the fullest extent in qualifying eligibles.
> We believe that in a large state the civil service procedure is a distinct advantage, and would be fearful of results if it were removed in California.

The following is an excerpt from a letter of Hon. M. D. Lack on his retirement as secretary of the State Board of Equalization:

> I have received every assistance and entirely unqualified cooperation from the State Civil Service Department.
> You have succeeded in removing the discontent sometimes manifested against the "usual" civil service administration by making your administration of that difficult department "unusual," with the result that it is a pleasure and a satisfaction for other departments to deal with you.

SUGGESTIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

Summarizing its suggestions for the greater efficacy of civil service and the merit system and to meet the problems which seem immediately ahead, the Commissioner respectfully recommends:

1. The adoption by the legislature and approval by the Governor of measures calculated to preserve the integrity of civil service and to safeguard it from successful attack by department heads or employees.
2. Extension by legislative action of civil service to all exempted departments of state government which should rightfully come under civil service jurisdiction.
3. The elimination by legislative action of all statutory salaries.
4. The establishment by statute of uniform hours of employment, which shall be generally and equitably enforced as a part of the personnel employment policy outlined by the Civil Service Commissioner.
5. A survey of departments by a legislative committee in conjunction with the Civil Service Commissioner with a view to the elimination of overlapping duties and functions, and a reduction of the number of employees.

6. The submitting to the people for their decision of an amendment incorporating civil service in the constitution of the state.

7. The adoption of a comprehensive, equitable, and financially sound pension and retirement law.

8. The inclusion of all legislative employees in the classified service.

CONCLUSION.

In this report the Civil Service Commissioner has endeavored to present suggestions and recommendations for the development of an intelligent, comprehensive employment policy for the state. The proper handling of the employment service of the state is of first importance, inasmuch as it represents the greatest outlay of public funds. In this the Commissioner, because he is directly reponsible for the employment and salary standards of state service, is deeply concerned, and his recommendations are made with the great slogan of civil service ever in mind, "The best shall serve the state."

To the Governor of this state, who has given sincere and earnest cooperation and support in the administration of the civil service law, the Commissioner desires to express his appreciation. Appreciation is extended as well to the state departments with whom the Commissioner deals in the discharge of his official responsibility.

Respectfully submitted.

DAVID J. REESE,
State Civil Service Commissioner.

APPENDIX III.

POSITIONS EXEMPTED FROM PROVISIONS OF THE CIVIL SERVICE ACT BY RESOLUTION OF THE COMMISSION, FROM JULY 1, 1924, TO JUNE 30, 1926.

Department.	Position.	Reasons for Exemption.	Names of Incumbents.
State Board of Forestry.	Temporary fire fighters, employed during the fire season.	The nature of the employment is such that it would be impossible to fill such positions from the civil service lists.	Because of the emergency nature of the work, as well as the tenure of employment, which is often for a few hours only, the State Board of Forestry has not been required to report appointments under this exemption.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

To HON. FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of California.

I herewith transmit the Sixth Biennial Report of the State Corporation Department.

Respectfully,

CLIFFORD J. MACMILLAN,
Commissioner of Corporations.

December 4, 1926.

REPORT OF THE STATE CORPORATION DEPARTMENT.

The industrial expansion of the state following in the wake of the phenomenal growth in population has caused a tremendous increase in the work of the State Corporation Department.

The percentage of increase is illustrated by the fact that during the year just ending authority was given for the sale of $1,554,440,163.29 par or face value of securities as compared with $183,631,895 for the calendar year 1915, the first year of "blue sky" enforcement in California. This is an increase in the volume of work of over 846 per cent.

During the biennium covered by this report, September 1, 1924, to September 1, 1926, permits have been issued authorizing the sale of $2,365,462,381.90 par or face value of securities. The total number of permits, licenses, and orders issued by the commissioner was 48,637, of which 26,418 were issued to companies, 20,478 to agents and 1741 to brokers. During the same period 9779 orders of denial, revocation or suspension were issued.

The face value of securities authorized during this biennium exceeds the total face value of the securities authorized during the first seven years existence of the department.

Notwithstanding this unprecedented increase in financing in the State of California, the personnel of the State Corporation Department has been able to keep abreast of the industrial expansion and efficiently pass on applications so as not to hinder or delay the progress of the state.

In addition to the larger volume of business resulting from economic conditions, the duties of the Commissioner of Corporations were materially increased by the 1925 legislature, which not only amended the Corporate Securities Act so as to make it more workable and definite in its scope, but also enlarged the jurisdiction of the department in the following respects:

First—Required that permits be obtained for the sale of:

(a) Beneficial interests or other securities issued by Common Law trusts;

(b) Interests in oil leases and royalties when sold to the public;

(c) Participating leases or agreements covering vending machines;

(d) Pre-organization subscription agreements in foreign corporations.

Second—Required all literature and advertisements used in connection with the sale of securities to be submitted for approval.

Third—Added section 309½ to the Civil Code which empowers the commissioner to authorize corporations to partially distribute assets to stockholders.

Many of the problems presented to the State Corporation Department during this period have been extremely complicated and have been without precedent. In solving the intricacies of the legal points arising in connection with the new legislation, due credit is to be given the Attorney General for his efficient cooperation.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.

The department has continued to be more than self-supporting.

Total receipts for the biennium were $571,282.30 and total expenditures $501,033.41.

The excess of receipts amounting to $70,248.89 has been added to the Corporation Department's surplus account in the state treasury, which is now $736,910.65.

SUPERVISION OF ADVERTISING.

Section 7 of the Corporate Securities Act was amended by the 1925 legislature so as to require all literature and advertisements used in the sale of securities to be submitted for approval. This amendment became effective July 24, 1925, and since then 8670 advertisements were filed, of which 8159 were approved either in original or modified form and 511 were not approved.

A large portion of the securities that are sold in California are offered by brokers who purchase them outside of the state. Inasmuch as no sale is made in California by the company the original issuance can not be regulated by the Commissioner of Corporations.

The resale of these securities by brokers in this state is, however, subject to twofold supervision:

First—The broker must not resell in a manner or for a price that will work a fraud upon the purchaser; and Second—The broker must first submit for approval all advertisements or literature to be used.

It is by means of the supervision of advertising that the public receives the greater protection, inasmuch as a fraudulent scheme is stopped before, rather than after, the damage is done.

DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS.

The addition of section 309½ to the Civil Code in 1925 provides a method whereby corporations can be permitted to distribute a portion of their assets to their stockholders. The procedure requires the filing of an application with the Commissioner of Corporations containing all necessary information. Two weeks published notice is then given by the commissioner and upon the completion of publication a hearing is held for the purpose of determining the facts.

The necessity for this legislation is indicated by the fact that, since it became effective, applications have been filed by companies requesting authority to distribute assets of an aggregate value of $536,860,465.63.

COURT DECISIONS.

Within the period covered by this report the Supreme Court of the state passed upon several cases involving the construction of the "no par value" sections added to the Civil Code by the 1923 legislature.

The decisions declared portions of the law unconstitutional and held that the capital stock of California corporations could not be classified into two or more classes having different par values.

Prior to the time that these decisions were rendered many companies had taken advantage of the 1923 legislation and had been issued permits authorizing the sale of securities. After the Supreme Court interpreted the law it was necessary for these companies to reorganize their stock structures and file new applications with this department based upon their amended articles of incorporation.

The handling of each of these applications was very difficult due to the legal points involved in transferring the business and assets from one organization to another. The department cooperated fully with these companies and assisted in accomplishing their reorganization without interruption to business or loss of time.

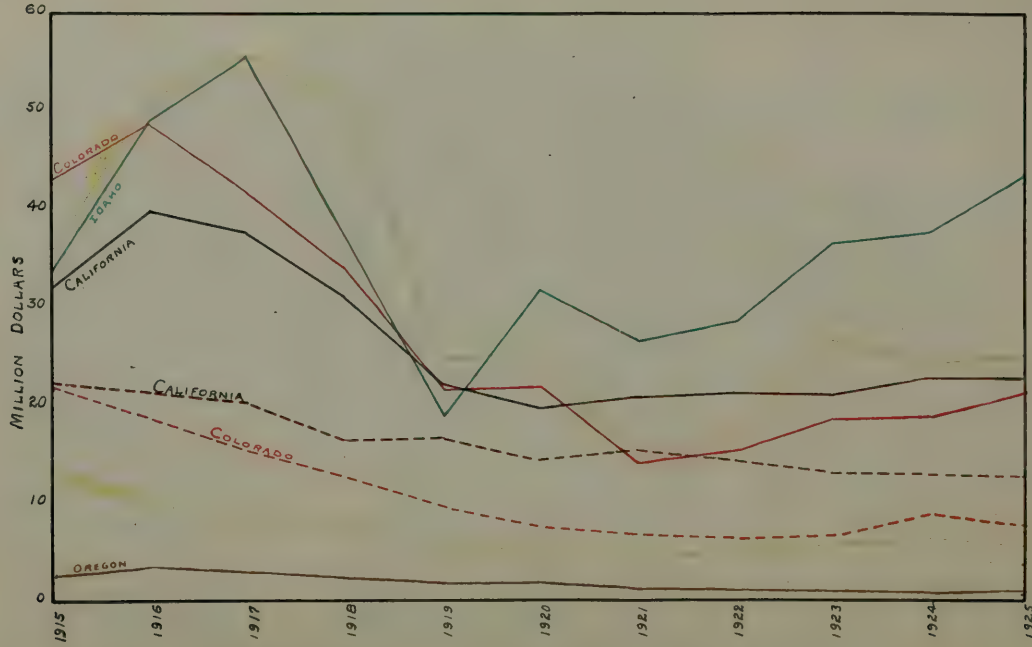
PUBLIC PROTECTED.

During the period covered by this report applications requesting authority to sell $417,067,707.48 par or face value of securities were either denied or were withdrawn while under investigation.

Many of the schemes involved were criminal in their nature and were but thinly disguised attempts to enrich the promoters at the expense of the public. Others, not involving the same degree of fraud, were based upon visionary dreams that could only result in failure.

The economic saving effected by preventing the sale of such securities can be more readily visualized by realizing that every man, woman and child living within this state was thereby saved approximately one hundred dollars.

In order to further protect the public the books and records of companies financing by the sale of securities are periodically checked by auditors from this department. Where it becomes apparent through such investigations that the permit of any company has been violated, the money squandered or the facts misrepresented, the department immediately suspends the permit and prevents the further sale of securities until the matters have been adjusted.



It is by this means that fraudulent intent, not apparent when the permit was issued, is discovered and the damage done to the investing public is reduced to a minimum.

As a result of investigations conducted by the auditors 5951 permits have been suspended or revoked during this biennium.

The success or failure of business depends to a large extent upon two major factors—first, proper and adequate financing, and second, the ability and honesty of the individuals entrusted with its management. Due primarily to the human element involved in the second factor "blue sky" legislation can never be so enacted nor administered as to entirely prevent business failure and the consequent loss to investors, but the State Corporation Department has, during the twelve years of its existence, clearly demonstrated that many millions of dollars can be saved by stopping fraudulent schemes before they reach the public.

The issuance of a permit by the Commissioner of Corporations does not assure the success of the enterprise nor guarantee the safety of the investment. It simply means that from the facts presented in the application and those disclosed by the commissioner's investigation, the plan of business appears to be fair, just and equitable, and therefore the sale of the securities under the terms and conditions prescribed would not work a fraud upon the public.

It is the duty of the investor to read the permit issued to the company and, based upon the facts therein given, to determine whether or not he desires to invest. If the purchaser does not read the permit, a copy of which is required to be given to him, or having read it permits the "glib-tongued" salesman to convince him that the facts are not as represented—no agency can protect him.

The prospective purchaser should also obtain the advice of his banker or attorney if in doubt regarding an investment or should call on or write to the State Corporation Department. Many glowing visions of wealth painted by unscrupulous stock salesmen have been dispelled by a visit to the State Corporation Department where the actual facts can be obtained. Too much can not be said about the use of precaution in purchasing securities. Due to the intangible nature of the salesman's merchandise, there is vast room for misrepresentations and promises and many "investments" have proven to be "donations." It is only through the use of precaution by the public and with the cooperation of the law-enforcing agencies that the State Corporation Department can effectively stamp out fraud in the sale of securities.

MINING AND OIL.

There has been some criticism directed at the State Corporation Department regarding the effect of the Corporate Securities Act on the mining industry. A large part of this criticism originated with self-styled "mining men" who are more interested in "wildcat" stock manipulations than in actual mining. It has been claimed that the "blue sky" law in California has caused a heavy decline in production and that the states of Nevada, Colorado and Idaho, not having similar mining legislation, have enjoyed unprecedented prosperity.

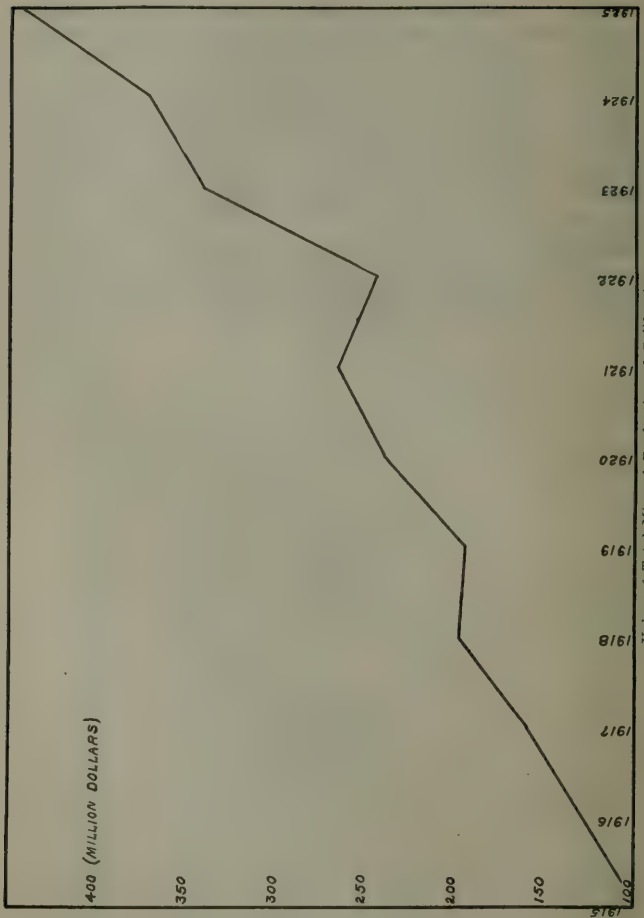
A brief study of the mining industry based on the U. S. Geological Survey and state reports clearly refutes the contention that mining development in California has been retarded due to the supervision of the sale of securities.

The following chart and tabulated comments illustrate that, notwithstanding the general unfavorable economic conditions existing since the war, California has suffered a far less decrease in the production of precious metals than has any other state.

In order that the facts may be more comparable the chart is based only on the minerals produced in all of these states and does not include petroleum and other products, in the production of which California excels.

	CALIFORNIA	NEVADA	IDAHO	COLORADO
1915	Total value of metal production shows increase of 25½ per cent. Gold output largest in 33 years.	Gold production, about 33 per cent of total; came practically from the Goldfield area.	Lead production is 43 per cent and gold production is small per cent of total	Gold yield is largest since 1908, Cripple Creek producing 61 per cent. Increase in total production can be traced to greater average value per pound of zinc.
1916	Peak of production in period being considered. Slight decrease in gold output due to strikes on the Mother Lode, also to increased pay offered copper miners, factory workers, etc.	Copper production increases $13,847,371. Most of copper comes from large scale steam shovel and caving operations. Gold output decreases.	Total tonnage of ore higher. Value of lead production increases over $9,000,000. Most of lead comes from large scale operations in the Coeur d'Alene district.	Total production decreased over 39,000 tons. Increase in value due to larger output of zinc and increased average prices for silver, copper and lead. Peak production of period.
1917	Metal mines of all kinds short of skilled labor, due to war. Material and supplies costlier and scarcer. Water for placer mining is scarce, due to dry season.	Copper and lead production increases. Gold output is decreasing. Peak production of period.	Peak production of period. 53 per cent of total production is lead.	Decrease in value of total production of 14 per cent. Ore output only 8537 tons less than 1916.
		Market decline in total production after 1916–1917 maximum.
1918	Reduction in output due to war conditions. Decline not as marked as in other states.	Collapse of copper market. High cost of operating. Lower efficiency of labor. Higher freight rates.	Quantity of ore decreases 24 per cent. Shortage of labor, high cost of supplies, floods, flu epidemic, war conditions.	War conditions cause decrease.
1919	Large loss due to decline in value of copper which was $7,733,395 less than 1918. (Price declined 6 cents per pound, and production fell off over 25 million pounds.) Unfavorable conditions due to war continue. Production of gold shows slight increase.	Labor troubles, decline in copper market, war conditions, etc., cause decline.	Decrease in value of almost 50 per cent. Market for lead poor. War conditions.	Decline continues. Properties operating at reduced capacities due to war conditions, etc.

	CALIFORNIA	NEVADA	IDAHO	COLORADO
1920	General conditions unfavorable, high cost of labor and supplies, war taxation, high freight rates, labor troubles, etc., caused curtailment and even closing of operations.
	Cost of producing gold has increased from $9.51 an ounce in 1913 to $19.15 an ounce in 1920.	Production increases.
1921	Total and gold production increases. Placer production exceeds quartz mine production. Cost of mining is still high.	Marked decrease in production of all metals.
		Prospecting is active.	95 per cent of output is lead ore. Gold is only about 3 per cent of total.	Cripple Creek gold output is decreasing. Zinc output falls from 48 to almost 2 million pounds, due to low market.
1922	Revival of copper and lead mining and operations on the Mother Lode.	General conditions better.	Industry in a fairly prosperous condition.	Gold output from Cripple Creek still decreasing.
1923	Only slight decrease. Tonnage about the same as in 1922. Price of silver decreased. No zinc output. High cost of gold mining due to depth of mines. Lack of water for placer work.	Increase in metal prices and general improvements in mining. Quantity of ore treated increased 178 per cent. Copper production predominates, increasing $6,756,062. Lead production increased 93 per cent.	Average price of lead increased 1½ cents per pound. Most valuable mine product is lead; 95 per cent comes from a very few large operators in Shoshone County.	General mining conditions are favorable and value of production is increasing.
1924	Production of copper increased 84 per cent in quantity and 64 per cent in value. Loss in dredging and drought conditions caused loss in gold production.	Fairly favorable conditions continue, though value of total production decreased 9 per cent and gold production increased 9 per cent.	Favorable conditions continue. Price of lead increased 1 cent.	General favorable conditions continue and value of both total and gold output increases.
1925	Slight decrease in gold yield but an increase in total. California Rand Silver Mine not able to run full time. Kennett Copper Mines closed.	Gold production is 19 per cent less than 1924, due to decrease in bullion from Tonopah and the Comstock.	Larger output again due to increased price of lead; it averaged 9 cents for the year as against 8 cents in 1924 and 7 cents in 1923. Gold value decreasing. (Lowest in history of state.)	Silver, lead and zinc production is higher, but gold and copper output is lower. There is an increase in the number of men employed and all properties are operating at full capacity.



COMPARISON OF 1925 PRODUCTION WITH AVERAGE VALUE OF PRODUCTION FROM 1915 to 1925, INCLUSIVE.

	Average gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc	1925	Gain (+) Loss (—)	Average gold	1925	Loss (—)

"Blue sky" legislation in California, in so far as mining is affected, is not confined to the precious metals but also includes companies engaged in the production of petroleum, cement, borax, building stone, and any other product derived from natural resources.

No onerous burdens are imposed upon the financing of mining enterprises nor are such enterprises subjected to any greater regulation than any other industry. The "blue sky" law stands for fair dealing and only requires companies to conform to the standard of integrity which has always existed in honest business. The act does not contemplate the removal of ordinary hazards incident to business, nor does it attempt to deny the right to invest in speculative ventures as long as they are conducted honestly.

The following chart, which includes all minerals produced in the State of California, indicates the effect of security supervision on the mining industry and shows a steady and constant increase in production from 1915 to the present time.

Value of Total Mineral Production of California.

INVESTIGATIONS AND PROSECUTIONS.

During the past two years the department has been more active than at any other time since its creation in running down violations of the Corporate Securities Act and in pressing prosecutions.

These activities have not been confined to the centers of population in which the department has offices, but have been extended all over the state. Investigations have been conducted along the coast from Del Norte and Humboldt counties in the north to San Diego County in the south, and from Siskiyou County down through the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys to the inland counties of southern California.

Contact points have been established in practically every community and upon the arrival of the "high-pressure" stock salesman with his spurious wares the department is notified with the result that investigators are sent to get the facts and assist the local authorities.

There is no authority given the Commissioner of Corporations to commence or conduct any criminal prosecution. That responsibility rests upon the district attorneys of the various counties. In each case the department conducts a thorough investigation and, after obtaining the facts, renders a complete report to the district attorney. In the counties where full cooperation has been received from the law-enforcing agencies stock frauds have been reduced to a minimum.

The Better Business Bureaus located throughout the state have rendered valuable assistance in detecting frauds and assisting in prosecutions, and the Attorney General has cooperated fully whenever called upon.

Since September 1, 1924, approximately 327 cases have been prosecuted involving violations of the Corporate Securities Act, grand larceny, embezzlement, and other crimes which the department is interested in suppressing. These prosecutions have resulted in 153 convictions and undoubtedly this number will increase upon the completion of the cases now pending.

COOPERATION RECEIVED FROM OTHER STATES.

Forty-six of the forty-eight states have passed laws regulating the sale of securities. While some of the "blue sky" laws differ radically in the methods pursued, all have the same general purpose, namely, the prevention of fraud.

The securities departments of the various states cooperate with each other in order to prevent interstate frauds and also for the purpose of furnishing advance information to other states as to the record of fraudulent operators when, through investigation, they are required to move elsewhere.

This exchange of information is accomplished by means of the monthly bulletins circulated by the National Association of Securities Commissioners and through its conventions held each year.

In order that the relationship between the various states may be closer, the national association is divided into four groups. The western group, with which California is affiliated, held its annual convention in San Francisco in August, 1926. This meeting, which lasted three days, was attended by representatives of the western states and resulted in more definite contacts being established than had theretofore existed. Many problems of mutual interest were discussed and the exchange of views resulting therefrom has proven very beneficial.

It is due to the efficient cooperation between the various states that crooked promoters are prevented from repeating fraudulent financing in other "blue sky" states.

OBJECT OF "BLUE SKY" LEGISLATION.

The goal to be attained by "blue sky" legislation is the elimination of fraud in the sale of securities. In working toward this objective the department has endeavored to segregate fraudulent schemes from honest enterprises and to expeditiously pass upon all applications so as not to hinder or delay legitimate business.

The Corporate Securities Act is protecting investors to a far greater extent than the average thinking man believes. It presents a formidable wall to known criminals and a serious obstacle to promoters addicted to sharp practices. It halts many stock and bond swindles in their inception.

Despite the horde of unscrupulous promoters that have flocked to the confines of this commonwealth, and despite the efforts of these crooked promoters to obtain the confidence and wealth of the public by conjuring up before its imagination pictures of "easy riches," there have been comparatively few frauds successfully perpetrated and the state has experienced the greatest amount of legitimate financing in its history.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

SACRAMENTO, October 2, 1926.

To His Excellency,
FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON, Governor,
Sacramento, California.

SIR: We have the honor of transmitting to you the biennial report of the Superintendent of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification for the period ending June 30, 1926.

Respectfully submitted.

BOARD OF MANAGERS,
AUGUST VOLLMER, President,
WM. I. TRAEGER,
RAY MANWELL.

REPORT OF THE BUREAU OF CRIMINAL IDENTIFICATION INVESTIGATION.

September 21, 1926.

Honorable Board of Managers,
California State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation,
Sacramento, California.

GENTLEMEN: I am herewith submitting for your perusal the report of the operations of this bureau for the biennial period ending June 30, 1926.

Stolen property valued at one-half million dollars was recovered and returned to the rightful owners during the past two years, through information furnished directly or indirectly by the bureau, thus exceeding by nearly one hundred fold the appropriation allotted for the support and maintenance of the bureau for the biennium, again demonstrating that exceptionally large dividends have been returned to the taxpayers.

Twenty-two thousand five hundred seventy six (22,576) persons, of a total of seventy-four thousand six hundred thirteen (74,613) delinquents whose finger print records were received at the bureau during the past two years, were identified as having prior records. Unquestionably an additional saving of thousands of dollars to the state in the number and expense contingent to jury trials was accomplished by these identifications.

Eight hundred sixty-five (865) of those identified as habitual offenders were fugitives from justice, many of them escapes from institutions outside of this state, who, when identified, admitted that they had entered this state for the purpose of committing crimes herein. The identification of these fugitives by the bureau lead to their extradition and return to the respective institutions from which they escaped, thereby eliminating an additional expense in the cost of prosecution and confinement in California institutions.

Five hundred thirty-five (535) forgers and fraudulent check operators were identified by the handwriting appearing upon questioned documents submitted to the handwriting, laboratory and research section of the bureau, for examination. In the majority of these cases these identifications enabled police officials to effect an immediate apprehension of the operators.

While the bureau has continually, from year to year, increased its efficiency in proportion to the amount of appropriations allotted, its maximum of possible efficiency has not been effected due to the fact that the act creating the bureau does not make it the duty of the peace officials to submit uniform, accurate and comprehensive reports of felonious crimes committed in their respective jurisdictions. Not only would such reports, when forwarded to the state bureau permit closer cooperation between police officials, but it would be a means of compiling accurate statistics concerning crime which can not be obtained under existing conditions.

Although the bureau has continued to accomplish worthy results with the reports submitted by peace officials, together with the appropriations allotted in the past, provision must be made to handle the inevitable increase of work due to the accumulation of the valuable records received daily, together with the increase in the number of requests for information by police officials who know the value of the bureau as a medium in assisting them in the identification and apprehension of habitual criminals, therefore, I recommend that an increase of the sum of $23,800 over and above the amount allotted for the 77th and 78th fiscal years be appropriated for salaries, rent, service and expense, materials and supplies and property and equipment for the coming biennial period.

In conclusion, I again desire to thank the honorable board of managers, executive officers of the state, and all police officials and identification experts of the United States and foreign countries, for their kind consideration and advice.

Respectfully submitted.

C. S. Morrill,
Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSION FOR THE REFORM OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE, TO THE LEGISLATURE.

To the Honorable, the Legislature of the State of California:

The Commission for the Reform of Criminal Procedure created by your honorable body in 1925 (Statutes of 1925, page 622), presents its report. By the act creating said Commission, your honorable body directed this Commission,

> "To make a study of the methods of criminal procedure and to recommend to the legislature of the State of California, which will convene in the year 1927, such new system of criminal procedure or such amendments to the present system as will in its opinion tend to provide for this state the most efficient system for the swift and certain administration of criminal justice."

Pursuant to your mandate, the Commission has made the study directed and herewith submits a number of recommendations, all designed to secure an efficient system for the swift and certain administration of justice.

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT.

The studies of your Commission have shown that the amount of crime in this state, and indeed throughout the United States, is appalling. The first and most fundamental duty of every state is to insure the safety of the lives, homes and property of its citizens. It is sad, but true, that this primary duty is being performed worse throughout the United States, including the state of California, than in any other civilized country in the world. The prevalence of crime, particularly crimes of violence, in this country is simply staggering. Human life has become so cheap, disregard for it so great, that we have a homicide rate fifty times as high as that of England. Robberies at the point of a gun of citizens on the streets, of banks, stores, oil stations and like institutions, are of daily occurrence. No one's home is safe, for gangs of burglars always armed and ready to kill break into every habitation from the mansion to the humblest dwelling; and in our cities and towns, every morning sees the report of a long list of burglaries frequently accompanied by most atrocious acts of violence. Gangs of gunmen ply their profession of killing for profit or pleasure. In broad daylight, and in the streets of our greatest cities, it is necessary to use armored cars protected by men armed to the teeth—veritable engines of war—to transport money or valuables. Even to move the United States mail, it has become necessary to call upon the armed forces of the United States designed to repel foreign enemies and to use armed marines acting under orders "Shoot to kill," in order that this function of our national government may be carried on. Whether we realize it or not, we have a state of war, all the forces of organized crime making war upon the law-abiding citizenry of our country. Crime has become an organized business. It operates throughout the length and breadth of the land. It pays no attention to such artificial boundaries as city lines, county lines or state lines. It makes use of every modern invention, the high-powered automobile, the airplane, the automatic pistol, the machine gun. Crime is antisocial. It undermines the very foundations of the entire social structure. Either society must control and destroy organized crime, or organized crime will control and destroy society.

There are probably a number of causes which contribute to the vast amount of crime. One of the main contributing causes, if not indeed the chief one, undoubtedly is the gross inadequacy and inefficiency of our system of criminal procedure to meet the present day conditions. In dealing with the crime situation, as it exists today, we are dealing with a peculiarly twentieth century problem. Our system of criminal procedure is essentially a seventeenth and eighteenth century system. A procedure that may have been quite adequate to meet the conditions of those centuries is utterly inadequate in the present century. It is slow, cumbersome, archaic, inefficient. It should be swift, certain, modern and highly efficient. The present system, with its many opportunities for delay, with all the loopholes which it offers for the escape of the guilty, can almost be said to be an encouragement to crime. A swift, certain and efficient system, on the other hand, will be a most real and potent deterrent to crime. The entire history of criminal jurisprudence proves the truth of these observations.

The reasons for the defects in our present system of criminal procedure are mainly historical. The system grew up in England. It grew up at a time when criminal prosecutions very frequently were crown persecutions for political offenses. Another strong contributing factor in the development of the system was the fact that punishment for crime, even relatively trivial crimes, was hanging, and the rights given to defendants were very few. As a result of these conditions, there was gradually evolved a series of technical rules deliberately designed to give protection to the defendant, irrespective of whether he was guilty or innocent of the crime charged. Many of the rules were deliberately designed to prevent the proceedings from arriving at the truth. We have inherited, to a large degree, this system of rules. They may have been proper enough for the times and conditions under which they were evolved. They have no application in this day or to the conditions of today. England, where these rules grew up, discarded them and adopted a modern system of procedure seventy-five years ago. The result was a great and immediate reduction of the amount of crime. The old system was designed primarily for the protection of the defendant. It ignored almost entirely the rights of the public. The new system must protect all legitimate rights of a defendant, but at the same time must insure and protect, so far as possible, the great body of law-abiding citizens, the public. In the recommendations submitted herewith, great care has been taken not to infringe any right of a defendant. At the same time it has been constantly borne in mind that the safety of the great body of law-abiding citizens must also be conserved.

THE GREAT OBJECTIVE OF ANY JUDICIAL PROCEEDING SHOULD BE TO ARRIVE AT THE TRUTH. In criminal proceedings, particularly, the truth should be reached with swiftness and certainty. In general, it may be stated that those provisions which tend to aid courts and juries in arriving at the truth are good; conversely that those which tend to prevent or make more difficult the arrival at the truth are bad. Likewise far too little attention has been paid heretofore to the great importance of prompt and speedy hearings in criminal matters. This is of great importance from two aspects: First, as making it much more likely that the truth will be reached; second, in its deterrent effect upon the commission of other crime. The more promptly a case can be heard the more likely it is that a true verdict will be reached. Indeed when a matter of this kind is delayed, the chances of a miscarriage of justice increase probably not merely in arithmetical, but almost, if not quite, in geometrical ratio. Witnesses scatter, their memory becomes dimmed, they are subject to influence, and a host of other things arise that render likely a miscarriage of justice. Delay has been one of the greatest weaknesses in our criminal procedure and one of the greatest shields of the guilty.

Likewise, delay in the administration of criminal justice greatly weakens its deterrent effect, which is one of the great objectives of the criminal law. Punishment administered promptly after the commission of the crime, while the memory of that crime is still fresh in the minds of the public, brings forcibly to the attention of all the fact that punishment does follow crime. This tends strongly to deter the commission of other crimes. When punishment does not follow promptly after the crime, a very large percentage of this deterrent effect is lost. Every consideration, therefore, proves the correctness and wisdom of the mandate of your honorable body that the criminal law should be made to function with swiftness and certainty. Your mandate has at all times been foremost in the minds of the Commission. The system which we are recommending has this as its objective: THAT IN ADMINISTERING CRIMINAL JUSTICE THE PROCEEDINGS SHALL ARRIVE AT THE TRUTH AND DO SO WITH THE GREATEST SIMPLICITY, SWIFTNESS AND CERTAINTY.

Much of the foregoing object can be accomplished by direct enactments of your honorable body. Certain parts of it, however, can only be accomplished by amendments to the constitution. The Commission, therefore, recommends the adoption of certain statutory enactments and that your honorable body submit to the people of this state for their consideration and action at the next general election certain constitutional amendments. Bills to carry out these recommendations have been prepared and are submitted concurrently with this report. The statutory enactments recommended will first be presented.

GENERAL OUTLINE.

It seems advisable to submit a general statement of some of the principal statutory enactments recommended.

SWIFTNESS.

There are three primary recommendations on this point:

First: Promptness in filing information and in proceedings prior to trial;

Second: Promptness in bringing the case to trial;

Third: Promptness in the hearing of the appeal.

Preliminarily, the Commission recommends the adoption, as section 681*a* of the Penal Code, which is the first section dealing with the matter of criminal procedure, a statute substantially as follows:

> Sec. 681*a*. The welfare of the people of the State of California requires that all proceedings in criminal cases shall be heard and determined at the earliest possible time. It shall be the duty of all courts and judicial officers and of all district attorneys to expedite the hearing and determination of all such cases and proceedings to the greatest degree that is consistent with the ends of justice.

The purpose of this statute is self-evident. It declares, as the public policy of this state, a principle as to which we believe there can be no dispute, and imposes a mandate upon all courts, judicial officers, and district attorneys, which should permeate the entire conduct of criminal proceedings with a spirit of promptness and efficiency.

TIME FOR FILING INFORMATIONS.

The Commission next recommends that section 809 of the Penal Code be amended to require district attorneys to file the information within fifteen days (instead of thirty days as is now the law) after a defendant has been committed by a magistrate. This seems to be ample time for the district attorney and is also to the advantage of those defendants who for any reason are unable to secure their release on bail. It is further recommended that this section expressly permit the information to charge either the crime named in the order of commitment or any offense shown by the evidence taken before the magistrate. This will save time and avoid uncertainty and vexatious delays in cases where for any reason the order of the committing magistrate does not correctly designate the crime shown by the evidence.

TIME FOR TRIAL.

To insure cases being brought on for trial promptly, the Commission is recommending the enactment of a new section of the Penal Code to be known as section 1050, providing as follows:

> Sec. 1050 (new). The court shall set all criminal cases for trial for a date not later than thirty days after the date of entry of the plea of the defendant. No continuance of the trial shall be granted except upon affirmative proof in open court, upon reasonable notice, that the ends of justice require a continuance. No continuance shall be granted for any longer time than it is affirmatively proved the ends of justice require. Whenever any continuance is granted, the court shall enter in its minutes the facts proved which require the continuance. Criminal cases shall be given precedence over civil matters and proceedings. If any court is unable to hear all criminal cases pending before it within thirty days after the respective defendants have entered their pleas, it must immediately notify the chairman of the Judicial Council.

The purpose of this section is self-evident. Perhaps the greatest delay in the past has been in bringing causes on for trial. As already noted, the sooner they can be brought to trial the greater the likelihood of a true verdict being reached. Practically all cases can be brought to trial with fairness to all parties within thirty days after defendant's plea is entered. To guard against injustice in the exceptional case, the court is given power to grant a continuance where it is affirmatively proved that the ends of justice require it, but only for such time as it is proved that the ends of justice require. The facts proved which require the continuance should be entered in the minutes for the sake of the record. The proposed statute also gives criminal cases precedence over civil matters. It is believed there can be no dissent from this proposition. The welfare of the entire public is involved in the prompt determination of criminal matters to a far greater degree than in civil matters. It is finally recommended that if a court for any reason can not hear all criminal matters pending before it within thirty days it report that fact to the chairman of the Judicial Council, to the end that additional judges may be assigned to assist in clearing the over-crowded calendar. Under our present procedure delays extending through many months are not uncommon.

TIME FOR HEARING APPEALS.

It is recommended that the statute be amended to provide that all appeals in criminal matters shall be heard not later than thirty days after the filing of the record on appeal, unless upon affirmative proof to the satisfaction of the court that the ends of justice require a continuance. This statute, if adopted, will mean that in each district the District Court of Appeal should call a criminal calendar once each month and should insure the prompt hearing of practically all appeals in criminal cases. At the present time, it is not infrequent that six, nine, or even twelve, months may elapse after the record is filed in the appellate court before a case is brought on for hearing. No delays should be granted on stipulation of counsel, but only where it is proved to the court that the ends of justice require it.

CERTAINTY.

A number of recommendations are submitted designed to make the functioning of our criminal laws more certain. Only a few of the major recommendations will be referred to here.

PLEADINGS.

A more simple form of pleadings, both of indictments and informations, is recommended. It is believed that this will result in doing away almost entirely with technical questions of pleading and with cases being determined upon formalities rather than upon the merits, at the same time fairly advising the defendant of the nature of the case against him. It should save much time now consumed by demurrers, motions and proceedings of a similar character which relate only to questions of pleading.

TRIALS.

One of the fundamental defects in our method of trying criminal cases is that to a very considerable extent the trial has been a game between counsel for the people on the one hand and counsel for the defendant on the other, with the judge a mere umpire. We have had far too much of the "sporting element" in our administration of criminal justice. The administration of justice is far too important a matter to be made a game. The "sporting element," indeed all elements of chance, should be removed to the utmost possible extent and the greatest possible certainty of arriving at the truth substituted therefor. To this end statutes are recommended making it not only the right, but the duty, of the trial court to control the conduct of the trial, to limit the examination and cross-examination of witnesses, the introduction of evidence and arguments of counsel to relevant and material matters. For the same reason and also for increasing the swiftness of the operation of the law, a statute is recommended making it primarily the duty of the trial court to see that a fair and impartial jury is selected, with the discretionary power of permitting reasonable examination of prospective jurors by counsel. Nowhere in the world is as much time consumed in selecting a jury, with all the consequent expense and delay and congestion of calendars, as we permit in this country. The proposed statute is designed to cure this evil.

CERTAINTY OF PUNISHMENT.

Several recommendations designed to increase the certainty of proper punishment are made in connection with parole, indeterminate sentence and probation laws. These will be more fully explained later.

BAIL.

The present statutes relating to bail have been carefully reviewed and several changes recommended. These will be more fully discussed later in the report.

With this preliminary statement, we will proceed to take up in their order as they appear in the Penal Code the sections which it is recommended should be amended, or repealed, and new sections which it is recommended should be added, stating briefly the reasons for the several recommendations.

STATUTORY CHANGES RECOMMENDED.

(TO THE PENAL CODE.)

Section 165. This section relates to the crime of bribery. It is proposed to amend it by making it a crime for a member of a common council, board of supervisors, board of trustees, etc., to solicit or offer to receive a bribe. It has been held that under the law as it now stands such a public official who offers to receive, or solicits a bribe is not guilty of any crime.

Section 190. This section relates to murder in the first degree. Under the law as it now stands, it is made the duty of the jury, when a defendant is convicted of murder in the first degree, to fix the penalty either at death or life imprisonment. It has recently been held by the Supreme Court, People vs. Hall, 72 Cal. Dec. 341, that where the jury unanimously agree that defendant is guilty of murder in the first degree, but fail to agree upon the punishment, the judgment of conviction must be reversed and a new trial ordered. To cure this condition, the amendment recommended provides that if the jury finds a defendant guilty of murder in the first degree but can not agree upon the penalty, the court shall determine the same.

Section 484 (new). This is a new section. It consolidates the present crimes known as larceny, embezzlement and obtaining property under false pretenses, into one crime, designated as theft. The basis of all of these crimes as at present known is the unlawful taking or converting to one's own use of the property of another. The crimes are so similar that as the law now stands it is difficult, frequently practically impossible, to tell which crime has been committed in a particular transaction. By combining them all as the crime of theft, this difficulty will be obviated. In addition, the statute is so drawn that hereafter one who obtains real property by false pretenses will be guilty the same as one who obtains personal property by like pretenses. That seems clearly to have been the intention of the legislature in the statute as it now stands, but it has been held that as the statute is drafted this object is thwarted. (People vs. Folcey, 50 C. A. D. 203.)

Sections 485-490, inclusive. These sections dealing with the distinction of grand larceny, petty larceny, etc., are recommended to be amended to conform to section 485. In section 487 the word "automobile" is added so as to make one who steals an automobile guilty of grand theft without the necessity of proving its value.

Section 490*a* (new). It is recommended that this new section be added, providing that wherever any law or statute of this state mentions larceny, embezzlement, or stealing, it shall hereafter be read and interpreted as if theft were the crime referred to, thus obviating the necessity of amending several sections which relate to the crimes now sought to be consolidated into the new crime of theft.

Section 644. This is the habitual criminal statute. It is recommended that the statute be amended to provide that any person convicted of a felony, who has been twice previously convicted of a felony, either in this state or elsewhere, shall be adjudged an habitual criminal and sentenced to imprisonment for life. The law now is that a person convicted of a felony, who has been twice previously convicted of robbery, burglary, rape with force and violence, arson, or any of them, shall be adjudged an habitual criminal but he is not for that reason alone punished by life imprisonment. The Commission recommends that this distinction, which makes one who has been convicted three times of certain felonies, an habitual criminal, and one who has been convicted the same number of times of other felonies, not an habitual criminal, be abolished, and that all persons who are convicted the third time of any felony be adjudged habitual criminals and sentenced to imprisonment for life. Under the law as it now stands, one might, for example, be convicted three times of murder, or might be convicted of murder, grand larceny and embezzlement or of bribery, extortion and grand larceny and still not be adjudged an habitual criminal. It is submitted that when a person has three times committed and been convicted of crimes of the seriousness of felonies, it is the right and duty of society to put him where the law-abiding citizens of the state shall no longer be subject to his depredations. The habitual criminal is a fact. Law-abiding citizens are entitled to be protected from him.

If your honorable body feel that this provision is too severe, the general purpose may be preserved and at the same time those felonies which it is deemed are not sufficiently serious to come within the rule may be specifically excepted from its operation. If your honorable body should adopt this view such crimes as violation of the Corporate Securities Act, falsification of public records, and certain other minor felonies (if any crime which your honorable body has declared to be a felony may be deemed to be a minor crime) may be excepted.

Section 668. It is recommended that this section be amended to include section 644 within its terms.

Section 669. This section relates to the matter of consecutive or concurrent sentences where a person is convicted of two or more offenses. Its meaning may not be entirely clear. At least it has resulted in considerable confusion in actual practice. It is recommended that the section be amended to provide that when any person is convicted of two or more offenses he shall be sentenced separately for each offense and such sentences shall run consecutively. This will carry out the intent of your honorable body as expressed in the present section, is in accord with sound policy, and will remove the confusion that has heretofore existed.

Section 681*a* (new). This being the first section relating specifically to criminal procedure, it is recommended that it declare the policy of the law as follows:

> Sec. 681*a*. The welfare of the people of the State of California requires that all proceedings in criminal cases shall be heard and determined at the earliest possible time. It shall be the duty of all courts and judicial officers and of all district attorneys to expedite the hearing and determination of all such cases and proceedings to the greatest degree that is consistent with the ends of justice.

The purpose of this section is to announce a principle and policy which shall be mandatory upon all judges, judicial officers and district attorneys to expedite criminal cases and proceedings from their inception to their final conclusion. This will vitalize all criminal proceedings with a new spirit. The present section 681 is made section 681*b*.

Section 809. This section requires the district attorney to file his information within fifteen days (instead of thiry days as at present) after defendant has been committed by the magistrate. It also authorizes the information to charge any offense shown by the evidence taken before the magistrate. Its purpose has already been explained.

Section 825. It is recommended that this statute be amended so as to require that a defendant be taken before a magistrate within not more than two days after his arrest, excluding Sundays and holidays. No specific time is fixed by the statute as it now reads.

Section 859. It is recommended that this section be amended to provide that the magistrate may postpone the examination for not less than two, nor more than five days, to permit defendant to send for counsel. No limit of time is fixed in the statute as it now reads.

Section 861. It is recommended that this section which relates to continuances of preliminary examination be amended to provide that such examination may be continued for not more than two weeks in all when consented to by defendant.

Section 869. It is recommended that subdivision five of this section be amended so as to require reporters' transcripts of preliminary examinations to be filed within five days after the close of the examination instead of ten days as at present, and provides that should the reporter fail to file the transcript within said time he shall receive but one-half of the compensation to which he would be otherwise entitled. This is necessary in view of the requirement that the information shall be filed within fifteen days after the order of commitment instead of thirty days as at present. It also provides that a copy of the transcript be served on the defendant at least five days before trial.

Section 915. This section now reads that the grand jury "must" inquire into all public offenses committed or triable within the county and present them to the court by indictment. It is recommended that the word "must" be changed to "may." A large percentage of crimes are now prosecuted by complaint and information and it is impossible for the grand jury to inquire into all public offenses. The statute as it now reads is simply ignored.

Section 925. It is recommended that this statute be amended so as to require that every defendant indicted by a grand jury shall be served with a copy of the evidence given against him before the grand jury. As the statute stands at present, he is only entitled to such transcript if a stenographic reporter is present. Thus some defendants receive a copy of the evidence given against them and some do not. Either all defendants should receive a copy of the evidence or none should receive it. The Commission has resolved the doubt in favor of the defendant and recommends that all defendants have this benefit.

Sections 941-942. It is recommended that these sections be repealed. They relate to the effect of the failure of a grand jury to find an indictment. They seem to serve no useful purpose and might well thwart justice being done in some cases.

Section 951. It is recommended that this section be amended to provide a more simple form of indictment or information. If adopted, an indictment for murder (for example) may be in the following simple form:

> "The grand jury of the county of_____ hereby accuses A. B. of a felony, to wit: Murder, in that on or about the_____day of_____, 19____, in the county of_____, State of California, he murdered C. D."

This is one of the statutes designed to eliminate technicalities in pleading and to make proceedings more simple.

Section 952. To help accomplish the same purpose it is recommended that this section be amended to conform in spirit and intent with section 951 as amended.

Section 954. It is recommended that this statute, which relates to joinder of offenses in an indictment or information, be enlarged to embrace complaints as well as indictments and informations and amended by changing the clause which now reads, "different statements of the same offense" so that it will read, "different statements of the same transaction." This is somewhat broader and more in line with correct policy and is in accord with what was evidently the intent of the legislature in adopting the section. It is also recommended that a sentence be added reading as follows:

> A verdict of acquittal of one or more counts shall not be deemed or held to be an acquittal of any other count.

It not infrequently happens that where the same transaction is charged in two counts the jury, having convicted of one, feels that it should and it does acquit of the other. Defendant then argues that since the same transaction was involved in both counts the acquittal on one operates as a matter of law as an acquittal on the other. The proposed amendment will obviate such contention.

Section 956. It is recommended that this be amended by adding the words "or of the place where the offense was committed, or of the property involved in its commission." This is in accordance with sound policy and with the evident intent of this statute as it now reads.

Section 959. This section, which relates to the sufficiency of indictments and informations, is recommended to be amended to include complaints as well, but to omit sections six and seven for the reason that their subject matter is fully covered by section 952 as proposed to be amended.

Section 960. It is recommended that the words in this statute "which does not tend to the prejudice of a substantial right of the defendant upon its merits," be amended to read, "which does not prejudice a substantial right of the defendant upon the merits." This accords with article VI, section 4½ of the constitution. It should also be made to embrace complaints as well as indictments and informations.

Section 969. This section now provides that not more than two previous convictions must be charged in any one indictment or information. It is recommended that it be amended to provide that "all known previous convictions, whether in this state or elsewhere, must be charged." The entire criminal record of a defendant should be before the court in every case. This is particularly necessary, in view of the policy of the habitual criminal act.

Section 969*a* (new). It is recommended that this new statute be adopted designed to cover cases where, after the filing of an indictment or information, it is discovered that defendant has previously been convicted of felonies which were not known at the time of the filing of the indictment or information. If the discovery is made before sentence, the pending indictment or information shall be amended upon order of the court and the case proceed as if such prior convictions had been charged in the original indictment or information. If discovery is not made until after sentence, the statute provides for the filing of a supplemental information. Defendant shall be arraigned thereon and if he admit the prior convictions, shall be resentenced accordingly. If he deny them, the issue shall be tried. If the issue be determined in the defendant's favor, the proceeding shall be dismissed. If the issue be determined against him, he shall be resentenced accordingly.

The justice of this provision seems to require no argument. If a defendant has in fact been convicted of one or more previous felonies he ought not escape the consequences thereof simply because he has succeeded in concealing them.

Sections 995 and 995*a*. Section 995 now provides, among other things, that an indictment must be set aside if the names of witnesses who testify before the grand jury are not inserted at the foot of the indictment or endorsed thereon, and that an information must be set aside when not subscribed by the district attorney. To set aside a proceeding for such trivial reasons seems absurd. It is proposed that this be amended by eliminating these two provisions and adding a new section, 995*a*, providing that if the names of witnesses are not endorsed on the indictment or the information is not subscribed by the district attorney, the court may order this defect to be cured and the proceedings shall then continue.

Section 1006. It is recommended that this section be amended to require immediate hearings on demurrers unless exceptional cause for a delay be shown.

Section 1008. This section relates to amendments of indictments and informations. It is proposed to change the section to facilitate such amendments and further to provide that the sustaining of a demurrer and consequent dismissal of the charge shall not be a bar to instituting a new prosecution for the same offense. It is submitted that a mere defect in pleading in an indictment or information ought not to prevent a trial on the merits if the charge can be stated in such a way as to avoid the defects in pleading.

Section 1011. This section relates to pleas after demurrer disallowed. The changes recommended are to require the plea to be made forthwith and to eliminate the provision that "if defendant does not plead, judgment may be pronounced against him."

Sections 1016, 1017, 1020, 1026 (new), 1026*a* (new), 1151 and 1167. Insanity. These sections are grouped for the reason that they all relate to the matter of the defense of insanity and proceedings based thereon. This subject has been one of the most troublesome ones in the administration of American criminal law. The abuses of the present system are great. Under a plea of "not guilty" and without any notice to the people that the defense of insanity will be relied upon, defendant has been able to raise the defense upon the trial of the issue as to whether he committed the offense charged. This lack of notice that such defense would be made has very frequently placed the people at a very great disadvantage. An even more serious fault of the present system is that a defendant, when on trial as to whether he committed the offense, is able to bring into the case the whole matter of his sanity at the time of the offense charged. This enables him to submit to the jury great masses of evidence having no bearing upon the question whether the offense was committed. This is frequently made the basis of appeals to the sympathy or prejudice of the jury and even though this is not done, often introduces great confusion into the trial. It not infrequently happens that a jury finds a defendant not guilty when, in fact, it is convinced that the defendant committed the crime but believes he was insane at the time. Thus persons who are really dangerous to society through suffering from criminal insanity are turned back upon the public and become a menace to society.

After much study and consultation with experts, the Commission has worked out a system which it is believed will eliminate these evils. We recommend the establishment of a state hospital for the criminal insane. This will be more fully considered later in the report. So far as the legal proceedings relating to the matter of insanity are concerned, we recommend that section 1016 be amended to provide that where a defendant intends to raise the defense of insanity at the time the alleged offense was committed, he shall plead "not guilty by reason of insanity." This plea may be joined with any of the present pleas, but one who does not make such plea shall be conclusively deemed to have been sane at the time of the commission of the alleged offense. When defendant pleads "not guilty by reason of insanity" joining with it any other pleas, he shall first be tried in the regular way as to the issue raised by the other pleas without any question of insanity being raised. In such trial, for example, if defendant pleads "not guilty" and also "not guilty by reason of insanity" he shall first be tried in the regular way on the plea of not guilty. If the verdict be in defendant's favor, that, of course, ends the matter. If the verdict be in favor of the people, then the issue as to whether defendant was sane at the time the offense was committed shall be promptly tried, either by the same jury or by a new jury in the discretion of the court. If it be found that defendant was sane, he shall be given the legal sentence. If, on the other hand, it be determined that defendant was insane he shall be committed to the hospital for the criminal insane, or if such hospital be not yet established, to some other state hospital for the insane. Such commitment shall continue until it be judicially adjudicated that defendant's sanity has been restored. A person so committed, after having been in the hospital for one year, may file an application to have it adjudged that his sanity has been restored. If, on such application, the court finds in his favor, he shall be discharged. If the finding be against him, he may, at the expiration of a year, file a new application.

It is believed that this will obviate practically all the difficulties in the present system. The making of the plea "not guilty by reason of insanity" will give to the people notice that they must meet this issue. By having the trial on the merits distinct from the trial as to the issue of sanity, the present great confusion will be avoided, the issue will be clean cut and much time will be saved. If the defendant is found not guilty, all of the time, expense and delay now consumed in trying the issue of insanity will be saved. If defendant be found guilty, the issue of his sanity will be tried without any confusion with other matters. Where it is determined that a defendant is criminally insane, he will be committed to an institution. Thus the public will be saved from the constant menace to which it is subjected when insane persons with criminal tendencies are allowed to roam at large. By being in an institution designed for care and treatment of such persons, the insane person will be saved from many menaces to himself and will be given treatment which may result in the restoration of his sanity. It is believed that the plan recommended is sound, from a legal, practical and humanitarian standpoint.

In accordance with this policy, section 1167 should be repealed, and section 1151 amended by striking out that portion which refers to acquittals because of insanity.

Section 1044. It is recommended that a new section numbered 1044 be enacted to read substantially as follows:

> It shall be the duty of the judge to control all proceedings during the trial, and to limit the introduction of evidence and the argument of counsel to relevant and material matters, with a view to the expeditious and effective ascertainment of the truth regarding the matters involved.

This is probably only declaratory of the power which the courts now have but which is far too little exercised. The purpose of the statute is to make it mandatory upon the court to control its proceedings to the end that justice shall be done. As heretofore noted, one of the great defects in our criminal proceedings has been that it has been too much a game between opposing counsel with the court acting merely as umpire. It has frequently been declared that in our country it is better to have a poor case and a good lawyer than a good case and a poor lawyer. This may not be entirely sound, but there certainly is an element of truth in it. The aim of judicial proceedings should be to arrive at the truth, regardless of the ability of counsel for the respective parties. To accomplish this, as well as to expedite the proceedings, it is essential that the court be more than a mere umpire. He should at all times control the proceedings. It is believed that the enactment of this statute will be very helpful in attaining this object.

Section 1049. This section now provides that after his plea the defendant is entitled to at least two days to prepare for trial. It is recommended that the words "two days" be changed to "five days." The Commission does not know of any cases where the present statute has been abused. Nevertheless, there might be cases where it would be unfair to force a defendant to trial in as short a time as two days. By increasing this time to five days this possibility of injustice to a defendant will be obviated.

Section 1050 (new). This statute requires that all criminal cases be set for trial for a date not later than thirty days after defendant enters his plea, and no continuance may be granted unless it is proved that the ends of justice require the same. This has already been fully discussed in the early part of this report.

Section 1052. It is recommended that this section be repealed, the matter being fully covered by section 1050.

Section 1070. Peremptory challenges. It is recommended that this statute be amended to provide that the state and the defendant shall have an equal number of peremptory challenges, ten in capital cases and five in other cases. The law now gives the defendant twice as many challenges as the people.

Sections 1077–1078. It is recommended that section 1077 be repealed and section 1078 be amended to read as follows:

> Section 1078. It shall be the duty of the trial court to examine the prospective jurors and to select a fair and impartial jury. He may, in his discretion, permit reasonable examination of prospective jurors by counsel for the people and for the defendant.

The purpose of this section is twofold: First, to cut down the great amount of time now consumed in the selection of juries; second, to increase the probability that a fair and impartial jury will be selected. As heretofore noted, there is no place in the world where anything like the amount of time is taken in selecting a jury as is common in this country in criminal cases. Days, weeks, sometimes even months, are used up in this way. Moreover, at the present time, the selection of a jury is to a large extent a game between counsel. It is but natural that each side should endeavor to secure jurors who will be favorable to that side. The ideal should be to select a fair and impartial jury. Each side is entitled to that. Neither side is entitled to more. This statute is designed to make it primarily the duty of the trial court to bring about the selection of such a jury. There are undoubtedly cases in which reasonable examination by counsel should be permitted. The proposed statute permits this. It makes it the right and duty of the court always to control such examination to the end that justice shall be done and no undue delay occur.

Section 1089. It is recommended that this section be amended to equalize peremptory challenges to alternate jurors.

Sections 1096 and 1096*a*. Presumption of innocence. Reasonable doubt. Section 1096 now reads:

> A defendant in a criminal action is presumed to be innocent until the contrary is proved, and in case of a reasonable doubt whether his guilt is satisfactorily shown, he is entitled to an acquittal.

It is recommended that this be amended and a new section added, to read substantially as follows:

> Section 1096. The defendant in a criminal action is presumed to be innocent until the contrary is proved, but the effect of this presumption is only to place upon the state the burden of proving him guilty, beyond a reasonable doubt. Reasonable doubt is defined as follows: "It is not a mere possible doubt; because everything relating to human affairs, and depending on moral evidence, is open to some possible or imaginary doubt. It is that state of the case, which, after the entire comparison and consideration of all the evidence, leaves the minds of jurors in that condition that they can not say they feel an abiding conviction, to a moral certainty, of the truth of the charge."
> Section 1096*a*. In charging a jury the court may read to the jury section 1096 of this code and no further instruction on the subject of the presumption of innocence or defining reasonable doubt need be given.

The question of the effect of the presumption of innocence and of the meaning of reasonable doubt has been one of the most troublesome in the whole field of criminal procedure. It would be difficult to estimate how many mistrials and how many reversals have resulted from instructions on this subject that have been held erroneous. If the proposed section is adopted, it will remove all doubts and uncertainties on this subject, and provide a clear statement of the law which can be given in every case and to which nothing need be added. This statement of the law is as fair and favorable to the defendant as any defendant can ask. The definition of "reasonable doubt" is copied verbatim from the most classical statement in American jurisprudence, namely, the decision of Chief Justice Shaw in Commonwealth vs. Webster, 5 Cushing 320. This definition has received the approval of courts and text writers ever since it was pronounced and has frequently been commended and declared to be the best definition by the Supreme Court of this state. (See for example, People vs. Miller, 171 Cal. 649). The adoption of this statute will add much to the certainty of the operation of criminal law.

Section 1098. This section now provides that when two or more defendants are tried jointly, each of them is entitled to five peremptory challenges in addition to those allowed by section 1070, but the state is given only "one-half the number of all the additional separate challenges allowed the defendants, any fraction to be regarded as an additional challenge." It is proposed to give the state "additional challenges equal to the number of all the additional separate challenges allowed the defendants," in conformity with the amendment suggested for equalizing the number of peremptory challenges.

Section 1123. When section 1089 was added to the Penal Code, authorizing the calling of alternate jurors, this section was apparently overlooked, as the two are inconsistent as they now stand. It is recommended that section 1123 be amended to conform to section 1089.

Section 1156. This section now provides that the court must order a new trial for certain defects in a special verdict which could easily be remedied by further deliberation of the jury after instructions from the court pointing out the defects. The recommendations proposed will bring about a proper verdict at the first trial.

Sections 1168 and 1203. Probation, Indeterminate Sentence and Parole Law. It seems advisable to group the presentation of the recommendations made with reference to these laws. Many persons feel that these laws are wrong in principle and frequently abused in practice. After a careful study, however, the Commission has reached the conclusion that they are sound in principle. At the same time, it must be conceded that great errors and sometimes even serious abuses have occurred in their operation. The Commission therefore sought to work out a plan which would preserve all of the benefits of these systems and minimize their evils. It is believed this result has been accomplished.

A—Probation.

We are convinced that probation has a proper place in the law and serves a very useful purpose. Properly applied it is a great force for good. Improperly applied it is an undoubted force for evil. It is believed that the true purpose and function of probation is this: That one who has for the first time breached the social compact by an act so serious as to constitute a felony, but has not shown himself to be a menace to the lives of his fellow men, should be entitled to apply to the state as a matter of grace (for it should always be remembered that probation is a matter of grace only, not of right) for a chance to redeem himself and not have stamped upon him the brand of a penitentiary sentence. Conversely, however, a person who has more than once been convicted of a crime so serious as to be a felony, or a person who in committing a felony for the first time has shown himself to be a menace to the lives of his fellow citizens, should not be entitled to this act of grace on the part of the state. If probation be granted to such a person, the whole purpose of the law is prostituted. The law-abiding citizens of the state are subjected to a menace which is most unjust to the individual and dangerous to society. For all practical purposes it may be affirmed that any person who commits a felony while armed with a deadly weapon is a potential murderer. By that very act he demonstrates that he is a menace to the lives of his fellow citizens and to society. The person who arms himself with a deadly weapon to commit a felony does so that he may use it, that he may wound or kill if it seems necessary or advisable to insure the perpetration of the crime or his escape. The welfare of society demands that adequate steps be taken to deter such persons from carrying deadly weapons. It is, therefore, recommended that the probation law be amended so as to provide: First, that no person who has been previously convicted of a felony, either in this state or elsewhere, shall be eligible for probation; second, that no person who, at the time of the commission of the offense, or at the time of his arrest, was armed with a deadly weapon shall be eligible for probation; third, that the present provision which prevents public officials guilty of bribery, embezzlement or extortion from receiving probation, be retained.

It is further recommended that subdivision (e) of section 1203 be amended. That section now provides that a defendant who has been admitted to probation may, after such probationary period is complete, withdraw his plea and have the proceeding dismissed, and that he "shall thereafter be released from all penalties and disabilities resulting from the offense or crime of which he has been convicted." It is recommended that there be added to this subdivision immediately after the words quoted the following:

> "except that in any subsequent prosecution of such defendant for any other offense such prior conviction may be pleaded and proved and shall have the same effect as if probation had not been granted or the accusation or information dismissed."

If one who has been convicted of a felony and has received the grace of the state through probation, thereafter commits another felony, there would appear to be every reason, indeed, if anything, more reason, why he should be treated as a second offender, than one who upon his first conviction received and served a sentence. To say that such a person, when he commits the second felony, is really a first offender, is simply to deny the truth. The Commission would not withdraw from the person who has received probation and thereafter lives a life of rectitude any of the protection now given him by this law. But if such person thereafter again becomes a felon, the law should permit the truth to be shown.

B—Indeterminate Sentence.

There is very considerable objection to the indeterminate sentence law. The Commission, however, believes that it serves a useful purpose, but that one very important change in it should be made. Under the system formerly prevailing in this state, the trial court fixed the sentence. This had certain disadvantages, the chief of which probably was the great disparity sometimes existing between the sentences given by one judge and those given by another judge for the same crime committed under like conditions. It had, however, certain very real advantages. The judge of the trial court, who knew local conditions, who saw and observed the witnesses, who saw and observed the defendant, had an opportunity to form an opinion as to the real degree of culpability which the board of prison directors, sitting perhaps hundreds of miles away and acting on a printed record, can not possibly have. Realizing that there were advantages in each system and disadvantages in each, the Commission sought to work out a plan by which the advantages of both could be retained and the disadvantages of both minimized. Such a plan has been evolved. The plan recommended is this: That at the time of, and as part of the sentence, the trial court shall recommend the minimum term for which in his opinion the defendant should be confined before being eligible for release on parole or otherwise. This, it is to be noted, is not the fixing of the sentence, but only a recommendation as to the minimum term of actual confinment. The board of prison directors shall have jurisdiction and power to release the defendant prior to the expiration of such recommended term, but shall not do so unless in its opinion exceptional cause therefor is shown. This leaves power in the prison board to correct any abuses that may arise through excessive recommendations, and to take into consideration facts which may develop subsequent to sentence and which were not known at that time. The plan thus preserves to a large extent the undoubted value of the opinion and recommendation of the trial court without in any substantial degree infringing upon the indeterminate sentence law or the power of the board of prison directors. As a matter of fact, this board has for a long time attempted to get the opinions of trial judges in practically all cases coming before it.

C—Parole.

No changes are recommended in the parole law, except one to insure that second offenders and those who are armed with deadly weapons at the time of the commission of felonies or at the time of arrest shall receive adequate punishment, largely to the end that others may be deterred from embarking on a life of crime or at least from using deadly weapons in the commission of crime or arming themselves to resist arrest. It is recommended that offenders of this class shall not be released on parole except in accordance with the following schedule:

1. A person sentenced to life imprisonment shall not be eligible for parole until he has served a minimum of twenty-five years.

2. A person convicted of a felony, who at the time of the commission of the offense or his arrest was armed with a deadly weapon and who has theretofore been convicted of a felony, shall not be eligible for parole until he has served a minimum of fifteen years.

3. A person not theretofore convicted of a felony, but who at the time of the commission of the offense or his arrest was armed with a deadly weapon, shall not be eligible for parole until he has served a minimum of ten years.

4. A person for the second time convicted of a felony, but who was not armed with a deadly weapon at the time of the commission of the offense or his arrest, shall not be eligible to parole until he has served a minimum of seven years.

It is believed that this plan, if adopted, will have a great deterrent value. At the present time many persons sentenced to life imprisonment are released on parole in ten years. There is a strong feeling that a sentence of imprisonment for life should mean exactly what it says, and that a person so sentenced should serve for life, unless released by pardon or commutation of sentence. There is much to be said in favor of this view. The Commission feels, however, that if the law provides that a person so sentenced must serve at least twenty-five years, the deterrent value will be almost as great as if no parole were allowed. There may be cases where after twenty-five years the parole board will find it proper to release such persons on parole. The second offender who uses a deadly weapon ought to be made to realize that he must serve a very substantial sentence. Such a law will probably tend to deter those who have been once convicted from committing other felonies, or at least, if they do commit them, from using a deadly weapon in their perpetration. The purpose of the other two recommendations is obvious and is along the same line.

Section 1180. This section as it now stands provides, among other things, that "the granting of a new trial places the parties in the same position as if no trial had been had." Its effect has been practically nullified by judicial decision. It is believed that it can be restored by amending it to provide that a defendant who makes a motion for a new trial, or who appeals from a judgment of conviction, thereby consents that if a new trial is granted or the judgment reversed, the effect shall be the same as if he had never been tried, and that he may again be tried upon the original charge, irrespective of the verdict of the jury in the first trial. The constitutionality of such a provision is established by the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in Trono vs. United States, 199 U. S. 521, and a series of cases both in the federal and state courts since that time. The proposed amendment will simply make effective the clear intent of the legislature expressed in the statute as it now stands.

Section 1181. It is recommended that subdivision six of this section be amended so as to provide that where a defendant has been convicted of a crime and the evidence is found insufficient to justify the conviction for that crime, but does justify the conviction of a lesser degree of the crime, or of some lesser and included crime, either the trial court or the appellate court, as the case may be, need not set aside the verdict entirely, but may modify the judgment of conviction to the lesser crime.

The value of such a statute was illustrated by a recent decision of our Supreme Court in People vs. Nagy, 72 Cal. Dec. 192. In that case, defendant was convicted of arson in the first degree. The evidence clearly showed that the defendant was guilty of arson in the second degree, but was insufficient to show the presence of a human being in the property burned, which is necessary to constitute arson in the first degree. The court was compelled to set aside the judgment entirely and grant a new trial. Under the proposed statute, it would have been able to enter a judgment of arson in the second degree. The proposed statute in no way infringes upon the province of the jury, since it authorizes the court to pronounce only judgments on crimes which are lesser than and included within the verdict of the jury.

Section 1191. The proposed amendment to this section requires that judgment be pronounced immediately after plea or verdict of guilty, or after a verdict against the defendant on a plea of former conviction or acquittal, or once in jeopardy, instead of at a time (not less than two nor more than five days thereafter) to be appointed by the court, as now provided.

Section 1243. It is recommended that this section be amended to provide that the granting of a stay of execution on appeal shall rest in the sole discretion of the judge of the trial court. The evident intent of the legislature in adopting the section as it now stands was to make the issuance of such certificate a matter of discretion. This intent has, to a large extent, been nullified by judicial decision. The proposed amendment will restore it. It is felt that this discretion should rest with the judge of the trial court rather than with the justices of the supreme or appellate courts, who can have no personal familiarity with the case.

Sections 1246, 1247*d*, inclusive. These sections all relate to the matter of making up the record on appeal. It is recommended that they be repealed and in lieu thereof a section be adopted providing that the record on appeal shall be made up within the time and in the manner prescribed by rules to be promulgated by the Judicial Council, and until such rules are promulgated the rules applicable January 1, 1927, shall apply. This suggestion is in accord with the prevailing policy that such matters of detail as making up of records on appeal should be regulated by rules of court rather than by hard and fast statutes.

Section 1252. It is recommended that this statute be amended to provide that all appeals in criminal cases shall be set for hearing for a date not later than thirty days after the filing of the transcript and that no continuance shall be granted unless the court shall find that the ends of justice require it. No continuance shall be granted upon stipulation of counsel. It is further provided that upon an appeal by defendant the appellate court shall, in addition to the points raised by defendant, consider and pass upon all rulings adverse to the state which it may be requested to pass upon by the Attorney General. The purpose of this proposed amendment is to carry out the policy of increased swiftness in the functioning of the criminal law. It is not uncommon under the present system that from six months to a year elapse after the verdict of conviction before the appeal is brought on for hearing. This is not the fault of the courts but rather the fault of the system now in force. There is no good reason why the great majority of cases on appeal can not be heard promptly. Where, for some peculiar reason, the ends of justice require a longer time, the proposed statute permits the court to grant the continuance.

The additional provision that the appellate court shall pass upon rulings adverse to the state which it is requested to consider by the Attorney General is deemed an important one. At the present time the state has no way to review rulings adverse to it made during the trial. The proposed amendment will give this right, and thus a way will be opened to settle many disputed questions.

Section 1256. It is further recommended that a provision be added to the present statutes making it the duty of the district attorney to assist the Attorney General in presenting all matters on appeal. It is believed that it will prove very helpful, both to the Attorney General and to the court, to have the assistance of the district attorney who tried the matter in the court below.

Sections 1270–1307. Bail. The entire subject of bail has received the careful attention of your Commission. As a result of the study of the present system and its practical application, several changes are recommended. The present system has been and is subject to a number of very serious abuses. Perhaps first among these is the so-called "straw bail" evil, that is, the giving of bonds which are not collectible. Another series of abuses has grown up in connection with the bail bond business, that is the business of giving bail bonds for pay. In considering the entire subject of bail, it should always be remembered that while it is right and proper in most cases for a defendant to be released on bail, still the bail bond must be of such a nature and in such amount that it will in practically every case (theoretically at least, in every case) insure that the defendant will not leave the state or secrete himself to escape punishment. The bail bond should be a secured obligation in favor of the people of the State of California. When cash is used as security, the cash must be deposited. If property is made the basis of security, the people are entitled at least to a lien upon that property. They are entitled to insist, certainly as much as any private client would be entitled to insist, that that security shall be a real, not merely a nominal, security.

This is of the utmost importance from each of two aspects: First, unless the security is of this nature there is a definite inducement to the defendant to flee and so thwart the whole course of justice; Second, as the holder of a secured obligation the people are entitled to insist that the security shall be such that the obligation will be certainly collectible.

The general plan proposed is this: The sureties must justify upon oath and list the property which it is proposed to give as security for the bond. They must satisfy the trial judge that they own the property and that its value above all prior liens is ample to satisfy the amount of their undertaking. When the undertaking is approved by the trial judge it becomes a lien upon the property offered as security. This is designed to cure one of the great defects in the present system. Now the undertaking does not become a lien upon anything. There is now nothing to prevent a surety from encumbering or disposing of his property the day after the bail bond is accepted. To remedy this condition and make the undertaking a real security to the people of the state (not merely a nominal one) it is proposed that where the property offered is personal property it shall be deposited with the court to be held until the undertaking is discharged or, in case it be forfeited, the obligation is collected. Where the property offered as security is real property, the undertaking becomes a lien thereon and provision is made for recording notice of the undertaking in the county where the real property is situated. This plan will give to the people of the state the same measure of protection and security which any private client would insist upon his lawyer obtaining for him on a secured obligation. It is believed that the people in this tremendously important matter of insuring the enforcement of the criminal law are entitled to at least this degree of protection.

It is next proposed to amend the form of undertaking by adding a provision by which the surety will consent that, in the event the bail bond is forfeited, judgment may be entered forthwith for the amount of the undertaking. Under the present system, it is necessary to bring a separate civil action to enforce collection of the bond. When such judgment is entered it may be enforced in the usual way by the sale of the property given as security. To give an additional protection to the surety, however, it is provided that if within ten days after forfeiture of the bond the defendant and his bail appear and satisfactorily excuse the forciture and show to the satisfaction of the court that the absence of defendant was not with the connivance of the bail, the court may discharge the forfeiture of the undertaking upon such terms as may be just.

It is next recommended that the statute expressly provide that in fixing the amount of bail, the judge or magistrate shall take into consideration the seriousness of the offense charged, the previous criminal record of the defendant and the probability of his appearing at the trial; that the proposed sureties shall be required to state upon oath what, if any, consideration, indemnity or security they have received or been promised, and from whom, and that the bond shall not be accepted unless the judge is satisfied that none of the consideration, indemnity or security was feloniously obtained by defendant. In the British Empire bail for indemnity is prohibited. Indeed, the giving of bail for any consideration is in itself a crime. The Commission feels it is not necessary to go so far here. The proposed amendments will still permit a legitimate bail bond business to be carried on, but it is only right and just that where a bail bond is given for consideration or upon indemnity, the state should know what that consideration or indemnity is and from whom received.

It is further provided that all statements made by the proposed bondsmen (which must be under oath) shall be deemed material statements and if such a bondsman makes a false statement he shall be guilty of perjury.

If this proposed plan be adopted it is believed the present abuses of bail will be substantially cured without any injustice being done to any one. It has been suggested that the proposed plan may in some cases somewhat increase the difficulty of securing bail. This may or may not be true. If it proves true, however, it will only be in those cases where the bondsmen are unwilling to give to the people of the state real security for the appearance of the defendant. If it be conceded that the people are entitled to have a security that is real, not merely one that is a matter of form, this possible objection falls to the ground. The enforcement of criminal justice is a matter of the greatest importance to the welfare of the people of this state. Unless the defendant is present, the whole course of the administration of justice is thwarted and the arms of the people are paralyzed. Hence, when a defendant asks to be released on bail, the people have a right to insist that the bond which he gives to insure his appearance shall be a real one secured in such a manner that it is certainly collectible. This is the result which the proposed amendments are designed to accomplish.

Section 1506. It is recommended that a new section be added giving the right of appeal, in habeas corpus cases, to the people or to the petitioner, from a final order discharging or remanding a prisoner, and providing that if the people appeal, the defendant shall not be released from custody, except upon bail. Under the present system, the people are very greatly handicapped by having no redress where a defendant is improperly released on habeas corpus.

HOSPITAL FOR THE CRIMINAL INSANE.

The Commission recommends that your honorable body create a hospital for the criminal insane. The fact that we do not have such a hospital is a serious blot upon the good name of the state. There can be no doubt about the fact that there are people who are criminally insane. Dementia præcox, paranoia in its various phases, and similar afflictions are real. People suffering from them are a menace to themselves and a most serious menace to society. They belong in an institution, so that this menace both to themselves and to society can be eliminated, and so that they may receive the best of care and treatment and, where possible, be restored to sanity. It is most unfair both to them and to the public that they be allowed to roam at large as most of them now do. It is most unfair likewise that they be confined in a hospital for the harmlessly insane where there are no adequate provisions for caring for them and where they are a menace to the lives of the other unfortunates committed to such institutions.

Hospitals for the criminal insane have demonstrated their worth and value wherever they have been established. It is suggested that the hospital be placed under the jurisdiction of the Board of Prison Directors. The same staff of experts can then be utilized for the hospital and for the necessary psychiatric and similar examinations which should be made of all convicts in the penitentiaries. Such examinations are essential in proper penology. The hospital will not only provide greatly needed security to the public and to the individuals who are afflicted, but can also be made a splendid clinic for the study of criminal insanity and cures therefor.

The cost need not be great. It can be planned and constructed on the unit system, allowing enlargement from time to time as needed. The establishment of such a hospital will not only add greatly to the safety of the people of the state, but will be in accord with the finest humanitarian principles.

EXTRADITION OF WITNESSES.

The Commission recommends the adoption of a statute authorizing the Governor in proper cases to subpoena persons who are present in California, but who are material witnesses in criminal prosecutions pending in other states, to attend and testify in such proceedings; their mileage and fees must be paid by such other state. The law all over the United States is deplorably deficient through absence of provisions for securing the attendance or testimony of witnesses who have left the state. If a material witness leaves a state and declines to return, there is usually no way to secure his evidence. Thus in many cases justice is completely thwarted. The proposed statute is an act of comity to assist our sister states in enforcing criminal justice. In this respect it is similar to our statutes providing for extradition of persons accused of crime. If any further reason for its enactment be desired, it should be sufficient to call attention to the fact that crime is no longer localized. It has become national in its character. Every state is directly interested in the enforcement of criminal law all over the country.

The proposed statute provides in effect that the Governor of any other state of the United States may apply to the Governor of California to subpoena any person present in California to attend as a material witness in a criminal prosecution pending in said other state. If it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the Governor of California that such person is a material witness in a criminal prosecution there pending, and said other state shall advance the mileage and fees for said witness, the Governor of California may issue his subpoena requiring said witness to attend and testify in said proceeding. If the Governor of California be of the opinion that said witness may refuse to obey said subpoena, he may issue a warrant for said witness delivering him into the custody of an officer of said other state to be transported to the place where said proceedings are pending. The statute shall apply equally whether the attendance of the witness be desired by the people or by the defense. It is hoped that if California adopts such a statute other states will do likewise and thus promote the enforcement of justice throughout the entire country.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

As noted at the beginning of this report, certain changes necessary to proper administration of criminal justice can be brought about only through your honorable body submitting to the people, for approval by them, of certain amendments to the constitution. It is recommended that your honorable body submit to the people for their action at the general election of 1928 the following amendments:

First—One permitting the jury to consider the fact that defendant fails to take the stand in his own behalf;

Second—One empowering the legislature to provide for the taking of depositions in criminal cases, either within or without this state;

Third—One permitting the waiver of a jury trial in felony cases where both the people and the defendant desire to make such waiver;

Fourth—One restoring the jury trial as originally known and developed, by repealing the provision which prohibits the jury from receiving the benefit of any comments on the evidence by the trial court;

Fifth—One authorizing the legislature to create new divisions of the District Courts of Appeal when necessary;

Sixth—One shortening the time within which the decision of a District Court of Appeal in a criminal case becomes final, from thirty days to fifteen days, allowing an additional fifteen days within which the Supreme Court may order a hearing before itself;

Seventh—One authorizing the legislature in its discretion to provide reasonable compensation to the members of the State Board of Prison Directors and to provide for them the services of trained psychiatrists and similar experts;

Eighth—One providing that where a verdict or judgment of conviction is set aside on the application of defendant he may be retried on the original charge, irrespective of the grade or degree of crime of which he was convicted in such verdict or judgment.

These will be briefly considered in their order:

First—One permitting the Jury to Consider the Fact that Defendant Fails to Take the Stand in His Own Behalf.

It can not too often be stated that the fundamental purpose of a criminal trial should be to arrive at the truth. If a defendant refuses to take the stand on his own behalf that is a fact in the case. Its weight may vary with circumstances, but whatever its weight it is a fact in the case. The law now provides that the jury must not consider this fact. It may well be doubted whether it is humanly possible to fail to consider it. Be that as it may, the jury should be entitled to consider it. In many cases it will materially aid in arriving at the truth.

The rule which prohibits the jury from considering this fact is probably an outgrowth of another rule long ago in force in England, which prohibited a defendant from testifying in his own behalf. The defendant not being permitted to testify, it was of course fair and just that his failure to testify should not be considered a fact in the case. The rule which forbade him to testify has long ago been discarded and he can now testify like any other witness. Strangely enough, however, we have still kept the companion rule after the reason for it has ceased to exist. In the interests of truth it should be discarded.

Second—One Empowering the Legislature to Provide for the Taking of Depositions in Criminal Cases, Either Within or Without this State.

The law now permits the defendant to take depositions but prohibits the people from doing so. This has brought about a condition that is intolerable. To illustrate: A murders B. C is the only witness. If C can be induced to leave the State of California there is no way to bring him back. His deposition can not be taken by the people and as a result the whole course of justice is thwarted and the arms of the people are paralyzed. The proposed amendment simply empowers the legislature to provide, upon such terms and conditions as it may deem just, that the people may take depositions either within or without the state.

Third—One Permitting the Waiver of a Jury Trial in Felony Cases Where Both the People and the Defendant Desire to Make Such Waiver.

Jury trials may be waived in all civil cases and in all criminal cases except felony cases. It is submitted that there is no reason why it should not be permitted in felony cases also where both the people and the defendant desire the waiver. This is in no sense depriving any one of a jury trial, for he will have the jury trial unless he voluntarily waives it. This system has been in force for a long time in Connecticut and Maryland and has worked well. In a very considerable percentage of the cases the jury is waived. This results in a great saving of expense to the state and in considerably greater expedition in the trial of such cases.

Fourth—One Restoring the Jury Trial as Originally Known and Developed, by Repealing the Provision Which Prohibits the Jury from Receiving the Benefit of Any Comments on the Evidence by the Trial Court.

The jury trial as originally developed and as now known and conducted in all courts of the English speaking world (including the United States courts) except only the courts of some of the American states, of which California is one, is a trial by a jury which may receive the benefit of comments on the evidence by counsel for the people, counsel for the defense and by the trial court. Such comments by the court have no binding effect. The jury remains the sole judge of the facts. The comments are simply to assist the jury in arriving at the truth. Under the practice in this state, counsel for the people may comment on the evidence, counsel for the defendant may do likewise, but the jury is absolutely deprived of any comment on the evidence by the one trained and impartial man in the courtroom, namely, the judge of the trial court. His lips are sealed with a constitutional padlock, and the jury is ordered to struggle the best that it can to arrive at the truth without the benefit of any comment whatever from the trained judge whom the people have placed upon the bench. This is not the jury trial, which is one of the glories of Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence. The Supreme Court of the United States in Capital Traction Company vs. Hof, 174 U. S. 1, describes the historical jury trial, the time-hallowed institution, as follows:

> "'Trial by Jury,' in the primary and usual sense of the term at the common law and in the American Constitution, is not merely a trial by a jury of twelve men before an officer vested with authority to cause them to be summoned and impaneled, to administer oaths to them and to the constable in charge, and to enter judgment and issue execution on their verdict; but it is a trial by a jury of twelve men, in the presence and under the superintendence of a judge empowered to instruct them on the law and to advise them on the facts, and (except on acquittal of a criminal charge) to set aside their verdict if in his opinion it is against the law or the evidence. The proposition has been so generally admitted, and so seldom contested, that there has been little occasion for its distinct assertion. Yet there are unequivocal statements of it to be found in the books." (Italics ours.)

Professor Thayer, one of the greatest commentators and jurists that this country has produced, speaking upon the same subject, says:

> "It is not too much to say of any period, in all English history, that it is impossible to conceive of trial by jury as existing there in a form which would withhold from the jury the assistance of the court in dealing with the facts. Trial by jury, in such a form as that, is not trial by jury in any historic sense of the words. It is not the venerated institution which attracted the praise of Blackstone and of our ancestors, but something novel, modern and much less to be respected." (Italics ours.)

It is probably true that one of the main reasons for the greater efficiency of jury trials in the courts of England and of Canada and in the courts of the United States over that existing in our state courts is the fact that there the jury can receive the benefit of the comments of the trial judge. The fundamental test to be applied to this as to other questions of procedure is: What rule will be most likely to insure that the proceedings will arrive at the truth? The Commission believes that, both as a matter of sound principle and by the demonstration of long experience, a jury is more likely to arrive at the truth when it is permitted to have the benefit of the comments of the trial judge upon the evidence than when it is deprived of them. One of the most important functions of citizenship is jury service. Nothing is more essential to the welfare of society than that those who serve upon a jury should return a true verdict. We draw our juries from all walks of life. Generally speaking, they are not familiar with the processes of adducing evidence in a courtroom, the slow and somewhat cumbersome method of question and answer, the objections and arguments of counsel, and the various matters that arise in the conduct of almost every criminal case. They may listen for days, or even weeks, to the evidence. At the conclusion counsel for the people and counsel for the defense may argue to them at length (in passing, it should be noted that this argument is not to permit counsel to display their talent, but for the reason that their comments on the evidence may assist the jury in arriving at the truth). At the conclusion of it all, the jury must sift the evidence, accept this and discard that, believe this and reject that, and by its verdict arrive at the truth. Can it be denied that in the great majority of cases they will be more likely to arrive at a true verdict if they are permitted to have the benefit of the comments on the evidence not only of counsel, but also of the one trained and impartial man in the courtroom, the representative of the people of the state in a true sense, the judge upon the bench?

Objection may be made to the proposed plan on the ground that it would be possible for the trial judge to abuse his power in commenting on the evidence. It must be conceded that an occasional abuse is a possibility. There can be no power without it being possible that such power may be abused. The pardoning power, the veto power, the power to grant probation and parole, the power of city councils and boards of supervisors, of railroad commissions, of legislatures, and even of the Congress may possibly be abused and perhaps in some instances have been abused. That is no reason for destroying the power or abolishing such bodies. There is no reason to believe that the power proposed to be given to our judges would be abused to any substantial degree. Indeed, any attempted abuse of the power, any attempt to influence the jury unfairly in favor of one side or the other, would be more likely to react against the desired result. Any marked abuse of the power by a judge would probably result in his soon ceasing to be a judge.

Many of the leading jurists of our country, such men as Chief Justice Taft of the Supreme Court of the United States, Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard Law School, and numerous others of the same caliber believe that the proposed change is not only just and wise, but essential to insure greater certainty of true verdicts in our criminal courts. The Commission appreciates, at the same time, that there are persons who sincerely fear that the proposed power might be substantially abused. The question is one of fundamental importance. It can be decided and should be decided only by one body, namely, the people of California. The Commission believes that it is only just that the people should be given an opporunity to decide. It is, therefore, recommended that the proposed amendment be submitted to the people for their decision.

Fifth—One Authorizing the Legislature to Create New Divisions of the District Courts of Appeal When Necessary.

At the present time, it is necessary to amend the constitution each time it is desired to create another division of a District Court of Appeal. The state is growing so rapidly that the business of the courts has greatly increased and the present District Courts of Appeal are far behind in their calendars. It is a fundamental truth that a delay of justice is frequently a denial of justice. Your honorable body has shown that it appreciates the importance of swiftness in the administration of justice. There would seem to be no good reason why your honorable body should not have the power to create new divisions of the District Courts of Appeal when the public interest requires it.

Sixth—One Shortening the Time Within Which the Decision of a District Court of Appeal in a Criminal Case Becomes Final from Thirty Days to Fifteen Days, Allowing an Additional Fifteen Days Within Which the Supreme Court May Order a Hearing Before Itself.

At the present time a decision of a District Court of Appeal does not become final for thirty days and another thirty days then elapses during which time the Supreme Court may order the cause transferred to itself for hearing and decision. For criminal cases, at least, this time seems entirely too long. It is not consonant with the swift administration of criminal justice. An amendment, therefore, is recommended which will provide that in criminal cases the judgment of a District Court of Appeal shall become final in fifteen days after its rendition, with an additional fifteen days allowed during which time the Supreme Court may order the cause transferred to itself. Since this Commission's activities are directed toward the administration of criminal justice only, no change is recommended with regard to civil cases.

Seventh—One Authorizing the Legislature in Its Discretion to Provide Reasonable Compensation to the Members of the State Board of Prison Directors and to Provide for Them the Services of Trained Psychiatrists and Similar Experts.

The present constitution (article X, section 4) provides that the members of the Board of Prison Directors shall receive no compensation, other than reasonable traveling and other expenses incurred while engaged in the performance of official duties. This was adopted in 1879 at a time when the duties of the Board of Prison Directors were very much less onerous and less important than they are now. Since that time both the indeterminate sentence law and the parole law have been passed, imposing upon the board very important duties, which were unknown at the time the constitution was adopted. Likewise, the burden of administering the prisons has greatly increased. It is recommended that a constitutional provision be submitted to the people which will reduce the number of members of the board from five to three and authorize the legislature in its discretion to provide reasonable compensation for the members of the board, and also to furnish them necessary expert assistants, psychiatrists, psychologists, and the like. The duties now performed by this board are of great importance. If they are to be properly carried out they require a large portion of the time of the members of the board. The proposed amendment does not in itself allow the members of the board any compensation. It simply empowers the legislature in its discretion to provide compensation.

Eighth—One Providing That Where a Verdict or Judgment of Conviction is Set Aside on the Application of Defendant He May Be Retried on the Original Charge, Irrespective of the Grade or Degree of Crime of Which He Was Convicted in Such Verdict or Judgment.

The purpose of this amendment may be illustrated by the following example: A defendant is charged with murder in the first degree. He is convicted of manslaughter. On his motion for new trial or on his appeal the judgment and verdict are set aside. It has been held that he can not again be tried on any charge more serious than manslaughter. This is based upon the theory, which is purely legalistic, that the conviction of manslaughter amounted to an acquittal of murder. The fallacy of this doctrine has been fully exposed. See for example, Trono vs. United States, 199 U. S. 521. Moreover, where a defendant causes a verdict to be set aside, it should be set aside completely and he should not be allowed to claim any protection under it. This is the policy of your honorable body as declared in section 1180 of the Penal Code as it now stands. The Commission has recommended an amendment of that section to make this policy effective. It is believed that amendment is constitutional. To avoid any possible doubt, however, this amendment to the constitution is also proposed.

FINANCIAL REPORT.

Your honorable body appropriated $10,000 for the expenses of this Commission. The Commission is happy to report that it will be able to return to the treasury of this state a very substantial part of the money appropriated, probably in excess of $3,000.

CONCLUSION.

It is hoped and believed that if your honorable body sees fit to adopt the statutory changes recommended and the people of the state approve the constitutional amendments, the result will be not merely greatly increased efficiency, swiftness and certainty in the administration of criminal justice in this state, but also a great reduction in the amount of crime. All past experience proves that this increased efficiency is always followed by such reduction in crime. The Commission has endeavored to do the task assigned to it, namely, to provide a more efficient system for the swift and certain administration of criminal justice. It has endeavored not to encroach upon other fields. Our studies have led us to the conclusion, however, that indispensable as it is that such a system of criminal procedure should be adopted, still this is only a part of the problem of crime. There are other very important phases. The Commission, therefore, has reached the conclusion and hereby respectfully recommends that your honorable body create a commission to study the other phases of the crime problem and report its findings and recommendations to you. Some of the important phases that it is suggested might well receive such consideration are:

First and foremost, crime prevention. Everything that can be done to prevent the commission of crime, to turn those disposed toward such a life into a life of honest effort, to take a boy or girl who is just entering upon the pathway of crime and turn his feet to the paths of rectitude, is a social service and a humanitarian service of the highest order. There are vast opportunities in this field. Some methods also must be devised for segregating the hardened criminal from those who may be redeemed to become useful members of society. Too often the former become professors of crime, and our jails and penitentiaries (in spite of the best efforts of sheriffs, jailers and wardens) become institutions for education in all the arts of the criminal profession. The whole subject of crime prevention has been too long ignored in this country. This is one of the reasons for the tremendous price we are now paying. Both morally and financially it is cheaper and easier to prevent crime than to attempt to cure it.

Secondly, the matter of crime detection and the apprehension of criminals. The subject of the detection of crime is in itself a vast one. Recent scientific discoveries have opened entirely new fields without disturbing in any substantial degree fundamental principles that have long been known among experts. Those who are charged with the detection of crime should be given the best education in their profession and furnished with all the facilities which the scientific world affords. The matter of the apprehension of criminals is also one where much improvement can be made. The criminal pays no attention to artificial boundaries, whether of city, county or state. Too often our officials charged with the apprehension of criminals are bound down, hampered and limited by such lines. Such a commission as is recommended might be able to evolve a plan which would result in far greater efficiency than we now have in the fields of detection and apprehension.

Third, another subject worthy of careful and complete study is that of Penology. Among other things this might involve a complete survey of our jail system, our reformatories, our penitentiaries, our road camps, and kindred institutions. An important question for consideration is that of giving to convicts in our institutions some kind of training, technical or otherwise, to fit them to earn an honest livelihood after they are released. Another subject worthy of consideration is whether the state can be of greater assistance in helping released convicts to secure employment and keeping some check of their activities for a reasonable time after their release.

The foregoing observations are made not with the idea of expressing an opinion on any of the subjects, but as indicating the great necessity of such a commission as that recommended, the wide scope which its activities may well take and the great public benefits which may result.

Such a commission should be adequately financed. If objection be raised to the state spending the necessary money, it may be worth while to note that it is estimated the cost of crime to the United States is ten billions of dollars each year. Just what is the cost to the State of California can not be accurately stated, but it is fair to assume that we bear at least our fair proportion of this tremendous total. Bearing in mind the human and social, as well as the financial, cost of crime, it would seem doubtful whether money could be better expended than in ameliorating these conditions. Certainly no greater humanitarian service can be rendered.

The problem of crime is probably the most vital one now confronting our state and our nation. All our citizens, whatever their walk in life, their race, their color, their vocation or their political beliefs are equally subject to this menace. All are equally concerned in preserving the lives of their loved ones and themselves, in securing the sanctity of their homes and the security of the property accumulated by their toil. Serious as is the problem of crime, it is by no means a hopeless one. If we meet it with true American courage and determination the problem will be solved and the lives, homes and property of our citizens will be made safe and secure.

Respectfully submitted,

WALTER K. TULLER,
Chairman.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE—DIVISION OF PRINTING

Sacramento, California,
December 1, 1926.

To His Excellency, FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of California.

SIR: I herewith submit the annual report of the Chief, Division of Printing, for the seventy-seventh fiscal year, ended June 30, 1926.

The record of the department is presented mostly in figures and statistics.

The success of the department is measured by its operating costs, and tested by that gauge the State Printing Office was more successful during the seventy-seventh fiscal year than any other year of its operation.

The Political Code of the State of California (Article XII, par. 540. sub. 4) provides that the price for printing, binding, etc., shall be fixed from time to time to cover all costs of material and labor necessary to do the work, but shall not take into consideration the cost of the plant. Manifestly, however, the cost must include the cost of the machinery and equipment used in the process of manufacture. We therefore add 5 per cent to the total cost of all work performed to provide for the replacement of machinery, and to cover overhead expenses that are not otherwise provided for.

The State Board of Control in January, 1921, in a letter from S. P. Allen to James M. Cremin, authorized the charge of 5 per cent to be added to the cost of all work to provide a reserve fund for the replacement of worn out and obsolete machinery. Since that time, with the exception of a special appropriation (295-1921) in the same year, all machinery and equipment purchases have been made from this reserve accumulation.

To show how closely the charges for work conformed to the charges for the finished product during this particular year, attention is directed to the Surplus or Accumulated Excess Income Statement, page 14, of this report. It will be noted by excluding the 5 per cent from the total sales of $607,652.81 that the charge for the finished product exceeded the cost less than one-third of one per cent. In other words, the office supported itself exclusively from the sale of its product without any surplus other than the 5 per cent which, as above explained, is for the replacement of worn out and obsolete machinery.

EASTERN TEXTBOOK PRINTING ESTABLISHMENTS

Primarily for study and comparison of machinery and methods used in the larger school book printing establishments of the East and Middle West, a visit to ten of the plants was made during the month of August, 1925.

Much of the information obtained relates to matters of routine in printing office detail of interest only to the superintendent and foremen at the State Printing Office, while the investigation of the various types of machinery used in pressrooms and binderies is of a purely technical nature not likely to be of absorbing interest to those unversed in printing office knowledge; nor even to printers unfamiliar with the special character of school book printing.

That comparatively few of the twenty or more school book publishing houses have printing plants, was a somewhat surprising discovery. Except in a few instances, the publishers have their books printed under contract with various book printing plants, located for the most part in or near New York, Boston and Philadelphia. The American Book Company is a notable exception, this concern, the largest in the world, having its own printing plants at New York and Cincinnati. The editions of this company are so large and the plants are so admirably equipped with the latest machinery that it is difficult to find basis for comparison with the California State Printing Office. But many of the other plants visited are of comparable size and the annual production of similar quantity, although usually the editions are larger and the number of texts less. As the quantity number of an edition bears a direct relation to the cost per book—at least up to a certain maximum quantity—it has not been easy to find other plants where all of the factors are comparable with the California State Plant.

That printing of school books by the state is economical is shown by the prices charged by school book publishers in other states. I have found in no state prices quoted by dealers that do not average from 100 to 250 per cent higher than the cost of manufacture at the California plant, and the saving to the school districts of the state amounts to approximately $300,000 annually. This saving pays for all of the other printing the state requires.

That the California State Printing Office is operated efficiently will not be controverted by anyone familiar with printing office management, and the fact that production costs are as low as the production costs of private printing plants of comparable size in San Francisco and Los Angeles tells its own story of the efficiency of management. For this happy situation much credit must be given the general superintendent, Mr. J. M. Welsh, and the foremen of the various departments.

It may be said in criticism of these statements that a state-owned plant operates under conditions different from privately owned plants, inasmuch as the items of rent, insurance, interest on the investment and profit are not added to the overhead costs. Granting this condition, and adding a sufficient amount to the overhead to make allowance for these items, our production costs are still as low as in the privately owned plants.

And is there reason why this should not be true? The State Printing Office is operated as a business institution. There are no incompetents on the pay roll, neither politics nor favoritism has a place in its management, and under the state civil service law and by reason of desirable working conditions competent men and women are engaged and they are satisfied to remain. Permanency of employment is good for employer and employee. In the state plant continuity of employment will average at least twice as long as in privately owned plants. One employee has been with the state plant 43 years, and there are at least 25 whose terms of employment date back from 15 to 35 years. There are few changes except as the increase or diminution of work calls for variation in the number.

Very often the argument is made in other states that a state printing plant can not be economically or efficiently operated because of the widespread belief that governmental or state supervision is extravagant and political.

Whatever the situation may be elsewhere, or whatever it may once have been in California, it is not true today in this state nor has it been true for many years. In 1911, Friend William Richardson, now Governor, was appointed State Printer, and his long experience as a newspaper man and printer, as well as his fine talent for organization, was utilized in bringing the plant to a high degree of efficiency, and in the years since then the men he had trained in foremanship and management have continued the good work. Later the State Civil Service Commission was established, and through helpful cooperation of this agency better trained workmen were secured. Purchases of all materials are made through the Board of Control, and all of the financial transactions are supervised and approved by this body, of which the printing department is a division.

In comparison with book printing plants I have visited, the California State Plant is admirably equipped with machinery suitable to the nature of the product. There are many improved and expensive machines used elsewhere in some of the operations in book printing, but in most instances they could not be economically used here. Unless a machine can be used practically all of the time the cost of maintenance is often greater than the additional labor cost on a slower and cheaper machine. It has been the endeavor of the management to increase the capacity of the plant only as the growth of business warrants.

Although state publication of elementary textbooks was commenced in 1886, under the Perry amendment to the state constitution, and has been acknowledgedly successful from the start, especially in lowering the price of school books to the people of the state, California and Kansas are as yet the only states of the nation where state publication is the practice.

PRINTING OF HIGH SCHOOL TEXTBOOKS.

The Kansas statute, adopted in 1909, is broader than that of California, and under this law the state school book commission is specifically required to have printed at the state printing office a complete series of school textbooks for use in the public schools, including the high schools. The commission is also required to adopt and purchase from private publishers such books as they find it impossible or impracticable to have printed at the state printing office. Under this law a series of elementary textbooks, similar to the California series, is printed at the state printing office, also a considerable number of high school textbooks.

Practicability of printing high school books in California was considered by a joint legislative committee at the session of 1915. This committee was appointed pursuant to Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 26, and Senator Newton W. Thompson of Los Angeles County was chairman.

The committee reported that "at this time it is not expedient that the state should print textbooks for pupils of high schools." The main argument against the proposed plan was the small number of high school pupils compared to the number of elementary pupils. At the time of this report the number of high school pupils was estimated to be 76,000, of which 15,000 were enrolled in night schools maintained in the larger centers of population.

The last report of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction shows that the phenomenal growth of California is reflected in the school enrollment. In 1913 the high schools of the state had 66,000 pupils. In 1923—a decade later—there were 305,000 pupils, representing a growth of more than 500 per cent. It may be true that high school texts could not be printed economically by the state for 66,000 pupils, but this argument would not hold good today. Reduced to terms of the arguments advanced ten years ago, an edition of 5000 books would not be economical, but an edition of 25,000 books would be economical. Obviously, there is a distinction and a difference.

The printing of high school textbooks by the state would first of all necessitate more uniformity in texts, for at present and during the entire educational history of the state the selective list has been very wide, embracing several thousand books from upward of seventy publishers. The greater number of these selective texts are designed for supplemental work, and in no event used in sufficient quantity to justify state publication. Some of the members of the State Board of Education and a great many educators and teachers of the state believe that textbooks for certain subjects could be standardized to a point where state printing would be in sufficient quantities to be economical. At least Kansas, with approximately a third of the high school enrollment of California, believes this plan to be economical and beneficial. Economies of production depend almost wholly on quantity, and the argument of ten years ago that there is not sufficient demand for any of the high school textbooks to justify state publication is subject to revision by reason of the fact that high school enrollment has increased from 66,000 to 305,000 in the last decade. If it is found that editions of from 15,000 to 25,000 in any of the high school texts are warranted, then it may be safely stated as a printing office conclusion that state publication would mean a considerable saving.

This has been the experience in state publication of elementary texts, for it is of general knowledge that textbooks for the elementary schools of California are furnished to the school districts at from 40 to 50 per cent of the prices quoted by school book publishers of the East. And it must not be forgotten that many of the arguments now advanced against the state printing of a limited number of high school texts were used at the time the state engaged in the printing of elementary books. And these arguments, in most instances false and misleading, are being used today in every state where an effort is being made to obtain state printing of school books, either for the elementary or high schools. Analyzed, they represent the selfish business considerations of private school book publishers, whose lobbyists and agents are ubiquitous and noisy wherever a state legislature is in session or a convention of educators has gathered.

So powerful has become the political influence of the organized private publishers that many legislative bodies have given up in despair with regard to the establishment of a state printing plant or a reduction in the prices charged for school books. It is common knowledge that in practically all of the states many of the most popular city and county superintendents have found it financially advantageous to resign their positions and become agents and propagandists for the school book publishers. No organization of the nation works in closer harmony or has a higher or more efficient type of retainers.

The California law providing for the state publication of textbooks was not the result of a legislative fight against the private publishers. It was accidental and unexpected. At many sessions of the legislature a bill of this nature had been introduced, always in the expectation that the school book publishers would be interested in seeing the bill die in committee or meet some other calamity easily maneuvered in the rush of legislative work. The constitutional amendment of 1883 was submitted, it is frequently said, with the notion that a similar fate would be welcomed, but evidently the agents of the publishing houses, sensing no danger, made no serious fight to defeat the bill, and on the last night of the session, in the hurry and turmoil attendant upon these occasions, the amendment was submitted, greatly to the surprise of everybody, including the members of the legislature. In the election of 1884 the amendment was adopted by the people by a practically unanimous vote, and was followed by the necessary enabling legislation in 1885, and by the latter part of 1886 the novel experiment, first of the kind in the country, was launched. The newness of the scheme and the limitations of the printing office naturally brought many grievous mistakes. The shock troops of the book publishers were again brought into action, and but for the fact that the law was imbedded in the constitution there is little doubt it would have been repealed.

Even under the most adverse conditions—with the school people almost unanimously opposed to the plan; with the State Printing Office in control of political adventurers and the asylum of aged and broken down printer friends of members of the legislature; with inadequate facilities—all combined to discourage the hitherto untried experiment—the printing of elementary school books was an immediate success from the standpoint of actual saving to the people.

Seemingly the time has arrived to widen the scope of state printing of textbooks by including at least some of the high school books. Embarking upon this venture many years ago, Kansas has shown no disposition to change the plan, but from time to time the board of education has added new texts to the high school series. And it should be remembered that Kansas has less than a third of the high school enrollment of which California boasts.

According to figures furnished by J. H. McIlhenny, Clerk of the Kansas School Book Commission, the publisher's list price on the book of geometry is $1.38, and Kansas pays a royalty on each copy of this book sold, prints it and sells it to the student at 75 cents. The publisher's price of the United States History is $1.38; state printed the price is 69 cents. In 1922 the state of Kansas printed two algebras. Under contract with the publishers the cost would have been 92 cents and $1.02 each. The state price is 61 cents. All of the grade textbooks are printed at the Kansas state printing office, nine new books being taken over in the year 1923. Six high school texts are now being printed, and a total of forty-seven school books is printed by the state. Eventually the state of Kansas hopes to print at least one-half of the high school texts.

The experience of California is similar to that of Kansas. Cost of printing elementary books here has been somewhat less, by reason of the larger average editions, and there is no reason why the State of California could not print high school texts at a price somewhat less than Kansas, as the editions would be considerably larger. Despite radical advances in the price of paper, as well as an 11 per cent increase in wages resultant from a new scale being adopted in 1924, the cost of elementary textbooks has been increased less than 7 per cent.

The State Printing Office could undertake the printing of high school texts without expense for additional equipment. The foremen and employees are acquainted with the details of school book printing, and additional books would assure less variation in the number of employees, thus making it possible for the office to retain in permanent employment a larger number of the workmen now given work only during the peak load. Undoubtedly, there would be an added saving of a large sum to the people of the state, and the increased volume of school book printing would bring about lower prices for elementary books.

These conclusions have been reached after careful study of the situation from the printing office standpoint, and have the concurrence of the superintendents of the several departments of the printing office having in charge the work of printing the elementary school books.

NEW STYLE FOR LEGISLATIVE BILLS.

Notable changes in the method of printing legislative bills will be effective at this session. After careful study by the State Printer and various members of the printing committees of the Senate and Assembly of the methods in vogue in other states, the plan used by the Government Printing Office in printing congressional bills has been adopted. For amended bills ~~canceled~~ ~~or~~ ~~"strike-out"~~ ~~type~~ will show deletions from the original text, while new matter will be set in italics. This will give the hurried reader a definite understanding of eliminations and additions. The change necessitated the purchase of considerable additional equipment and involves a slight added expense for composition, but it is believed that the benefits will more than compensate for the increased cost.

Yours respectfully,

John E. King

Superintendent, Division of Printing.

REPORT OF BOARD OF DENTAL EXAMINERS.

To his Excellency, FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of California,
Capitol Building, Sacramento.

The Board of Dental Examiners begs to submit the following as a general report of its proceedings and activities since the appointment of its members by your excellency.

During the present administration, examinations have been held semi-annually for candidates for licenses to practice dentistry. These examinations have been held in the cities of San Francisco and Los Angeles and the number of applicants has increased so that during the administration of the present board the number has averaged 600 in each year and the great register of dentists during the said period has been increased by the addition of 1702 names.

The finance committee of the board has held numerous meetings for the purpose of conserving the funds and looking toward an economical distribution and expenditure of the funds entrusted to its care.

On account of the greatly increased number of applicants for examination, many meetings of the credentials committee have been necessary so that a just and careful consideration of the data presented by the applicants could be given.

The present officers of your board are: Dr. L. M. Baughman, Los Angeles, president; Dr. G. E. Beattie, San Francisco, vice president; Dr. O. E. Jackson, secretary, Petaluma; and the other members thereof consist of the following named: Dr. E. J. Wylie, Los Angeles; Dr. C. E. Pryor, Bakersfield; Dr. W. H. Renwick, Sacramento, and Dr. Harvey Stallard, San Diego.

The board is pleased to report that at the present time there is in the dental fund the sum of $29,301.51. In December, 1922, just immediately prior to your assuming the reins of government, the same fund contained the sum of $4,319.69, it therefore appearing that during the term of office of your appointees the fund has increased some $25,000.

In response to your request for a policy of strict economy in the conduct of the business of the board, the members thereof have been able to so conduct the same, that notwithstanding the increase in number of registered dentists, the greater number of applicants for licenses and the numerous and incessant prosecutions, the board has been able to conduct its activities with the expenditures of practically the same amount of money per annum as that used by the former boards.

Your appointees point to this accomplishment with a feeling of pride for the reason the addition of 1702 names to the list of practicing dentists means almost a doubling of the amount of office and detail work. Further, the increased number of applications for examinations for licenses imposes additional time and labor in a consideration of necessary credentials, in the preparation for examinations and particularly in the marking of the papers submitted. In this connection your board reports that the average number of annual applicants during its term has been 600, as against an average of 200 during the same period under previous boards.

These facts have necessarily brought about an increase in the work of the secretary of the board, so that for the past two years there has been handled through this office more than thirty thousand pieces of mail each year. To assist in the handling of this vast amount of mail an additional stenographer has been employed.

There has been, during the administration of this board, installed in the office of the secretary a new visible record system for accounting and for the up-to-date rating of the dentists of the state.

Our examinations have been held regularly and three times every year and have been concerned with an investigation only as to qualifications of the prospective dentist in modern dentistry. These examinations have been fairly conducted and the papers of the applicants justly and impartially marked.

Investigations and prosecutions of those violating the dental laws have been assiduously and energetically followed by the board with a view of clearing the profession of dentistry of those who by their actions would bring discredit upon it, and to the end that the people of the State of California should have the protection guaranteed by the beneficent provisions of the Dental Law of the State of California.

These prosecutions and investigations have been fully, impartially and economically conducted, and particularly has the board insisted that these matters be conducted without the interference of political influence of any kind or nature.

The board considers that so much of good has been accomplished by these prosecutions that it has caused to be appended hereto a detailed statement of each individual case both before the courts of the state and before the board in the matter of accusations filed against practising dentists.

There are now 4900 practising dentists in the State of California and as stated hereinbefore, of this number 1702 have been certificated during the administration of the present Board of Dental Examiners.

At the examination held in Los Angeles during the month of July, 1926, there were 202 applicants and the following named were successful and were granted licenses:

Your board particularly wishes to emphasize the fact that utmost harmony does exist and has existed among its members. This spirit of harmony certainly makes for efficiency and proper results in the conduct of the business of the board.

When your excellency appointed the members of this board your particular instructions forcibly given were to steer its administration clear of political influence and to keep the profession of dentistry clean and creditable in the State of California. The members of the board have followed your instructions most carefully. So careful have its members conducted their trust that there never has been the slightest intimation that the board collectively or individually were subject to political influence.

With the end in view of again following your valuable instructions the members of the board have energetically endeavored to keep the practice of dentistry within the State of California on the highest plane and to this end have spent much time and industry in prosecuting those within and without the profession for infractions of the State Dental Law.

So much of good has been accomplished in this regard that the members of the board feeling a just satisfaction in what has been accomplished is submitting herewith for your perusal a detailed statement containing a brief history of each case prosecuted before the courts and upon accusation filed with the board.

People vs. Frank Pond, San Francisco, California. Defendant, a Chinese, was arrested February 27, 1926, for practising dentistry without a license in the city of San Francisco. He was tried March 6, 1926, before Police Judge Daniel S. O'Brien, and held over to the superior court for trial.

A writ of habeas corpus was secured on behalf of this defendant and the matter was heard in the absence of the attorney for the board and the prisoner was discharged.

People vs. Gee Wah, San Francisco, California. This defendant, a Chinese, was arrested February 27, 1926, for practising without a license. His preliminary hearing was had before Judge Daniel S. O'Brien of the police court of San Francisco, and ordered held for trial in the superior court.

Upon the case being called in the superior court, the defendant pleaded guilty to the charges and Judge King of Napa County, acting for Judge Louderback, granted a plea of probation.

People vs. R. F. Morrison, Visalia, California. The defendant in this action was complained against and charged with practising dentistry without a license. At the preliminary hearing, he was held for trial to the superior court and admitted to bail in the sum of five hundred dollars.

While awaiting trial in the superior court, he disappeared, the bail was forfeited and he was subsequently found in Portland, Oregon.

A bench warrant was obtained for his arrest and upon telegraphic warrant, he was arrested in Portland. Extradition papers were secured and an inspector of the board went to Portland to bring back the defendant. It was there discovered that he had again been arrested for the same offense and the authorities there refused to allow him to return until he had been tried upon the offense committed there. It is the intention of the board to watch this aggravated case and if possible to effect the extradition of this defendant so that he may be tried here.

People vs. B. H. Schorr, San Francisco, California. This defendant was charged with the offense of practising dentistry without a license, was arrested and upon hearing before Lile T. Jacks, judge of the police court of San Francisco, was held to answer to the superior court.

Upon hearing in the superior court before Judge Louderback, the defendant pleaded guilty and was admitted to probation upon his promise to make restitution of the amount he had received from the patient and a fine imposed of $100.

This restitution was not made and the defendant was again arrested upon a bench warrant issued out of the superior court.

He was again admitted to probation with the understanding that if quick restitution was not made that he would be punished by imprisonment.

People vs. Ito, Salinas, California. This defendant was arrested July 15, 1926, was tried by the court in Salinas, Monterey County, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $250. This fine was paid.

People vs. T. M. Everton, San Francisco, California. This defendant was arrested in the city of San Francisco, on the seventeenth day of July, 1926, and charged with practising dentistry without a license. The said Everton maintained an office at 1302 Fillmore street in the said city. The trial of this action has been set for August 3, 1926, before Hon. S. J. Lazarus, judge of the police court of San Francisco.

People vs. R. B. Ferguson, Taft, California. Defendant was arrested and charged on two counts of practising dentistry without a license. He pleaded guilty to both charges and was fined $100 on each charge by Judge Stinchbaum, justice of the peace of Taft.

People vs. R. B. Ferguson, Taft, California. About ten days after the above conviction the same defendant was arrested on a similar charge and was fined by Judge Stinchbaum the sum of $100 and given a jail sentence of 180 days.

People vs. S. Waseckli, San Francisco, California. This defendant has been complained against for practising without a license at No. 739 Victoria st., San Francisco. The warrant of arrest is in the hands of the authorities for service.

HEARINGS BEFORE THE BOARD OF DENTAL EXAMINERS.

People vs. William G. McIntosh, Long Beach, January 27, 1925. Defendant was charged with practising without a license. Was found guilty as charged and sentenced to one year in county jail. With the consent of board defendant was paroled during the month of August, 1925.

In the matter of the accusation against C. A. Day. In the above entitled matter an accusation was filed with the board charging the accused with unprofessional conduct and the charges were heard on the tenth day of August, 1925. After submission and consideration of the testimony offered, the accused was found guilty of the charges and it was the judgment of the board that the license of the accused be permanently revoked.

In the matter of the accusation against H. B. Newbre. In this matter the accused was charged by written accusation regularly filed with the board, with unprofessional conduct and the charges were heard on the eleventh day of August, 1925. The accused was found guilty as charged and it was the judgment of the board that his license to practise dentistry be suspended for a period of five years.

In the matter of the accusation against R. E. Whitted. The accused in this matter was regularly charged by written accusation with unprofessional conduct and the hearing of the charge was had on the eleventh day of August, 1925, at which time the accused was found guilty of the charges, and by judgment of the board his license to practise dentistry was permanently revoked.

In the matter of the accusation against C. A. Whitenack. The accused in this matter was charged in a written accusation with unprofessional conduct and was tried before the board on the tenth day of August, 1925, at which time the said accused was found guilty of the charges and pursuant to the judgment of the board, his license was suspended for a period of five years. Subsequently and on the eighth day of May, 1926, the operation of the above judgment of the board was suspended and the accused was authorized to resume his practise upon his executing a stipulation to the board that he would thereafter in all respects conform to the provisions of the State Dental Law.

In the matter of the accusation against Paul Arnold. In this matter the accused was regularly charged with unprofessional conduct, and his trial was held on the tenth day of August, 1925. A judgment that the defendant was guilty of the charges was rendered and his license to practise was suspended for a period of five years. The operation of the judgment was suspended about four months later.

In the matter of the accusation against Thomas D. Head. The accused was in this matter charged with unprofessional conduct, was tried by the board, found guilty of the charges contained in the accusation and it was the judgment of the board that his license to practise be suspended for a period of one year. The trial of this matter was held on the eighteenth day of May, 1925.

In the matter of the accusation against Herbert Clemmens. The accused was here charged by written accusation with unprofessional conduct and was tried on the said charges on the nineteenth day of September, 1925. Upon submission of the matter, the board rendered judgment finding the accused guilty of the charges and directing that his license to practise be suspended for a period of three years. The accused in this matter being dissatisfied with the judgment of the board, subsequently obtained from the superior court of the county of Los Angeles a writ of review of the proceedings of the board. The said court, after a complete hearing of the petition and the return of the writ of review, rendered judgment thereon sustaining and affirming the action of the board and dismissing the petition of the said Herbert Clemmens.

In the matter of the accusation against C. J. Brauer. C. J. Brauer was charged in an accusation filed with unprofessional conduct and was tried thereon on the eighteenth day of May, 1925. A judgment of guilty of the charges was rendered and the board directed that his license be suspended for a period of five years. Subsequently, upon application, the operation of this judgment was suspended, upon the written agreement that the accused would conform in every respect to the State Dental Law. Thereafter the board, upon investigation, discovered that the said C. J. Brauer was persisting in the acts complained of in the original accusation and thereupon set aside the order suspending the operation of the original judgment and the said judgment suspending the license of the accused. Recently upon stipulation the license has been again restored.

In the matter of the accusation against W. W. Homan. In this matter W. W. Homan, practising in the city of San Francisco, was charged with unprofessional conduct, in that he purchased the license of another dentist. The hearing of the accusation was had on the fourth day of December, 1925, and the defendant was found guilty as charged. The judgment of the board was that his license be permanently revoked. A petition for a writ of review of the proceedings was granted by the superior court of the city and county of San Francisco. The return of the writ was had before Hon. Louis H. Ward, judge of the said superior court, and after a full hearing of the petition, it was the judgment of the said court that all of the proceedings of the board be affirmed, that its judgment stand and that the petition of the said W. W. Homan be dismissed. The accused thereupon through his attorneys appealed from the judgment of the said superior court but has apparently abandoned the same not having completed the necessary steps to be taken in the appeal. The appeal is now ready for dismissal upon application.

In the matter of the accusation against A. Humphries. In this matter the accused was charged with unprofessional conduct and was found guilty of the charges. The board directed that his license be suspended for a period of five years.

Subsequently upon application, the board, upon receipt of the customary stipulation, on the first day of July, 1926, made an order suspending the operation of the said judgment and Dr. Humphries was allowed to resume the practise of his profession.

In the matter of the accusation against L. S. Whetstone. The accused herein was charged with unprofessional conduct and the charges were heard by the board on the fifteenth day of March, 1926. He was found guilty as charged and it was the judgment that his license be suspended for a period of five years. This accused then brought an action in the superior court of the county of Sacramento, seeking and obtaining a writ of review. Upon the filing of the return by the board, the matter was argued before Judge Weyand of the superior court of the county of Colusa, acting for Judge Glenn of Sacramento. The matter is now under submission and an early decision is expected.

In the matter of the accusation against Emiel H. Morris. The accused was here charged with unprofessional conduct and a hearing of the charges was had on the twenty-first day of January, 1926. The accused was found guilty as charged, his license was suspended for a period of ten years and an order was made suspending the operation of judgment.

In the matter of the accusation against B. B. Pontius. In this matter the accused was charged with unprofessional conduct. He was tried on the twenty-sixth day of April, 1926, found guilty as charged and the judgment was to the effect that his license be suspended for a period of ten years. A further judgment was entered suspending the operation of the judgment until the further order of the board.

In the matter of the accusation against F. C. Campbell. In this matter the accused was charged with unprofessional conduct and a trial of the charges was had on the nineteenth day of May, 1926. The accused was found guilty of the charges and the board directed that the license of the accused be permanently revoked.

In the matter of the accusation against P. A. Rheinschild. The accused was here charged with unprofessional conduct and was tried upon the charges on the twenty-sixth day of April, 1926. He was found guilty as charged and an order was made suspending his license for a period of ten years. Subsequently and on the twenty-first day of June, an order was made by the board suspending the operation of the sentence and Dr. Rheinschild was restored to practise.

In the matter of the accusation against S. R. Osborne. S. R. Osborne was in the said matter charged with unprofessional conduct, was tried on February 20, 1926, found guilty as charged and the judgment of the board permanently revoked his license. Dr. Osborne then petitioned the superior court of the county of Los Angeles for, and obtained, a writ of review. Upon the return by the board to the writ, the matter was ordered submitted, and the court thereupon decided the action against the board and annulled its proceedings. The board still feels that its judgment was a just one and that it had acted within its authority, and has therefore directed its attorneys to take an appeal from the said decision. This has been done and the appeal is now pending.

In the matter of the accusation against W. P. Winning. The accused in this matter was charged with unprofessional conduct and was tried thereon on the fourth day of December, 1925. He was found guilty as charged and the order was that his license be suspended for a period of one year.

In the matter of the accusation against D. S. Sands. In this matter D. S. Sands was charged with unprofessional conduct, was tried on the fourth day of December, 1925, and the order was that the license of the accused be suspended for a period of one year.

In the matter of the accusation against H. Block. In this matter H. Block was charged in the accusation with practising dentistry under an assumed name. The hearing was had May 27, 1926, the defendant pleaded guilty to the charges and the board thereupon determined that his license be suspended for a period of five years, giving, however, the right to the said accused to appear before the board within three months for the purpose of asking a suspension of the operation of the judgment.

In the matter of the accusation against E. R. Tambling. In this matter the accused was charged with practising under a name not his own. The hearing of the charges was held May 27, 1926, and the accused plead guilty to the charge. The infraction having been not a serious offense the board imposed a sentence whereby the license of the accused was suspended for a period of one day.

In the matter of the accusation against F. A. Bley. In this matter the accused F. A. Bley was charged with unprofessional conduct and the charges were heard May 27, 1926. The accused interposed a demurrer to the accusation through his attorneys; the demurrer was argued and submitted and the matter is still pending.

In the matter of the accusation against C. W. McKinney. In this matter the accused was charged with aiding and abetting an unlicensed person to practise dentistry. The charges were heard on the twenty-seventh day of May, 1926. Upon the conclusion of the hearing the matter was submitted to the board and is still pending.

In the matter of the accusation against F. A. Ross. In this matter F. A. Ross was accused before the board of using a name other than his own in the practise of dentistry. The hearing was had on the twenty-seventh day of May, 1926. The matter was submitted to the board after the testimony was closed and no decision has been given.

In the matter of the accusation against H. C. Smith. In this action an accusation was filed against H. C. Smith charging him with unprofessional conduct. A hearing was held February 26, 1926, and the board found the accused not guilty.

In the matter of the accusation against E. A. S. Erlwin. Dr. Erlwin charging him with unprofessional conduct in aiding and abetting an unlicensed person to practise dentistry. The evidence being insufficient and the accusation was dismissed on the twentieth day of February, 1926.

This was a matter of an accusation against John D. Eckes in which he was charged with unprofessional conduct. The accusation was heard on the twelfth day of June, 1925, and was dismissed on account of insufficiency of the evidence.

CIVIL MATTERS.

Homan vs. Board of Dental Examiners, No. 166,778, Superior Court, San Francisco, California. On the first day of March, 1926, W. W. Homan, whose license had been revoked by the Board of Dental Examiners, filed a petition for a writ of review of the proceedings of the board in said matter. The writ was granted and within the proper time allowed by law a return of the proceedings was made by the board, and the matter was assigned to Hon. Louis Ward for hearing. After argument Judge Ward decided that the board had acted within its authority and rendered judgment affirming its action and dismissing the petition of the applicant.

Homan vs. Board of Dental Examiners, District Court of Appeal, First Appellate District. W. W.Homan, above named, appealed from the decision of the superior court of the city and county of San Francisco, State of California, and since March 22, 1926, the date of the filing of the notice of appeal in the said action, has only filed the transcript on appeal, and has taken no other steps to perfect the same. It would appear that the appeal has been abandoned, and the attorney for the board has been instructed to apply for a dismissal thereof.

Whetstone vs. Board of Dental Examiners, No. 35,932, Superior Court, Sacramento County, California. L. S. Whetstone, who was tried by the Board of Dental Examiners upon a charge of unprofessional conduct, and who was found guilty as charged on the thirtieth day of March, petitioned the superior court of Sacramento County, for a writ of review. The petition was granted and the board was directed to return to the court the record of its proceedings in the matter of the accusation against L. S. Whetstone. The matter was assigned to Judge Glenn, who was unable to hear the same due to great amount of business pending in his court, and Judge Weyand of Colusa County was called to Sacramento to hear the case. On the twentieth day of May, 1926, the matter was argued before Judge Weyand and submitted. The matter is still under submission and an early decision is expected.

Clemmens vs. Board of Dental Examiners, No. 177,516, Superior Court, Los Angeles county. Herbert Clemmens, a dentist practising in the city of Los Angeles, was found guilty of the charge of unprofessional conduct and being dissatisfied with the decision of the board, instituted the above action asking for a writ of review of the proceedings of the board. The writ was issued and a proper return made. The matter was argued before the above entitled court and after submission thereof the court decided in favor of the Board of Dental Examiners, confirmed its proceedings and ordered the petition of the plaintiff dismissed.

Osborne vs. Board of Dental Examiners, No. 193,713, Superior Court, Los Angeles County. In this action, L. S. Osborne, who had been charged before the Board of Dental Examiners with aiding and abetting an illegal practitioner, was found guilty of the charges and his license suspended. He thereafter applied to the above named superior court for a writ of review and the board was directed to make a return of its proceedings. The return was duly made and after submission of the matter to the court, the court decided the action against the board and nullified its proceedings. The members of the board being dissatisfied with the decision of the court have instructed the attorneys to appeal to the District Court of Appeal. A notice of appeal has been filed and the record to be used on appeal is now in the course of preparation.

Respectfully submitted.

O. E. JACKSON,
Secretary, Board of Dental Examiners of the State of California.

Dated at Petaluma, California, July 20, 1926.

NOTE.—Attention is called to the following important opinion of the Attorney General of California on section 11 of the dental act:

Board of Dental Examiners,

GENTLEMEN: I have before me the following question which you have presented for the consideration and opinion of this office:

"Is the polishing of the exposed surfaces of the human teeth to be construed as 'performing an operation of any kind upon the human teeth or jaws' as defined by section 11 of the dental law of California?"

Section 11 of the dental act provides that "any person shall be understood to be practicing dentistry" who shall for compensation, directly or indirectly paid, "perform an operation of any kind upon * * * the human teeth or jaws." It is my opinion that "the polishing of the exposed surfaces of the human teeth" is to be deemed an operation upon the human teeth within the language quoted from the act. That such was the legislative intention appears even more plainly by reading section 11 in its entirety.

Very truly yours,

U. S. WEBB, Attorney General,

(Signed) By FRANK L. GUERENA, Deputy.

LIST OF LICENSED DENTAL PRACTITIONERS

The following is a list of licensed dental practitioners as contained in the office of the Secretary of the Board of Dental Examiners. If any error or omissions should appear notice should be sent to the Secretary's office.

It is further requested that should the name of any deceased licensed dentist appear among the names of those whose licenses have been revoked that notice thereof be given to the Secretary so that proper correction can be made.

Request is further made to each licensed dentist that if any person whose name does not appear herein, is practising dentistry within his locality that he forthwith notify the Secretary's office, giving the name and address of such person.

A number of the licenses of registered dentists having been lost or stolen request is made that notice be sent to the Secretary of any person practising under the following names at any place other than at the address set opposite said name:

Merton Gardner McClean----1022 E. Colorado St., Glendale
Leonie Von Meuseback-Zesch----708 First National Bank Building, Oakland
George Albert Swendiman----N. W. National Bank Building, Grand Forks, N. Dak.
E. A. S. Erlwin----815 Third St., San Bernardino
Howard Carlton Smith----2606 Halldale Ave., Los Angeles

The members of the Board of Dental Examiners request information concerning one Charles Davies who for five years has been practising dentistry in the state at various places, without a license. His last known office was at Carpinteria, Cal., which he conducted under the name of Charles Davis. He claims to have been licensed under the laws of the state of Nevada, to which state he is said to have gone for the purpose of practising. Investigation by the secretary shows that he does not hold a Nevada license. Any member of the profession having any information concerning the location of this man is earnestly requested to send the same at the earliest possible moment to the office of the secretary of the board.

REPORT OF THE STATE NARCOTIC COMMITTEE

CREATED BY

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 22

His Excellency, FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of the State of California.

In fulfillment of my obligation under Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 22, after a thorough and exhaustive study into the narcotic situation in California and other states, I herewith hand you my report, findings and recommendations.

SANBORN YOUNG,
STATE NARCOTIC COMMITTEE.

RESOLUTION No. 22.

CHAPTER 75.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 22—Relative to the creation of a joint committee of the senate and assembly for the purpose of making a thorough, exhaustive study into the narcotic situation in California and recommending measures for the care and rehabilitation of narcotic addicts.

[Filed with Secretary of State April 27, 1925.]

WHEREAS, The widespread use of habit-forming narcotic drugs throughout California has resulted in the physical, mental and moral degeneration of thousands of our people; and

WHEREAS, No adequate successful method of restoration and rehabilitation of confirmed drug addicts has as yet been devised; be it

Resolved by the senate of the State of California, the assembly concurring, That there is hereby created a joint committee of the senate and assembly, to consist of one member of the senate to be appointed by the president of the senate and one member of the assembly to be appointed by the speaker of the assembly, whose duty it shall be to make a thorough and exhaustive study of the use of narcotic drugs in the State of California, and to report their findings and recommendations to the governor not later than the first day of December, A. D. 1926, in order that he may submit the same together with such comment thereon as he may deem appropriate, to the legislature at its next ensuing session. To this end, the joint committee hereby created is hereby authorized and empowered to call to its assistance such of the superintendents of state hospitals or other medical experts employed in the service of the state as the governor may designate and request to act in such capacity, and also such officers and employees of the government of the United States, having special knowledge of the subject matter hereof, as the heads of departments of the federal government may, upon the invitation of the governor, delegate to cooperate with and assist such committee in the performance of the duties hereby imposed upon it.

The members of said committee, and the state and federal officers and employees appointed or delegated to assist it, shall receive no compensation for such services, other than their official salaries, but shall be reimbursed for their actual expenses necessarily incurred hereunder, not exceeding the amount hereinafter specified. Such committee is hereby authorized to employ a competent stenographer to assist in the preparation and transcription of its report, at a salary not over one hundred fifty dollars per month for the time actually employed. The expenses incurred by such committee under the authority hereof shall be payable out of the moneys heretofore or hereafter appropriated for the contingent expenses of the senate and assembly at this session of the legislature, payable one-half from the contingent fund of the senate, and one-half from the contingent fund of the assembly, but not exceeding the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars in all, which sum, or so much thereof as may be necessary, so composed, is hereby set apart, reserved and appropriated out of said respective contingent funds for the purposes aforesaid, to be disbursed, from time to time, upon controller's warrants to be drawn against said contingent funds, upon the written orders of the chairman of such joint committee. And be it further

Resolved, That the governor be, and he hereby is, requested to designate and appoint one or more superintendents of state hospitals, and such other medical experts employed in the service of the state as he may deem to be specially skilled in the care and treatment of narcotic addicts, to cooperate with and assist such joint committee in the performance of the duties hereby enjoined; also that the governor be and hereby is requested to forward certified copies of this resolution to the attorney general of the United States and to the secretary of the treasury, inviting the aid and cooperation of their respective departments in the performance of such duties.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

The State Narcotic Committee desires to express appreciation to the following persons who have given generously of their time and experience, and to thank them for assistance and cooperation:

Dr. Carleton Simon, former Special Deputy Police Commissioner in Charge of the Narcotic Division, New York City.

Colonel L. G. Nutt, Head Federal Narcotic Division, Washington, D. C.

Harry D. Smith, Agent in Charge, Federal Narcotic Division of California.

C. D. Wrightsman, Assistant Agent, Federal Narcotic Division of California.

Louis Zeh, Secretary State Board of Pharmacy.

Dr. Wm. E. Musgrave, National Narcotic Committee of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Percy T. Phillips, President, State Board of Medical Examiners.

Dr. C. B. Pinkham, Secretary, State Board of Medical Examiners.

Dr. Wm. Duffield, former Chairman, Narcotic Committee, Los Angeles County Medical Association.

The Narcotic Committee of the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco and Dr. Morton R. Gibbons, Chairman.

Chief of Police August Vollmer, Berkeley.

Chief of Police James E. Davis, Los Angeles.

Chief of Police D. J. O'Brien, San Francisco.

Lieutenant G. M. Littlejohn, Commanding, Narcotic Detail, Los Angeles Police Department.

The Members of the Federal Narcotic Division of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The State Board of Pharmacy Operatives.

C. S. Morrill, State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

Frank English, Deputy Attorney General's Office, San Francisco.

George C. W. Egan, Attorney, State Board of Pharmacy.

Frederic C. Boden, Los Angeles.

REPORT ON

DRUG ADDICTION

IN CALIFORNIA

STATE NARCOTIC COMMITTEE,

SANBORN YOUNG, assisted by C. K. Crane.

DEFINITIONS.

Definition of "Narcotics" and "Drugs."

When used in this report, the term "narcotics" or "drugs" includes all of the following: Cocaine, opium, morphine, codeine, heroin, alpha eucaine, beta eucaine, flowering tops and leaves, extracts, tinctures, and other narcotic preparations of hemp or loco weed, Indian hemp, peyote, or chloral hydrate or any of the salts, derivatives or compounds of the foregoing substances. (Sec. 8, State Poison Act.)

Definition of "Addict."

We divide addicts broadly into two classes:

First—Legal medical addicts.

Second—Drug addicts.

The former are a negligible factor; they are provided for by state and federal laws. They are legal drug users because of incurable disease, accident or injury, or the infirmities of age, to whom narcotics are legally furnished or prescribed in good faith by licensed physicians. No statement or reference in this report applies to this class of addict. We recognize that habit-forming drugs are the most valuable at present known to science for the relief of suffering.

The latter are persons apart from the above who habitually take or otherwise use any narcotics, and who are so far addicted to their use as to have lost the power of self-control with reference to their addiction. It is this class only with which this report deals.

The great majority of this second class consists of the following types: Neurotics, psychopaths, inebriates, habitual criminals, prostitutes, men and women of unstable moods, social misfits, and irresponsible individuals seeking new excitements and sensations.

GENERAL FACTS AND STATISTICS.

California Compared with Other States.

That the narcotic problem is more pressing in California than in many other states of the Union is indicated by the fact that the convictions under the Harrison Act in the year ending June 30, 1923, were the third largest, in 1925 they were the second largest and in 1924 they were greater than in any other state. (Annual Reports of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.) We recognize, however, that this is to some extent due to the zeal and efficiency of federal narcotic officials in running down offenders in this state.

Relative Use of Various Drugs.

Morphine is the favorite drug of addiction in California. In the northern part of the state fully 85 per cent of our arrests involve morphine, but in and around Los Angeles marihuana is so generally used by the Mexican addicts that only about 50 per cent of the arrests there involve morphine; the remainder involve marihuana, opium, heroin, cocaine or occasionally yenshee. The following table gives an indication of the relative use of various drugs.

TABLE I.—DRUGS INVOLVED IN ARRESTS.

	San Francisco (36 weeks to 4-1-26) Per cent	Los Angeles (26 weeks to 1-24-26) Per cent
Morphine	85.9	50.9
Marihuana	4.0	25.5
Opium	4.5	12.0
Heroin	--	7.1
Cocaine	5.6	4.5
	100.0	100.0

Nationalities.

It is significant that only 21.5 per cent of the prisoners sent to San Quentin for violations of our Poison Law, between July 1, 1925, and April, 1926, have Anglo-Saxon names. Also from the following Los Angeles tables it will be seen that out of a total of 534 narcotic law violators only 129 or 24 per cent were American whites.

TABLE II.—NATIONALITIES.

	Los Angeles (6 months to 1-24-25)				Los Angeles (6 months to 1-24-26)
	Men	Women	Total	Per cent of total	Men	Women	Total	Per cent of total

Totals	281	34	315	100.0	202	17	219	100.0

Women Addicts.

Although our record of arrests shows that the great majority of our addicts are men, it is our belief that because of the greater difficulty of detecting the women, the percentage of women addicts runs higher than Table III indicates and the actual proportion is about 20 per cent of the whole number. This estimate is confirmed by Dr. Carleton Simon, former Special Deputy Police Commissioner in charge of the Narcotic Division, New York City, in a letter to us under date of April 22, 1926. He says, "The percentage of women addicts is somewhere in the neighborhood of 20 per cent of the males. This opinion I have reached upon arrest figures from all over the country. The percentage is possibly a trifle higher but not over 25 per cent. The reason why arrest percentages are not as high in women as in men is purely due to the fact that law-enforcing agents can not examine women as readily as men and therefore many escape detection. The proportion of women addicts who are prostitutes is very high because that is the easiest way they can earn money to buy their drugs and as the drug destroys morality it is quite natural that they drift in this direction. For that reason your plan will decrease prostitution. In a survey recently made by me in a southern state, I found in one city, in fifteen houses of prostitution, sixty-two drug addicts, the entire number of inmates being ninety women."

TABLE III.—PROPORTION OF WOMEN ADDICTS.

	San Francisco (44½ weeks to 6–1–26)	Los Angeles (26 weeks to 1–24–25)	Los Angeles (26 weeks to 1–24–26)
Men	205	281	202
Women	14	34	17

Juvenile Addicts.

Our investigation shows convincingly that statements made by Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson and others to the effect that drug addiction is prevalent among our school children are not only untrue but that there is not even the slightest foundation for them. We have on file a most thorough and exhaustive report on this subject made by Mr. Harry D. Smith, agent in charge of the Federal Narcotic Division of California, which entirely disproves these charges.

A letter on this subject has recently been received from Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, superintendent of schools of Los Angeles, as follows:

"I have been asked by Mr. Crane to report to you the result of investigations made by ourselves in the matter of the use of narcotics among school children.

"Some two years ago, there were very disturbing rumors to the effect that vendors of narcotics were reaching our school children; all sorts of reports, credible and incredible, were in the air. I may say that, as superintendent of schools, I caused each report that reached this office to be investigated most carefully and at the end of the investigation it was my judgment that there was absolutely no basis for the widespread rumors of the selling of narcotics to children and the use of narcotics by children.

"To sum it all up, we did not find in the Los Angeles city school system a single authentic instance of narcotics being sold to any school child or being used by any school child."

To further indicate the absence of addiction among children in California, it may be pointed out that out of a combined total of 414 narcotic convictions in Los Angeles during two periods of six months each, there were only five juveniles, all of whom were Mexicans.

Age of Addicts.

Unfortunately, records of ages have not been kept in the past in this state, but we conclude from a study of records in other parts of the country that the greatest number of addicts are between the ages of 20 and 30, while the peak age is 27 to 28.

Number of Addicts in the State.

It is difficult to estimate accurately the number of addicts in California, because no adequate records have been kept by state officials which would serve as a basis of computation. We have therefore to depend upon three sources for information: first, the U. S. Public Health Survey of 1924; second, recent estimates of our narcotic officials, based upon years of daily contact with addicts; third, an independent survey made this year by federal narcotic officials.

Kolb and Du Mez (Reprint No. 924, U. S. Public Health Reports, 1924) estimate the addict population for the entire United States to be 110,000. This means an average of about 1 to 1000 population or approximately 4500 for California.

Estimates of our individual narcotic officials made during the past year range from 3500 to 5000 addicts, and where officials have local experience only, their local estimates are taken into account.

Colonel L. G. Nutt, Head of the Narcotic Division, Washington, D. C., in a survey about to be published, has estimated the number of addicts in California at 4000, and this is the figure which your State Narcotic Committee accepts as the most accurate that can be determined.

Average Daily Dose.

The Treasury Department in its Reprint No. 924 from its Public Health Reports tells us, "The average daily dose of morphine given at the clinics referred to, based on 1976 cases, was 7¼ grains, but in nearly all cases the dose was smaller than the appetites of the addicts, because it was the policy to give at first only enough to maintain comfort, and then reduce the amount when possible." This figure of 7¼ grains daily we accept as the average minimum dosage of drug addicts, although it is the lowest estimate of several that we have on file. The most recent estimate of the Federal Narcotic Division places the average daily dosage at 8 grains, while authentic records show that some addicts use as much as 50–60 grains per day.

Price Paid by Users in California.

Our narcotic officials tell us that the present street price to the addict is $1 per grain in California. The Federal Narcotic Division estimated in June, 1925, that the average cost throughout the country was 87 cents per grain for morphine. We will take the low figure and multiply it by the $7\frac{1}{4}$ grains and we have $6 per day as the cost to the addict.

RELATION OF DRUG ADDICTION TO CRIME.

Proportion of Addicts with Criminal Records.

Drug addicts as a class are idlers, and not workers. The majority of them depend upon petty larceny, stealing, begging, drug peddling, prostitution, and other illegal methods of obtaining money to satisfy their craving. Our narcotic officials estimate that approximately 80 per cent of our California addicts become criminals, either because of their abnormal personality, or to satisfy their craving for the drug. In corroboration of this statement and to show the intimate relation of drug addiction to crime, we submit the following facts:

First—Chief of Police O'Brien of San Francisco writes us, "The narcotic menace is the gravest problem that police and other law enforcement officers have to battle with at the present time."

Second—General L. C. Andrews, Federal Prohibition Commissioner, in an interview, April 22, 1926, said, "There are more prisoners in federal penitentiaries for violation of the Harrison Act than any other law."

Third—H. Keith Weeks, Secretary to General Andrews, writes us, "Out of 8016 United States prisoners received during the year ending June 30, 1925, 2656 were convicted of violation of the 'Drug Act.' This is by far the greatest number of prisoners charged with the violation of any one act."

Fourth—Doctor Carleton Simon, former Special Deputy Police Commissioner, New York City, says in his "Narcotics and Crime"—page 4, "We find that over 80 per cent of the 8000 narcotic violators arrested in the last twenty-seven months have criminal records."

Fifth—Francis J. Dunn, Chief, Narcotic Division, Philadelphia, writes us, "Over 85 per cent of our drug addicts have criminal records."

Sixth—Chief of Police Davis of Los Angeles writes us that "A large share of the crime committed in Los Angeles is due directly or indirectly to drug addiction. Fifty per cent of these men" [those serving sentences on narcotic charges in August, 1926, in Los Angeles city and county jails and those from Los Angeles in state and federal penitentiaries] "in addition to being drug addicts or vendors of narcotics, are criminals who have committed other serious offenses against organized society. It is my belief that the number of drug addicts who have other criminal records averages higher than this."

THE COST TO THE STATE.

Indirect Cost.

It will be seen from the above that with 4000 addicts in the state each using an average of $6 worth of drugs per day, and taking the minimum and maximum estimates of 50 per cent and 80 per cent of narcotic law offenders with criminal records, such as begging, petty larceny, theft, burglary, prostitution, etc., through which they obtain the money necessary for the purchase of their drugs, that THESE ADDICTS PREY UPON THE STATE TO THE EXTENT OF FROM $4,300,000 TO $7,000,000 PER YEAR, WITHOUT ESTIMATING THE INDIRECT COST OF CRIME, THE STRAIN ON OUR LAW ENFORCEMENT SYSTEM, OUR POLICE, OUR JUDICIARY, OUR PENAL INSTITUTIONS, JAILS AND PRISONS.

Additional Indirect Cost.

As an example of the strain on our law enforcement system showing the indirect cost of drug addiction, we quote from the records on file by Dr. Carleton Simon. In his "Survey of the Narcotic Problem" he states, "I have selected from the arrest statistics of the Narcotic Division of the city of New York for 1923, a group of 741 persons whose records show more than five previous convictions which are summarized in the following table:

TABLE IV.—INDICATION OF INDIRECT COST.

	Previous arrests for various crimes	Total times arrested
1 addict's record showed	25	25
1 addict's record showed	24	24
1 addict's record showed	23	23
1 addict's record showed	19	19
1 addict's record showed	18	18
1 addict's record showed	17	17
3 addicts' records showed	16	48
4 addicts' records showed	15	60
5 addicts' records showed	14	70
4 addicts' records showed	13	52
8 addicts' records showed	12	96
12 addicts' records showed	11	132
44 addicts' records showed	10	440
48 addicts' records showed	9	432
73 addicts' records showed	8	584
105 addicts' records showed	7	735
136 addicts' records showed	6	816
293 addicts records showed	5	1465
741 addicts	arrested	5056 times."

Dr. Simon goes on to say, "On carefully checking up our statistics of arrests and commitments to hospitals of narcotic users for the years 1921, 1922 and 1923, totaling 9637, I found that they represent 8174 individual narcotic cases. I then checked up the criminal records of these 8174 persons, and, so far as shown by records on file in the International Identification Bureau of Narcotic Criminals, of the New York Police Department, representing 700 cities and twenty-seven nations, these 8174 individuals had been previously arrested 32,696 times in all sections of the country for every crime on the calendar."

IT WOULD BE FAR CHEAPER FOR OUR STATE TO SEGREGATE AND CARE FOR THESE PEOPLE, SAVE THOSE THAT ARE CURABLE, AND PROTECT SOCIETY FROM THE SPREAD OF THIS CONTAGION. DESTROY THE MARKET FOR THE PEDDLER AND PUT HIM OUT OF BUSINESS BY ISOLATING HIS CUSTOMERS, RATHER THAN PERMITTING THEM TO REMAIN AT LIBERTY PREYING UPON SOCIETY.

PRESENT ENFORCEMENT AND CONTROL MEASURES.

Present Methods of Dealing with Addicts.

We have at present no uniform method of dealing with drug addicts.

In most places they are not apprehended unless detected in some crime.

In some sections they are picked up by the police and given a floater, i. e., ordered to leave town or county.

At times they are arrested and sent to city or county jails and usually for short terms.

Under our present law non-criminal addicts may be sent to state hospitals for treatment providing there is room to take them in.

In most cases, however, they are not interfered with, but are permitted to remain at liberty, buying their daily dosage of narcotics from the peddler supplying the market with his smuggled and illegal drugs. Thus the addicts maintain and support the traffic which we are fighting to stamp out.

Defects in the Federal Law.

We have at present two lines of defense against the illegal traffic in habit-forming drugs. First, our federal laws, and second, our state laws. Our federal laws consist of the Harrison Narcotic Act and the Narcotic Drugs Import and Export Act, sometimes called the Jones-Miller Act. These are good, drastic laws, but they have one very serious defect. THEY ARE AIMED AT ONLY ONE-HALF OF THE PROBLEM. The problem consists of two equally important halves, the selling half, and the buying half, and these laws do not concern themselves with the buying half of the problem; they do not concern themselves with the drug addict, and it has been clearly proven that as long as the demand for the drugs exists with a great margin of profit for the dealer, somehow, somewhere, the drugs are smuggled in to supply the demand.

It may be mentioned that some well-informed legal and medical authorities believe that section 2 (applying to doctors) of the Harrison Narcotic Act and possibly the entire act may be declared unconstitutional by the present U. S. Supreme Court. They believe this because of recent adverse decisions rendered relative to this law. If this should happen, it would mean that our state narcotic law would become of still more vital importance than at present, as we would then have to depend solely upon it for the control of narcotics in the hands of doctors, dentists and veterinary surgeons.

Defects in Our State Law.

Our second line of defense is our state law—our State Poison Act. Our old law was weak and ineffective, but as amended at the last session of the legislature, it is an effective law and has been followed with excellent results, especially in Los Angeles, where it has been most efficiently enforced under Chief of Police Davis, Lieutenant Littlejohn, in charge of the Narcotic Squad, and also by V. L. Ferguson, attorney for the State Board of Pharmacy. This law, however, has the same serious defect as the federal laws, namely, it is aimed at the peddler and greatly increases the penalties for illegal possession of narcotics, but it does nothing directly for the drug addict. Under the act to establish narcotic farms recommended in this report addicts could be apprehended without having to be either detected in crime or in possession of drugs. Our only other state narcotic measure and the only one that in any way attacks the problem of the buying half—the addicts—or by which we have assumed any responsibility for the care, treatment and rehabilitation of them, is that which provides for the care of a very few of the noncriminal type, and only in case there is room for them, in our state hospitals. This measure has proved totally inadequate and quite futile. The state hospitals are neither built, staffed nor equipped to take care of addicts, and the attempt to mingle them with mental patients has proved a complete failure.

Congressman Stephen G. Porter, Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee and also Chairman of the American Delegation to the Geneva Opium Conference of 1924–1925, emphasized these defects in our law in a speech made May 19, 1925, in New York City: "The whole purpose of our laws is to prevent the illicit use of narcotic drugs; they contain no measure calculated to relieve those unfortunates who, through their own weaknesses or otherwise, have become victims of drug addiction, and to place them in a position where they may once again assume the responsible duties of citizenship. The treatment of those given to drug addiction, important as it is from a humanitarian standpoint, is equally, if not more, important in its relation to the clandestine and illicit traffic in narcotics."

WE DARE PREDICT THAT THIS SERIOUS PROBLEM WILL NEVER BE SOLVED UNTIL WE ACCEPT THE RESPONSIBILITY THAT RESTS FAIRLY AND SQUARELY UPON OUR STATE TO PROVIDE FOR AND DEAL WITH THE OTHER HALF OF THE PROBLEM REPRESENTED BY THE DRUG ADDICT.

The federal government leaves the problem of the addict entirely to the state. The state claims that it is a problem for the city police, who in turn blame the federal government for failure to stop the smuggling of drugs into the country and the state for failure to detect and arrest the peddler and "higher-up." Federal, state and municipal government each refuses to deal with the addict, who is permitted to remain on our streets preying upon the public or driven from place to place, or imprisoned in our various city and county jails, usually for short sentences, and all to no avail.

State Board of Pharmacy.

The State Board of Pharmacy, composed of seven registered pharmacists chosen from different parts of the state, is charged with the enforcement of the State Poison Law regulating the sale and possession of narcotic drugs. These men are actively engaged in their own business affairs and receive no compensation as members of the State Board of Pharmacy except a per diem and mileage when attending their quarterly meetings. They can not devote the time necessary to direct the fight that should be waged against narcotic traffickers. They must depend entirely upon their secretary, attorneys and operatives. Because of the fact that the budget for the support of their office is so restricted that they are not able to keep their pharmacy records up to date, they have been unable to keep any adequate records of their work controlling the illegal sale of narcotics, and they are not informed, nor can they be, of the details of their law enforcement work.

This is not a criticism of the personnel of our State Board of Pharmacy. It is doubtful if any other group of men could do better under the circumstances, but it is a strong protest against the plan and system, for which they are only to a small degree responsible, that permits negligence or political influence to cripple the efficiency of that portion of our State Poison Law that concerns itself with the smuggler, peddler and addict.

In trying to ascertain where the responsibility rests for failure to secure convictions and adequate penalties for drug peddlers in San Francisco, your committee found that the only information recorded and all the details of the trials of these men are contained in the mind and memory of the attorney for the Board of Pharmacy, checked by memoranda made in a note book carried in his pocket. If he should lose this note book, all of the details of narcotic law violators in San Francisco would disappear. The secretary and members of the State Board of Pharmacy are in the same position as would be the directors of a great bank, whose only accounts were kept in the mind and the memory of their cashier.

Inefficient Law Enforcement in San Francisco.

The inefficiency of San Francisco in the enforcement of our state narcotic law is strikingly shown by the following tables, which compare the arrests and average jail sentences of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

TABLE V.—ARRESTS.

(26 weeks from July 24, 1925, to January 24, 1926)

	San Francisco		Los Angeles

TABLE VI.—COMPARATIVE AVERAGE JAIL SENTENCES.

(44½ weeks from July 24, 1925, to June 1, 1926.)

	San Francisco	Los Angeles
Average city and county jail sentence	80.3 days	297 days

Last November, within two days, four drug peddlers (two of them ex-convicts) were released by a San Francisco police court judge for "lack of evidence." On the same evidence which had been presented to him, and upon which he had released them in the police court, they were held for trial in the federal court, found guilty by a jury, and sentenced by the late Judge Partridge to Leavenworth penitentiary for three years, four years, ten years and ten years, respectively. The only information of this disgraceful miscarriage of justice in the police court reached your committee through Board of Pharmacy operatives. From the large number of dismissals shown by the records, light and trifling sentences rendered by superior court judges, and the scarcity of drug peddlers sent to our state prisons from San Francisco, we must assume that lack of definite records, reports and supervision over those responsible for the enforcement of our State Poison Law leaves the door open for the escape of many law violators.

AMBULATORY METHOD OF TREATMENT.

Described.

The so-called ambulatory method of treatment for drug addiction involves the doctor trusting the patient with his own daily supply or allowing him to go about his ordinary business while under such treatment. This method has almost invariably failed because it requires the patient's exercising a measure of self-control of which he is not capable.

Weaknesses of This Method of Treatment.

Years of experience have proved that the treatment of addicts can be successful only when they are kept under restraint and control so that it becomes impossible for them to secure the drug except from the doctor in charge. No experienced, conscientious physician will attempt the cure of a drug addict under any other conditions.

The American Medical Association has twice gone on record in opposition to ambulatory treatment. At their 1921 annual meeting in Boston, the Committee on Narcotic Drugs recorded its strong disapproval of this method of treatment (Proceedings, House of Delegates, A. M. A., 1921, page 19), and at the 1924 annual meeting in Chicago the association gave its formal approval (Proceedings, House of Delegates, A. M. A., 1924, pages 36–37) to the views of this committee, which were as follows:

"Your committee desires to place on record its firm conviction that any method of treatment for narcotic drug addiction, whether private, institutional, official or governmental, which permits the addicted person to dose himself with the habit-forming narcotic drugs placed in his hands for self-administration, is an unsatisfactory treatment of addiction, begets deception, extends the abuse of habit-forming narcotic drugs, and causes an increase in crime. Therefore, your committee recommends that the American Medical Association urge both federal and state governments to exert their full power and authority to put an end to all manner of such so-called ambulatory methods of treatment of narcotic drug addiction, whether practiced by the private physician or by the so-called 'narcotic clinic' or dispensary.

"In the opinion of your committee, the only proper and scientific method of treating narcotic drug addiction is under such conditions of control of both the addict and the drug, that any administration of a habit-forming narcotic drug must be by or under the direct personal authority of the physician, with no chance of any distribution of the drug of addiction to others, or opportunity for the same person to procure any of the drug from any source other than from the physician directly responsible for the addict's treatment."

AN ADDICT FARM.

Described. Its Functions.

After visits to the largest and most important addict farms and institutions in the East, and more than a year's time spent in intensive study of our problem, we have come to the conclusion that in order to stamp out drug addiction, we must apprehend, segregate and care for not a few, but all of the addicts of the state that can be found. We must remove them from the streets and send them to properly located addict farms, one for men, one for women addicts, where they will be far away from the centers of population.

THESE FARMS ARE NOT INTENDED TO BE AND MUST NOT BE REGARDED AS PENAL INSTITUTIONS. THE MEDICAL PROFESSION GENERALLY HOLDS THE VIEW THAT ADDICTION, HOWEVER ESTABLISHED, IS NOT IN ITSELF A VICE BUT IS RATHER A DISEASE WITH DEFINITE SYMPTOMS AND DEFINITE PATHOLOGY REQUIRING DEFINITE MEDICAL ATTENTION. THESE INSTITUTIONS MUST THEREFORE BE REGARDED AS HEALTH INSTITUTIONS FOR THE REHABILITATION OF MEN AND WOMEN. It is for this reason that the proposed law provides for the administration and supervision of the farms by the State Board of Health, which is composed entirely of doctors. The addicts must of course be kept under restraint and control, and have an open-air life with sunshine and good food, and sanitary living conditions, and above all, plenty of work suited to the strength and physical condition of the individual addict.

By segregating all the addicts that can be found in the state, and curing as many as possible, by rearresting and sending back to the farm for a long period of time those that go back again to the drug after the first cure and thus prove that they are incurable, we destroy the market for the peddler, and attack him from a new angle. We not only do this, we prevent the growth of drug addiction, because it is spread by the addict through his association with men and women. We protect society from a large amount of petty crime committed by the addict in his endeavor to secure money to maintain his addiction. In addition, we save a vast sum of money every year to the state.

Factors Necessary for Its Success.

A thorough analysis of addict farms and institutions throughout the country shows clearly that the following factors are necessary for the success of an addict farm:

1. Adequate time. A year or more is necessary for the rehabilitation of an addict.

2. Work. Labor fitted to their physical condition.

3. Location. Effective natural barriers against escape and the smuggling in of drugs.

4. Proper housing. The avoidance of overcrowding and its attendant evils. A separate room for each addict.

5. A powerful deterrent. The fear of a long period of segregation and restraint if they return to the drug, the substitution of other interests, an attempt to bring about moral regeneration—these are all of great value in rehabilitation.

6. Smuggling. Drastic penalties attaching to the smuggling of drugs into the farm.

Time Required for Rehabilitation.

A visit to the New York Municipal Narcotic Farm disclosed the fact that the average number of so-called cures taken by the group of addicts then there was four each. One man was taking his fourteenth "cure," all to no avail. There was no added penalty or lengthening of the term of sentence, no deterrent to restrain the addict from returning again to the drug upon gaining his freedom. We propose one cure given with the greatest care and pains; if after this the addict returns again to the drug he should be arrested again and sent to the farm for a very long period of time. The first cure requires from one to three years, and after that if he proves to be incurable he should be so regarded and sent to the farm for an indeterminate sentence of from five to fifteen years.

The fact that long treatment is deemed necessary by the medical profession is perhaps best shown by the recent important report on morphine and heroin addiction issued by the British Ministry of Health (Government Stationery Office, London, 1926), which states as the best British medical opinion that "a lasting cure could not be claimed unless the addict had remained free from his craving for a considerable period—one and one-half to three years—after the final withdrawal of the drug."

We wish also to draw attention to the fact that at the 1920 annual meeting of the American Medical Association, held at New Orleans, its Committee on Narcotic Drugs reported: "As we review the testimony and experience of these physicians and officials who have dealt with thousands of drug users of all types of intelligence and character, it becomes evident that there is a high degree of agreement on the essential points. The main point, and the one on which all agree, is to get the patient off the drug as soon as possible. Whether this is to be done at once, or within a week, the sooner over, the better for the patient." (A. M. A. Journal, May 8, 1920, page 1326.)

The farm should contain a receiving hospital where addicts would be taken off the drug in the most humane and scientific way possible.

Suitable Locations.

Three types of natural barriers are recommended for an addict farm.

1. Water is the most perfect natural barrier, therefore an island location would be the best.

2. High mountains and steep canyons.

3. A broad expanse of desert.

The latter is probably the easiest and most practical location to secure. In order to satisfy ourselves that a desirable location was available for the proposed farm, we took a trip through the southern section of the state and found locations which would be desirable, where ample water could be developed and the altitude was sufficient for cool nights, and still far removed from populous centers.

Cost of Maintenance.

Our narcotic officials predict that the opening of the proposed addict farm would be followed by an exodus from the state of a large number of addicts. This is not our intention but perhaps we could not prevent it. We believe that provision for 1500 addicts on the two farms would be adequate.

Based on the records of our similar state institutions, the total cost of maintaining each inmate would not exceed $25 per month. This means $450,000 per year for 1500 addicts as against $3,285,000—the approximate amount these 1500 would otherwise spend to maintain their addiction.

We are not here taking into account at all either the indirect cost of crime to the state under present conditions or the fact that the product of the addicts' labor on the farm would cut down the expense of maintenance.

RECOMMENDATION I. AN ADDICT FARM.

Recommendation.

Your committee strongly urges the creation of addict farms for the care, treatment and rehabilitation of narcotic addicts, along the lines described in the preceding paragraphs. A carefully drawn proposed law to give effect to this recommendation is printed in the Appendix to this report.

RECOMMENDATION II. LAW ENFORCEMENT.

Recommendation.

We recommend a strict enforcement of our State Poison Act, which has been found to be very effective when properly applied, and a close cooperation between our city, state and federal narcotic officials.

RECOMMENDATION III. A NARCOTIC DIRECTOR.

Recommendation.

We recommend that the enforcement of the State Poison Act should be under the direction of an adequately paid enforcement officer who could devote his entire time to his work, and to nothing else. Records should be kept giving the history, photograph and finger prints of every addict coming into the hands of the authorities, as well as a full report of every peddler and addict arrested and tried in any court in the state. The Secretary of the State Board of Pharmacy, Louis Zeh, has recently inaugurated a complete addict library which will be of the greatest value in the future. A copy of the form being used is reproduced in the Appendix. Unfortunately, no adequate records of narcotic law violations nor reports of arrests and trials of peddlers and addicts have been kept in the past.

Alternative.

In case the change recommended above is not effected and the State Board of Pharmacy continues to be held responsible for the traffic in narcotics, then we recommend:

a. A larger appropriation for support and administrative purposes, so that it can function adequately and effectively.

b. The State Board of Pharmacy should have power to employ a competent person to act as chief of narcotic work, at a salary to be approved by the Board of Control. The attorneys and arresting officers of the State Board of Pharmacy should submit to this chief the detailed and complete record of evidence seized, and circumstances of the arrest of every narcotic law violator. It should be the duty of this official to keep close track of the convictions and dismissals of addicts and peddlers, and see to it that either the law be enforced or that those responsible for the miscarriage of justice be held accountable.

c. Better salaries and more reasonable expense accounts should be granted the State Board of Pharmacy operatives, as it is difficult for the board to keep trained, experienced and efficient men at the meager salaries now paid.

RECOMMENDATION IV. SUPERVISION OVER DOCTORS.

Present Supervision.

The supervision of the use of narcotics by doctors is to a large extent vested in the State Board of Pharmacy and to some extent vested in the State Board of Medical Examiners which is composed of representative doctors and is recognized by physicians as being "our own board."

Recommendation.

We recommend that the Medical Practice Act be broadened and strengthened so that the Board of Medical Examiners be given greater authority in the control of the use of narcotics by physicians. This change would be greatly appreciated by the medical profession and would do much to develop and awaken a better cooperation on their part in the enforcement of our narcotic laws.

RECOMMENDATION V. PROHIBITION OF AMBULATORY TREATMENT.

Recommendation.

We recommend that the Medical Practice Act and the State Poison Act be so amended as to prohibit the so-called ambulatory treatment of drug addicts by physicians. Also, that the State Poison Act be so amended as to correct some important defects which are at present taken care of only through the operation of the federal Harrison Act.

APPENDIX

COPY OF PROPOSED LAW.

ZEH REPORT.

RESOLUTION OF CALIFORNIA MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

GENERAL RUPERT BLUE'S TELEGRAM.

LETTER FROM CHIEF OF POLICE D. J. O'BRIEN.

LETTER FROM CHIEF OF POLICE JAMES E. DAVIS.

COPY OF PROPOSED LAW.

An act to establish farms for the confinement, treatment and rehabilitation of narcotic addicts; to provide for the government and maintenance thereof; to provide for commitment and admission to such farms; to provide penalties for violations of any of the provisions of this act; to provide a fund for the establishment and maintenance of such farms, and to make an appropriation therefor.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The purposes of this act are: to provide two institutions for the confinement, treatment, and rehabilitation of habit-forming drug addicts; to isolate such persons, so addicted, as endanger the public morals or health or safety or welfare, and to protect society and the public health by destroying the market for the illicit trade in habit-forming drugs.

SEC. 2. That when used in this act—

(a) The term "farm" means either one of the "California rehabilitation farms" as created in section 3 of this act.

(b) The term "the board" means "the state board of health."

(c) The term "addict" means an addict as defined in section nine of this act.

(d) The term "narcotic" or "narcotics" shall include all of the following: Cocaine, opium, morphine, codeine, heroin, alpha eucaine, beta eucaine, flowering tops and leaves, extracts, tinctures and other narcotic preparations of hemp or loco weed (cannabis sativa), Indian hemp, peyote (anhalonium), or chloral hydrate or any of the salts, derivatives or compounds of the foregoing substances or any preparation or compound containing any of the foregoing substances or their salts, derivatives or compounds.

(e) Words used in the masculine gender include the feminine.

SEC. 3. This act shall be known as the "Narcotic rehabilitation act." There are hereby created two institutions to be known as the California rehabilitation farms. One of these institutions shall be for the commitment of male addicts and the other for the commitment of female addicts.

SEC. 4. The object aimed at in the farms shall be the medical treatment, care and rehabilitation of narcotic addicts to restore them to health, and where necessary and desirable to train them to be self-supporting.

SEC. 5. The board is empowered to select for purchase a suitable site or suitable sites for the farms, subject to the approval of the board of control, who shall erect suitable buildings upon the sites purchased and supply them with necessary furniture and equipment.

SEC. 6. The farms shall be under the control of the board, which shall establish such rules and regulations not inconsistent with the laws of the state as it may deem expedient for the efficient management and government of said farms.

SEC. 7. The board shall appoint superintendents of each of the farms and fix their compensation. Said superintendents shall have charge and control of the discipline and treatment of the patients in their respective farms subject to the direction of the board. Said superintendents shall, subject to the approval of the board, the state civil service commission and the state board of control, employ such other officers and employees as the board may consider proper and necessary for the conduct of the farms, and fix their compensation and duties.

SEC. 8. The board shall prescribe and publish instructions and forms, in relation to the commitment and admission of inmates, and may include in them such interrogatories to be answered as it may deem necessary or useful; which instructions and forms shall be furnished to anyone applying therefor, and shall also be sent in sufficient numbers to the county clerks of the several counties of the state.

SEC. 9. Any person shall be held to be an "addict" within the meaning of this act who habitually takes or otherwise uses any narcotics, as defined in this act, and such taking or using is such as to endanger the public morals or health or safety or welfare, or who is so far addicted to the use of such narcotics as to have lost the power of self-control with reference to his addiction, except that when such user of narcotics is suffering from an incurable disease or an accident or injury or from the infirmities of age and to whom such narcotics are furnished, prescribed or administered in good faith and in the course of his professional practice by a physician duly licensed in this state and who is in attendance upon such user of narcotics, such person shall not be held to be an "addict" within the meaning of this act.

SEC. 10. Whenever it appears by affidavit to the satisfaction of a magistrate of a county or city and county that any person is an addict within the meaning of this act, he shall issue and deliver to some peace officer for service, a warrant directing that such person be arrested and taken before a judge of the superior court of the county for a hearing and examination on such charge. Such officer must thereupon arrest and detain such person until a hearing and examination can be had. At the time of the arrest a copy of said affidavit and warrant of arrest must be personally delivered to said person. Such affidavit and warrant shall be in substantially the following form:

In the_____court of_____,

County of_____, State of California.

Affidavit of Narcotic Addiction.

In the matter of _____, an alleged narcotic addict.

State of California,
County of_____ } ss.

_____, being first duly sworn, deposes and says, that there is now in said county, in the city or town of _____, a person named _____, who is a narcotic addict and who habitually takes or otherwise uses narcotics which are not prescribed, furnished or administered in good faith by a physician duly licensed in this state and in the course of his professional practice. Said taking or using of such narcotics by said person is such as to endanger the public morals or health or safety or welfare, or the said addict is so far addicted to the use of narcotics as to have lost the power of self-control with reference to his addiction. Wherefore, affiant prays that such action may be had as the law requires in the cases of persons who are narcotic addicts.

Warrant of Arrest

In the _____ court, _____ county of _____,
State of California.

In the matter of _____, an alleged narcotic addict.

The people of the State of California to any sheriff, constable, marshal, policeman, or peace officer in this state:

The affidavit of _____ having been presented this day to me, _____, _____ of the _____ county of _____, State of California, from which it appears that there is now in this county at _____, a person by the name of _____, who is a narcotic addict, and who habitually takes or otherwise uses narcotics which are not furnished, prescribed or administered in good faith by a physician duly licensed in this state and in the course of his professional practice; and from which it further appears that said taking or using of such narcotics by said person is such as to endanger the public morals or health or safety or welfare, or the said addict is so far addicted as to have lost the power of self-control with reference to his addiction.

And it further appearing to me that said _____ is an addict, and that his taking or using of narcotics is such as to endanger the public morals or health or safety or welfare, or that he is so far addicted to the use of narcotics as to have lost the power of self-control with reference to his addiction.

Now, therefore, you are commanded forthwith to arrest the above named person and take him before a judge of the superior court of the said _____ county of _____, for a hearing and examination upon the said charge of narcotic addiction.

And I hereby direct that a copy of this warrant, together with a copy of said affidavit, be delivered to said _____ at the time of his arrest; and I further direct that this warrant may be served at any hour of the night.

Witness my hand this _____ day of _____, 19___.

The alleged narcotic addict shall be taken before a judge of the superior court, to whom said affidavit and warrant of arrest shall be delivered to be filed with the clerk. The judge shall then inform him that he is charged with being an addict within the meaning of this act and inform him of his rights to make a defense to such charge and produce any witnesses in relation thereto. The judge shall by order fix such time and place for the hearing and examination in open court as will give a reasonable opportunity for the production and examination of witnesses. Such order shall be entered in the minutes of the court by the clerk and a certified copy of the same served on such person. The judge may also order that notice of the arrest of such person and the hearing of the charge be served on such relatives of said person known to be residing in the county, or city and county, as the court may deem necessary or proper. The judge may order the clerk of the court to issue subpenas and compel the attendance of witnesses, and after a hearing and examination, if he finds the person charged is an addict as defined in this act, shall make an order that he be confined in a farm for an indeterminate period of not less than one year nor more than three years. In the event of a second arrest of such person on the charge of being an addict and a second commitment of said person to a farm the court shall make an order that he be confined in the farm for an indeterminate period of not less than five years nor more than fifteen years.

SEC. 11. The court shall inquire into the financial condition of the person committed or the parent, guardian, or other person charged with the support of such person, and if the court finds such person or persons able to do so in whole or in part, he shall make a further order requiring him or them to pay, to the extent the court may consider just, the expenses of the proceedings in connection with the commitment of such person to the farm, the expenses of the delivery of such person to the farm, and to pay to said farm at stated periods such sums, not exceeding twenty-five dollars per month, as in the opinion of the court are proper during such time as the person may remain at the farm.

SEC. 12. Whenever any person is brought before a juvenile court under the juvenile court law and it appears to such court, either before or after adjudication, that the person is an addict within the meaning of this act, the court may adjourn the proceedings and direct some suitable person to take proceedings under this act against the person before the superior court, and said court may order that pending the preparation, filing and hearing on the affidavit and petition provided for herein, the person before said superior court be detained in a place of safety, or be placed under the guardianship of some suitable person on his entering into a recognizance for the appearance of the person upon trial or under conviction, when required. If upon the hearing of the petition, or upon a subsequent hearing under this act, the person upon trial or under conviction be found not to be an addict as defined in this act, the superior court may proceed with the trial for the offense for which the juvenile had been brought before the juvenile court; or, if such person be found to be an addict he shall be committed to the farm. Whenever, after the expiration of one year's commitment, the board shall certify that such juvenile has been sufficiently treated, or give any other reason which is deemed by the superior court to be adequate and sufficient, said superior court may discharge the person so committed, or return such person to await the further action of the juvenile court.

SEC. 13. The judge of the superior court may for any hearing order the clerk of the court to issue subpenas and compel the attendance of witnesses from any place within the boundaries of this state; provided, however, that no person is obliged to attend as a witness in such a hearing out of the county where the witness resides or is served unless such judge, upon affidavit to the effect that affiant believes the evidence of the witness is material and his attendance at the hearing necessary, shall endorse on the subpena an order for the attendance of the witness. And such judge may compel the attendance of at least two medical examiners, who must hear the testimony of all witnesses, make a personal examination of the alleged addict and testify before the judge as to the result of such examination, and to any other pertinent facts within their knowledge. The judge must also cause to be examined before him as a witness, any other person whom he has reason to believe has any knowledge of the physical or mental condition of the alleged addict or of his financial condition or that of the persons liable for his maintenance. The alleged addict must be present at the hearing, and if he has no attorney, the judge may appoint an attorney to represent him. All witnesses attending such hearing upon a subpena issued under this section shall be entitled to the same fees and expenses, to be paid upon the same conditions and in like manner, as in criminal cases.

SEC. 14. The board shall determine after the expiration of the minimum term of commitment to the farm has expired what further length of time, if any, such person shall continue to be confined at said farm; and if it be determined by the board that such person so committed be released before the expiration of the maximum period for which he has been committed pursuant to the provisions hereof, then such person shall be ordered paroled or released under such terms and conditions as the board may determine.

Any person undergoing commitment at a farm and not sooner released under the provisions of this section, shall, in accordance with the provisions of existing law, be discharged from custody on serving the maximum commitment provided by this act.

The board shall make all necessary rules and regulations to carry out the provisions of this section not inconsistent therewith, and may provide the forms of all documents necessary therefor.

SEC. 15. Witnesses at hearings for the commitment of addicts shall be entitled to receive the usual fees and expenses allowed by law in criminal cases in such courts; and any fees or traveling expenses payable to any witness in any proceeding for the commitment of an addict, and all expenses connected with the execution of any process under this act, which expenses so connected with the execution of such process may not be paid by the addict or his parent, guardian or other person charged with his support, shall be a charge against the county treasury and paid by the county treasurer of the county from which such person is committed.

SEC. 16. It shall be the duty of the sheriff of any county wherein an order is made by any court committing any person to a farm to execute the writ of commitment, and to receive as compensation therefor such fees as are now or may hereafter be provided by law for the transportation of prisoners to the state prison, which fees shall be payable in the same manner as provided by said law. No female person so committed shall be taken to the farm without the attendance of some other female or of some relative of such addict.

SEC. 17. In case the payments provided by section eleven of this act to be made by the person committed, or by his parent, guardian, or other person charged with his support, should not be made, and to the extent they are not made, said payments, of the expenses of the proceedings in connection with the commitment to the farm, and the expenses of the delivery of the person to the farm, and in addition an amount not exceeding twenty-five dollars per month, shall be paid to the farm by the county, or city and county from which he is committed.

SEC. 18. Each county auditor must include in his state settlement report required by existing law to be rendered to the controller in the months of May and December, the amount due under this act by reason of commitment to the farms, and the county treasurer, at the time of the settlement with the state in such months, must pay to the state treasurer upon the order of the controller, the amounts found to be due by reason of the commitments herein referred to.

SEC. 19. Within thirty days after notification by the board that a farm is prepared to accommodate them, the department of institutions shall, with the consent of the board, transfer to that farm all persons then inmates of any state hospital who have been theretofore committed to such state hospital because or on account of narcotic addiction. The expense of such transfer is chargeable to the state, and the bills for same, when approved by the department of institutions, must be paid by the treasurer of the state on the warrant of the controller.

The board shall have the same power with reference to such persons so transferred by the department of institutions to the farms, as is now vested by law in the medical superintendents of the state hospitals and in the state commission in lunacy. The judge of the superior court of the county in which a farm is located shall have the same jurisdiction and power as is now vested by law in the judge of the superior court of the county in which the hospital where the person so transferred was confined prior to his said transfer.

SEC. 20. In the event of the transfer of any inmate or patient as provided in section nineteen of this act the liability of any estate, person or county for the care, support and maintenance of such person, shall be the same at the farm as it was in the institution from which the transfer is made.

SEC. 21. Any person not authorized by law, who brings into a farm, or within the grounds adjoining or adjacent thereto, any narcotics, is guilty of a felony, and is punishable by confinement in the state prison for a period of not less than six years nor more than twelve years.

SEC. 22. Any person not authorized by law, who brings into a farm any intoxicating liquor of any kind whatever, except for medical or mechanical purposes, or any firearms, weapons, or explosives of any kind, is guilty of a felony, and is punishable by confinement in the state prison for a period of not less than one year nor more than three years.

SEC. 23. It shall be unlawful for any person to procure the escape of any inmate of a farm, or to advise, connive at, aid or assist in such escape, or conceal any such inmate after such escape, and, upon conviction, such person shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year or in the state prison for not more than three years.

SEC. 24. The farms, their inmates, officers, employees and property are hereby declared to be exempt from the operation of chapter one, title five, part three of the Political Code, and free from the supervision, inspection or control of the state commission in lunacy.

SEC. 25. There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of _____ to carry out the purposes of this act.

SEC. 26. The controller of the state is hereby directed on requisition of the board, duly audited by the state board of control, to draw his warrant on the state treasurer in favor of the board for any moneys duly appropriated, to pay for the expenditures in the establishment of and maintenance of the farms and the said treasurer is directed to pay the same from the appropriations provided therefor.

SEC. 27. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. The people hereby declare that they would have passed this act, and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

SEC. 28. Section two thousand one hundred eighty-five c of the Political Code is hereby repealed in so far as it applies to the commitment of addicts to the state hospital.

SEC. 29. The board may employ the attorneys for the state board of pharmacy to enforce the provisions of this act; provided, that no attorney so employed shall receive as compensation for his services to the board any sum in excess of two thousand four hundred dollars in any one year upon such terms as are approved by the said board of pharmacy; provided, further, that the compensation for any such attorney so employed shall be paid only from any funds under the control of the said board of pharmacy.

Resolution Adopted by the House of Delegates of the California Medical Association at Their Fifty-fifth Annual Session Held at Oakland, April 28–30, 1926.

Care of Drug Addicts.

WHEREAS, Addiction to narcotic drugs presents a serious social and medical problem, in which the medical profession is interested, and

WHEREAS, Means taken to combat the development of addiction to narcotic drugs, to control illicit traffic in narcotic drugs and to cure the victims of drug addiction have, in the past, been largely unscientific and without good results, and

WHEREAS, The State of California should, if possible, enact such laws and provide such means for apprehension and cure of addicts as would effectively eradicate the evils referred to, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the California Medical Association endorse the effort of the California legislature now in progress in its plan to enact legislation designed to eradicate the evils referred to, and be it further

Resolved, That a plan which provides commitment of addicts after fair trial, to a farm from which escape can be made impossible, and which affords enlightened care, hospital cure, and work treatment, or other plan similar, equal or better, and under control of the California State Board of Health, meets with the approval of the California Medical Association.

Telegram From General Rupert Blue, Former Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service, and Member of the American Delegation to the Geneva Opium Conferences of 1924-1925.

April 28, 1926.

Dr. Morton R. Gibbons,
San Francisco.

Have gone over narcotic program with Senator Young and feel that some action of this kind should be taken by California. The plan promises a practical solution of this serious problem.

RUPERT BLUE.

San Francisco, California,
June 7, 1926.

HON. SANBORN YOUNG,
P. O. Box 339,
Los Gatos, California.

MY DEAR SENATOR:

Receipt is acknowledged of the statement of the State Program, in connection with the proposed law for the rehabilitation of drug addicts.

The narcotic menace is the gravest problem that police and other law enforcement officers have to battle with at the present time.

Addicts have been arrested on numerous occasions, confined in jails, become temporarily cured and on being released from custody, have again speedily acquired the old habit. The confining of addicts on a farm such as is proposed will be a splendid method in which to build anew the wasted material in the emaciated bodies of addicts. Fresh air, proper food, together with proper outdoor occupation for the addicts, combined with the follow-up system and securing records of the results obtained, should accomplish much.

The gathering in, as nearly as possible, of all drug addicts in the state at one time will deprive the drug peddler of his revenue and drive him out into the open to solicit trade, which will, in all probability, be the means of putting many of them on the road to the penitentiary.

Money spent on the proposed plan is money well invested and is sure to bring large returns on the investment. In the event that an appropriation is set aside, the farm established and a certain percentage of those who are cured on the farm return to the habit after being discharged, the good accomplished will offset the negligible results and will mean much for the future of California.

Permit me at this time to assure you of my hearty endorsement of the plan as outlined.

With all good wishes, I am

Yours very truly,

D. J. O'Brien,
Chief of Police.

Los Angeles, California,
June 21, 1926.

Senator Sanborn Young,
Chairman State Narcotic Committee,
Los Gatos, California.

My Dear Senator:

I have been much interested in your plans for dealing with the narcotic problem in California. A state farm where addicts are isolated has my hearty endorsement, for I believe that it is the most practical plan that has yet been devised for dealing with this problem. It would not only provide the most scientific and reasonable means of dealing with these unfortunates, but it would be of immense value to the community both morally and economically.

By segregating the state's addicts, society would no longer be exposed to the harmful moral contagion that at present exists and the evils of which need not be enlarged upon. Further the market for the drug peddler would automatically disappear and consequently the peddlers themselves. To achieve these conditions would of course be of inestimable value.

A large share of the crime in this city is due either directly or indirectly to drug addiction, and the benefits under your plan in this direction also would be invaluable.

Economically, I can say without hesitation that in my belief any sums spent in establishing a narcotic farm would be saved to the taxpayers of the state in a few months time because I estimate the indirect economic losses to the state that are due to the drug evil at not less than five million dollars yearly.

Assuring you of my best wishes for the success of your program and of my desire to cooperate with you in every way possible in dealing with this most important problem, I am

Yours very truly,

James E. Davis,
Chief of Police.

WILBUR FISKE McCLURE,
State Engineer,
February 13, 1912—June 22, 1926.

In the death of Wilbur Fiske McClure, the State of California suffered the loss of one of its most loyal, diligent, and conscientious officers.

Ever devoted to his family, he entertained the deepest feeling for his fellow men. His unceasing devotion in the interest of the State of California was accompanied by a breadth of vision as to national interests characteristic of few men.

It was his desire to perform his duties fully and faithfully and to act with absolute fairness and justice.

In closing his record of service we can fittingly write, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

ORGANIZATION.

The Department of Engineering, created by an act of the legislature, approved March 11, 1907, chapter 183, Statutes of 1907, and organized in May following, functioned until August 1, 1921, at which time it became a Division of the Department of Public Works, created by an act of the legislature, approved May 31, 1921, which became effective July 30, 1921.

In the organization of the Department of Public Works, the Department of Engineering became the Division of Engineering and Irrigation in the new department on August 1, 1921, retaining all the functions of the old Department of Engineering except those pertaining to the office of the State Architect.

The State Engineer, in addition to continuing in the performance of the statutory duties imposed upon him as State Engineer, also became Chief of the Division of Engineering and Irrigation, and in 1923 he was appointed Director of the Department of Public Works, in addition to his other duties.

ACTIVITIES.

The position of California among the wealth producing states of the nation is directly attributable to the phenomenal growth of agriculture in this state, which has been brought about by the scientific application of irrigation, and the intensive and intelligent cultivation of the soil by the California farmer. This has been an accomplishment of the past few decades for in 1885 the limit of profit by dry farming had been reached, and the great increase in agricultural products since that time is the result of the intelligent application of water in the growing of crops.

In making available to the agriculturalist the supplementary waters necessary for the intensive irrigation of his lands, it required the construction of diversion works, dams, reservoirs, canals and other works of such a magnitude that their initial cost prohibited their being undertaken by individuals. In order to construct these works and adequately finance them it has required associative effort, which has been made possible through the California Irrigation District Act passed in 1897 and amended in 1913, and the California Bond Certification Act passed in 1913.

These acts provide for the approval of organization of districts and general supervision of construction by the State Engineer, and the approval and certification of the bonds by the California Bond Certification Commission, of which the State Engineer is a member.

Experience gained prior to 1913 demonstrated that for successful culmination of effort, the formation of these water-developing projects required by the agricultural expansion of the state has needed state sanction; the bonds issued have necessitated certification; and the adequacy of the water supplies to be developed, the safety of the structures erected, the meritoriousness of the entire proposals have demanded the state's stamp of approval. This is a function of the Division of Engineering and Irrigation, one of the sections of the Department of Public Works.

During the past generation most all of the proposals for irrigation development undertaken by collective effort have had their adequacy and general merit concurred with, if satisfactory, or rejected, if defective, by this office.

The office approves millions of dollars worth of improvements every year. It analyzes and passes upon the plans of irrigation, drainage and reclamation districts. The certification of irrigation district bonds by the California Bond Certification Commission is based upon investigations made by the State Engineer. The Division of Engineering and Irrigation is charged with the approval of plans for dams, and with the construction of river control works and rectification of channels, of which the Sacramento River carries the highest valued tonnage of any river in the United States.

It makes hydrographic surveys and cooperates with the California State Reclamation Board in passing upon plans of reclamation and drainage districts, with the United States Geological Survey in gaging streams and making topographic maps, and with the United States Department of Agriculture in needed investigations.

The functions of the Division are widely diversified in character, some administrative, some specialized, others executive, but all constructive and contributing to the advancement and well-being of the state. The principal statutory functions may be summarized as follows:

1. To investigate and report on feasibility of proposed irrigation districts.
2. To investigate and report on proposed bond issues by irrigation districts before the California Bond Certification Commission for approval.
3. To supervise expenditure of funds from approved bond issues and to inspect generally the construction work of irrigation districts.
4. To collect data, make surveys and perfect plans for flood control of Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers in conjunction with work of State Reclamation Board, to review plans for reclamation, and to advise and assist the board.
5. To investigate feasibility of water storage districts, the fixing of their boundaries and passing on their organization.
6. To pass on plans and specifications of dams, and to supervise the construction of dams, by other than municipalities or public utilities.
7. To designate the width of draw, and the length of span on plans for bridges across navigable streams.
8. To plan and construct work for rectification of river channels and protection of property from flood damage on the rivers of the state.
9. To direct cooperative stream gaging, topographic surveying and irrigation investigations in cooperation with the federal government.

Along with these many permanent statutory duties which continue through succeeding years, the State Engineer is enjoined by legislative enactments to make special engineering investigations, and serve on special state commissions and boards.

Since the organization of the Department of Public Works, the activities of the Division of Engineering and Irrigation have greatly increased, due to the enlarged volume of business incident to the permanent statutory functions of the office and the great volume of additional work occasioned by the investigation of the water resources of California and other special investigations. The investigation of the water resources of California is the most comprehensive of its kind ever undertaken by any state, covering, as it does, a complete inventory of the waters of the state, and providing for a comprehensive coordinated plan for their development. An expenditure of approximately $450,000 has been made in carrying on this investigation, and preparing the necessary legislative reports.

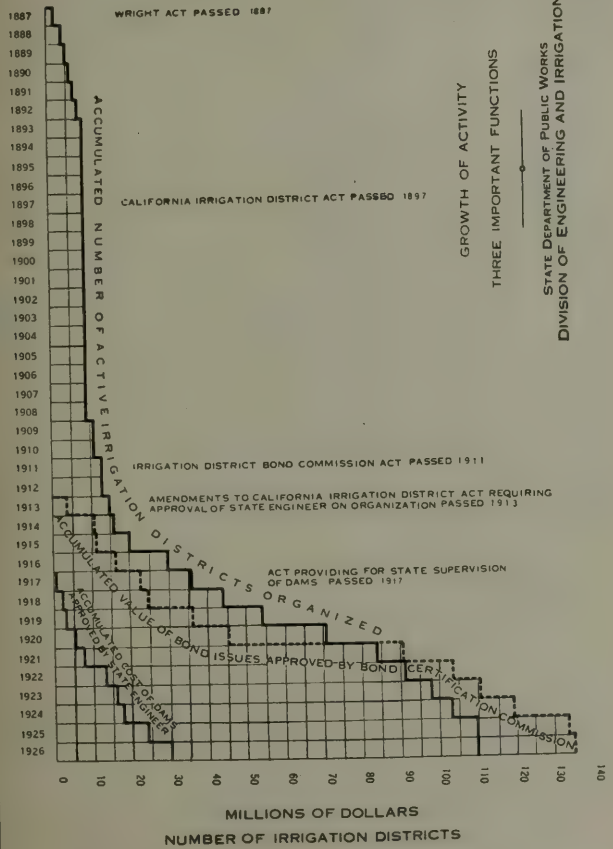
During the present biennial period the duties of the office have grown apace. In addition to the several special appropriations provided, directing the office to prepare reports on a general plan for coordinating the development of the state's waters and for the development of water in several localities, the Division has been engaged in the following activities:

Fifteen irrigation districts have been investigated, of which thirteen have been organized. Bond issues by irrigation districts have been investigated and approved to the amount of $16,719,160.

One water storage district has been organized. The Tulare Lake Basin Water Storage District of 200,000 acres, lying in and adjacent to Tulare Lake.

The Kings River Water Conservation District is the only conservation district at present under consideration by the State Irrigation Board of which the State Engineer is a member. Preliminary examinations have been made of this project and hearings of their petition were begun at Fresno on July 16, 1924. It is proposed to include approximately a million acres of land in this district and provide a storage reservoir of 600,000 acre-feet capacity located at the Pine Flat site on the Kings River.

Plans for the construction of dams have been examined, checked and approved, which have a structural value of approximately $12,500,000 which is about $8,000,000 more than the structural value of plans approved and reported during the biennial period of 1923-1924.



The investigation of the feasibility of a salt water barrier at Carquinez Straits made in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation has been practically completed. This investigation represents an expenditure of approximately $75,000.

Investigations, and the preparation of a report thereon covering the ground water conditions in the southern San Joaquin Valley have been made in cooperation with irrigation districts and water storage districts in this locality and the Division of Water Rights of the Department of Public Works. This report will be published as Bulletin No. 11 of this division.

The width of draw, and the length of span has been approved on plans for the construction of nine bridges over navigable streams by the State Engineer, under the provisions of chapter 68 of the Statutes of 1881.

A survey of the Santa Ana River watershed and basin has been carried on in cooperation with Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties under the provisions of chapter 476 of the Statutes of 1925.

During the past biennium, bank protection and river rectification work in cooperation with other agencies has been carried on to about the same extent as during past years. Studies and investigation of river conditions have been continued and plans prepared for the progressive economic continuance of this work as conditions require.

GROWTH OF ACTIVITY
THREE IMPORTANT FUNCTIONS
STATE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
DIVISION OF ENGINEERING AND IRRIGATION

The accompanying plate represents the growth of activities under three of the most important permanent statutory functions of the office, viz: Investigation of feasibility and organization of irrigation districts, reporting on propriety of proposed bond issues for irrigation development, and approval of plans for dams and the supervision of their construction.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF BIENNIUM, 1925-1926.

STATE WATER RESOURCES INVESTIGATION.

Chapter 889 of the Statutes of 1921 provided for the investigation of the water resources of the state, and made an appropriation of $200,000 for the purpose of carrying on the investigation. The State Engineer was instructed to determine the maximum amount of water, which can be delivered to the maximum amount of land, the maximum control of flood waters, and the maximum storage of waters, as well as all possible and practical uses of water. The State Engineer was further instructed to prepare a comprehensive plan for the accomplishment of the maximum conservation, control, storage, distribution and application, of all the waters of the state, together with an estimate of the cost of constructing necessary works, and to submit a report to the 1923 legislature.

Accordingly such a report was prepared by the Division of Engineering and Irrigation of the State Department of Public Works, under the direction of Mr. Paul Bailey. This report was presented to the 1923 legislature, as provided for by chapter 889 of the Statutes of 1921 and comprises three printed volumes, viz, Bulletins Nos. 4, 5 and 6 of the Division of Engineering and Irrigation.

The main elements of the comprehensive plan, outlined in the report of 1923, for obtaining the maximum service from the waters of the state are determined by the needs of the agricultural lands for irrigation water. The investigation showed that the use of water for agriculture far exceeds the needs for domestic and industrial water supply. At the present time the needs for domestic and industrial waters are only one-twenty-fifth the amount required for the irrigation of the agricultural lands now using water. Considerations of a plan for the best use of the state's water, therefore, are inseparably connected with the future requirements for agriculture.

The legislature of 1923 made no provision for continuing the investigation, but in September, 1924, a fund of $90,000 was made available through the efforts of the California Development Association for the further study of the comprehensive plan. This fund was raised through public subscription by the chambers of commerce of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

This money was expended by the Division of Engineering and Irrigation, and the results of the work was embodied in a report which was presented to the 1925 legislature, viz, Bulletin No. 9 of the Division of Engineering and Irrigation. This report dealt primarily with the feasibility of the main features of the comprehensive plan outlined in the 1923 report. Also, study in detail was directed toward the economic feasibility of the first unit of the plan for bringing an outside source of supply into the San Joaquin Valley.

The investigation of the water resources of the state has been continued during the past biennium, and through the appropriation of $150,000 provided by the 1925 legislature under the provisions of chapter 477, a report will be completed upon the coordinated development of the waters of the state for presentation to the 1927 legislature. The plan points the way to remove the limit upon development of those areas having an inadequate natural water supply and lays a scientific basis for the fullest possible utilization of the waters of the state. Through coordinated development for all purposes the large construction program that faces the state of California may be reduced to a minimum. The reservoirs of the coordinated plan will store water for irrigation, domestic purposes, the generation of power, control of floods and mining debris. They will also store water to release for navigation and to control the salt water encroachments in the delta of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers thus avoiding duplication of construction for these several purposes. The plan will also show how the necessary water will bring all the areas of the state to the maximum development of their local resources and how it may be delivered to these areas as necessity demands.

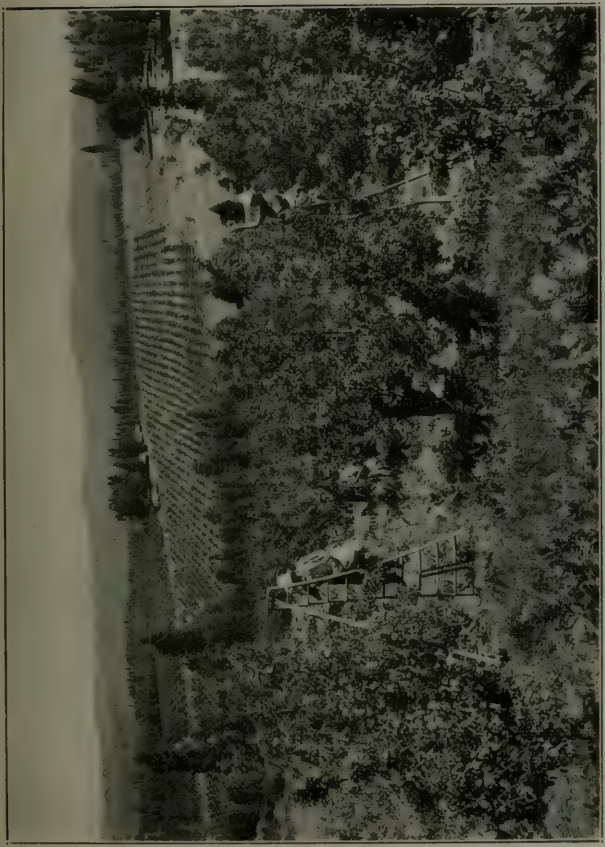
SANTA ANA RIVER INVESTIGATION.



Under the provisions of chapter 476 of the Statutes of 1925 the Division has been engaged during the past two years in making a survey of the Santa Ana River watershed and basin, in cooperation with Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties for the construction of works for the control of floods of the Santa Ana River and its tributaries.

INVESTIGATION OF GROUND WATER IN SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY.

The increasing extent of use and the rapid lowering of the ground water in parts of the southern San Joaquin Valley make this development of increasing importance. Investigations were begun in 1920 by this office in Kern and Tulare counties, the results of which were reported in bulletins previously published. Other interests have also maintained extensive observations in parts of this area.

The importance of securing records of the ground water conditions led to the undertaking of observations beginning in July, 1925, in the parts of the area not covered by other agencies. Funds were provided jointly by the Division of Water Rights and this office, the field work being under the direction of Mr. C. L. Kaupke, Water Master on Kings River. Owing to the large part of the area being covered by various irrigation and water storage districts, it has only been necessary for the state to extend observations over the intervening areas. A fairly complete record of ground water fluctuations is now being secured over the whole area. In parts of the area complete records since 1920 are available. The value and importance of such records in the study of the ground water conditions are becoming more fully realized within the area. Acknowledgment is due and gratefully made to the many organizations who have assisted in this work.

The serious problems now confronting parts of this area due to the depletion of ground water supplies led this office to undertake the preparation of a report covering the ground water conditions from the San Joaquin River south to the southern end of the valley. This includes the Kings River areas and Tulare, Kings and Kern counties. This report, prepared by Mr. S. T. Harding, is now in process of publication, and will be issued as Bulletin No. 11 of this division.

IRRIGATION DISTRICTS.

Under the California Irrigation District Act, the State Engineer, who is also Chief of the Division of Engineering and Irrigation and Director of Public Works, is required to report on the feasibility of proposed irrigation districts. The law allows the State Engineer ninety days in which to make his investigations, before the expiration of which time he is required to report to the board of supervisors to whom the petition was presented. On an adverse report by the State Engineer, the district may proceed to organize if a further petition signed by three-fourths of the property owners of the proposed district is presented to the county board of supervisors. In the event of default by the State Engineer in reporting to the board of supervisors within ninety days, and providing that additional time has not been granted by the board of supervisors in which to make his report, the proposed district may also proceed to organize.

Since the last biennial report of the Division issued November 30, 1924, fifteen petitions for the formation of new irrigation districts, totaling 279,570 acres, have been filed with various boards of supervisors. Of this number, thirteen new districts aggregating 274,750 acres have been organized under the California Irrigation District Act. The actions are summarized as follows:

Districts organized from approved projects	12
Petitions disapproved, applications withdrawn	2
Districts organized by consolidation	1
Total petitions for formation presented	15

During the biennium the Knightsen, Lone Tree, and Brentwood irrigation districts consolidated under the name of the East Contra Costa Irrigation District.

Since the last biennial report, the Happy Valley, Honcut-Yuba, and Honey Lake Valley irrigation districts have been dissolved.

In addition to the above activities, advice has been given to the proponents of contemplated irrigation districts on the procedure necessary for the formation and organization of irrigation districts.

The California Irrigation District Act and the Bond Certification Commission Act provide for the approval and certification of bond issues of irrigation districts by the California Bond Certification Commission, of which the State Engineer is a member. The approval and certification of these bonds make them legal investments for trust funds, funds of insurance companies, savings banks, etc. The engineering investigations upon which the California Bond Certification Commission bases its judgment are made by the State Engineer.

The following tables present a summary of bond issues approved by the California Bond Certification Commission during the past two years.

APPLICATIONS FOR STATE APPROVAL OF IRRIGATION DISTRICT BONDS 1925–1926

Name of district—	Amount of approved bond issues

APPLICATION FOR STATE APPROVAL OF IRRIGATION DISTRICT REFUNDING BONDS 1925–1926

District—	Amount of refunding bonds
Compton-Delevan	$445,000
Cordua	187,000
Palo Verde	213,000
Total	$845,000

Expenditures from the construction funds of irrigation districts, created from the proceeds of the sale of approved and certified bonds, are under the jurisdiction of the California Bond Certification Commission; and all budgets of expenditures, proposed contracts, etc., relating to these expenditures are examined by the division office for the commission. Field inspection of construction work and examination of the affairs of the districts are made from time to time.

WATER STORAGE DISTRICT ACT.

Messrs. W. P. Boone of Fresno and D. Joseph Coyne of Los Angeles have continued to act as executive directors under this act during the last biennium. One new petition for organization, that of the Tulare Lake Basin Water Storage District, was filed during this period.

The Tulare Lake Basin Water Storage District as described in its petition included about 200,000 acres lying in and adjacent to Tulare Lake. This district is designed to replace the smaller Tulare Lake Water Storage District now organized covering part of the same area.

The petition for organization was filed November 18, 1925. Following hearings on the proposed project, an engineering report was made for this office by Mr. S. T. Harding. The final order approving this District with some modifications was issued July 29, 1926. An election on its organization was held on September 10, 1926, and successfully carried.

Of the four water storage districts organized prior to the present biennium, two have proceeded actively in the preparation of their plans and two have made little progress. The Tulare Lake Water Storage District will be replaced by the Tulare Lake Basin Water Storage District. The Buena Vista Water Storage District has delayed the completion of its plans. The Kern River Water Storage District has been actively engaged in engineering studies and is approaching their completion. The San Joaquin River Water Storage District presented a plan to this office on May 25, 1925. Owing to defects, this plan was not accepted for filing. The board of directors of this district has been reorganized and it is anticipated more stable progress will be made.

WATER STORAGE DISTRICTS

Name of district—	Stream from which water supply is to be obtained	Area of district, acres
Kern River	Kern River	248,000
Buena Vista	Kern River	80,000
Tulare Lake	Kings River mainly	150,000
San Joaquin River	San Joaquin River	550,000
Tulare Lake Basin	Kings River mainly	200,000

WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT ACT.

The Kings River Water Conservation District is the only district for which a petition has been presented to this office. This petition was presented June 12, 1924, and several adjourned hearings have been held thereon. Engineering studies of the proposed project have been in progress by Mr. S. T. Harding of this office. Notice was given the proponents of this district in January, 1925, that the State Irrigation Board could not proceed with the organization of this district until a permanent adjustment of water rights on Kings River had been reached. Such an adjustment is now in progress. Further action by the State Irrigation Board is dependent on the results accomplished by the interested parties in reaching an agreement on their water rights.

Messrs. W. P. Boone of Fresno and D. Joseph Coyne have continued as members and Mr. S. T. Harding as secretary of the State Irrigation Board. Needed amendments to the Water Conservation District Act were enacted at the last session of the legislature.

Name of district—	Stream from which supply is received	Area of district, acres

BRIDGES ON NAVIGABLE STREAMS.

Under the provisions of chapter 68, Statutes of 1881, it is required that the plans for all bridges to be erected over navigable streams shall be submitted to the State Engineer, who shall designate the width of the draw to be made in such bridge, and also the length of the spans necessary to permit the free flow of water.

The following applications have been presented since the last biennial report:

SUPERVISION OF DAMS.

The statutes provide that no dams shall be constructed by other than municipalities or public utility corporations, until the plans and specifications have been approved by the State Engineer. It is also required that the construction of these dams be completed to the satisfaction of the State Engineer.

During the past two years plans and specifications for the following dams have been approved by the office, and field inspection made of those under construction.

RECLAMATION.

COOPERATIVE WITH THE RECLAMATION BOARD.

In accordance with the Reclamation Board Act,* the Division of Engineering and Irrigation has continued to make surveys and examinations for the Sacramento Flood Control Project, and for the formulation of flood control plans on the San Joaquin River. It has examined and reported upon sixty-one applications of reclamation districts and other matters referred to it by the Reclamation Board.

Sacramento Flood Control Project.

The history of events leading up to the order from the U. S. Senate Committee on Commerce for a review of the reports on the Sacramento Flood Control Project was set forth on page 26 of the second biennial report of this division, dated November 30, 1924.

The California Debris Commission was instructed to prepare a report showing what, if any, modifications of the existing project were advisable. In preparing this report the California Debris Commission requested a statement from the Reclamation Board as to modifications desired by them in the engineering, as well as financing features. In turn the Reclamation Board requested a summary report setting forth the results of surveys of the State Engineer, recommending changes in the project. In compliance with this request a report was prepared in cooperation with the California Debris Commission and the Reclamation Board, and submitted under date of December 31, 1924.

The principal modifications recommended in this report were stated on page 27, of the second biennial report of this division, dated November 30, 1924.

These modifications were embodied in the report of the California Debris Commission, which was submitted to the Chief of Engineers, U. S. Army, on January 5, 1925. (See Senate Document No. 23, 69th Congress, first session.)

This report recommended that the cost of the project so revised should be divided almost evenly between the federal government, the state, and the landowners, and was used as a basis for legislation in 1925 in which the state assumed obligation for its share of the expense contingent on congressional action. (See Ch. 176, Stat. 1925.)

American River.

Data was prepared for the State Board of Control on the flood control possibilities of the proposed reservoir on the American River at Folsom. The data compiled indicated that if the larger reservoir could be constructed, as proposed in the comprehensive plan for water conservation suggested in the report upon the water resources of California, relief from the larger floods could be accomplished without excessive loss in power.

Mokelumne River Flood Control Study.

Computations were started to determine the possibility of the Mokelumne River channels being of sufficient capacity to carry any flood of record without channel excavation, with the reduction in crest flow by absorption in storage in the unreclaimed lands above New Hope Landing, if those lands remain in their present condition.

* Ch. 523, p. 1122, Stat. 1919.

San Joaquin Flood Control Plans.

A study has been started on the effect of constructed and planned reservoirs on the flood flow of the San Joaquin River, operated as the various irrigation districts propose doing. This is preliminary to revising the quantities for running the flood planes with the higher elevation at the mouth of the river that was determined to be necessary in the computations of the Sacramento Flood Control Project.

Hydraulic Mining Investigation.

Assistance has been extended the engineer of the State Mining Bureau in charge of the investigation of the possibility of resumption of hydraulic mining, under chapter 207, Statutes 1925.

SUMMARY OF EXPENDITURES.

SACRAMENTO FLOOD CONTROL PROJECT.

The annual report of local expenditures upon the Sacramento Flood Control Project has been made to the California Debris Commission by the Reclamation Board covering expenditures to December 31, 1925. It is summarized as follows:

	Since 1910	Since 1850
1. Landowners:
a. On works forming part of Sacramento flood control project (including financing and maintenance to January 1, 1926)	$30,943,627.14	$38,793,308.59
b. On works of reclamation not part of Sacramento flood control project (including Delta region to Paradise Dam)		$61,519,261.42
2. State:
a. From river fund on works forming part of Sacramento flood control project	$543,316.00	$815,588.00
b. Appropriation of $3,000,000 in 1919 to apply on flood control portion of construction of Sutter By-pass, available $300,000 yearly to date	$1,810,000.00
c. Appropriations to match Federal appropriations for portion of project under joint construction	$4,750,000.00
3. Federal appropriations and allotments	$4,649,900.00

The accumulative expenditures made by local interests, state, and federal governments on the Sacramento Flood Control Project summarized above are analyzed in the following tables, which are self explanatory.

Federal Government—
Appropriated July 27, 1916 (River and Harbor Act)	$10,000 00
Refunded to the United States Treasury in 1922		$9,495 19
[1] Local Cooperation—
Appropriated May 2, 1917, by State of California	$5,000 00
Appropriated 1917, by Yuba County	2,500 00
Appropriated 1917, by Sutter County	2,500 00

[1] The following paragraph is taken from Report of Chief Engineers, United States Army, 1925, page 1617, regarding "Local Cooperation":

"The River and Harbor Act, approved July 27, 1916, appropriated $10,000 for this river, subject to the condition that local interests should contribute a like sum toward the improvement. This condition has been met, $5,000 of the amount coming from the State of California and $2,500 each from Sutter and Yuba counties.

Considerable work has been done by local interests in construction of training walls, restraining barriers, and snagging and bank-protection work; and freight sheds and terminal facilities have been provided at Marysville. It is estimated that about $1,000,000 has been so expended."

Flood Data and Recording Gauges.

Throughout the 1925–26 season a field party was maintained securing stream gagings and installing or repairing gages and recorders. Those stations which had been established in 1921 were operated during both seasons. The United States Engineer Department and other interested parties have cooperated with the Division of Engineering and Irrigation in operating and maintaining the recorders during 1925 and 1926. The result of stream gagings during the last biennium is given in the tables published herewith.

SACRAMENTO WEIR.

In February, 1925, a short storm brought down an intense flood wave on the American River, the heaviest since the reclamation of the American Basin and settlement of the North Sacramento district, which resulted in the flooding of a portion of North Sacramento.

At the request of the Sacramento city officials, the chief engineer of the Reclamation Board permitted the opening of the gates of the Sacramento Weir, to reduce the damage to as small an amount as possible.

The levee in front of the weir has been leveled and arrangements made with the California Debris Commission for the purchase of a caterpillar crane for replacing the gates when opened. Eight extra auxiliary beams for closing the weir have been furnished by the California Debris Commission, so that with the use of the proposed crane the gates may be closed as rapidly as the subsidence of floods will permit.

The land within the Sacramento by-pass has been cleared of brush and trees by the Reclamation Board, and the bank protection crew of this division will keep the space between the river and weir clear of second growth and weeds which would soon induce a deposit of sand and obstruct the approach to the weir.

BANK PROTECTION AND RIVER RECTIFICATION.

SACRAMENTO RIVER.

With the comprehensive construction program of control works which were planned for the reclamation of overflow lands in the valley largely completed, the fertile bottom lands of the valley are now enjoying a freedom from floods that has in the years past retarded their intensive development and growth. Now that the danger of flood caused by the river overflowing its banks has been largely removed, this rich and productive land is being put into orchards and other permanent crops, where formerly it was given over to annual cropping. Not only has the value of farm lands increased, but the towns along the river have also shared in the same general prosperity and present a pleasing picture with their clean, well-kept paved streets and highways, modern business establishments and beautiful homes.

For many years past the legislature has made appropriations for work, in cooperation with the property holders, to protect the valuable lands and improvements along the river from overflow, by rectification of the river channel and the protection of its banks from erosion. With the completion of control works costing many millions of dollars and the rapid increase in value of improved property behind the river levees, the division has carefully studied the problem of not only confining the river between its leveed banks, but also to determine methods of reducing maintenance and construction costs on the 361 miles of massive levees 16 to 20 feet high, which protect these valuable lands and improvements. The division, through the design and construction of a new type of current control, described in our last biennial report, has been successful in reducing the cost of bank protection work approximately 25 per cent. The current controls constructed by the division since 1923 have been put to a very severe test, and prove beyond doubt that when properly located and carefully built they are superior to types formerly installed, excepting concrete or rock revetment work.

In addition to the regular maintenance, and emergency flood protection work, the following bank protection works have been constructed by the Division of Engineering and Irrigation in cooperation with other agencies during 1925–26.

Reclamation District No. 70—Yates' Place.

The banks of the river in front of the Yates property located approximately four miles below Meridian on the left or easterly bank of the river have been badly eroded by the river current during the past few years, and in order to prevent further erosion and maintain the levee in its present position at this point, three current controls were constructed in cooperation with Reclamation District 70. A total of eight current controls have been constructed for this district, five having been built in front of the Burke property a few miles downstream from this point during 1924.

Reclamation District No. 108.

The levee in front of Reclamation District No. 108 about one mile above Grimes on the Sacramento River, has been undermined in past years to such a degree that it was necessary to install bank protection works to prevent further erosion and stop the levee and bank from caving. To correct channel conditions at this point and protect the banks from further damage, two current controls were constructed in cooperation with Reclamation District No. 108.

Reclamation District No. 556—Andrus Island.

Several years ago Reclamation District No. 556 constructed bank protection works consisting of round and sheet piling to protect the toe of their levee. Two sections of this work washed out and the division, in cooperation with the district, pulled out the old leaning piles and spread crushed rock on the toe of the levee at the locations where the old work had failed.

The location of this work is on the easterly or left bank of the Sacramento River, about twenty-five miles above its mouth.

Reclamation District No. 1500.

Racetrack and Ministerial bends about thirty miles above Knights Landing on the Sacramento River have suffered heavily from the attacks of the river current. Large sums have been spent by Reclamation District No. 1500 to protect the levees from being undermined at these bends in past years.

It was found necessary this biennium to do additional work at these bends to keep the river from undermining the levees, and destroying valuable property and improvements behind them. For this purpose several toe dams were constructed by the division in cooperation with Reclamation District No. 1500.

West Side Levee District—Cecil Place.

To prevent the Sacramento River from further attacking the levee in front of the Cecil property in the West Side Levee District, and to prevent it from breaking through into the highly developed territory behind this levee, a long toe dam was constructed in front of this property in cooperation with the West Side Levee District.

This bank protection work is located on the westerly bank of the Sacramento River in Sutter County, approximately seventy-three miles above Sacramento.

County of Colusa—De Jarnett Break.

At the De Jarnett break on the left or easterly bank of the Sacramento River approximately one mile below the Colusa County highway bridge, the division constructed, in cooperation with the county of Colusa, a long current control to deflect the current from its oblique entrance into the break to a direction at approximately right angles to the river channel, that it may follow the natural depression into Butte Basin with much less tendency to form new channels through improved property than has been manifested in the past.

Proposed Bank Protection Work.

Plans have been completed and it is expected that cooperative agreements will be effected during the early part of the next biennium, for construction of bank protection works at the following points on the Sacramento River:

Ahlf Property.

The construction of seven current controls on the left or easterly bank of the Sacramento River at a point approximately two miles above Colusa.

Hamilton Bend—Reclamation District No. 2047.

The construction of nine current controls on the right or southerly bank of the Sacramento River at a point approximately eight miles above Colusa.

Hart-Steele Property—Levee District No. 3.

The construction of four current controls on the left or easterly bank of the Sacramento River at a point approximately two miles downstream from Princeton.

COOPERATIVE INVESTIGATIONS WITH FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

THE SALT WATER BARRIER.

During the past three and one-half years the Division of Engineering and Irrigation has been actively engaged in cooperation with the United States Reclamation Service under the terms of a cooperative agreement in investigating the feasibility of a salt water barrier at Carquinez Straits, to prevent salt water encroachments into the delta of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers. The work has been in direct charge of an engineer representing the United States Reclamation Service, assisted by an engineer representing the Division of Engineering and Irrigation, Department of Public Works.

The investigation is practically concluded, and it is expected that the U. S. Reclamation Service and the state will make a joint report upon the results of this investigation in the near future.

The total cost of the work to date has been approximately $75,000.

IRON CANYON SURVEY.

The survey of the Iron Canyon project made by the United States Reclamation Service in cooperation with the Division of Engineering and Irrigation for the economic uses of the Iron Canyon waters, by gravity flow from the proposed dam, and by pumping, has been completed and a report made thereon by the United States Reclamation Service.

The investigation was made under the terms of a cooperative agreement entered into between the United States Reclamation Service, the Sacramento Valley Development Association and the Division of Engineering and Irrigation, on January 26, 1924.

This report has been received by the division, and is now being reviewed as required by the terms of the contract referred to above.

STREAM GAGING.

Report to the Division of Engineering and Irrigation, Department of Public Works, on the Progress of the Cooperative Investigation of the Surface Water Resources of California, for 1925-26, by the Water Resources Branch of the United States Geological Survey.

By H. D. McGlashan, District Engineer.

The cooperative investigation of the surface water resources of the State of California, during the fiscal years 1925 and 1926, was maintained without material change over the previous biennium. The net gain in number of river-measurement stations maintained was seven. There was no change in the regular cooperative funds during this period, but there were slight changes in miscellaneous cooperation. The special investigation maintained for the Federal Power Commission, in cooperation with permittees and licensees, shows a steady increase and results in a large amount of very valuable stream-flow data available to the public.

The following table gives the river-measurement stations maintained during the two-year period ending June 30, 1926. This list does not include stations maintained by private parties, for which complete records are made available for publication in the annual progress reports of the Geological Survey. The regular stations, in the list below, are distributed among the major drainage basins of the state as follows: Sacramento 28 per cent, San Joaquin 39 per cent, South Pacific 26 per cent, North Pacific 4 per cent and Great Basin 3 per cent.

This surface water investigation has been maintained in accordance with cooperative agreements with the State of California, through the Divisions of Engineering and Irrigation and of Water Rights, Department of Public Works; the Sacramento Municipal Utility District, through Albert Givan, chief engineer; the city of Stockton, through W. B. Hogan, city engineer; the city and county of San Francisco, through M. M. O'Shaughnessy, city engineer; Los Angeles County, through the board of supervisors; the city of Los Angeles, through the department of public works; San Bernardino, Riverside, and Orange counties, through the boards of supervisors; United States Forest Service; United States Weather Bureau; United States Indian Service; and National Park Service. In addition, the following public service companies have furnished substantial cooperation: Pacific Gas and Electric Company, Spring Valley Water Company, San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation, Southern California Edison Company, Southern Sierras Power Company, Snow Mountain Water and Power Company, and Western States Gas and Electric Company. Also, valuable assistance has been furnished by a number of irrigation districts, private companies, and individuals.

The amount of work done and its cost, including estimated expenditures for complete records of stream flow furnished for publication, for the biennium ending June 30, 1926, were as follows:

The inventory of developed water power, prepared by the Geological Survey, shows that the total capacity of water wheels installed in 3355 plants of 100 horsepower or more in the United States in January, 1926, was 11,176,596 horsepower, an increase of 1,138,941 horsepower, or about 11.5 per cent, over the total of 10,037,655 horsepower in March, 1925. Of this increase 972,640 horsepower, or about 85 per cent, was in public utility power plants, and 166,301 horsepower, or 15 per cent, in manufacturing plants.

California, for years second in amount of developed water power, is now the leading state, with 1,834,980 horsepower in 152 water-power plants having a capacity of 100 horsepower or more. New York follows with 1,750,391 horsepower in 535 plants; Washington, 656,407 horsepower; Alabama, 541,825 horsepower; North Carolina, 538,289 horsepower; and South Carolina, 514,428 horsepower. No other state has developed as much as 500,000 horsepower.

The following Water-Supply Papers, containing data for California, have been published since the last biennial report:

No. 519, Ground Water in Santa Clara Valley, California.
No. 531, Surface Water Supply of Pacific Slope Basins in California, 1921.

Water-Supply Papers 530, for 1921; 550 and 551, for 1922; 570 and 571, for 1923; 590 and 591, for 1924; and 610 and 611, for 1925, are in process of publication. All California records of stream flow included in these unpublished reports, and many records for 1926, are now compiled and are available upon application to this office.

In the administration of the work of the Water Resources Branch of the Geological Survey, the district office is maintained at 303 Customhouse, San Francisco. In November, 1925, the distribution office and the official library were consolidated with the district office. A supply of all Geological Survey publications available for free distribution, is kept in stock and may be obtained at the office or requested by mail. The library maintained for the use of the public, contains a complete set of Geological Survey maps covering all sections of the United States, and a complete file of Water-Supply Papers, Bulletins, Professional Papers, Monographs, Mineral Resources Reports, Geologic Folios, and other Geological Survey reports. Also there are many maps and special reports relating to the natural resources of the United States, especially of the western states.

A suboffice is maintained at 600 Federal Building, Los Angeles, for the convenience of southern California and as a headquarters for work in the South Pacific drainage. An office library of Geological Survey publications is maintained for the use of the public, and publications are distributed.

The water resources investigation work of the United States Geological Survey in California is under the supervision of Mr. N. C. Grover, chief hydraulic engineer, and Mr. John C. Hoyt, hydraulic engineer in charge of surface waters for the Geological Survey.

UNDERGROUND WATERS.

Report to the Division of Engineering and Irrigation on the progress of ground-water investigations in California by the Water Resources Branch of the U. S. Geological Survey for 1924-1925. By O. E. Meinzer, Geologist in Charge, Division of Ground Water.

The following report on ground water was published during the biennial period as a water-supply paper:

Water-Supply Paper 519, "Ground Water in Santa Clara Valley, California," by W. O. Clark, 1924. 209 pp., 19 pls., 20 figs.

The valuable report by David G. Thompson entitled "The Mojave Desert Region, California—A Geographic, Geologic, and Hydrologic Reconnaissance, with Guide to Desert Watering Places," is still in manuscript, but it is available for public inspection in the Washington and Los Angeles offices of the U. S. Geological Survey.

Measurement of water levels in selected wells in southern California was continued during the biennium under the direction of F. C. Ebert. The record now covers a period of twenty-two years, with measurements of one well during a period of thirty-four years. O. E. Meinzer made an examination of this area in 1926 with a view to laying plans for future work if funds become available.

In 1925 B. Coleman Renick made an examination and prepared a manuscript report on an additional water supply for the Mare Island Navy Yard, the expense being divided between the Navy Department and the Geological Survey.

In the same year Kirk Bryan examined the sites under consideration for the salt water barrier in the lower reaches of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, and prepared a manuscript report on the geologic conditions at these localities. The expense was borne by the Bureau of Reclamation as part of the investigation of the problems of Sacramento River made by them in cooperation with the State Engineer.

In April, 1926, H. T. Stearns and T. W. Robinson began a two-year intensive study of ground-water conditions in the alluvial fan of Mokelumne River. The investigation is financed by the East Bay Municipal Utility District, and it has recently been extended into the fan of Calaveras River by reason of an agreement between the district and the city of Stockton.

TABULATED FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF GROUND-WATER WORK BY THE U. S. GEOLOGICAL SURVEY IN CALIFORNIA FOR FISCAL YEARS 1925–1926.

Project	Funds of U. S. Geol. Survey	Bureau Reclamation	Navy Department	East Bay Municipal Util. Dist.
1925
Well measurements	$200 00
Santa Clara Valley (reading of proof)	45 12
Mare Island Navy Yard	68 68		$41 69
Salt Water Barrier		$244 93
1926—(Tentative)
Well measurements	414 88
Mokelumne Investigation	72 79			$1,952 73
Totals	$801 47	$244 93	$41 69	$1,952 73

The extensive ground-water investigations formerly carried on in California have all been completed. The systematic measurements of water levels in wells in southern California are, however, being continued at considerable sacrifice of funds urgently needed elsewhere, but these records now extend over a long period and are too valuable to abandon. A sound knowledge of the quantity of ground-water available in this highly developed area can be gained only after an intensive study to which these records are essential.

The quantitative ground-water investigation in the Mokelumne River fan recently begun and made possible by the cooperation of the East Bay Municipal Utility District will be carried on for a period of two years. The results in general and in detail will, when published, be of large value in the development of this prosperous farming region. The methods of ground-water work used and developed during this investigation will also be of general interest in California where the use of ground-water has reached such large proportions.

TOPOGRAPHIC MAPPING AND SURVEYS.

Report of topographic surveys in cooperation between the United States Geological Survey and the State of California for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1924, and ending June 30, 1926.

By THOS. G. GERDINE, Topographic Engineer.

In accordance with the cooperative agreements signed June, 1924, and June, 1925, by George Otis Smith, Director, and W. C. Mendenhall, Acting Director, for the United States Geological Survey, and by W. F. McClure, Director of Public Works, for the State of California, the Federal Survey allotted $14,000 each year and the state an equal amount for cooperative topographic surveys in the State of California for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1925, and June 30, 1926.

The following is a summary of the field and office work accomplished during the above periods under the general direction of C. H. Birdseye, Chief Topographic Engineer, and under the immediate supervision of Thos. G. Gerdine, Topographic Engineer in charge of the Pacific Division.

OFFICE WORK.

Office drafting was completed and maps published of the following areas: Caruthers, Helm, Jamesan, Raisin, San Joaquin, and Tranquillity.

Office drafting of the Cairns Corner, Corcoran, Exeter, Guernsey, Klink, Lake View School, Lemon Cove, Lethant, Paige, Remnoy, Rocky Hill, Strathmore, Tipton, Tulare, Visalia, Waukena, Westhaven and Woodville topographic maps was completed and the maps are being transmitted for engraving.

Primary level circuits were adjusted for thirty quadrangles.

Geographic positions were computed for seventeen quadrangles.

Topographic mapping in the State of California has been carried on in cooperation between the State Department of Engineering and the U. S. Geological Survey since 1903. During this period of time topographic maps have been made of practically the entire Salinas and Sacramento valleys, and more than two-thirds of the San Joaquin Valley has been mapped. In addition to the valley areas the state has cooperated in mapping quadrangles in mountain regions where the data obtained was of primary importance in connection with the economic development of the state's natural resources.

Since 1912 cooperative topographic mapping has been confined to the San Joaquin Valley to the exclusion of other areas. The southern part of the San Joaquin Valley, though one of the most promising agricultural sections of the state, is most lacking as to information concerning its topographic features. Differences in elevation are so slight and distances so great that no comprehensive scheme can be outlined for irrigation and drainage development without the expenditure of large sums for preliminary surveys.

On account of the importance of this region and the economic problems involved in its future development, it is proposed to continue the topographic mapping southward on the east side of the valley and then complete the west side which, from an agricultural standpoint, is largely undeveloped.

These maps will be of inestimable value in the future development of the southern part of the San Joaquin Valley since they show the topographic features of the land, such as mountains, hills, valleys and water courses; all bodies of water, such as lakes, marshes, streams and springs; the routes of travel, such as railroads, highways, wagon roads and trails; political boundaries, cities, towns and permanent buildings; and the names of natural and other features. They also include exactly the location of permanent survey monuments and bench marks, whose positions and whose elevations above sea level have been determined by accurate methods—monuments that are available as starting points for local surveys. The maps of areas covered by public land surveys show all township and section lines as well as boundaries of all land grants. They also show the development and suggest the possibility for future development in each area mapped.

The diagram herewith illustrates the progress of topographic mapping in the San Joaquin Valley. Published maps may be secured at a nominal cost from the U. S. Geological Survey at Washington, D. C., or from local agents within the state. A limited supply of advance sheets are furnished the State Engineer as soon as a quadrangle map is completed. Copies of advance sheets will be sent to applicants when they can be used to advantage in a field or office investigation of any proposed development.

In the topographic mapping vertical control is based upon spirit level lines run within the area mapped, and refer to mean sea level datum. During the progress of this cooperative work with the U. S. Geological Survey hundreds of miles of spirit levels have been run and permanent bench marks set within the state. The results of these spirit levels have been published by the U. S. Geological Survey in Bulletin No. 766 and include all levels completed by the U. S. Geological Survey and U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey in the State of California between the years 1896 and 1923. Copies of this bulletin may be secured from the U. S. Geological Survey or the Superintendent of Documents at Washington, D. C.

IRRIGATION INVESTIGATIONS.

REPORT OF COOPERATIVE IRRIGATION INVESTIGATIONS IN CALIFORNIA.

July 1, 1924, to June 30, 1926.

By W. W. McLaughlin,
Associate Chief, Division of Agricultural Engineering, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The cooperative irrigation investigations in California, conducted under the joint support of the Division of Agricultural Engineering of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Division of Engineering and Irrigation and Division of Water Rights of the State Department of Public Works, and the Division of Irrigation Investigations and Practice of the College of Agriculture, University of California, have been confined during the past biennium to the following projects:

1. Continuation of a study of the duty of water in irrigation in the Sacramento Valley begun during the fiscal year 1923-24, including investigations in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.
2. Continuation of studies of alfalfa irrigation at Delhi.
3. Continuation of a study of community irrigation movements in California, including assistance to the State Engineer of California in relation to such movements.
4. Completion of a report on silt in Colorado River.
5. Completion of a report on seepage losses in irrigation.
6. Study of the net duty of water in irrigation in San Diego County.

Up to the close of the fiscal year 1924-25, the cooperative work was in charge of Frank Adams, Irrigation Manager in this division and Professor of Irrigation Investigations and Practice in the College of Agriculture, University of California. At his request administration of the work was changed beginning July 1, 1925, since which date the work has been supervised jointly by him and the writer. Under this new arrangement, Mr. Adams has assumed responsibility for the duty of water investigations in Sacramento Valley outside of the Delta, the study of irrigation of alfalfa at Delhi, and studies of community irrigation movements, and the writer has assumed responsibility for investigations in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta and completion of the reports on Colorado River silt and on seepage investigations. Originally the writer was solely responsible for studies of net duty of water in San Diego County, but, because of the larger participation in this study by the Division of Irrigation Investigations and Practice than was at first anticipated, both Mr. Adams and the writer have had general contact with the project.

Duty of Water for Irrigation in Sacramento Valley.

Work on this project has continued on the basis outlined when the project was organized. The studies in the delta have continued under the immediate supervision of Mr. O. V. P. Stout, Irrigation Engineer in this office, with Lloyd N. Brown handling the work on King and Medford islands, and Frank Davis in the field in Reclamation District No. 999. Martin R. Huberty, with the general advice of Professor S. H. Beckett, has continued as field leader in the studies in the main valley floor and adjacent foothill areas, with the exception of minor studies of rice duty of water, which have been handled by Carroll F. Dunshee. The purpose of the delta investigations is to obtain such understanding of irrigation conditions and water requirements in the delta below Sacramento and Stockton as will aid in the general supervision of diversions of water by the Division of Water Rights, and therefore a large measure of the financial support for this work has come from the Division of Water Rights. The duty of water studies in the main valley were likewise planned with a view to assisting in the general administration of the water resources of the valley, as well as obtaining information needed by growers and managers of irrigation enterprises. In both cases a determination of consumptive net use has been the goal, but because of the totally different conditions, different methods of approach have been necessary.

Investigations in the Delta—As this report is written, the field work for the season of 1926 is still in progress. It is due to this fact that the report assumes a qualitative or descriptive, rather than a quantitative, character.

Cooperative irrigation investigations in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta, begun in 1924 and carried on through the season of 1925, with work centered on Medford and King islands, have been continued in 1926. At the close of 1925, however, Medford Island investigations were discontinued.

Advantage was taken of the release of the twelve soil tanks at Medford Island to place them in Reclamation District No. 999. Potatoes have been grown in six of them and beans in the other six.

The sixteen soil tanks which were set and used on King Island in 1925 were taken up and moved to a more favorable location on the north side of King Island. Eight of them were planted to corn and eight to potatoes.

Twelve old tanks were obtained from Davis, repaired, placed on King Island and planted to potatoes. They are grouped in sets of four, and each set caused to derive its water supply in a manner different from the other sets. A principal question upon which light is sought by these experiments is how far toward maturity full supply of water in the peat soil at the beginning of the season will carry a crop.

Both at King Island and in Reclamation District No. 999, estimate is made at frequent intervals of either the absolute or relative leaf area of the plants growing in tanks. The curve of leaf area, constructed on a time base, can be compared with the curve of accumulated net irrigation, constructed on the same base.

Tanks with no plants growing in them, for the determination of evaporation from bare soil, have been discontinued as there seems to be no way to use the result of such observations to determine the evaporation from soil in which plants are growing. The covered tanks designed for the determination of plant transpiration separate from soil evaporation, have also been discontinued. Consequently, except as they may possibly be segregated by mathematical analysis, the results of tank work in 1926 will represent combined evaporation and transpiration.

The moisture content in the soil above the water table in the tanks in preceding years has been an element of some uncertainty. Direct observation to determine this is not practicable, as the extraction of soil samples from the tanks would derange conditions therein. Consequently, resort is had this year to sampling the soil in the field immediately adjacent to the tanks where the water table is at the same depth below the ground surface as in the tanks.

At King Island, in addition to the tank work, the water admitted to and that drained from two fields of potatoes, one of corn and a patch of celery are measured. One field of potatoes occupies the east half of the area on which a record of irrigation of potatoes was kept in 1925. The larger field of potatoes and the field of corn are so situated relative to main drains as to reduce or eliminate lateral seepage from the river channels.

In Reclamation District No. 999 the main item, as in 1924 and 1925, is the determination of the use of water on 23,000 acres of land. Except for refinement and extension of methods, the work to this end is the same as in preceding years. Some tests have been made, in comparison with a weir, of the accuracy of discharge determinations by means of the Collins Flow Indicator. Further tests, notably on the 60-inch siphons, are contemplated.

It is expected that the record of the recording mercury vacuum gauge which was installed by the district late in the season of 1925, will make possible a much more precise evaluation of the discharge of the siphons than has heretofore been possible.

A determination of the area of the water surface in the canals and ditches in the 23,000 acres of Reclamation District No. 999 will be available for consideration in any connection in which it may appear to be a factor.

Tests or ratings have been made of three booster pumps in the interior of the 23,000 acre tract, in order that the water applied to a field of beans, one of potatoes, and an orchard may be determined.

In addition to the ground water observations which are made regularly over the entire tract, some special observations are made on an asparagus area. This because little direct application of water is made to this crop, and a high water table is not desirable. Moreover, the acreage of asparagus has been increasing very rapidly in this tract as well as in the delta as a whole, so that it is important that its water requirements be determined. Some attention has been paid to asparagus in the peat regions near King Island, also, but no definite quantitative data will be secured until next year.

Duty of Water in the main Sacramento Valley, exclusive of the Delta.—The methods followed in this study were outlined in the biennial report of Cooperative Irrigation Investigations, submitted at the close of the biennium, 1922-1924. In brief, the plan has been (a) through soil moisture determinations to ascertain the amount of moisture in the soil at the beginning of each season; (b) to measure accurately the net amount of irrigation water applied; (c) through soil moisture determinations immediately after irrigation to ascertain the depth of penetration and the amount retained, that is, the excess or deficiency of each irrigation measured by the field water-holding capacity of the soil; and (d) from the data thus obtained to ascertain the excess or deficiency of seasonal applications and the amount of water actually used by the growing crops, including that evaporated from the soil or transpired through weed growth.

During the season of 1924 field headquarters for the work were at Davis, the farms under observation being located near Woodland, Winters, Davis, Wheatland, Marysville, Yuba City, Auburn and Loomis. In 1925, the work continued to be centered at Davis but two of the fields near Woodland, two near Winters and those near Wheatland, Marysville and Yuba City were dropped because conditions were not found suitable for intensive soil moisture studies. Beginning with the irrigation season of 1926, headquarters were moved to Vina and twelve orchards, one vineyard and two bean fields were under study in the area between Durham and Dairyville.

Before this investigation was undertaken it was realized that the depth to ground water materially affects the quantity of irrigation water that it is necessary to apply to the surface soil and this realization was borne out by the field studies. For instance, where vigorous orchards were found growing on soil with a water table twenty feet or more below the surface the net consumptive use was found to be as high as two acre-feet per acre or more, whereas with a water table twelve feet or less from the surface the determined use averaged around 15 acre-inches per acre, the additional needs of the crop, of course, having been supplied by the ground water. The amount of annual rainfall was also recognized as a factor in water duty. This also was borne out by the field studies, the greater quantity being applied in 1924, a year of low rainfall, wherever irrigation water was available. However, the consumptive use as shown by soil sampling was found not to vary greatly between the low rainfall year of 1924 and 1925 in which year the precipitation was about normal.

While areas with ground water closer than 12 feet from the surface were encountered in the 1924 and 1925 studies, this condition obtained in the case of only two farms under observation in 1926, these being near Compton and Durham.

Since the field studies for the season of 1926 have not been finished at the time of this report, no attempt will be made here to present a detailed account of results to date. These results, however, will be put into manuscript form at the close of the present season.

Supplementing the field studies outlined above, controlled experiments are being carried on with fifteen soil tanks at Davis. These tanks have been planted to alfalfa with the purpose of noting any difference in total transpiration between alfalfa plants under conditions of high, low and mean soil moisture. The soil in five of these tanks will be maintained as nearly as practicable by very frequent irrigations at its full field capacity; in five the moisture will be allowed to reach half way between field capacity and wilting coefficient before re-irrigation; and in the third series the soil will be allowed to approach very close to the wilting coefficient and then return by irrigation to its field capacity.

Rice Investigations.—Two fields were studied for net duty of water in rice irrigation in 1925 under all-season submergence. The total area of the two fields was 150 acres. Automatic water stage registers, visited daily, recorded the flow of water on both fields.

The Anderson field comprises 112 acres of Willows clay adobe and is situated about one mile south of Cortena, Colusa County, in the southwest quarter of section 27, township 15 north, range 3 west. It is bordered on the north by a branch of Lurline Creek, and on the south by a field formerly in rice but which was planted to barley in 1925.

The state highway is on the eastern border of the field and a county road on the west. There was no rice on the north within a mile, none on the south within four miles and none on the east within two miles. There was a large area of rice immediately west of the field.

The season of 1925 was the sixth crop of rice on the land over a period of eight years, the field having been fallowed during 1923 and 1924.

Water was turned on the field April 26 and was shut off August 31, the total length of run being 123.8 days, 6½ days being required to submerge the field. No. 1600 rice was planted, the yield being 2699 pounds per acre.

The water was measured through a two-foot adjustable submerged orifice, and the drain water was measured over an 18-inch rectangular weir.

The Armstrong field comprises an area of 38.8 acres of Stockton clay adobe and is just east of the Biggs Rice Field Station. This field is the one on which duty of water studies were made, covering a period of four years, 1914-1917, inclusive. During this period the field was irrigated by the intermittent flooding method to sprout the rice, the field not being submerged until about June 15. During the season of 1925 the field was continuously submerged from the time of seeding until the crop was ready to drain in the fall.

The field was bordered on the north and east by a county road, on the west by the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks and on the south by a fallow field. There was no rice for at least a mile on the north, east and south, but there was about 100 acres of rice just west of the railroad. The crop on the field in 1925 was the ninth in a period of 13 years, the last fallow year being 1924.

Water was turned on the field on May 13 and was turned off on September 26, a total run of 134.5 days. It took 3½ days to submerge the field at the beginning of the season. The water was measured on the field over a 3-foot rectangular weir. The water in the check in front of the weir was held deeper than was anticipated, and it was necessary to raise the weir twice during the season to allow a free fall for the water. There was a period of five days during the season when the weir crest was submerged from one-half an inch to an inch and a half. A correction for this condition was made in computing the results, using the formula $Q = mb(H + \frac{1}{2}H')(H - H')^{\frac{1}{2}}$. The drain water was measured over a one-foot rectangular weir, which was entirely satisfactory throughout the season.

Results on the two fields are summarized in the tables below:

As a part of the study of rice duty of water in this project, eighteen galvanized iron tanks were installed on the Biggs Rice Field Station of the United States Department of Agriculture in March, 1926, for use in endeavoring to determine separately (a) the water transpiration by rice plants; (b) the combined water transpiration and evaporation from the water surface in paddies; and (c) the loss by water transpiration, surface water evaporation and downward percolation. Six of the tanks have no bottom; all of them were installed without bottoms by forcing the tanks down over cones of earth in place. After this was done bottoms were soldered on to twelve of the tanks. A nineteenth tank was installed for measuring evaporation from free water surface. An experiment similar to this was started at the temporary rice station of the College of Agriculture at Cortena, Colusa County, two years ago using concrete instead of galvanized iron tanks and filling these tanks in such a way as to simulate field conditions as nearly as possible, rather than forcing the bottomless tanks over the cones of earth in place. Losses from these tanks are still being measured as this report is written.

Alfalfa Irrigation at Delhi.—In the report of Cooperative Irrigation Investigations for the biennium 1922-1924, a summary of results of alfalfa duty of water experiments during the season of 1922 and 1923 was presented. Field experiments were conducted during 1924 under the same plan in effect in the two previous seasons but at the end of 1924 it was concluded that continuation of so many differential treatments as were given the first three years was unnecessary. Beginning with 1925, therefore, instead of applying total seasonal applications of 12, 18, 24, 30, 36, 42, 48, and 60 acre-inches per acre, the applications were limited to 24, 36, and 48 acre-inches, these covering the range found by the work of the preceding three years to correspond to the best field practice. At the end of 1925 results continued to be so consistent with those of 1922, 1923, and 1924, that field trials seemed unnecessary and the project was closed at the end of the irrigation season of 1925.

The tabular summaries below present the results for the seasons of 1922, 1923, 1924, and 1925. These figures have not yet been subject to final analysis but they will be presented and conclusions drawn in a manuscript to be prepared during the coming winter.

Community Irrigation Movements.

Work under this project has been confined to studies of irrigation districts, including assistance to the State Engineer with reference to the formation or financing of certain districts. In part in connection with the latter phase, Frank Adams has visited the following districts in company with the State Engineer or his representative: Potter Valley, Placer County (proposed), Cordua, Nevada, Maxwell, Dry Creek, Camp Far West, Santa Clara Valley (proposed), San Dieguito, Santa Fe, Tia Juana, Lakeside, Ramona, Vista and Fallbrook. Special consideration has been given by Mr. Adams to a proposed water contract between Potter Valley Irrigation District and Snow Mountain Water and Power Company.

Irrigation districts have been the subject of study under the cooperative agreement for the past 16 years. A report giving their history and status from 1887 to 1915 was published as Bulletin 2 of the State Department of Engineering of California.

Reports on Silt and Seepage Investigations.

The studies of Colorado River silt, begun some years ago by the late C. E. Tait, Senior Irrigation Engineer, and referred to in the last biennial report of Cooperative Irrigation Investigations, have been reviewed and supplemented by Dr. Samuel Fortier, until 1925 Associate Chief, division of Agricultural Engineering, and Harry F. Blaney, Irrigation Engineer, and a report under their joint authorship entitled "The Silt Problem of the Colorado River" has been completed and is practically ready to be submitted for publication.

The seepage investigations by Mr. O. V. P. Stout, Irrigation Engineer, and Carl Rohwer, Irrigation Engineer, referred to in the last biennial report, were practically completed two years ago, but duties connected with irrigation investigations in the delta of the Sacramento-San Joaquin rivers have prevented a completion of the final report. During the biennium results have been under further analysis and supplemental investigation by Mr. O. V. P. Stout, and it is hoped that a report can be submitted for publication during the fall or winter.

Net Duty of Water in San Diego County.

The communities of southern California present special problems of irrigation water supply and the use of irrigation water, this being particularly true of San Diego County. At the special request of the late State Engineer, W. F. McClure, a study of economic irrigation requirements in San Diego County was begun in October, 1925, with Professor

S. H. Beckett and Harry F. Blaney, Irrigation Engineer, in immediate charge, and C. A. Taylor, Junior Irrigation Engineer, as field assistant. This study has proved a most interesting and instructive one. No full report can yet be made for the season of 1926 except to state that, because of the low normal rainfall in San Diego County and the absence of ground water to interfere, the intensive field studies under way are giving a true indication of consumptive irrigation requirements in that county. Observations are under way in ten typical farms in the Escondido, Vista, and Fallbrook areas. Of these, seven are citrus groves, one an avocado grove and two are vineyards. A very interesting item in connection with the project is the consumptive use during the winter period, October 15, 1925, to April 1, 1926. Between these dates the average consumptive use on the seven citrus groves with cover crop was 10.8 acre-inches per acre, the avocado grove without cover crop used 8.5 acre-inches per acre, and the vineyards with cover crops 7.0 acre-inches per acre.

REPORT OF STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

To His Excellency, FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of California.

SIR: In compliance with law, the State Board of Equalization submits the following as its biennial report covering the assessment years 1925 and 1926, together with a review of the tax litigation in which the state has been involved, as well as of certain other topics relating to and affecting the revenue system of California.

RAILROAD SUITS AGAINST THE STATE.

In our report of 1923 and 1924 we summarized the facts and issues pertaining to the suits of the Southern Pacific Company and The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company against the state to avoid the increased tax, for which provision was made by the 1921 legislature in the King Tax Bill.

Since that report the railroad companies have stipulated that the appeals which were taken by them to the United States Supreme Court from the decision in favor of the state in the Federal District Court might be dismissed, and have paid the taxes involved in such litigation, except that portion of the tax of the Southern Pacific Company which comprises the difference between a rate of 5¼% and 7% on the earnings derived from its electric railway system in Alameda county.

Such a termination of this King Tax Bill litigation marked a complete and conclusive victory for the state in its effort to establish that no violation of constitutional guarantees, either federal or state, was involved in the rates of taxation established by this legislation. By reason of the fact that the legal controversy was ended through payment of the tax by the railroad companies upon stipulation for dismissal of the appeals, no further elucidation of the application of the principles of the present tax system has been afforded through a court ruling.

The Southern Pacific Company is contending in an action now pending in the superior court of Sacramento County that our board should have taxed the earnings derived from its electric railway operations in Alameda County at 5¼ per cent instead of 7 per cent during those years since the King Tax Bill, which raised the rate of taxation on steam railways to 7 per cent.

The portion of the revenue of the Southern Pacific Company accruing from this source is inconsiderable in comparison with the total earnings of the company subject to tax in this state, so that the amount involved represents only a small portion of the sum litigated in the federal court. It will probably be some time before the propriety of the application of the rate of 7 per cent to all of the operations of the Southern Pacific Company is judicially determined.

There is also pending before the superior court of Sacramento County litigation instituted by the Key System Transit Company and its predecessor, the San Francisco Oakland Terminal Railways, to test the action of our board by which there were included in the taxable revenues of this railway system for several years past certain receipts from water transportation furnished by the ferryboats operating as a part of the railway company's transportation system.

The company is claiming the right to make certain segregations of revenue, the propriety of which is denied by our board. It is the view of the board that the revenues which the company seeks to have excluded from taxation are of such a character as to be taxable gross receipts within the meaning of the constitution and the statutes. Evidence has been taken by the court and the matter will be submitted upon briefs.

REDUCTION OF TAX ON SHORT LINE STEAM RAILROADS.

Proposition No. 7 on the ballot at the last general election on November 2, 1926, and apparently adopted by the electorate, amends section 14 of article XIII of the constitution by changing the rate of tax on steam railroads not exceeding two hundred fifty miles in length, operated separately and not as a part of another railroad owning or operating lines exceeding such length, from 7 per cent to 5¼ per cent on gross receipts. Notwithstanding this reduction in rate we do not apprehend that the revenues to be derived by the state during the next biennium from taxes levied upon the gross receipts of steam railroad companies will be lessened.

Our conclusion that the total revenues accruing to the state from steam railroad taxation will remain at least at the figure shown for 1926, is based upon our observation that a very large proportion of this tax is paid by railroad companies whose operations do not come within the classification of short line roads, so that only a small part of the steam railroad gross receipts is affected by the lowering of the rate.

It further appears that the revenues of most of the short lines have been decreasing, with the result that the change in the rate of taxation applied thereto will not serve to diminish materially the total taxation from steam railroads.

INSURANCE LITIGATION.

There is no pending insurance company tax litigation. As stated in our last biennial report, the Supreme Court decided adversely to the state on the taxability of the item of dividends applied to reduce insurance premiums, by holding that such an item did not constitute "receipts" accruing to the companies, and was, therefore, not taxable.

By reason of the settlement between the Attorney General and the insurance companies of the remaining questions involved in this litigation, the legal controversy was brought to a close. The adverse judgment and the settlement have necessitated the return by the state to the insurance companies of the sum of $1,022,703.04, on account of taxes previously collected on the items affected.

These refunded taxes represent claims which have been accruing against the state since 1912 and owing to the large amount involved, the legislature in 1925 made provision for the return to the companies of the over-collection in three installments, to be allowed as credits against their taxes for the years 1925, 1926 and 1927. In some instances where the amounts of credits so accruing were small, we have allowed the entire sum thereof to be applied against current taxes, in order to eliminate additional bookkeeping involving only small amounts.

The amount still remaining to be credited to insurance companies on account of this litigation and settlement is $338,116.22. This should be fully paid by means of corresponding reductions in the taxes for 1927, so that the income to be derived from insurance taxation will be restored thereafter to the normal return of 2.6 per cent on the items declared taxable by the constitution and the Political Code.

MOTOR VEHICLE FUEL TAX.

There has been a steady increase in the revenue derived from the tax on the distribution of motor vehicle fuel in this state since the inauguration of this levy in October, 1923. Experience has shown that the greatest gasoline consumption is during the two summer quarters, that is, the period extending from April 1st to October 1st of each year. This is attributal to the fact that our own residents use their motor vehicles more during these months, and also to the fact that there is an increased tourist population motoring in California at that time.

It therefore appears that the closing quarter of the year may apparently mark a decrease in the amount of such collections, but upon comparison with the returns for such period with the corresponding period of the year previous, we have found in each instance that a steady gain in the amount of revenue is prevailing.

At the close of the quarterly period ending September 30, 1926, this revenue measure had been in effect just three years, and from our schedule of comparisons we believe that an annual ratio of increase of approximately 12 per cent has been shown in the amounts to be derived from this source. The tax now shown by our roll indicates that the revenue from this source for 1926 will exceed $18,000,000.

Under the Motor Vehicle Fuel Act there are pending two cases brought by the state against Richfield Oil Company, one against General Petroleum Company, one against Ventura Refining Company, and one against Sterling Refining Company. Each of them is a collection suit. Judgment was rendered in favor of the state by the superior court of Los Angeles County in the two Richfield cases, and appeals by the company are now pending in the State Supreme Court. One of the cases has been fully briefed and the other is partly briefed.

Each Richfield case involves the question as to whether contracts for the sale of fuel entered into prior to May 14, 1923, are exempt under the fuel act as it read prior to the amendment of 1925, in view of the fact that in no instance is the sale price of the fuel definitely fixed. In the majority of instances the price is set at the prevailing market quotation on the particular day when delivery is requested. The state is contending that the exempting language refers only to contracts in which there is a fixity of obligation on the part of the distributor preventing him from enjoying fair competition.

Our next contention is that if the exempting language is literally construed to refer to all contracts for the sale of fuels executed prior to May 14, 1923, without regard to whether they provide a fixed selling price, it is in such event unconstitutional because there appears no reasonable basis for establishing May 14, 1923, as the date of demarcation. One of the Richfield cases also involves the right of the company to compel a change in the tax roll when the claim for exemption is not made until the roll has been completed by our board and placed in the hands of the Controller for collection.

Judgment was rendered against the state in the General Petroleum Company and Ventura Refining Company cases tried in the San Francisco superior court. In each instance the state has appealed to the State Supreme Court. The contract question is the sole issue involved in both appeals, which are still pending.

The collection suit against the Sterling Refining Company was won by the state in the superior court of Los Angeles County and is now pending on the company's appeal to the Supreme Court, where the matter has been partly briefed. The primary question raised by the company is whether 50 per cent of the fuel sold by it during the period involved is subject to the sales tax when that percentage of the compounded fuel is made up of kerosene, which is exempted from tax under the act. Several constitutional questions are also raised by the appellant.

In general we find that conditions affecting ascertainment of motor vehicle fuel distributions and collection of the tax levied thereon continue to be highly satisfactory. The assessment and collection of the tax remains at, or very slightly removed from, the source of production of the fuel, so that it is necessary to consider not more than seventy distributors for any quarter of the calendar year.

As we have previously observed, this limited number of taxpayers with whom we must deal has the effect of keeping our costs of administration at a negligible figure in comparison with the amount of revenue derived from this source. Less than one-tenth of one per cent of such revenue is absorbed in the administration of the law, with the result that this tax may be considered as one of the most efficient yet devised for the collection of public revenue.

Difficulty has been experienced in connection with the collection of the tax on sales along the borders of the state, as it sometimes occurs that gasoline is purchased without payment of the tax in some neighboring state and imported into California without payment of tax here, resulting in a tax evasion. If it is found feasible, by means of agreements with neighboring states, to readjust the manner in which border sales are handled, procedure to bring about such readjustment should be productive of a higher efficiency in tax collections. However, we do not apprehend that the amount involved is representative of any considerable portion of the motor vehicle fuel actually consumed in the state.

MOTOR VEHICLE TRANSPORTATION LICENSE TAX.

At the general election on November 2, 1926, the electorate adopted proposition No. 2 on the ballot relating to the taxation of highway transportation companies. The salient feature of this constitutional amendment, which adds a new section to be known as section 15 of article XIII of the constitution, is the taxation on a gross receipts basis at the rate of 4¼ per cent for passenger-carrying vehicles and 5 per cent for freight-carrying vehicles, of all common carrier motor vehicles operated over the public highways of this state between fixed termini or over a regular route.

The levy is in lieu of all other taxes and licenses and is in general comparable to the scheme of taxation provided for other public utilities by section 14 of article XIII. The revenue is to be devoted to highway maintenance and is to be apportioned to the state and the several counties upon the basis now prevailing for the distribution of funds realized from the motor vehicle fuel tax.

It is as yet too early to state definitely what income may be expected from this new type of taxation. At the last session of the legislature there was enacted a somewhat similar measure applying to all operators of motor vehicle transportation, whether common carriers or not, whose equipment traveled over the public highways outside of incorporated areas. There were a few exceptions provided in the act, some of which were eliminated by court decision later.

Owing to the difficulties attendant upon the inauguration of the motor vehicle transportation tax for which provision was made by chapter 412, Statutes of 1925, it is likewise impossible to draw any conclusions as to what may definitely be expected of this type of legislation. The 1925 act followed similar legislation enacted in 1923, which was held unconstitutional in an action brought by Bacon Service Corporation vs. Fred C. Huss as Captain of the Fresno County Traffic Squad, to prevent the enforcement of the law. The judgment of the superior court was affirmed by the Supreme Court upon appeal and a rehearing later granted by that tribunal. While the matter was so pending the legislature passed the 1925 act, replacing the 1923 act which was repealed.

In June, 1926, the Supreme Court reversed its stand on the constitutionality of the 1923 act and, after declaring certain of the exemptions therein contemplated void for unconstitutionality, decided that the act, in the main, was constitutional legislation. At that time the Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the 1925 act, which had been attacked in a habeas corpus proceeding brought by one Paul Schmolke. These decisions resulted in a complete victory for the state as to its contentions that each of the acts was constitutional.

In each of these motor vehicle transportation tax cases an appeal has been taken by writ of error to the United States Supreme Court, and both cases will be heard during the current term of that tribunal.

Taxation of common carrier highway transportation companies under the new amendment to the constitution will supersede in a large measure the levy for which provision is made by the 1925 Transportation License Tax Law. In view of the removal of such a large portion of the gross receipts derived from motor vehicle transportation from the operation of the 1925 act, it may become advisable to substitute in lieu of the gross receipts tax contemplated by chapter 412, Statutes of 1925, some other type of levy, such as a weight fee or other commercial license graduated on some equitable basis. Later developments will doubtless demonstrate the best course to be followed in the determination of what is to be done in this regard.

MATTERS OF GENERAL CONCERN AFFECTING THE REVENUE SYSTEM.

There has been a gratifying lack of litigation relating to the assessments levied by this board, pursuant to the provisions of the Political Code and of section 14 of article XIII of the constitution. There has been some question concerning the policy of the board in assessing for general corporate franchise the business conducted by certain title insurance companies not coming within the purview of the taxation provided particularly for insurance companies.

Litigation on this point is now pending in the superior court of Sacramento County. With this exception the assessments of the board appear to have remained unquestioned in court proceedings save as to the matters previously mentioned.

In order that a comprehensive review may be afforded of the sources of general revenue of this state administered by our board during the last biennium, we append the following table:

Taxes From Corporations, Seventy-Seventh and Seventy-Eighth Fiscal Years.

SPECIAL REPORT OF ADDITIONAL DATA ON RELATIVE TAX BURDENS REQUIRED UNDER SECTION 3664-E, POLITICAL CODE.

THE AVERAGE BURDEN OF LOCAL TAXATION.

The average tax burden for the year 1926 upon each $100 of actual value of property taxed for local purposes, all counties included, has been determined by the State Board of Equalization to be $1.774.

This average tax burden is not the average of the tax rates applied to the assessed values of property, but represents the ratio of the total taxes of all kinds paid upon properties so taxed as compared to the total actual value of all property locally taxed in this state. This actual value has been ascertained by appraisements and estimates made under the direction of this board.

Our investigation has disclosed that property taxed in California on an ad valorem basis is not ordinarily assessed at its full market value. In fact the assessment represents on an average about 42 per cent of the appraised or market value.

To enable us to determine the percentage of actual value represented by the assessments in the several counties, it was necessary first to ascertain the actual value of selected properties in each county for comparison with the assessments on the same properties. Thereupon the percentage thus determined was applied to the total assessed value of the county, in order to arrive at the total actual value of the property locally taxed therein.

When the actual values of the properties subject to ad valorem tax in the several counties were thus determined an addition was made of such values, in order to arrive at the total actual value of all of the property so taxed in the state. This total valuation was used for comparison with the total amount of taxes of all kinds paid on such property to determine the percentage of tax burden which has been stated above. In other words this percentage represents the average amount of tax paid upon the market or actual value of properties subject to local taxation.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION.

To establish the reliability of valuations used in our computations, various tests were employed as to specimen properties. We append a brief summary of methods of verification to which recourse was had.

1. Information Concerning Sales of Property in Probate Proceedings.

This test proved of value, particularly in larger centers of population where a sufficient number of sales could be examined to form an adequately comprehensive basis for comparison with appraisements. In the three most populous counties of the state, the relative percentages of assessed valuation of properties to the valuation established, first, by probate sales, and, second, by appraisements, were thus disclosed:

County	Probate Sales	Appraisements
Alameda	41.47%	40.05%
Los Angeles	34.31%	42.62%
San Francisco	42.84%	48.06%

In Los Angeles and San Francisco the variation between the two percentages appears as the natural result of the consideration that in a sense a probate sale is a "forced sale," and therefore not always calculated to bring a full market price.

In Alameda County the variation between the ratios is only slightly in excess of 1 per cent, which may be indicative of unusually high probate returns, or somewhat greater conservatism on the part of appraisers.

When one considers that the value to be ascribed to property is, in the final analysis, largely a matter of opinion, and that a certain degree of variation is inevitable wherever valuations are made independently, we believe that the comparisons indicated show a high degree of authenticity attaching to our basic percentages.

2. Appraisement of Selected Properties in Various Counties by Qualified Appraisers Chosen by Our Board.

Properties were selected for appraisement in thirty-six counties of the state, representing more than 90 per cent of the total of assessed value of property in California. The selections were made under the personal supervision of members of our board, who endeavored to consistently select only normal or representative properties.

The appraisers were likewise selected by board members, who carefully weighed their qualifications. Practical knowledge and experience relating to land values were in every instance deemed indispensable. Care was also exercised to secure men of mature judgment, whose views should prove sound and unbiased.

The list of properties to be appraised was given to the appraiser with the direction that he fix values thereon as his best judgment might indicate. These values were to be fixed as of the first Monday in March, 1926, since that date was the one to which all comparative assessments related. In several counties the services of two appraisers were used in order to get the benefit of their combined judgment.

After the list of appraisements had been completed by each appraiser, it was subjected to careful examination in the office of our board and checked with comparative data obtained from other sources. When discrepancies of any consequence were discovered, verification of values was insisted upon.

3. Statements From County Assessors of the Percentage of True Value Believed to be Included in Assessments.

In the remaining twenty-two counties, representing less than 10 per cent of the total assessed valuation of the state, the board deemed it inadvisable to undertake appraisements on such an intensive scale. The several assessors of these counties were asked to furnish their beliefs as to percentages of true value indicated by their assessments, and the information so obtained was verified by resort to official records and other competent sources.

Inasmuch as only a small proportion of total valuation is involved in these counties, the possibility of a material percentage of error is negligible.

TOTAL AD VALOREM TAXES.

The aggregate of all city and county taxes levied in California for the fiscal year was $250,660,078, marking an increase of $31,191,709 over the corresponding total for 1924, which was the last year covered by similar investigations of this board. However, owing to the increase of actual valuation of property subject to such taxation from $12,123,970,808 for 1924 to $14,129,598,540 for 1926, the tax burden decreased from $1.81 per $100 in 1924 to $1.774 in 1926.

In arriving at the total amount of taxes, all special taxes were considered, including all sums levied "for county and municipal taxation." Special assessments which do not constitute taxes in contemplation of law, were, of course, excluded.

THE AVERAGE BURDEN OF STATE TAXATION.

Experience and investigation have conclusively demonstrated that it is impractical to report percentages of burden of taxes for state purposes comparable to the average tax on $100 of actual value upon the ad valorem basis. Because of the factors more fully outlined in our special report to the legislature, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 154, Statutes of 1921, concerning which we deem it unnecessary to reiterate here, comparative percentages as to state taxes would be misleading and unfair to taxpayers under both systems. As a matter of fact, the percentages, even if attempted, would be so inconclusive as to be valueless as indices of relative tax burdens.

TABULATED STATEMENTS.

In the following tabulations are set forth, in self-explanatory detail, the data forming the bases of our conclusion with respect to the average tax burden:

INTRODUCTION.

The Commission of Immigration and Housing of California has nothing whatever to do with the federal immigration policy and has no control over the number or class of immigrants which shall be admitted to our state. In fact, the Commission, by section 12 of its creating act, is expressly forbidden "to induce or encourage immigration into this state or the United States." It is solely interested in the immigrants who have already come to California.

The Commission was created to overcome the handicaps of the immigrant and thereby give him an equal opportunity with the native born. In doing this it not only aids the immigrant by solving his problems but also benefits the community.

The house selected by the immigrant and his family is usually in the poorest section of the community. This is caused by his economic condition, he has little money and no employment, therefore, he must go into the cheapest of accommodations. He meets insanitary and overcrowded conditions. He feels the disadvantages of not knowing our language, customs or laws. It is here also communicable diseases may do their deadly work. This will affect a whole city as well as all of the residents in the particular district.

His first work is apt to take him where manual labor only is required—to the lumber, agricultural, oil and construction camps. Early surveys showed that over half of the population of the labor camps were foreign born.

The work of the Commission, therefore, naturally falls into three departments: Complaint, Housing and Camp Sanitation. It formerly included immigrant education but this has been transferred to the school department.

Before passing to the work of each department it is interesting to study the 1920 census in connection with the reports of the Federal Commissioner of Immigration for the fiscal years 1914 to 1924 inclusive. The 1920 census shows that California has a total population of 3,426,861 of which 787,689 are foreign born, or 22.98 per cent, and 910,000 native born of foreign parentage. The foreign born are scattered throughout the state. At least five per cent of the population of every county in the state are foreign-born white and there are more than 20 per cent of foreign-born whites in each of eighteen counties.

The trend of immigration from the reports of the United States Immigration Commissioners appears to be leading to California as is shown by the following table:

	Total immigration to United States	Total immigration to California	Percentage	Rank in states
1914	1,218,480	32,089	2.9	8
1915	326,700	20,116	6.1	4

1923	522,919	39,093	7.4	4
1924	706,896	57,946	8.1	4
Totals	5,165,759	310,740	6.0

"Total Immigration to California" in the above schedule means only those who at ports of entry gave California as their destination. There is no check on the number of immigrants coming to the United States destined for other states, who drift to California some time after their arrival, or who enter illegally. This is a considerable number. California receives immigrants from practically every country in the world.

The table above set forth shows distinctly our problem. It shows the follow-up work that is necessary to be carried on to convince each of the incoming immigrants that the United States is just what he considered it to be when he left his home—a country of opportunity and freedom. It is our duty to convince him that this should be his home, the place to raise his family and that he should become a citizen.

The immigration from Mexico is increasing each year. Their problems, as shown by the reports of each of the departments of the Commission, are the most difficult.

COMPLAINT DEPARTMENT.

The Complaint Department of the Commission, as its name suggests, was designed to receive and adjust complaints of immigrants who are in trouble and to instruct and advise them as to matters in which they seek assistance. Each individual case is classified according to an arbitrary standard as a "complaint" or an "application." If the statements made by the immigrants show that some other individual, firm, official or corporation is directly involved and complained against, such person, firm or corporation is named defendant for the purpose of brevity and the case filed as a complaint. If no person is complained of and the matter requires only the giving of advice, information or assistance of a general nature, it is classed as an application. In complaint cases the facts are investigated and appropriate advice or assistance given, or the proper action taken or indicated.

The Complaint Department receives annually between four and five thousand complaints and applications which are systematically handled and disposed of as readily as the individual nature of each case and the necessary amount of investigation permit. The five offices maintained by the Commission received 2262 complaints and 1752 applications during the year just passed beside giving information on minor matters of which no record was kept.

With its limited staff of eight persons, three of them stenographers, it is impossible for the Complaint Department to keep in close touch with a population of nearly one million foreign born, though statistics for the period covered by this report show that assistance of some kind has been given to one immigrant for every two hundred and fifty residing in the state. It is highly probable that there are many cases that do not come to the Commission's attention, but the number of complaints and requests for advice and information that come by letter from distant parts of the state show that the Commission is well known among the foreign population.

The immigrant is not always in the right as is shown by the 262 cases dismissed during the past year, after a thorough investigation disclosed that the complaints were without foundation. In some instances it even appeared that the complainants knew they were wrong and were attempting to take advantage of someone else. In the great majority of cases, however, it was found that a real cause for complaint existed.

One of the most useful functions of the Complaint Department is exercised in bringing immigrants in touch with other officials and commissions with whom they could not otherwise have come in contact. This enables them to take advantage of methods of law enforcement provided by the state for the regulation of certain classes of claims. Cases involving industrial injuries and wage or labor disputes are the most important instances of this kind. In furthering this sort of assistance the foreign language speakers of the Complaint Department are often called upon to aid agents of the Industrial Accident Commission and Bureau of Labor Statistics in cases concerning immigrants with little or no knowledge of English.

Some typical cases best illustrate the disabilities of immigrants in this country, the assistance given them by the Commission and the general method of adjusting cases presented for solution.

Sometimes the immigrants follow the advice they are given to a much greater degree than is intended. A Mexican woman was suffering annoyance from her husband who had left her. After several visits to the office with the same complaint the complaint officer ventured the suggestion that she should beat the recreant husband with a pick handle. A few nights later the husband called at the wife's residence and demanded admission which was refused, whereupon he endeavored to kick the door in. A hammer ably wielded by the wife put a stop to his activities. On the advice of the complaint officer she swore out a warrant for the spouse's arrest and he was found guilty and given twenty-four hours to leave the city.

It often happens that the immigrant is very hazy as to the details of the matter on which he seeks assistance or advice. This sometimes makes it necessary for the complaint officer to investigate at length before he can even commence to solve the difficulty. Such was the case of an Italian, ignorant of English, who came to ask the Commission to collect a day's wages due him for labor in excavating a lot. He did not know the name of the party he worked for or where he could be found. He had been hired at one of the Italian hotels and told where to report for work. Inclement weather had stopped the work, as the investigator found, and the neighbors could not tell who owned the lot or who had charge of the excavation. A rough measurement enabled the investigator to inform himself sufficiently to obtain the owner's name from the block book in the tax collector's office. The owner knew nothing about the man's hire but believed that the contractor might. He did and after some delay the Itailian received his money.

Fake doctors and healers are a fertile cause of complaint among the Los Angeles Mexicans. A case of this kind called to the Commission's attention is illustrative of the length to which these gentry can go in preying upon the ignorance and superstition of the average Mexican. This complaint was referred to the State Board of Medical Examiners whose agents raided the healer's office and in the raid seized such correspondence as they could find. A copy of one of his letters to a dupe is translated:

> "Referring to your favor of the 17th instant, I beg to inform you that you made a mistake in keeping up my treatment too long, for you had already reached a point where you were completely restored to health.
> Nevertheless, I hope that you continue to improve and will soon be perfectly well. If you wish to get thoroughly on your feet my treatment is efficacious to become calm, to sleep well and above all, to have a good appetite.
>
> The cost of the secrets or treatments for which you ask is as follows:
> Treatment to be fortunate in business and obtain success in anything you undertake ---------- $30 00
> Treatment to overcome any love doubt or difficulty to attract any love-- 30 00
> Treatment for success in gambling---------- 75 00
> (An insignificant sum if you take into consideration that as soon as you begin to play you will get this money back.)
> Power to read the deepest thoughts of any person---------- 20 00
> Power to make yourself visible or invisible---------- 20 00
> Power to communicate with any being beyond the grave---------- 20 00

Power to get thin or fat	$20 00
Secret to find any treasure	75 00

Awaiting your esteemed orders, I remain,

Your obedient servant."

This man has been convicted of using the mails to defraud and sent to McNeil's Island.

A Russian immigrant was injured while employed by a painting contractor who did not carry insurance for his employees. The injured man came to the Commission and was taken to the Industrial Accident Commission where an application for the adjustment of his claim was filed. The fall he had taken resulted in an injury to his head which has somewhat impaired his mental balance and medical opinion holds that he should have hospital treatment. The man is without funds and no one of the free clinics will treat him while his case is pending before the Accident Commission. His employer dropped out of sight and any award made him by the Commission can not be collected. Meanwhile the man is out of work with no place to live. An arrangement was made with the Salvation Army whereby he will be given some light work to do to pay for his meals and lodging until a solution can be worked out.

A Russian immigrant, with a little money to invest, was persuaded by a friend of his to purchase some German government and municipal bonds from an investment company. The purchase price to him was $850, of which $550 was paid and a note given to the company for the balance, secured by some Standard Oil stock. Shortly after the sale the Russian suspected that he had been defrauded and called upon the Commission for assistance. Investigation showed that the man had been charged nearly four times the market value of the bonds on the day he purchased them. The case will be called to the attention of the district attorney.

CAMP DEPARTMENT.

During the past year the Camp Department had many problems to solve in connection with various industries requiring labor camps. With few exceptions the operators have cooperated very fully and the results obtained are quite satisfactory, not only for the present but also on account of firm foundations laid for future progress.

In the early part of the year a number of meetings were held in Placer County, where the fruit growers were trying to break the grip of the Japanese who controlled the picking and packing. The Commission's agent, at the request of the growers, advised them on methods of camp construction for the housing of American labor, most of the existing camps being of Oriental type. Good contracts were made and the way paved for further work next year when the growers expect to build several camps.

In the delta district of Sacramento, San Joaquin, Contra Costa and Solano counties, many changes for the better were made. Numerous new camps were built and old ones reconstructed. This district is mainly Oriental, and Oriental housing and sanitation has existed for years, which makes the progress of the past season a very satisfactory achievement. The results obtained indicate that the continued campaign for sanitary camps and adequate housing will eventually conclude in the Americanization of the Oriental delta district.

The lumber camps have been kept at their usual high standard and the Commission continues to receive the same degree of cooperation from the operators. Several new camps were constructed during the year and two more large companies installed the system of providing hotel service to employees.

Operators of construction camps caused most of the trouble during the year. It seems to be the policy of some contractors to try and finish the job before a camp inspector comes into the vicinity. This attitude is particularly true of highway contractors and necessitated the arrest of several of them who consistently failed to remedy insanitary conditions.

The newest problem the Commission has had to deal with in labor camp work pertains to adequate housing for the hundreds of laborers who are and will be engaged in the picking of cotton in the San Joaquin and Imperial valleys.

The efforts of the Camp Department were concentrated on the cotton camps in the San Joaquin Valley during October and November and very good results were obtained, particularly in Fresno and Kern counties. It was found upon reinspection that about ninety per cent of the growers had completely followed the recommendations made by the Commission. In only one instance was it necessary to arrest an operator for continued violation of the Camp Sanitation Act. He was maintaining the largest cotton picking camps in Kern County, and his subsequent conviction had a salutary effect on other operators who were slow in complying with the Commission's instructions.

In Fresno County the cotton industry is centered in the Mendota district where all of the operators readily complied with the Commission's advice. This condition came about largely through a meeting between the Director of the Camp Department and the growers of the district, held at Mendota early in November. At this time the growers were given a full explanation of what was necessary for them to provide for their labor and the best methods of housing and sanitation to fit existing conditions.

The results in Kings County exceeded expectations, as considerable opposition had been looked for. With one exception, the operators showed the right spirit of cooperation. The Chamber of Commerce at Corcoran requested the Director of Camp Sanitation to address a meeting of that body on the subject of camp sanitation and housing. Advantage was taken of this fine opportunity to present to the influential people of that district the necessity for providing good camps, as well as to stress the benefits to be derived by the erection of a community camp to serve several growers in housing their labor during the cotton picking season. After this meeting a conference was held with a committee of cotton growers at which all phases of community camp construction and operation were discussed and plans made for several such meetings to be held in the future.

From the best information that could be obtained in Fresno, Kings, Kern and Tulare counties, it seems certain that an enormous cotton acreage will be planted next year. The influx of labor necessary to harvest this vast crop will bring one of the best tests for the Commission's Camp Department. Instead of the usual types met with in labor camps, those in the cotton fields are often family groups, mainly Mexican. The foundation, however, has been laid this year in the San Joaquin Valley and the contracts established with the growers there augur well for great progress in the erection and maintenance of good camps in that section. There will always be more or less trouble with a few operators who house their labor in any place they see fit and in any manner that occurs to them.

In the Imperial Valley the cotton crop was far below normal and conditions did not warrant, nor did the San Joaquin Valley operations permit, the same organized effort used in the latter district. The Commission plans an intensive campaign in the Imperial Valley next year.

Throughout the year difficulty was had with one of the large cattle concerns operating some forty-one camps in the southern part of the state. Inspection of the camps at the end of 1923 showed twenty-one to be rated bad and twenty fair. Several conferences between the company's representative and the Commission's agents resulted in definitely placing responsibility for the deplorable conditions obtaining in most of the camps and the consequent eradication of nearly all causes of complaint. At the present time there are only a half dozen camps which are not in good condition and those are to be put in shape shortly. In the course of effecting this cleanup, two superintendents of camps were arrested and it is distinctly understood by all that this procedure will be followed in the future if the camps are not kept at the required standard after attention is called to any deficiency.

A rather new class of migratory labor now being met with is the migratory automobile labor group. This type is one which will be an increasing problem each year, chiefly on account of lack of stability —seeing the country seems to be the aim. As a class they work only long enough to secure a "short stake" and then move on. Many employers of labor claim that this type is even more shiftless than the blanket carrier who hikes the highways from place to place. They are to be found wherever there is a job, from the lumber, construction, fruit, hydro-electric to all other kinds of camps and the license plates on their cars run the whole scale of states.

In the main, the Camp Department's efforts have met with great success and little opposition. The spirit of cooperation shown by operators of camps is best exemplified by the fact that only six arrests were made and 1565 camps inspected.

HOUSING DEPARTMENT.

The energies of the Housing Department during the last year have been devoted mainly to routine inspection looking toward stricter enforcement of the State Housing Law; to checking plans and blue prints of proposed buildings; to assisting various cities in matters connected with the preparation and adoption of adequate building ordinances and the appointment of building inspectors; and to intensive surveys in the shack areas of various cities of the state, with a view to inaugurating a constructive program of housing relief in such districts.

Routine inspection work.

A total of 744 inspections and 465 reinspections of hotels and apartment houses in 124 cities were made. A detailed account of improvements is reflected later in this report. An important phase of this work has been the inspection of numerous hotels under construction in unincorporated districts of the state. Inspections showed in some instances that faulty construction has occurred in rural hotels, due to lack of knowledge of the Housing Act on the part of builders, or to the fact that there were no definitely appointed and functioning agencies in the outlying regions to enforce its provisions.

The Commission, without authority, has succeeded many times in having changes made in buildings during construction to correct violations of the law. For this reason it is strongly urged that at the next session of the legislature the State Housing Law be amended, empowering the Commission to enforce all the provisions of the act relating to construction as well as to maintenance of hotels and apartment houses in unincorporated areas.

Regular inspections in various cities of the state were followed by reinspections. The results effected are most gratifying. Numerous old structures in a state of bad repair were condemned and demolished, while extensive improvements were made in many others. There is convincing proof that in order to obtain desired results with respect to housing law enforcement, it is necessary to undertake considerable follow-up work, especially in those cities having no regularly appointed housing inspectors.

Transient dwellings.

There is a growing tendency to clutter the state with so-called "auto camps" and "tent cities." As a rule, these are nothing more or less than groups of small, cheaply constructed, one-room huts, crowded closely together, where living accommodations of a most limited character are to be had. Toilets and bathing facilities are few and far between, of a semi-public nature, and sanitation is generally bad. Little or no privacy is afforded to the occupants of these "camps." From the standpoints of housing, health and fire hazards, such group dwellings are a menace to themselves and to the communities in which they are located. Though many of them are new at the present time, they will rapidly fall into a state of bad repair because of their flimsy construction and degenerate into slum areas. This offers a rendezvous for an undesirable element, composed largely of nomads, who will constantly roam about the state from "camp to camp," transporting their worldly belongings by wagons, autos, etc. Once built, their elimination is a difficult task. They will ultimately become to California what the "refugee shacks" were to San Francisco long after the fire and earthquake of 1906. A new order of things will be established—slum conditions worse than the tenements of some of the eastern cities.

Several of these so-called "tent cities" were built supposedly to relieve the housing shortage of 1918 to 1922. They continue to thrive and have become the residence of thousands of families, many of whom are financially able to afford better quarters but have gradually adjusted themselves to the lower standards of these "camps." The Commission has fully realized for some time that the alarming growth of these community eye-sores is lowering the housing standard of California and on several occasions has had their construction summarily stopped. In many instances they are without doubt subject to the operation of the State Housing Act—being frame dwellings located in incorporated communities.

The State Board of Health, through a set of rules, is regulating the sanitation of these auto shelters, especially in the rural districts. Our department is working, through local building inspectors and other channels, to prevent further construction and to eliminate, wherever possible, present objectionable conditions. Auto camps and tent cities properly constructed and maintained for the convenience of the traveling public are essential; but as permanent homes for any class are not a necessity and should be discouraged.

Dwellings outside city limits.

Another serious situation has arisen in the last few years for which as yet there is no solution—this is the building of dwelling houses just outside of city limits. There is no regulation for this type of development and sanitary conditions as a rule are practically nil. The same arguments used above against the tent city apply to this class of building.

Fire hazards of hotels and apartment houses.

Early in the year a campaign was instituted by the Commission throughout the state, with particular reference to the fire hazard and fire escape situation in older hotels and apartment houses. This work has been carried on vigorously and excellent results have been obtained. A survey, particularly in some of the southern cities, brought out the fact that although many buildings had adequate fire escapes, access to them was obstructed by locked doors, blocked hallways, etc. Such conditions made the fire escapes practically useless for the purpose for which they were intended. Impetus was given to this fire hazard campaign when an old three-story wooden structure burned at Venice in July and some thirty-five persons lost their lives because of inadequate and defective fire escapes.

The fire escape installation clause of the State Housing Law is not retroactive in its nature, but in those cities where the Commission has recommended the adoption of building ordinances the urgent necessity of including a provision requiring fire escapes on old buildings has been stressed.

Building and housing ordinances.

Many cities had no building ordinances and others were operating with antiquated ones. The Commission urged the city councils to have proper codes prepared and adopted and competent persons appointed to enforce their provisions. Assistance has been given various city officials in collecting and preparing data for such ordinances. Sacramento, Martinez, Colton, Santa Maria, Burlingame, Oxnard, Fresno, Redondo Beach and El Centro now have their proposed building ordinances in the course of preparation. Venice, Signal Hill and Compton have recently adopted and are enforcing new ordinances. At the request of the Long Beach City Health Department a rough draft of a housing ordinance was prepared for that city. It is understood that it is now in the hands of the city attorney and it is expected that it will be adopted at a later date.

Plans and blue prints.

Considerable time has been devoted to checking plans and blue prints of proposed buildings which have been received in greatly increasing numbers at both the San Francisco and Los Angeles offices. Most of them have been received from cities where there were no active building departments, or from rural districts. Violations of the State Housing Act were noted in several instances and recommendations made. This prevented the construction of buildings which would have contained violations of good housing and saved the owners from remodeling them.

Applications.

Applications for information and interpretations of the State Housing Law from city officials as well as from architects, contractors, builders, owners of property and other interested persons have been received in increasing numbers.

Permanent housing for unskilled labor.

During the early part of the year considerable time was devoted to intensive surveys of housing conditions existing in the "foreign quarters" of Fresno and Riverside. General conditions obtaining in these quarters had long been known. Detailed surveys, however, were considered essential to ascertain their extent and nature, the causes for their existence and the tendencies for their development.

The bad housing conditions in these cities are in the most part in those areas occupied by the unskilled laboring element, particularly the Mexicans and negroes.

The Fresno survey included 160 habitations housing 683 persons, while that of Riverside considered 181 houses occupied by 927 persons. The surveys showed in a forceful manner the deplorable conditions of housing and sanitation in these quarters and the urgent need for constructive relief.

At the request of the Commission meetings were called by the mayors of the respective cities and attended by prominent and interested citizens. Methods were suggested at these meetings whereby the shack conditions could be replaced by substantial houses and plans were presented for moderate-priced habitations, outlining in detail the necessary steps for the organizing and financing of a housing company.

While nothing definite has yet been done in the way of actual construction of houses a definite response is expected in the near future.

A recent cursory survey at Riverside and Fresno showed that considerable improvement had already been effected, through the efforts of the local officials. There was manifest evidence that our original housing investigations had awakened the local authorities to the need of a clean-up campaign.

LEGISLATION.

A steadily increasing number of agricultural laborers who have worked as contractors or subcontractors in the preparation and harvesting of crops have come to the Commission for aid in the collection of money due them. This is not restricted to any particular section of the state but generally occurs when they are dealing with tenant farmers.

The condition has reached the point where legislation is deemed essential to correct the evil for the following reasons:

(a) Every man should be paid for his work.

(b) It causes an economical waste. Many times the laborer has had to stop work in the midst of the harvest through lack of funds to buy food for himself and his family; causing in some instances the loss of a considerable portion of the crop.

(c) It often becomes necessary for the charities to care for the worker and his family during the winter.

The Commission, after considerable study, recommends the following legislation to remedy the evil:

> "Any person who shall by his own labor, or that of his live stock, or by using his machinery, do or perform any labor or service upon any farm or land in tilling the same or sowing or harvesting or heading or threshing any grain, or in securing or assisting in securing or housing any crop or crops, has lien upon all such crop as shall have been raised upon all or any of such land, and on said land itself and said lien attaches from the date of the commencement of such work or labor, and is prior to all other liens and incumbrances."

Legislation of this type is not new and untried for some of it was passed in 1896. There are many states including Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Washington and Wisconsin, which protect the laborer by liens on temporary crops. Labor in this state is protected generally by liens on the land where permanent improvements are being made and the same philosophy supporting them applies to this.

Another factor caused through contracts for the harvesting of crops has been called to our attention forcibly through the Camp Sanitation Department.

The Camp Sanitation Law affects all camps wherein five or more persons are employed. Our supreme court has held that contractors or subcontractors do not come within the definition of "employee." Some of the employers are avoiding the responsibility of furnishing housing or sanitation for the workers in the harvesting of temporary crops. This is done by the making of contracts whereby the contractor, who is oftentimes irresponsible, shall provide housing. As a result a condition becomes extant which is as unsanitary and squalid as has ever existed. The worst feature is that family groups are usually involved.

To regulate this menace the Commission recommends the following amendments to the Camp Sanitation Act:

"Section 1. In or at any camp where five or more persons are employed (or working as contractors or subcontractors), bunk houses, tents, or other suitable sleeping places must be provided for all the employees (and their families, contractors and their families or subcontractors and their families).

Section 2. Every bunk house, tent or other sleeping place used for the purpose of a lodging or sleeping apartment in such camp, shall contain sufficient air space to insure an adequate supply of fresh air for each person occupying such bunk house, tent or other sleeping place. Suitable bunks or beds shall be provided for all employees (and their families, contractors and their families or subcontractors and their families). Such bunks or beds shall be made of steel, canvas or other sanitary material, and shall be so constructed as to afford reasonable comfort to the persons occupying same. A clear space of at least twenty inches extending from the floor to the ceiling or roof of any bunk house, tent or other sleeping place must be allowed between each bed or bunk in any bunk house, tent or sleeping place. Upon request of an employee (contractor or subcontractor) he must be supplied with a mattress or some equally comfortable bedding for which a reasonable charge may be made, the same to be deducted from his wages. When straw or other substitute for a mattress is used a container or tick must be provided."

The State Housing Law does not require the filing of plans and specifications of hotels and apartment houses in unincorporated areas. It is much less expensive to the owner to have plans changed than to remodel a new building.

There is no machinery outside of incorporated towns, incorporated cities and incorporated cities and counties for the direct enforcement of the State Housing Law.

It is recommended that amendments to the State Housing Law be made which would require the filing of the plans referred to above with the Commission and also give the Commission direct enforcement of the State Housing Law outside of incorporated areas.

ACT CREATING THE COMMISSION OF IMMIGRATION AND HOUSING OF CALIFORNIA.

CHAPTER 318.

An act relating to immigrants and immigration, creating a commission of immigration and housing, providing for the employment by said commission of a secretary, agents and other employees, authorizing said commission to fix their compensation, prescribing the duties of said commission, providing for the investigation by said commission of all things affecting immigrants, and for the care, protection and welfare of immigrants, and making an appropriation for the purpose of carrying out the provisions hereof.

Section 1. Within thirty days after this act shall go into effect, the governor of the state shall appoint five suitable persons to act as commissioners of immigration and housing. Said commissioners shall hold office and serve solely at the pleasure of the governor and not otherwise.

Sec. 2. Said commissioners shall serve without compensation, but shall be entitled to receive from the state their actual necessary expenses while traveling on the business of the commission, either within or without the State of California.

Sec. 3. The commission shall be known as the "Commission of Immigration and Housing of California." It shall have a seal for the authentication of its orders and proceedings upon which shall be inscribed the words "Commission of Immigration and Housing—California—Seal." Each member of the commission, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall take the oath of office as prescribed by the Political Code for state officers in general, and must execute an official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars. Within thirty days after appointment, the commission shall meet at the state capitol and organize, selecting a president, a vice president and secretary. A majority of the commission shall constitute a quorum for the exercise of the powers or authority conferred upon it. Whenever a vacancy occurs in the commission, from any cause whatsoever, such vacancy shall be filled by the governor, as provided in section one for the original creation of the commission. In case of a vacancy, the remaining members shall exercise all the powers and authority of the commission until such vacancy is filled. The commission shall maintain its headquarters and principal office in the city and county of San Francisco, and may establish branch offices at any place or places which in the judgment of the commission may be deemed advisable. The commission may, however, hold sessions at any place other than its offices when the convenience of the commission and the parties interested so requires.

Sec. 4. For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, the said commission is authorized to employ such expert and other employees as it may deem necessary, and upon such terms and for such compensation as it may deem proper. The said commission shall have power to enter into contracts of employment with such persons as it may desire to employ for a definite period of time; but no contract shall be made for more than one year. The employees of the commission shall be entitled to receive from the state their actual necessary expenses while traveling on the business of the commission, either within or without the State of California.

Sec. 5. The Commission of Immigration and Housing shall have the power to make full inquiry, examination and investigation into the condition, welfare and industrial opportunities of all immigrants arriving and being within the state. The commission shall also gather information as to the agricultural possibilities and opportunities for settlement on land within the state; such information to include soil and agricultural surveys of the arable land within the state and other data relating to the price and productivity of land. The commission shall also have power to collect information with respect to the need and demand for labor by the several agricultural, industrial and other productive activities, including public works, within the state; to gather information with respect to the supply of labor afforded by such immigrants as they shall from time to time arrive or be within the state; to ascertain the occupations for which such immigrants shall be best adapted, and to bring about intercommunication between them and the several activities requiring labor which will best promote their respective needs; to investigate and determine the genuineness of any application for labor that may be received and the treatment accorded to those for whom employment shall be secured; to cooperate with the state employment bureaus, municipal employment bureaus, and with private employment agencies within the state, and also with the employment and immigration bureaus conducted under the authority of the federal government or by the government of any other state, and with public and philanthropic agencies designed to aid in the distribution and employment of immigrants; and to devise and carry out such other suitable methods as will tend to prevent or relieve congestion and obviate unemployment; and to collect and publish, in English or foreign languages, for distribution among immigrants, in, or embarked for, California, such information as is deemed essential to their protection, distribution, education and welfare, and said commission is hereby empowered and authorized to have printed by the state printer any such reports or information, records or proceedings as it may deem necessary or proper; and if for any reason the state printer is not equipped to do any part of said work, then the said commission shall have the right and the authority to have the same done elsewhere upon such terms and conditions as it may deem proper.

Sec. 6. The commission shall cooperate with the proper authorities and organizations, federal, state, county, municipal and private, with the object in view of bringing to the immigrant the best opportunities for acquiring education and citizenship. To that end it shall procure from, or with the consent of, the federal authorities, complete lists giving the names, ages and destination within the state of all immigrant children of school age, and such other facts as will tend to identify them, and shall forthwith deliver copies of such lists to the superintendent of public instruction or the several boards of education and school boards in the respective localities within the state to which said children shall be destined, to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the education law relative to the compulsory attendance at school of children of school age. The commission shall further cooperate with the superintendent of public instruction and with the several boards of education in the state to ascertain the necessity for and the extent to which instruction should be imparted to immigrants within the state and to devise methods for the proper instruction of adult and minor aliens in the English language and other subjects; and in respect to the duties and rights of citizenship and the fundamental principles of the American system of government; and shall cooperate with the proper authorities and with private agencies to put into operation practical devices for training for citizenship and for encouraging naturalization. It shall be the aim to communicate this instruction to the immigrant as soon after his arrival as is practicable. The commission shall cooperate with the proper authorities to extend this education for both children and adults to labor camps and other localities from which the regular schools are not easily accessible. The commission in cooperation with the proper authorities and organizations shall encourage the establishment of playgrounds and other recreational activities, and also the establishment of settlements and social centers in cities and towns.

Sec. 7. With the object in view of rendering to the immigrants that protection to which they are entitled, the commission of immigration and housing may inspect all labor camps within the state, and may inspect all employment and contract agencies dealing with immigrants or who secure or negotiate contracts for their employment within the state; may investigate the banking relations that exist between immigrants and laborers; may investigate and inspect institutions established for the temporary shelter and care of immigrants and such philanthropic societies as shall be organized for the purpose of securing employment for or aiding in the distribution of immigrants, and the methods by which they are conducted; and shall investigate housing conditions under which immigrants live, and sanitary and safety conditions under which immigrants are employed; it shall further investigate conditions prevailing at the various places where immigrants are landed within the state and at the several docks, ferries, railway stations, and on trains and boats therein, and shall investigate any and all complaints with respect to frauds, extortion, incompetency and improper practices by notaries public and other public officials; it shall further investigate the relations existing between immigrants and steamship and railway ticket agents, hotel runners, cabmen, baggagemen, interpreters and pawnbrokers; it shall further investigate the dealings carried on between immigrants and real estate firms or corporations; and as the result of any of the above inspections or investigations, if it should find evidences of fraud, crime, extortion, incompetency, improper practices or exploitation, it shall be the duty of the commission of immigration and housing to present to the proper authorities the evidences for action thereon, and shall bring to bear all the authority within its power to see that justice is rendered. The commission shall also encourage the establishment of legal aid societies.

Sec. 8. With the further object in view of bringing to the immigrant the best protection the state can afford, it shall be the duty of the commission to call to the attention of the proper authorities any violations it may discover of the laws pertaining to the payment of wages, to the mode of paying, pertaining to the child labor laws, the employment of women, factory inspection laws, weekly day of rest laws, protection of labor under building laws, protection of labor under public works laws, laws relating to the white slave traffic, and of the state and county and municipal health departments; the tenement house laws, and other laws pertaining to housing conditions. The commission shall investigate and study the general economic, housing and social conditions of immigrants within the state, for the purpose of inducing remedial action by the various agencies of the state possessing requisite jurisdiction; and shall generally, in conjunction with existing public and private agencies, consider and devise means to promote the welfare of the state. The members of the commission of immigration and housing or any of their authorized agents shall have the right to enter into tenement houses, buildings and dwelling places for the purpose of inspecting such houses, buildings, and dwelling places to secure compliance with state tenement and building acts and municipal building ordinances and to prevent violation thereof, and shall have the right to examine the records of the various city departments charged with the enforcement of the tenement house law and other building regulations and to secure from them reports and copies of their records at any time.

Sec. 9. The commission shall have the right to demand of all officials, state, county and municipal, and it shall be the duty of said officials to supply, such information and references to records as will enable the commission to carry into effect the provisions and intent of this act; and shall have the right to enter upon private property to make investigation for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this act. For the purpose of carrying out fully the intent and spirit of this act, the said commission shall have full power and authority to gather any and all such evidence as it may deem proper and necessary in order to present the same to the proper authorities for the purpose of instituting prosecutions against any and all persons, firms or corporations found violating any of the laws of any municipality, county or of the state or of the federal government, concerning any of the matters in this act referred to.

Sec. 10. For the purpose of carrying out to the fullest extent the provisions hereof, the said commission or any member thereof shall have power to hold hearings for the purpose of investigation or inquiry, and for the purpose of reaching an amicable settlement of controversies existing between persons, firms, and corporations mentioned herein; and to this end and purpose, the said commissioners and each of them and such person as may be designated in writing by said commission, are hereby authorized and empowered to subpoena witnesses to appear at such hearings and to administer oaths. No decision shall be termed to be final until ratified and approved by the said commission and filed in its office. (Amended Stats. 1915, p. 848.)

Sec. 11. For the purpose of this act, the words immigrant and immigration shall refer to any alien who is within the state, either permanently or temporarily domiciled here, or in transit, or passing through the state to a contiguous state or territory; said words shall further refer to any alien who may first have taken up residence in some other state or in one of the federal territorial possessions, and then shall have removed to this state; said words shall further refer to all aliens coming to and being within the State of California. For the purpose of this act the word alien shall refer to all persons who are not native born or who have not received their final citizenship papers under the naturalization laws of the United States.

Sec. 12. This act shall not be construed to authorize or direct the commission of immigration and housing to induce or encourage immigration into this state or the United States.

Sec. 13. The commission of immigration and housing shall make an annual report to the governor, on the second day of January, of the operation of the commission.

Sec. 14. The sum of fifty thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act; and the state controller is hereby authorized and directed to draw warrants upon such sum, from time to time, upon the requisition of said commission, approved by the board of control; and the state treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay such warrants.

Sec. 15. The commission may make investigations of the housing of immigrants and working people and of city planning in California and elsewhere, may encourage the creation of local city planning commissions and may furnish information as to the progress of other cities for the use of such commissions. It may investigate and report upon defective housing and the evils resulting therefrom and the work being done to remedy the same in California and elsewhere. It may make studies of the operation and enforcement of building and tenement house laws, of housing finances and taxes, of zoning and districting regulations and may promote the formation of organizations intended to increase the supply of wholesome homes for the people, and aid in the enforcement of any laws enacted to promote the purposes for which the commission is established. (Added by Stats. 1917, p. 1514.)

Sec. 16. It shall be the duty of each and every city planning commission or housing commission of any incorporated city or town in the State of California to file on the first day of June of each year with the secretary of the commission of immigration and housing of California a complete report of its transactions and recommendations to any municipal organization or private person or corporation during the previous year, and particularly to report any conflict in authority, lack of cooperation with local municipal authorities or with adjoining cities, with recommendations for needed legislation to properly carry on the development of their housing and city planning work. The commission may annually, or oftener, call a conference of representatives of these commissions, of local health officers, housing inspectors, building inspectors or such other municipal officers as it shall deem advisable to carry out the purposes of this act. The commission may employ city planners and other persons whose salaries, wages and other necessary expenses of the commission will be provided for out of the funds of the disposal of the commission. (Added by Stats. 1917, p. 1514.)

Sec. 17. The commission may make an annual report on housing and city planning to the governor, which the state printer shall cause to be printed as a public document, and copies of this report shall be filed with each and every local housing and city planning commission in the State of California. The commission is further authorized to furnish information and suggestions from time to time to city governments, housing and city planning commissions and other public, semi-public or private bodies such as may, in its judgment, tend to promote the purposes for which the commission is established. (Added by Stats. 1917, p. 1514.)

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

To His Excellency, C. C. YOUNG,
Governor of California.

SIR: In compliance with section 13 of the act creating this Commission, I have the honor to submit herewith report of activities for the year 1926.

Respectfully submitted.

EDWARD J. HANNA,
President.

San Francisco, January 3, 1927.

INTRODUCTION.

The Commission of Immigration and Housing of California was created to study the immigration problem in so far as it affects the welfare of our state and the handicaps of immigrants due to their lack of knowledge of our laws, customs and language.

The duty of bettering housing conditions was placed upon this Commission for the reason that the immigrant, as a class, on his arrival has little money and no job. He is forced therefore to live in the poorest sections of the community and take the first available work.

In some of our cities in California today we have specific cases of persons well educated and trained for responsible positions as well as professions, who are doing the lowest kind of unskilled labor while they are studying our language, a knowledge of which will allow them to assume their proper position in our midst. We, of course, also have a large number of immigrants of low mentality who will always be unskilled laborers. In a state such as ours they are essential for our agriculture and our industry.

The duty of improving living conditions in labor camps was given the Commission because early surveys disclosed the fact that more than half of the workers in these camps were aliens.

At the last session of the legislature the duty of approving plans for county jails was transferred to this Commission from the Board of Charities and Corrections, at their request.

IMMIGRATION.

The Commission is precluded by its creating act from inducing or encouraging immigration into the state or the United States. Its sole interest so far as immigration is concerned is in the immigrants who are already in California.

The new immigration law has reduced the total immigration to the United States from 706,896 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, to 304,488 for the last fiscal year. This has had its effect on immigration to California. The new law does not affect the immigration of persons born in Canada, Mexico or in Central or South America, and it is reported there has been much illegal immigration over our borders.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, a total of 19,785 immigrant aliens gave California as their future permanent residence. There is no data available showing the number who have moved here from other states.

The following table is taken from the Report of the Commissioner General of Immigration for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926:

Immigration from Mexico during the last five years has been exceptionally heavy, the greatest number coming to Texas and California. Texas is often used as a distributing point and we may have many in California who have come from there.

Following is a table taken from the reports of the Commissioner General of Immigration covering the past five years:

	1922	1923	1924	1925	1926	Total
Total Immigration to the United States	309,556	522,919	706,896	294,314	304,488	2,138,173
Total Mexican Immigration to United States	18,246	62,709	87,648	32,378	43,316	245,297
Total Immigration to California	23,624	39,093	57,946	20,960	19,785	161,408
Total Mexican Immigration to California	2,454	7,520	15,038	4,861	7,823	37,696

The Mexicans are now doing much of the common labor in the fields and railroads and seem almost essential in both lines of endeavor. They are, however, causing an immense social problem for our charities, schools and health departments.

While the Commission realizes the fact that it is necessary to use unskilled labor in our state, nevertheless it believes that unrestricted immigration from Mexico should be stopped.

COMPLAINT DEPARTMENT.

The Complaint Department of the Commission is designed to receive and adjust the complaints of immigrants who are in trouble and through standardization of its methods can and does handle a large volume of work efficiently.

A matter presented by an immigrant is arbitrarily classed as a "Complaint" or an "Application." If the facts stated by a petitioner show that some other person, firm or corporation is involved adversely, such person, firm or corporation is named as defendant and the case filed as a complaint. The term defendant is used for the sake of brevity and clearness and is not understood in the legal sense. Where it appears that no other person is complained of and the matter requires only the giving of advice, information or assistance of a general nature, it is classed as an application. In complaint cases the facts are fully investigated and both sides of a dispute sifted before appropriate advice or assistance is given, or the proper action taken or indicated.

The five offices maintained by the Commission in the principal foreign population centers received a total of 2005 complaints and 1860 applications during the year. This total does not include information given in minor matters of which no record is kept.

Effect of the Immigration Act of 1924.

The work of the Complaint Department has continued to be a vital part of the Commission's activities making, as it does, the direct application of the Commission's basic principle, "to aid and protect immigrants." The Complaint Department deals with its charges on the most intimate terms and many of the matters presented by them are given in strictest confidence.

The decrease in immigration has not resulted in less work for the department, in fact along certain lines the work has increased, due to changes in administration caused by the Immigration Act of 1924. On broad lines this act classes aliens in three divisions, quota aliens, nonquota aliens and preference within quota aliens. In order to enter the United States every alien must obtain an immigration visa from an American Consul abroad and must establish his status to the satisfaction of the Consul. For the proof of status necessary for issuance of nonquota or preference within quota visas the Federal Immigration Service furnishes blank forms calling for varied information which, when supplied, substantiates the claim of the alien concerning his status. Very often the information necessary, while in existence, is beyond the ability of the alien to secure and the Complaint Department is called upon to procure it and attend to the proper drafting of the forms for its applicants.

Another source of trouble for the immigrant rising out of the act of 1924 is the necessity for noncitizens visiting abroad to secure a permit to reenter the United States. Failure to secure this permit may result in refusal of reentry if the alien proceeds abroad. This permit must be applied for in the same manner as those referred to, and the Complaint Department finds much work in putting these applications in correct form and securing the necessary data so to do.

These are the principal sources of increased work rising out of the act of 1924, but the department receives many inquiries concerning other phases of the act which do not fall into any general class. In the solution of these difficulties the Federal Immigration Service officials everywhere in the state invariably extend the department every courtesy and assistance.

Mexicans.

It will be noticed that the Mexicans have received more attention from the Complaint Department than any other nationality. The Mexican population far outnumbers the alien population of any other country on account of geographical proximity, lack of immigration restriction and necessity for use as labor in agricultural and railroad activity. It might appear that the Complaint Department is operated for the benefit of Mexicans, but proportionately to population there is no more done for the Mexican than for the national of any other country. Again, our state humanitarian institutions are in existence to benefit those who cannot for financial reasons greatly benefit themselves, and of all the immigrants within the state none fall more within this class than Mexicans.

The bulk of complaints made by Mexicans originate from labor contracts and family disputes and the greater number of these are disposed of in the Commission's Los Angeles office where the center of the state's Mexican population is found. This city is also the clearing house for Mexican labor which furnishes another reason for the large number of wage and labor disputes brought to the Commission's office there and referred to the local office of the Bureau of Labor Statistics or worked out in conjunction with it.

The spread of agricultural and vastly increased acreage devoted to seasonal crops require more labor for harvest time and a constant parade of Mexicans is to be found about the state. Sooner or later many of them are stranded without funds, usually in the southern counties, with the result that they become charges upon those counties. There should be a central agency or series of agencies established to regulate the flow of this itinerant labor to correct this condition and check the health menace necessarily involved. There will always be the need of Mexicans in agriculture and consequent need of constant watchfulness against impositions practiced upon them, as well as need for community protection against disease carriage by them as an inevitable consequence of the mode in which they live. People constantly on the move become accustomed to a low standard of living due to poor financial circumstances for one reason, and this low standard of living leads to many other evils needless to enumerate.

Complaint Officers.

The complaint officers in charge of the branch offices in addition to their regular duties have been active during the year in assisting the Labor Camp Department in the prosecution of persons arrested for violations of the Camp Sanitation Act. This has resulted in relieving the district attorneys of the counties where arrests were made of considerable work incident to the preparation and prosecution of these cases.

Nature of Complaints.

There has been a notable change in the nationality statistics for this year in that in the history of the Commission there has never been the number of complaints made by Chinese, Japanese and Filipinos. Most of these have their origin in agricultural contracts, where, as it often happens the grower pays the contractor who in turn omits to pay the subcontractors either wilfully or because his expenses outrun his profit. In the main most of the claims of this character were settled with a minimum of loss to our complainants and a great saving of the time and expense contingent to litigation.

The principal causes of complaint were trouble with officials of all classes, usually due to misunderstanding on both sides; difficulties arising from checks or other negotiable paper; fraud of all kinds and classes; real estate bought or sold; matters pertaining to federal immigration laws and claims for wages.

As usual investigation sometimes proved that the complaining immigrant was not always in the right as evidenced by the 118 cases dismissed as unfounded. In some instances it even appeared that he knew he was wrong but hoped to harass the defendant. The great majority of cases show, however, that the immigrant is nearly always in good faith with his complaint and has a just grievance to be remedied.

The statistical tables show the nature of all complaints heard and the general manner in which they were disposed of, but they do not show the human side of the individual cases or the patience, effort and serious investigation often necessary to bring them to a conclusion.

The following cases illustrate some of the difficulties of the immigrant and the methods used in obtaining redress for his grievances when redress is possible.

An educated Slavonian promoted an investment company, incorporated and went around the state selling stock in the concern to his countrymen. He proceeded within the limits of the permit granted him by the Commissioner of Corporations and his actions up to this point were entirely regular. After the expiration of six months the permit to sell securities of the company was revoked on technical grounds and any sale thereafter constituted a public offense.

During this period the concern had not transacted any business, its only activity being the sale of its corporate stock by its president, the promoter. Six months after the suspension of its permit, a dividend of five per cent was declared and paid to all who appeared on the books as stockholders. Obviously the dividend was paid from money collected from sale of stock, there being no profits, surplus or otherwise, out of which a dividend could be paid.

After the dividend the promoter covered the ground again, sold more stock to his old customers and added fresh names to a growing "sucker list" and then when the field had been well worked, left the state taking with him all the books and records of the company. He located at Evanston, Illinois, whence he wrote all stockholders to say that it had been decided to liquidate the concern and distribute the assets pro rata among them. The assets amounted to $160 in a Los Angeles Bank, while the individual stockholders paid from $100 to $3,000 for stock in the company at the rate of $100 per share.

A magistrate's warrant for his arrest was issued at Eureka but extradition was refused by the governor of Illinois as the offense involved only $200. Thereafter a grand jury indictment was returned in Humboldt County containing twenty-two counts embracing grand larceny and violation of the corporate securities act, involving more than $2,500. Extradition was again refused by the governor of Illinois. The entire matter was then turned over to the United States Post Office Department and it is still hoped that the defendant may be returned for trial in the Federal Court at Los Angeles.

The facts in this case were entirely developed by the Commission's agents and then diverted into the proper channels for action.

The average Mexican even more than the average American is an easy victim for any quick wealth promoter, and the following is typical of many cases called to the attention of the Complaint Department. One such Mexican called at the Commission's Los Angeles office with some advertising and letters which openly promised investors in Kansas oil lands a fortune within a short time. The advertising, run in one of the Spanish papers, was a palpable fraudulent misrepresentation and the concern was forced to categorically deny the misrepresentation in further advertisements and to radically change their methods. The complainant and many other potential Mexican investors were doubtless saved from financial loss in this concern.

A Slavonian farmer living near Chico received a call from a stranger who told him that he had fallen heir to $8,000 upon the death of a relative in the old country and that he was sent by the man who had the money. The holder of the money was in a hotel a few miles away and too sick to leave his room. The farmer went to the hotel with his visitor and was shown a box which apparently contained a large roll of money, his inheritance. The sick man said that he was duty bound to deliver to the right person and the only guarantee he would accept would be the placing of $3,000 in a similar box by the farmer and that sick as he was, he would make an effort to go to the farmer's bank with him to draw the money. On account of the suspicion of a bank official the farmer received only $1,500 which was placed in the box, after which all went to a room in a Chico hotel and exchanged boxes. The strangers left the room saying they would return in a few minutes, but when an hour passed the farmer becoming uneasy took his box to the bank where it was found to contain a large roll of paper with a two dollar bill on the outside.

The perpetrators of the ancient "box trick" were later arrested, tried and convicted.

An alleged robbery was committed in the Sacramento Valley in which a Russian woman was relieved of $1,500 at the point of a gun in her own house, by a stranger who had visited there the preceding evening with a mutual acquaintance and who had been informed of the intention of the woman and her husband to withdraw that amount of money from the bank on the next day. The matter was reported to the Commission's office at Sacramento and a futile search was made.

Some time later a Russian resident of San Francisco called at the office and said that he had been robbed of $1,500 and the details of his story, omitting the gun and the violence, were almost identical with the above complaint. The man fortunately was in a position to furnish a very good description of the offender and he was arrested in Los Angeles shortly afterward. He admitted the San Francisco crime, but his version of the manner in which he obtained the money was radically different from that of the complaining witness.

He claimed that he had called at the house of the complaining witness with a mutual friend and during the course of the evening discussion was had concerning various ways of making a good deal of money without working. Bootlegging and other schemes were discarded when he informed the company that he had with him a machine with which he could and did manufacture paper money in any quantity and for their edification produced the machine, put in a piece of white paper cut to currency size and by manipulation slipped through a new dollar bill claiming it to be the product of the white paper and the operation of the machine. The victims were duly impressed and readily accepted his idea that if they were to engage in the venture they might as well manufacture large bills. In the morning the host brought out three five hundred dollar bills to be used for samples. The artist apparently placed them in the device but really slipped them to his confederate. He then attached an ancient dry cell to the money-maker and gave orders that it should not be touched until his return, which he said would be two hours later. He has not yet returned.

The complaining witness vehemently denied all knowledge of any machine though one was found packed in a grip in his house and he admitted that the grip belonged to the robber.

The woman from the Sacramento Valley was brought to San Francisco and identified the prisoner as the same man who had robbed her. He then admitted that offense, but gave a like version to the San Francisco crime as to the manner of his commission of it. It is difficult to say which story is the true one in each case, but at all events a San Francisco jury found the high financier guilty of grand larceny.

The credulous Mexican continues to be fair game for the fake doctor of his own race as per the following tale of woe related by a victim to a complaint officer.

Some time ago complainant, who works on a ranch, brought his wife to visit a family. The defendant called at the home and seeing complainant's wife he asked to look at the palm of her hand. He immediately told her that her veins were crossed and that she was a very sick woman. He said if she would consult with her husband regarding a course of treatments with him he would guarantee to cure her. The wife became quite excited and discussed the matter with her husband and they debated over stopping the treatments which she was taking at a clinic and starting a new course with defendant. It was finally decided to do so and they called at defendant's home. At that time he said it would be necessary to secure $85—$5 for the examination and $80 for the treatments. Complainant stated that he had little or no money but would be glad to make payments in installments. Defendant refused and said he must have all of the money at once. Complainant said he would make what arrangements he could to raise the money.

At this first treatment, defendant placed the wife in a chair before a table. On the table were a picture of the Christ, a cross and a match.

He placed a small glass before the wife and asked her what she could see. She said, "A match." He said, "This proves that you are possessed by a woman who has absolute control over you and who is keeping you sick." He then walked around the room with his hands together and his head bowed as though in prayer.

Defendant made about five visits over a time of three months and on each occasion the same sort of treatment was given. At the fourth treatment defendant recommended some medicine and gave them four bottles which were to be taken home. The wife took a tablespoon of one of the medicines which made her very ill. She also tried two of the other bottles with no better results. The fourth bottle was for external application. According to complainant, the following is the way he describes the situation: "I believed defendant when he told me that he would cure the family. He said he would deliver the family in perfect condition for $85, but the family grew worse and each time the family looked into this glass and saw the match it seemed to excite her and make her that much worse."

At the last treatment defendant brought out a rag doll and placed pins in each side and the front of the forehead, a pin on the stomach and one on each knee and said, "This represents your wife's condition. A woman controls her. This doll will save her. I will send the doll to your house." A few days later, on the date that the doll was to have been found in complainant's home, complainant had arranged to meet defendant on a certain street corner in order to secure the report of a consultation which defendant promised to have with a friend of his regarding the wife's condition. Complainant waited from five to ten o'clock but defendant did not appear. He then went to the house and defendant said that he had been looking for the doll; that it had gone in the wrong direction but that he had found it and it was in a glass jar. He opened the jar and brought forth the doll with a dead frog tied to its stomach. He said, "The doll has done the work. Your wife is well. This will cost you $20." Complainant said he had but $10. Defendant said, "I will accept the $10 but you must bring me the balance in another week." He then took some oil and poured it over the doll and burned up the doll and the frog.

Complainant returned to his wife. She was very ill that night and has been ill since. They have never seen the defendant again.

CAMP DEPARTMENT.

A resume of the activities of the Camp Department for the past year shows that satisfactory results were obtained in the lumber industry and hydro-electric projects and considerable progress made in changing conditions in railroad maintenance-of-way camps. Difficulty was had in obtaining results in construction camps due to the lack of cooperation on the part of the operators. In addition to this the Commission has had one of its greatest problems—one that still exists and continues to grow—i. e., the working out of some satisfactory plan whereby Mexicans and their families can be properly housed and provided with the necessary sanitary facilities.

Agricultural pursuits of the state are increasing rapidly and steadily. This has brought an influx of Mexican labor which is fast supplanting American labor. Each year various agencies advertise and employ agents to procure Mexican labor, the uppermost thought in their minds being to bring labor in an abundance into the district. They do not consider how or where the Mexican is going to be housed, nor the possibility of a permanent residence—thinking of him as "here today and elsewhere tomorrow." From every indication at present it appears that the Mexican is here to stay and the situation must be met squarely by employers, welfare associations, civic clubs and organized labor. It is an economic as well as a social problem and one that affects the entire state.

The number of Mexicans engaged in seasonal labor with their willingness to live under any conditions imposed upon them by the employer is having a demoralizing effect on seasonal camps in which American labor is housed. Employers are as a general rule inclined to neglect furnishing proper housing and adequate sanitary facilities for the Mexican workers. This retrogression and laxness has necessitated never ending vigilance and a constant struggle on the part of the Commission's agents.

The average employer of Mexican labor, when approached by the Commission's inspector regarding camp conditions, usually answers by condemning the Mexican and all of his works, but he realizes the necessity for this class of labor during the harvest. The attitude of this class of employers is best expressed in the words of one who had been repeatedly advised by the Commission to place his camp in a sanitary condition, but who ignored all advice. Upon being arrested to enforce compliance with the act he said, "They have finished harvesting my crops, I will kick them out on the county road. My obligation is ended." He, in his shortsighted way, thought it had, but when he "kicked them out on the county road," the obligation of the community at large, of which he is an integral part, has just commenced.

How far-reaching may the neglect of or utter indifference to his obligation toward the Mexican laboring class on the part of the operator extend? Let us cite the case of the public school. In many localities the Mexican children attend the same school as the children of American families who are permanently located in the district. This demands constant watchfulness on the part of the school teachers and nurses as it has been found that children who come from squalid labor camps may be a source of infection for the local children. The Commission has received a number of letters from school attendance officers and school nurses regarding insanitary conditions in labor camps in which migratory Mexican children are living. The following is an excerpt from one of the letters:

> " During the past three weeks I have had under close observation the migratory labor brought into _____ County. We were able to put the children into school and supply them with a migratory teacher; but yesterday the school nurse was obliged to send them home to clean up because of head lice. When the children first came they were clean. This head condition has developed because of the dirty conditions of these camps." ***

During the month of November, 1926, the Director of Camp Sanitation was requested by one of the county health officers of Southern California to accompany him on an investigation of the housing and sanitary conveniences in one of the agricultural districts of his county. Utter indifference and total disregard on the part of the operators of camps, as to how or where the Mexican employees lived, were manifest on all sides—a condition for which there was no excuse. One of the Commission's inspectors had previously inspected every labor camp in this particular district and had advised the operators what was required to make all camps livable and sanitary. In addition to finding the camps in a deplorable condition, the director and county health officer, during the course of their visit, also brought to light the fact that many Mexican children who were infected with eye disease were attending the same schools as the local children. Inspection showed that the camps from which the infected children came were invariably filthy hovels.

The above instance is another example showing the need for eternal vigilance on the part of the Camp Department in attempting to solve the problem of adequate housing and sanitary facilities for the vast army of Mexican laborers.

A typical instance of the assumption of the obligation of an employer toward his labor is best illustrated by the case of the operator of one of the largest camps in Southern California. Last spring the Director of Camp Sanitation was asked to go over the situation. After doing so thoroughly he called on the operator and produced figures showing that in this particular camp the highest infantile mortality rate in the county prevailed. This condition, according to the physician and nurses of the school district, was chargeable to shack houses, overcrowding and primitive sanitary conditions. Not a particularly pleasant situation, nor one conducive to a feeling of pride on the part of the operator. However, when this condition was brought to his attention he, in company with the Director, went over the entire situation and after some conferences relative to costs and construction, the old insanitary shacks were dismantled and destroyed and a model village housing 32 families was erected in their stead. The school nurse in the district in which this camp was located writes the Commission in the following manner:

> " The new _____ camp is completed. They have used the lumber from the old shacks to build chicken houses and have whitewashed them. The company is working on our 'neighborhood house' and we are hoping to get in by December.

"The Commission's agents certainly started improvements among the Mexican labor camps of this district. Of course, everything isn't just up to the mark yet, but the camps are in so much better condition than they were."

Another problem with which the Commission has had to deal is the method of employment frequently used by operators who are developing large tracts of land for growing intensive crops; such as melons, peas, lettuce and tomatoes. Many of this class aim to shift the responsibility of operating the labor camps to a contractor whom they engage to secure labor for the harvesting of their particular crops. This contractor is usually a Mexican or Filipino who has some standing as a leader among his own people, being in many instances a very irresponsible person and one whose finances are probably no greater than those of the laborers he employs. With the responsibility of the operation of the camp on his shoulders and generally without funds to supply the necessary conveniences, this Mexican or Filipino contractor lets the inevitable happen, and that is—the persons he employs must either provide their own housing or take up their residences in any abandoned shack that may be handy. In many instances improvised habitations are built of burlap, boxes, brush, packing cases, tin cans, cartons or whatever may be available on the location, and occasionally we find them housed in abandoned stables.

The Commission's agents during the year have encountered many of that class of camps, and it has been necessary to prosecute the contractor to bring about the desired results. By this method of procedure the employer who is using the contractor as a shield has to produce the money to make the improvements or lose his labor supply, because of the contractor's financial inability to do so.

The policy of persuading operators of permanent and semi-permanent camps to provide beds and bedding for their employees is gradually being extended. One of the large lumber companies and also a mining company have put the system into effect this year. Several hydro-electric companies have leased the dining and sleeping quarters to companies who provide everything necessary, thus eliminating the carrying of bedding by the workers. Many men object to carrying blankets, but they are willing to pay the charge necessary to cover the cost of having accommodations furnished and cared for by the employer or his agent.

Taking the lumber industry as a unit, operators have continued to cooperate with the Commission. When camps are operated directly by the company little difficulty is had in securing satisfactory results. However, some of the lumber companies contract the cutting of tracts of timber to an individual, or as is sometimes the case, to several men —this class of operator is known as a "jipo". "Jipo camps" are usually any kind of habitations that can be cheaply thrown together. During the past year several of this class of camp operator were brought into court for neglecting to comply with the Commission's instructions repeatedly given.

A number of hydro-electric projects are employing several thousand workers. Due to the educational work of previous years, complaints from workers in this class of camps are few. Operators construct their camps on lines advised by the Commission and during the life of the camp keep all units up to standard.

Various railroad companies during the past year have made considerable progress in improving living conditions for the workers. The Commission expects to see the plan extended, particularly by one of the companies which in conjunction with the Commission's agents has outlined a comprehensive campaign of improvements in section, maintenance-of-way, bridge and building and signal gang camps. This work has already been started and will continue until all of the objectional conditions have been remedied.

Camps in the citrus belts are being improved each year—old camps remodeled, new ones constructed and the advice of the inspectors being carried out. Citrus camp operators have long ago learned that good living conditions mean they will have more contented workers when needed to harvest the crop, with less turnover.

In August the Commission added another camp inspector to the staff. With the addition of one more inspector it was possible to rearrange the routing by locating one man in Sacramento, one in Fresno, one in Los Angeles and one in San Francisco. This makes possible a more intensive program of inspection. Before this it was not possible to make reinspections, especially of camps where seasonal workers were employed, and to carry on the regular inspection work which must necessarily be done in camps of a more permanent nature. Most of the 468 camps that were "bad" on original inspection were temporary camps. It was possible to reinspect 89 and of this number 69 were brought to a rating of either "good" or "fair." This result in many cases, however, was not obtained until the inspector had made several visits and prosecuted some of the more obstinate operators who showed no inclination to cooperate.

During the past year the Director of the Camp Department has held meetings in various places throughout the state in which Mexican labor is used almost exclusively. These meetings were held with the object in view of educating the employers and the business interests regarding the necessity of providing adequate housing and sanitary conveniences for all agricultural laborers. At all times the friendly, helpful cooperation of the Commission's entire personnel was extended to owners, operators and all who were interested.

HOUSING DEPARTMENT.

The Housing Department of the Commission has devoted considerable effort in securing corrections of violations discovered during previous surveys. Numerous old hotels, apartment houses and other habitations were vacated or demolished. There were also many instances where buildings were completely remodeled and renovated so as to meet with the requirements of the State Housing Act.

Investigation has clearly shown that inspection of the cheaper class of hotels should be made frequently. Places found to comply with the act today will later show violations, such as rooms vacated on account of not having ventilation to the outer air will be occupied; a room will be used for cooking and sleeping; water closets which had been clean will be dirty and insanitary; yards formerly clean will be littered with rubbish and filth.

Original inspections were carried on as usual. In many cases violations affecting life and safety were discovered—due to a number of causes. The builder may be at fault, the local official may be unfamiliar with the act and too frequently there is inadequate building inspection. A number of the smaller cities in the state lack building departments or any department charged with the enforcement of the Housing Act. The Commission has succeeded in getting some of these cities to appoint inspectors and has trained these men in housing work. Through this method the local officials are more familiar with the State Housing Act and as a result better enforcement has been obtained.

Requests for advice and assistance have increased during the last year from most of the cities in the state as well as some of the counties. With the exception of six counties the rural districts are inspected by the Commission only. The department has cooperated with officials in Los Angeles, Riverside, Orange, San Luis Obispo, Ventura and San Diego counties in campaigns to improve housing conditions in areas populated by unskilled labor—particularly the foreign element. Intensive surveys were conducted in the Mexican sections of Riverside, Casa Blanca and Arlington. A general cleanup of shack conditions in those communities is now under way.

One of the most interesting improvements in housing for unskilled labor is that now under way in a large orange orchard where shack habitations were scattered throughout the holding. The company is constructing new houses with sanitary conveniences at a central point. When these are completed the present hovels, forty to fifty in number, will be destroyed.

The Commission has also assisted the Los Angeles County Health Department in rural sanitation and housing surveys, particularly in the San Fernando district. These campaigns have been most comprehensive in their scope and are probably the only ones of their kind now being carried on in the country. The results of the surveys have been the complete rehabilitation of several slum areas.

The use of the so-called auto camps as a permanent place of abode is bringing into existence a new type of slum area, which will be a menace in some of our incorporated cities. Sanitary facilities are, as a rule, inadequate, there is little privacy, they are often dirty and are a fire menace. During the year groups of flimsy buildings, one story in height containing three room apartments and garage, have been built in several incorporated towns. Some of these structures, which are called auto camps, have as many as fifteen apartments under the same roof. These must be classed under the State Housing Act as dwellings, because they are only one story in height, and do not have sufficient protection for the number of families who occupy them.

Many shacks used as dwellings have been built outside the limits of a number of our incorporated cities. These are not reached by the State Housing Act and to meet the situation the Commission has recommended county housing ordinances.

The Commission has reviewed new building ordinances for several cities during the past year in order to avoid conflicts with the State Housing Act. Many cities are without building codes, others are obsolete. The Pacific Coast Building Officials Conference has been holding meetings in various parts of the state for the purpose of compiling a standard or uniform code. A representative of the Commission attended all meetings and aided in its preparation. The preliminary draft was accepted at the annual meeting last summer and it is expected that the final draft will be presented at the next annual meeting. The Commission during the coming year will in all probability be prepared to recommend this as a code to cities not having one.

There has been considerable building of one-story single family modern dwellings in a number of cities. This is reflected in the reports of the cities of Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland building departments. These departments issued 14,797 permits at an approximate value of $46,267,267 for this type of dwelling.

During the year there has been a considerable increase in the number of plans and blue prints of proposed buildings received for checking as to compliance with the State Housing Act, and several major violations were pointed out for correction. In some instances it was necessary to recommend the preparation of entirely new sets of plans. The service extended by the department in checking over plans and blue prints and noting violations before construction is started has saved builders thousands of dollars.

Housing is one of many social and economic problems. The public is usually slow to recognize the value of good housing with its provisions for sanitation, good ventilation of rooms and structural safety of buildings. This is particularly true where the smaller incorporated cities have no local building and sanitation laws. The following tables, however, show the progress made.

JAILS.

At the last session of the legislature the Commission was given authority to approve plans for the construction of county jails. This work was formerly carried on by the Department of Public Welfare and was transferred at their request.

In order to make a study of existing conditions so that proper rules and regulations could be drawn, inspections of the jails were made. Some of them were found to be a grave fire menace to the occupants, others were insanitary and poorly ventilated with inadequate sanitary and bathing facilities and no provisions made for sterilization and fumigation.

After having made this study the Commission decided upon the following rules, which have been approved by experts in jail construction throughout the country:

Recommendations and Rules Governing the construction of Prisons, Reformatories, Workhouses, Jails and other places of penal confinement.

1. Should be a fireproof building wherein all exterior and interior loads or stresses are transmitted to the foundation by means of concrete, reinforced concrete, brick, stone, or by means of a skeleton framework of steel or iron, or of reinforced concrete, or a combination of such materials; the exterior walls, inner court walls and roof constructed of concrete, reinforced concrete, brick, stone, terra cotta or concrete tile; where all the structural steel or iron is thoroughly fireproofed by concrete, cement, plaster, tile brick or sandstone not less than two inches thick; where all the interior partitions are constructed of terra cotta or concrete tile or blocks, gypsum blocks, brick, concrete, reinforced concrete, or of metal studs lathed with metal lath and plastered not less than three-quarters of an inch thick. Every window shall be of wire glass not less than one-fourth inch thick set in metal frame and sash.

2. Should have a standpipe and sufficient hose connected on each floor with constant water pressure, or an efficient chemical fire extinguisher on each floor.

3. No building or room in which cells are installed should be less than sixteen (16) feet by twenty (20) feet floor area inside; and the ceiling not less than nine (9) feet in height for one tier of cells. The ceiling height for two tiers of cells should be not less than eighteen feet in height, provided that a cell or room which has direct ventilation by a window or windows opening directly on a street, yard or court should be not less in dimensions than seven (7) feet by eight (8) feet floor area, and ceiling not less than nine (9) feet in height.

4. The total window area should be not less than one-eighth of the superficial floor area of room in which cells are located, and in the event that a double tier of cells is provided, the said window area should be doubled. All such windows should be located so as to properly light all portions of the room or compartment, as the case may be, and should be made and arranged so that at least one-half of the aggregate window area required in such room or compartment may be opened unobstructed.

5. In lieu of windows such cells or rooms may be ventilated by a skylight with fixed or moveable louvers directly to the outer air of sufficient size to give proper light and ventilation. Skylights should be of incombustible materials and glazed with wire glass not less than one-fourth inch thick.

6. All window guards should be properly imbedded and anchored into concrete or masonry walls.

7. There should be at least four hundred (400) cubic feet of air space for each person confined in the room in which cells are installed.

8. Cells for one person should be at least five (5) feet wide, seven (7) feet long by seven (7) feet high.

9. Cells for two persons should be at least five (5) feet eight (8) inches wide, eight (8) feet long by eight (8) feet high.

10. In no case should cells be occupied by more than two persons.

11. Grating and plate in cell walls and ceilings should be so arranged as to allow free circulation of air throughout.

12. Each cell should be equipped with toilet and lavatory.

13. All jails should have adequate bathing facilities.

14. All jails should be provided with three lock-up departments, one each for male, female and juvenile prisoners, with the exception of the village lock-up, which is generally of one or two cells.

During the past year the Commission has checked plans for new jails in Del Norte, San Bernardino, Siskiyou, and Solano counties, as well as for alterations in Alameda county. It has also discussed plans for a new jail in Santa Barbara county. In every instance the best of cooperation has been received from the county officials.

CHAPTER 318.

An act relating to immigrants and immigration, creating a commission of immigration and housing, providing for the employment by said commission of a secretary, agents and other employees, authorizing said commission to fix their compensation, prescribing the duties of said commission, providing for the investigation by said commission of all things affecting immigrants, and for the care, protection and welfare of immigrants, and making an appropriation for the purpose of carrying out the provisions hereof.

SECTION 1. Within thirty days after this act shall go into effect, the governor of the state shall appoint five suitable persons to act as commissioners of immigration and housing. Said commissioners shall hold office and serve solely at the pleasure of the governor and not otherwise.

SEC. 2. Said commissioners shall serve without compensation, but shall be entitled to receive from the state their actual necessary expenses while traveling on the business of the commission, either within or without the State of California.

SEC. 3. The Commission shall be known as the "Commission of Immigration and Housing of California." It shall have a seal for the authentication of its orders and proceedings upon which shall be inscribed the words "Commission of Immigration and Housing—California—Seal." Each member of the commission, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall take the oath of office as prescribed by the Political Code for state officers in general, and must execute an official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars. Within thirty days after appointment, the commission shall meet at the State Capitol and organize, selecting a president, a vice president and secretary. A majority of the commission shall constitute a quorum for the exercise of the powers or authority conferred upon it. Whenever a vacancy occurs in the commission, from any cause whatsoever, such vacancy shall be filled by the governor, as provided in section one for the original creation of the commission. In case of a vacancy, the remaining members shall exercise all the powers and authority of the commission until such vacancy is filled. The commission shall maintain its headquarters and principal office in the city and county of San Francisco and may establish branch offices at any place or places which in the judgment of the commission may be deemed advisable. The commission may, however, hold sessions at any place other than its offices when the convenience of the commission and the parties interested so requires.

SEC. 4. For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, the said commission is authorized to employ such expert and other employees as it may deem necessary, and upon such terms and for such compensation as it may deem proper. The said commission shall have power to enter into contracts of employment with such persons as it may desire to employ for a definite period of time; but no contract shall be made for more than one year. The employees of the commission shall be entitled to receive from the state their actual necessary expenses while traveling on the business of the commission, either within or without the State of California.

SEC. 5. The Commission of Immigration and Housing shall have the power to make full inquiry, examination and investigation into the condition, welfare and industrial opportunities of all immigrants arriving and being within the state. The commission shall also gather information as to the agricultural possibilities and opportunities for settlement on land within the state; such information to include soil and agricultural surveys of the arable land within the state and other data relating to the price and productivity of land. The commission shall also have power to collect information with respect to the need and demand for labor by the several agricultural, industrial and other productive activities, including public works, within the state; to gather information with respect to the supply of labor afforded by such immigrants as they shall from time to time arrive or be within the state; to ascertain the occupations for which such immigrants shall be best adapted, and to bring about intercommunication between them and the several activities requiring labor which will best promote their respective needs; to investigate and determine the genuineness of any application for labor that may be received and the treatment accorded to those for whom employment shall be secured; to cooperate with the state employment bureaus, municipal employment bureaus, and with private employment agencies within the state, and also with the employment and immigration bureaus conducted under the authority of the federal government or by the government of any other state, and with public and philanthropic agencies designed to aid in the distribution and employment of immigrants; and to devise and carry out such other suitable methods as will tend to prevent or relieve congestion and obviate unemployment; and to collect and publish, in English or foreign languages, for distribution among immigrants, in, or embarked for, California, such information as is deemed essential to their protection, distribution, education and welfare, and said commission is hereby empowered and authorized to have printed by the state printer any such reports or information, records or proceedings, as it may deem necessary or proper; and if for any reason the state printer is not equipped to do any part of said work, then the said commission shall have the right and the authority to have the same done elsewhere upon such terms and conditions as it may deem proper.

SEC. 6. The commission shall cooperate with the proper authorities and organizations, federal, state, county, municipal and private, with the object in view of bringing to the immigrant the best opportunities for acquiring education and citizenship. To that end it shall procure from, or with the consent of the federal authorities, complete lists giving the names, ages and destination within the state of all immigrant children of school age, and such other facts as will tend to identify them, and shall forthwith deliver copies of such lists to the superintendent of public instruction or the several boards of education and school boards in the respective localities within the state to which said children shall be destined, to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the education law relative to the compulsory attendance at school of children of school age. The commission shall further cooperate with the superintendent of public instruction and with the several boards of education in the state to ascertain the necessity for and the extent to which instruction should be imparted to immigrants within the state and to devise methods for the proper instruction of adult and minor aliens in the English language and other subjects; and in respect to the duties and rights of citizenship and the fundamental principles of the American system of government; and shall cooperate with the proper authorities and with private agencies to put into operation practical devices for training for citizenship and for encouraging naturalization. It shall be the aim to communicate this instruction to the immigrant as soon after his arrival as is practicable. The commission shall cooperate with the proper authorities to extend this education for both children and adults to labor camps and other localities from which the regular schools are not easily accessible. The commission in cooperation with the proper authorities and organizations shall encourage the establishment of playgrounds and other recreational activities, and also the establishment of settlements and social centers in cities and towns.

SEC. 7. With the object in view of rendering to the immigrants that protection to which they are entitled, the commission of immigration and housing may inspect all labor camps within the state, and may inspect all employment and contract agencies dealing with immigrants or who secure or negotiate contracts for their employment within the state; may investigate the banking relations that exist between immigrants and laborers; may investigate and inspect institutions established for the temporary shelter and care of immigrants and such philanthropic societies as shall be oragnized for the purpose of securing employment for or aiding in the distribution of immigrants, and the methods by which they are conducted; and shall investigate housing conditions under which immigrants live and sanitary and safety conditions under which immigrants are employed; it shall further investigate conditions prevailing at the various places where immigrants are landed within the state and at the several docks, ferries, railway stations, and on trains and boats therein, and shall investigate any and all complaints with respect to frauds, extortion, incompetency and improper practices by notaries public and other public officials; it shall further investigate the relations existing between immigrants and steamship and railway ticket agents, hotel runners, cabmen, baggagemen, interpreters and pawnbrokers; it shall further investigate the dealings carried on between immigrants and real estate firms or corporations; and as a result of any of the above inspections or investigations, if it should find evidence of fraud, crime, extortion, incompetency, improper practices or exploitation, it shall be the duty of the commission of immigration and housing to present to the proper authorities the evidences for action thereon, and shall bring to bear all the authority within its power to see that justice is rendered. The commission shall also encourage the establishment of legal aid societies.

SEC. 8. With the further object in view of bringing to the immigrant the best protection the state can afford, it shall be the duty of the commission to call to the attention of the proper authorities any violations it may discover of the laws pertaining to the payment of wages, to the mode of paying, pertaining to the child labor laws, the employment of women, factory inspection laws, weekly day of rest laws, protection of labor under building laws, protection of labor under public works laws, laws relating to the white slave traffic, and laws of the state and county and municipal health departments; the tenement house laws, and other laws pertaining to housing conditions. The commission shall investigate and study the general economic, housing and social conditions of immigrants within the state, for the purpose of inducing remedial action by the various agencies of the state possessing requisite jurisdiction; and shall generally, in conjunction with existing public and private agencies, consider and devise means to promote the welfare of the state. The members of the commission of immigration and housing or any of their authorized agents shall have the right to enter into tenement houses, buildings and dwelling places for the purpose of inspecting such houses, buildings, and dwelling places to secure compliance with state tenement and building acts and municipal building ordinances and to prevent violation thereof, and shall have the right to examine the records of the various city departments charged with the enforcement of the tenement house law and other building regulations and to secure from them reports and copies of their records at any time.

SEC. 9. The commission shall have the right to demand of all officials, state, county and municipal, and it shall be the duty of said officials to supply such information and references to records as will enable the commission to carry into effect the provisions and intent of this act; and shall have the right to enter upon private property to make investigation for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act. For the purpose of carrying out fully the intent and spirit of this act, the said commission shall have full power and authority to gather any and all such evidence as it may deem proper and necessary in order to present the same to the proper authorities for the purpose of instituting prosecutions against any and all persons, firms or corporations found violating any of the laws of any municipality, county or of the state or of the federal government, concerning any of the matters in this act referred to.

SEC. 10. For the purpose of carrying out to the fullest extent the provisions hereof, the said commission or any member thereof shall have power to hold hearings for the purpose of investigation or inquiry, and for the purpose of reaching an amicable settlement of controversies existing between persons, firms and corporations mentioned herein; and to this end and purpose, the said commissioners and each of them and such person as may be designated in writing by said commission, are hereby authorized and empowered to subpoena witnesses to appear at such hearings and to administer oaths. No decision shall be termed to be final until ratified and approved by the said commission and filed in its office. (Amended Stats. 1915, p. 848.)

SEC. 11. For the purpose of this act, the words immigrant and immigration shall refer to any alien who is within the state, either permanently or temporarily domiciled here, or in transit, or passing through the state to a contiguous state or territory; said words shall further refer to any alien who may first have taken up residence in some other state or in one of the federal territorial possessions, and then shall have removed to this state; said words shall further refer to all aliens coming to and being within the State of California. For the purpose of this act the word alien shall refer to all persons who are not native born or who have not received their final citizenship papers under the naturalization laws of the United States.

SEC. 12. This act shall not be construed to authorize or direct the commission of immigration and housing to induce or encourage immigration into this state or the United States.

SEC. 13. The commission of immigration and housing shall make an annual report to the governor, on the second day of January, of the operation of the commission.

SEC. 14. The sum of fifty thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act; and the State Controller is hereby authorized and directed to draw warrants upon such sum, from time to time, upon the requisition of said commission, approved by the board of control; and the state treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay such warrants.

SEC. 15. The commission may make investigations of the housing of immigrants and working people and of city planning in California and elsewhere, may encourage the creation of local city planning commissions and may furnish information as to the progress of other cities for the use of such commissions. It may investigate and report upon defective housing and the evils resulting therefrom and the work being done to remedy the same in California and elsewhere. It may make studies of the operation and enforcement of building and tenement house laws, of housing finances and taxes, of zoning and districting regulations and may promote the formation of organizations intended to increase the supply of wholesome homes for the people, and aid in the enforcement of any laws enacted to promote the purposes for which the commission is established. (Added by Stats. 1917, p. 1514.)

SEC. 16. It shall be the duty of each and every city planning commission or housing commission of any incorporated city or town in the State of California to file on the first day of June of each year with the secretary of the commission of immigration and housing of California a complete report of its transactions and recommendations to any municipal organization or private person or corporation during the previous year, and particularly to report any conflict in authority, lack of cooperation with local municipal authorities or with adjoining cities, with recommendations for needed legislation to properly carry on the development of their housing and city planning work. The commission may annually, or oftener, call a conference of representatives of these commissions, of local health officers, housing inspectors, building inspectors or such other municipal officers as it shall deem advisable to carry out the purposes of this act. The commission may employ city planners and other persons whose salaries, wages and other necessary expenses of the commission will be provided for out of the funds at the disposal of the commission. (Added by Stats. 1917, p. 1514.)

SEC. 17. The commission may make an annual report on housing and city planning to the governor, which the state printer shall cause to be printed as a public document, and copies of this report shall be filed with each and every local housing and city planning commission in the State of California. The commission is further authorized to furnish information and suggestions from time to time to city governments, housing and city planning commissions and other public, semipublic or private bodies such as may, in its judgment, tend to promote the purposes for which the commission is established. (Added by Stats. 1917, p. 1514.)

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT COMMISSION FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDING JUNE 30, 1925

HONORABLE FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of the State of California.

DEAR SIR: In compliance with the provisions of section 88, chapter 176, Laws of 1913, we herewith submit the annual report of this Commission for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1924, and ending June 30, 1925.

Very respectfully,

JOHN A. MCGILVRAY,
JOHN W. CARRIGAN,
J. E. OLMSTED,
Commissioners.

Dated at San Francisco, California, this thirty-first day of December, 1925.

INTRODUCTORY.

In the performance of its duties as the administrative body to carry out the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety Act, this Commission has followed the text of the law in creating the distinctive departments of:

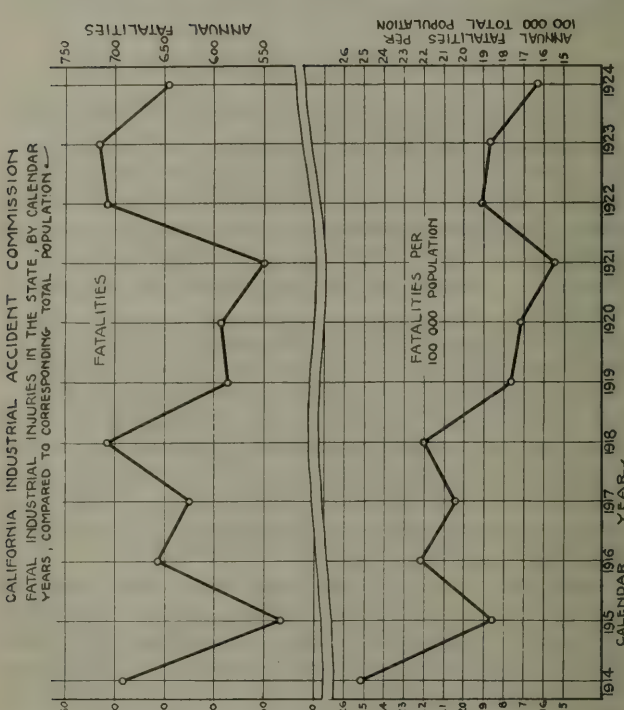
Compensation, Insurance, and Safety.

As adjuncts to these departments it has been found expedient to create and maintain other bureaus for the coordination of a complete system, under the titles of:

Accounting, Legal, Medical, Permanent Disability Rating. and Statistical.

In submitting its annual report the Commission presents a separate report from each of these departments.

In addition to these designated departments, the Commission maintains general offices in both San Francisco and Los Angeles, under the immediate supervision of secretaries and assistants, where those seeking information or redress are advised and assisted in accordance with their needs. Through these intermediaries much is accomplished in securing prompt relief without the necessity of formal proceedings. These offices likewise handle a mass of correspondence from those who are too far removed for a personal call, and similar results are quite generally accomplished.



Supplementary to the detailed report of the "Accounting Department," the Commission desires to call particular attention to the fact that its expenditures have not only been kept within the appropriation for the biennium, but closed the period with a surplus of $28,265.68.

As pointed out in our annual report for the preceding fiscal year, the field of endeavor for accident prevention work is without limit. The report from that department is particularly gratifying to us, as it indicates a cooperation from those we are endeavoring to enlist in the furtherance of this work to obtain desired results. The Commission wishes to stress its conviction that compulsory compliance with requirements is not the sole factor in accident prevention. We are convinced that the more important factor is that of education in the need for and use of safety methods and appliances.

Special effort has been put forth in this direction where opportunity has been afforded in addressing gatherings of employers and workmen, and tentative plans for the future include a continuance of our efforts in this direction. The Commission wishes to further stress that it will at all times be glad to receive information regarding places of employment where safety rules or orders are being violated, and we invite such information in specific form.

Supplementing the reports of the Statistical and Safety Departments we here insert a table showing fatalities for the years 1914 to 1924, inclusive, as compared with corresponding total population, the upward swing for 1922, being in large measure accounted for by the "Argonaut" mine disaster. Other upward swings reflect maritime fatalities where the vessels were of California register. This table tends to show that industrial fatalities have decreased, when compared to population, since safety methods have been required.

The report of the State Compensation Insurance Fund reflects a healthy growth and shows a sound financial status. In connection with this department the Commission will wish to say that a recent examination was made by a special representative from the office of the Insurance Commissioner of this state, and his report was to the effect that the fund was not only in a sound financial condition, with a surplus sufficient to meet expectant emergencies, but its methods of computing returns to policyholders was found to be in accordance with established actuarial rules. This was especially gratifying to your Commission, as it is proof that the purpose for which the Fund was created has been carried out. It has been the aim of this Commission, in its administrative supervision of the Fund, to make that department a model compensation insurance carrier and at the same time furnish insurance coverage at a minimum of cost. The report of that department shows the saving it has effected for its policyholders in the form of dividends to the amount of $9,521,699.29.

The following tables show the growth of this department as to premiums received, surplus, and cases handled:

The Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety Act, under which the Commission operates, was strengthened by amendments to sections 24, 29 and 46½ enacted by the last legislature. Under section 24, compensation claims are now a preferred claim, the same as claims for wages. This was a needed change, as there have been instances in the past where substantial justice was defeated for the lack of preference.

Section 29 now makes it a misdemeanor not to secure the payment of compensation, where the employment subjects the employer to the liability for compensation, and the punishment for failure would seem to be sufficient for compliance. Extended publicity has been given to this amendment with the result that many employers have since taken out compensation insurance or applied for certificate of consent to self-insure. Special effort is being directed to bring about compliance with this requirement and where it is found to be wilfully violated, prosecutions will follow.

The amendment to section 46½ strengthens the Commission's authority in compelling observance of requirements in places of employment and this is as it should be. Section 9 of the act was also amended, and this change was likewise a needed one. When the law was first enacted it provided a burial expense of not to exceed $100, payable out of awards to dependents. The amendment increased this allowance to $150 and provides that this sum shall be in addition to awards to dependents.

In submitting its annual report, section 88 provides that the Commission may offer "such suggestions or recommendations as it may deem of value for public information." On the assumption that this provision will permit, your Commission here calls attention to the specific exclusion of certain classes of employment under the existing compensation law, calling particular attention to the exclusion of farm and kindred labor.

While the law makes provision for the inclusion of such employees if the employer so desires, and many employers throughout the state have voluntarily brought their employees under the benefits of the act, it is nevertheless a fact that many injuries are reported in these occupations, where the injured is left to his own resources or public charity. Until the burden of every industry is placed upon that industry, society as a whole must bear the burden.

If the theory is correct that compensation is the equitable distribution of the industrial burden, then it would seem that there should be no exceptions where the employment is a recognized industry with its hazards. Farm and kindred labor have grown more hazardous with the introduction of modern machinery, and their contribution to the list of injured is shown in our statistical reports. The Commission is offering the consideration of this question as a matter of public concern.

ACCOUNTING DEPARTMENT.

The fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, closes the first biennium under the new budget law. For this two-year period, the Commission's appropriations amounted to $529,820. At the close of the fiscal year there was an unused balance on hand of $36,847.88, which will revert to the State General Fund.

Due to the fact that the law does not permit the interchange of Salary and Support Appropriations, the Commission was faced with a deficit in the Salary Appropriation, while there was a surplus in Support. The Commission was allowed a deficiency resolution of $9,000 from the Accident Prevention Fund for Salaries. Of this sum, $8,582.20 was expended, the balance reverting to the Accident Prevention Fund. Deducting this $8,582.20 from our balance of $36,847.88 above, leaves $28,265.68, the net amount saved by the Commission for the biennium.

Under the terms of the budget law, the additional income of the Commission, which comes largely from the tax on the premiums of the State Compensation Insurance Fund, is not available for use by the Commission to supplement its appropriations. Expenditures must be confined to the amount of the appropriated funds. Our income for the year amounted to $158,289.63.

The expenditures of the Commission for the last two fiscal years have been considerably less than those for several years. The Commission's accounting system was changed on July 1, 1919, when a uniform system of state accounting was established. The following figures show the amounts of appropriations, departmental income and expenditures for the six years under the present accounting system.

Fiscal year	Dates	Appropriations	Departmental income	Expenditures
71st	July 1, 1919–June 30, 1920	$225,000 00	$154,652 36	$340,366 61
72d	July 1, 1920–June 30, 1921	225,000 00	133,404 30	400,372 40
73d	July 1, 1921–June 30, 1922	267,000 00	134,093 80	391,978 61
74th	July 1, 1922–June 30, 1923	267,000 00	149,447 80	413,318 18
75th	July 1, 1923–June 30, 1924	264,910 00	*245,523 25	237,426 20
76th	July 1, 1924–June 30, 1925	264,910 00	158,289 63	263,736 14

*This large increase in income is due to a change in the method of handling the income from the tax on the premiums of the State Compensation Insurance Fund. Prior to the 75th fiscal year the income from this source was set up as it was paid. Beginning with the 75th fiscal year, it was set up as it accrued. This figure includes the tax on about 18 months' premiums. Also beginning with the 75th fiscal year, the departmental income was not available to supplement our appropriations.

The Commission was instrumental in having a special appropriation bill introduced in the last legislature to refund to employers and insurance companies the amounts paid into the Industrial Rehabilitation Fund. These payments were made into this fund under the terms of the Rehabilitation Act, chapter 183, Laws of 1919, which provided that the sum of $350 be paid into the Rehabilitation Fund whenever an employee was killed in an industrial injury and no dependents were left. The money so provided was to be used for reeducation and rehabilitation of injured workmen. The law also provided that if any dependents of a killed workman established their dependency after the $350 payment has been made into the state treasury, they would be entitled to receive from the Rehabilitation Fund the $350 paid in by the employers or such part of it as they were entitled to.

Some employers and insurance companies complied with the law, while others withheld payment pending the decision of the courts on the constitutionality of the statute. The money collected was used for rehabilitation work and a number of men were placed in schools. The State Supreme Court finally decided the law to be unconstitutional. The appropriation bill referred to above was introduced in the legislature to refund the payments made into the Rehabilitation Fund and also to pay a few bills for services which remained unpaid at the time the court decision was handed down. The total amount collected by the Commission during the time the law was operative was $48,475. The unpaid bills amounted to $157.90. The appropriation bill was passed by the legislature and signed by the Governor on May 20, 1925. There were a total of 41 firms and individuals having claims against the Rehabilitation Fund. The appropriation was made in the name of E. E. Purrington, Accountant for the Commission, and when the appropriation becomes available after July 24, 1925, claimants will be asked to sign assignments in trust to E. E. Purrington. When these are all executed, refund checks will be issued. Included in the 41 claimants are 3 claims of dependents. The complete list of those entitled to refunds follows:

COMPENSATION DEPARTMENT.

The great increase in cases filed during the fiscal year 1923-1924 over the previous year was noted in our last report. The fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, showed an increase of only 2.7 per cent in cases filed. The department, however, by efficient and strenuous endeavors, increased the amount of work turned out, the increase in deciding cases over the previous year being 12 per cent. In other words, in spite of the increase in cases filed the number of cases pending was reduced from 878 to 775. Detailed report follows:

LEGAL DEPARTMENT.

During the fiscal year 1924-1925, 74 petitions for writs of review were filed in the appellate courts from the Commission's decisions as opposed to 63 for the year preceding. On July 1, 1925, these petitions had been disposed of as follows:

Petitions for writs of review denied	37
Petitions for writs of review granted	29
Pending	6
Settled and dismissed	2

Of the petitions for writs of review granted during the year, the Commission's award was affirmed in 11, annulled in 4, with 14 proceedings still pending.

At the beginning of the fiscal year, nine writs of review and one petition for writ of review were pending in the courts. Of the nine writs pending, the Commission's award was affirmed in eight and annulled in one. The pending petition for writ of review was denied.

In three other proceedings commenced in the previous fiscal year, petitions were pending or were later filed in the Supreme Court asking that court to review decisions of the District Court of Appeal involving workmen's compensation cases. In one, the Supreme Court subsequently reversed the District Court of Appeal, affirming the Commission's decision. In the second, it affirmed the District Court of Appeal in an annulment of an award of the Commission. In the third it affirmed the District Court of Appeal in denying a petition for writ of review from the Commission's decision.

Including with the 1924-1925 proceedings those which were carried over from the preceding fiscal year, it appears that out of 64 review proceedings decided during the year, the Commission was sustained in 57 cases (38 petitions for writs denied and 19 affirmances) and was reversed in five cases with two cases settled.

Of the undetermined cases at the close of the last fiscal year, the six petitions for writs of review which were pending have since been closed by denial of the petition in three and the granting of writs of review in three. Of the fourteen review proceedings pending July 1, 1925, to which should be added the three writs of review granted subsequently, decisions have since been had as follows: affirmances, 10; annulments, 2; pending, 5.

In handling appeals from the Commission's decisions during the year, 67 answers to petitions for writs of review, 28 briefs, 16 answers to petitions for rehearing or hearing, and four petitions for hearing or rehearing were prepared by the attorney who also participated in 24 arguments during the year.

Other work done by the attorney during the fiscal year may be summarized as follows: criminal prosecutions for violation of the safety provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1; citations for criminal prosecution in safety matters, 8; brief in United States Supreme Court, 1; defense in District Court of Appeal on writ of mandate, 1; defense in Federal Court on suit against the Commission for an injunction, 1; intervention in Superior Court in cases involving interpretation of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1; argument before United States Referee in Bankruptcy to establish priority of Workmen's Compensation claims, 1; participation at coroner's inquest, 1; representation of Commission in special safety hearing, 1; attendance at inquiry before District Attorney on claim of perjury in a proceeding before the Commission, 1.

Noteworthy decisions handed down during the year may be described as follows:

State Compensation Insurance Fund vs. Industrial Accident Commission and Kathryn Willson, in which the exemption of the Commission from the usual rules of evidence was finally established.

Occan Accident and Guarantee Corporation, Ltd., vs. Industrial Accident Commission and Teso, in which the Supreme Court sustained the Commission's interpretation of the workmen's compensation insurance policies with reference to the automatic extension clause. It was here held that such policies cover all work in which the employer may enter during the policy year, unless specifically excluded and that the classifications listed in the application are not to be treated as exclusions.

In United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company vs. Industrial Accident Commission and Avila, it was held that an employer may waive the statute of limitations by furnishing additional compensation and that such waiver is binding upon the insurance company though it had not consented to it.

In North Pacific Steamship Company vs. Soley, the United States Supreme Court finally closed the question of whether the Commission's award could be set aside in any other manner than by the method of review prescribed by the Workmen's Compensation Act, in the negative, ending a controversy of many years.

In a series of cases the State Supreme Court reaffirmed and extended the principle that death benefits are to be computed upon the exact situation in effect at the time of the death of the employee, whether such situation be fairly typical of future support or not.

In Moore Shipbuilding Company vs. Industrial Accident Commission and Simmons, the court established a rule for occupational diseases resulting from exposure to the same hazard in successive employments, by holding that responsibility could not be divided between successive employers unless the employee showed actual symptoms of the illness while in the service of the earlier employer. In the absence of such symptoms the last employer must pay the entire compensation.

In two cases, the appellate courts, by denial of writs of review, established the proposition that where compensation is paid for an injury originally, the employee may, within 245 weeks from such injury, claim the compensation due for permanent disability resulting therefrom, even though a permanent stage is not reached within six months from the last payment of compensation.

In four cases the appellate courts affirmed awards against employers for 50 per cent additional compensation on account of their serious and wilful misconduct. To date, every award made by the Commission against employers for such additional compensation which has been appealed to the courts has been sustained by them.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

The Medical Department submits the following tabulated report which records the actual number of examinations, reports and bills handled by this department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925.

July 1, 1924—June 30, 1925.

PERMANENT DISABILITY RATING DEPARTMENT.

One of the most important results of industrial hazards is the creation of permanently disabled workmen. While statistics show that only 3.85 per cent of all accidents result in permanent disability, the incurred compensation cost of this type of injury amounts to more than the incurred cost for any other type of disability resulting from injury, or the cost of medical treatment for all injuries. Permanent disability is also responsible for the creation of a class of maimed and crippled workmen who continually labor, if at all, under a handicap, and who are the first to feel the effects of retrenchment in times of industrial depression.

Most of the compensation laws of the various states award compensation for permanent injury based upon physical loss only. The California law is unique in that it required that, in addition to the nature of the physical injury or disfigurement, consideration be also given to age and occupation in arrving at the percentage of permanent disability. It was believed that the primary object of compensation was to tide a man over the period of his adversity, to give him and his family financial assistance during the period when it is needed most, and to help him back into his old position in industry. It was believed, so far as permanent disability was concerned, that age and occupation were important factors in such rehabilitation.

Age was considered important because a man's ability to adapt himself to changed conditions—that is, a loss of part of his body or normal functions—decreases as he becomes older. Due to constitutional changes, an older man can not accommodate himself to a permanent injury as easily as a younger man can. Also, since the vitality of the tissues decreases with age, the period of convalescence will, on the average, be greater with age. This is an important factor in a compensation law such as ours, where the amount of temporary disability compensation is deducted from the final permanent disability rating.

One occupation may require a great amount of physical use of a particular part of the body, or of some particular function, while another may require no physical use of this same part of the body, or this same function. There are many degrees of physical requirement in so far as the work incidental to an occupation requires a greater or less use of the various parts of the worker's body.

A permanent injury to a physical member using skill acquired during a period of apprenticeship and years of active work in his occupation, may mean, with the loss of use of that skill, a complete change of occupation, and consequently a decreased earning capacity.

Where a man has no skill to lose, the result is less important, and such a man does not require so long a period of accommodation to regain that skill, or to learn to apply it in a different way. A carpenter, losing the minor index finger, will have difficulty in handling nails, but if he can learn to make his three remaining fingers do the work of four, he will not have to give up his trade. But it will take time to learn the trick.

If the Commission has to hold a hearing in every case involving permanent disability, in order to determine the nature of the physical injury, the physical requirements of the occupation and the effect of injury on the use of that physical requirement, and to determine the effect of age upon both, a large part of their time would be taken up with adjudicating permanent injuries alone. It was considered feasible to determine all this data and properly correlate them before the happening of the accident.

Accordingly, the Permanent Disability Rating Department was organized in July of 1913 to make investigations and studies, and to correlate such data into a schedule which would automatically rate permanent injuries, with due consideration being given to factors of age and occupation. After extensive investigation such a schedule was compiled and became effective January 1, 1914. With a few changes and modifications, indicated in the light of experience, the schedule is still in use.

The Rating Department, which at first was retained to give advice to injured workmen and to insurance company adjusters in the use of the schedule, has become an important advisory department of the Commission, since all permanent injuries throughout the state, where the Commission has jurisdiction, are now rated by this department.

It was at first believed possible for insurance companies and injured workmen to rate their own cases, without referring them to the Commission, but experience soon showed this not to be practicable. Due to the fact that types and combinations of injuries are infinite in number, any schedule can only be used as a guide. Justice requires uniformity, and it was not long before it became the practice to refer all cases for rating to the Rating Department for determination.

The ratings made for permanent disability are not awards of the Commission, but are recommendations of the Rating Department only; and so satisfactorily has the system worked out, that not more than 2 per cent of all ratings made have been referred to the Commission for formal hearing and decision.

Usually such appeals are based upon an inadequate medical description, or they are appealed because the permanent disability rating allows little, if any, compensation in addition to the compensation already paid. Until the law is changed, allowing permanent disability compensation to be paid in addition to the temporary disability compensation, such cases will continue to be referred to the Commission for formal decision.

The ratings are based upon information contained in the medical reports filed and the application of the injured workman, forms for such purpose being supplied by the Commission. The medical reports are often inadequate, and then it is necessary to have the man call for examination by the Commission's own medical examiners. The percentage of disability can in many cases be rated directly by reference to the schedule; but many cases have to be rated upon precedent, or by approximation to the nearest description in the schedule.

Complicated cases, requiring the exercise of considerable judgment and discretion, are referred to an advisory rating committee of three members. When the rating has been determined, the parties concerned are advised by letter, the letter stating the factors upon which the rating is based, together with the number of weeks of disability payments represented by the percentage, and the rate of disability payment per week.

A few figures will show how many hearings are avoided by having such a schedule and a rating department to advise the parties concerned.

During the two fiscal years from July 1, 1923, to June 30, 1925, 6654 cases involving permanent disability were rated. Due to a change in the disability or to inaccurate information, 696 other cases were reconsidered and a new rating made. Of the total number of 7350 cases rated, only 873 were cases in which hearings were held. In the majority of such cases, other factors were in dispute than the percentage of permanent disability.

Many of these permanently disabled workmen have serious disabilities. During the two years there were 117 cases involving a life pension, including 40 cases of permanent total disability. A pension for life is payable in every case that is rated at 70 per cent or more. Injuries to to the spine were the largest single type of injury among these pension cases.

Early diagnosis, with X-rays of the spine, followed by proper treatment, would have prevented some of these workmen from being so severely disabled. The severest of all injuries included among these pension cases is that of a young man only 20 years of age, who lost both legs and both arms when he came in contact with a high voltage wire. Compensation can not begin to pay him for what he has lost, although computation shows that if he lives out his normal life expectancy of 41.66 years he will receive from the insurance company a total sum of $25,931. It pays the employer to be insured, and it pays the injured workmen to have the maximum of safety devices and safety spirit.

Permanent disability statistics show that safety work has paid, but much can still be accomplished. While there has been an increase in permanent disability accident frequency, there has also been a gratifying decrease in the permanent disability accident severity. This favorable result in the decrease of accident severity can be attributed to several causes, not the least important of which is safety work.

Injured workmen are being taught to think "safety;" employers are learning that it pays to have safe machinery; insurance companies and their doctors are learning that giving the best of treatment is cheaper than paying out large amounts of compensation for permanent disability payments. The athlete who relies on his record to win a contest is usually beaten. Safety work can not rely on past accomplishments. Accidents are still occurring with great frequency. It is many times better and cheaper to prevent an accident than to try to repair or repay the human machine after it is mained for life.

DEPARTMENT OF SAFETY.

It can be said, without fear of contradiction, that a number of commendable progressive steps were taken by the Department of Safety during the fiscal year 1924-1925. In previous years the department has of necessity placed the greatest emphasis on mechanical guards for equipment and especially for moving machinery. This was desirable due to the prevalence of unsafe equipment and the general lack of understanding of the principles of prevention on the part of employers.

With some exceptions, the employers of the state are now attempting to provide reasonably safe mechanical equipment so that more attention can and should be given to the selling of the idea of safe conduct to the employee; this selling phase of accident prevention work is educational in nature. The arousing and retaining of an effective interest in safety among employees in general is the most difficult and discouraging task of the department.

The department has realized the need for educational work along the line of prevention of accidents. While it is not the province of the Industrial Accident Commission to undertake to teach safety through the elementary public schools, an effort has been made to bring the importance of the subject to the attention of instructors in manual training schools, technical schools and colleges of the state. Many of the students of these institutions will later be members of the active body of employees of industry as workmen, foremen, superintendents or executives, and as such will be in position to apply the lessons taught them in the school room.

Extension Course.

Following the plan for greater effort along educational lines, the department, through the courtesy of the Extension Division of the University of California, conducted a course of fifteen (15) lectures on "Safe Practices in Industry." All of the lectures were given by members of the staff of the department with the exception of the last lecture on "Compensation Law," which was presented by Commissioner John A. McGilvray. A start was made in the direction desired and time will show a gathering impetus whether the work is carried forward by the department or by other agencies. The effort made is known to be along logical lines.

Safety Meetings.

In addition to the extension course many lectures and talks have been given by the staff members at safety meetings for employees, foremen, inspectors and the general public. The following table gives the number of meetings held during the year at various plants, universities and conventions:

Group	Number of meetings held
Employees	18
Foremen	6
General public	17
Inspectors	5
University students	2
Total	48

Assignment of Personnel.

On June 30, 1925, there were eighteen (18) men employed by the department. The Chief Engineer and Superintendent has been stationed in San Francisco and an Assistant Superintendent has had charge of the Los Angeles office of the department. Two engineers have been detailed on mining problems, one looking after the safety of the mines, quarries, cement plants and oil fields in northern California and the other making inspections of similar plants in southern California.

Two construction inspectors have covered construction jobs throughout the state. One inspector was detailed to the inspection of logging and sawmill operations and planing mills. One engineer has made specialized electrical inspections. Three men were detailed to general mechanical inspections in industrial plants. Two boiler inspectors and four elevator inspectors and one office engineer completed the personnel list. During the year seven (7) men were added to the staff and three (3) men resigned, leaving a net increase of four (4) men for the year. Wherever possible all duplication of inspections has been eliminated.

Special credit should be given the members of the staff who have without exception given their wholehearted support to the work for which the department was organized. The spirit of good-will has undoubtedly had wholesome influence on industry which has resulted in a growing desire to meet the requirements of the Commission. This in turn is bringing about a more effective cooperation on the part of employers and employees.

Inspections.

The inspection work of the department has been divided into seven (7) divisions:

1. Mining,
2. Construction,
3. Elevator,
4. Boiler,
5. Mechanical,
6. Electrical, and
7. Lumber and Shipbuilding.

A total of 16,768 inspections were made during the year as compared with a total of 10,932 inspections made during the previous year of 1923-1924, an increase of 53 per cent. The staff was increased during the year by four (4) men, an increase of 31 per cent. This indicates an increasing efficiency of the department.

The following table gives the number of inspections (by divisions) for the fiscal year 1924-1925:

Division	Regular	Special	Total
Mining	1,817	390	2,207
Construction	3,286	487	3,773
Elevator	3,311	1,422	4,733
Boiler	3,189	496	2,685
Mechanical	1,690	319	2,009
Electrical	238	218	456
Lumber	734	171	905
Totals	13,265	3,503	16,768

All complaints of unsafe conditions have been investigated. The number of special visits has been increasing; 30 per cent more of such visits having been made in the last half than in the first half of the year. The gradual increase in regular inspections being made is shown by the following table:

Six months period:	Number of regular inspections
July-December, 1923	3,319
January-June, 1924	4,766
July-December, 1924	5,300
January-June, 1925	7,965

Mining.

During the past year, considerable progress has been made in providing better ventilation in the deep mines. The storage and use of explosives, fire-fighting equipment, and the organization of safety committees have received careful attention. The cooperation between mine operators, employees, and the Commission has been excellent. At present approximately 400 metal mines are being worked, employing some 8000 men. It is of interest to note that at least 30,000 men are employed in all mining operations which include quarrying and tunneling. The deepest gold mines (nearly one mile in depth) are in California; also this state is one of the leading producers of cement. More tunnels are being driven than in any other state, due to hydro-electrical development.

The time of one engineer has been spent in the oil fields of southern California, due to the intensive drilling operations there. It has been no small task to cover these fields. The San Joaquin Valley and Ventura County fields also received proper inspections. The number of employees in the petroleum industry exceeds 40,000.

A special study of hazards found in absorption, gasoline, and oil refinery plants has been made. As a result of this survey, a number of valuable suggestions were given to operators in an effort to prevent accidents due to explosions, fire, and other causes.

Technical articles prepared by our inspectors covering prevention of accidents in the mining and petroleum industries appeared in the "California Safety News," "Chamber of Mines and Oil Bulletin," and other publications. Valuable aid has been given to the Petroleum Safety Committee of the Society of Safety Engineers of California, relative to the prevention of accidents in the petroleum industry. Our engineers gave talks on accident prevention at the annual convention of the Society of Safety Engineers which was held in Los Angeles in May, 1925. At this convention, the Commission was highly praised for the excellent accident prevention work being done by its Safety Department in the petroleum industry.

Cooperation has continued throughout the year with the Chamber of Mines and Oil, California Metal and Mineral Producers Association, California State Mining Bureau, U. S. Bureau of Mines, and other organizations of the state.

Construction.

This division has completed another very active year. The building industry has continued at top speed and the development of power projects has increased. Efforts were made to inspect all the major construction jobs in the state at their most critical period, with the view of eliminating all possible hazards. Cooperation from the employer was sought, both as an added safety measure and to protect the employer against serious and wilful misconduct claims. Efforts were made not only to secure compliance with requirements as laid down in the General Construction Safety Orders but also to interest both employer and employee in safety work.

Illustrated lectures and many individual talks were given to the men on the job for the purpose of pointing out actual hazardous conditions. During the last half of the fiscal year a construction inspector was stationed in the Los Angeles District, giving continuous service to the building industry in the southern part of the state. Two inspection trips to the extreme southern part of the state, one to the northern section and one along the high Sierras to the east were made during the year.

Elevator.

The inspection of elevators has been carried on under the authority of chapter 74, Statutes of 1917, as amended by chapter 330, Statutes of 1921, which requires that the Commission "shall cause all power and hand-power elevators to be inspected not less frequently than once each year."

Inspections have been made under the Elevator Safety Orders, which have been in force since April 1, 1918. Revised orders were effective January 1, 1925, since which time the provisions of the revision have controlled all inspection work. Insured elevators have been regularly inspected by inspectors certified by the Commission and employed by the insurance companies. The state is responsible for the annual inspection of approximately 4000 uninsured elevators.

Boiler.

Eighteen hundred and ten internal and two hundred and twenty-six external inspections of boilers scattered all over the state were made. This is about 55 per cent of all boilers on the inspection list. In addition about 60 shop inspections of code boilers were made. Fifty-four air tanks were inspected on request. No attempt was made to inspect air tanks unless requested to do so. As a result of the above inspections, 621 dangerous and 1693 serious conditions were found by state inspectors. In most cases these conditions were corrected or boilers were removed from service. Extensive repairs were ordered on 26 boilers. Thirteen were found beyond repair, no pressure being allowed. Pressure was out on a number of boilers on account of weakened condition. Insured boilers have been regularly inspected by inspectors certified by the Commission and employed by the insurance companies, oil and railway companies.

Convention.

The fourth annual convention of the 130 certified boiler and elevator inspectors was held in Los Angeles on January 6 to 10, 1925, at the Alexandria Hotel under the auspices of the Commission. The attendance was good. The program was well arranged. The inspectors who attended were undoubtedly benefited and the close relationship previously existing between them and the department was strengthened.

Mechanical-Electrical.

The mechanical inspections have been made along new lines, in so far as the industries affected are concerned. The study of the dry cleaning industry has been continued. In the metal working plants the punch press has received considerable attention. The effort here has not been so much toward the guarding of the machines as in the direction of better design of dies and methods of feeding and removing the material.

Great stress has been laid on educational work. Representatives of the department have attended plant safety meetings, addressed employees, and consulted with foremen and executives on safe practices. In the cases of several large companies operating a number of plants, it has seemed feasible to do much of the work at the head office, in the hope of creating a uniform plan of accident prevention throughout the organization. Large corporations are most adapted to this method of procedure. Conferences at the head office have been supplemented by inspections of the individual plants, but these inspections have been gradually discontinued as conditions permitted. This leaves more time available for other work without sacrifice of the interests of the employees of the large companies.

Electrical inspection work was directed principally to new installations and to places of employment where the greatest number of electrical accidents were reported. Investigations were made of a number of fatal electrical accidents in the industries and compliance with the requirements for approved electrical installations and safe operating practices was ordered where necessary.

Shipbuilding and Lumbering.

There has been a great slump in the shipbuilding industry during the past year. Very little construction work is being done and this has been on vessels of small tonnage. Construction yards are doing repair work and some have branched out into the manufacture of fabricated steel products. The number of employees engaged in this industry has been comparatively greatly reduced, probably not more than 3000 men being employed steadily within the state. The number employed increases somewhat when large repair jobs are undertaken. The employers in this industry are paying greater attention to accident prevention work than ever before and it is believed that the accident record curve is downward due to the resulting closer supervision.

The lumbering industry in this state is a large one, possibly employing more men than any other single industry. The field is widely scattered and requires two years of one inspector's time to thoroughly cover it. The field is divided into two districts, one known as the "Redwood" and the other the "Pine." The number of larger operations are about evenly divided between the two divisions. A complete inspection is made of one of these divisions during each calendar year. There has been a great improvement in the physical conditions of this industry in so far as accident prevention work is concerned. A number of the larger plants have recently organized safety committees. Where such committees have been working for any length of time good results have been observed.

In February, 1925, the lumbermen held their second annual accident prevention convention in San Francisco. This was attended by representatives of about twenty of the larger operators.

Publication of Orders.

Progress has been made on the revision of several general safety orders.

Proposed revisions of the Elevator Safety Orders, after having been submitted to public hearings in legal manner, were adopted and published by the Commission, effective January 1, 1925.

Following public hearings in San Francisco and Los Angeles, in June, 1925, the Boiler Safety Orders are being prepared in their final form, and will soon be published, to be made effective some time during the fall of 1925.

Several committees have been working on the revision and additions to the Air Pressure Tank Safety Orders, and revised orders are being prepared in tentative form for consideration at public hearings.

The revision of the Electrical Utilization Safety Orders was completed and public hearings were held in San Francisco and Los Angeles, at which the revised Electrical Safety Orders were recommended for adoption. They will be widely distributed among electrical workers and electrical contractors. Municipal electrical inspection departments will enforce the provisions of the orders in places of employment coming within their jurisdiction and the orders will also be used as the standard for electrical installations in other places.

Other Publications.

The "California Safety News" was published quarterly throughout the year, issues appearing for September, December, March and June. There has been a decided improvement in its appearance and value. This fact has been commented on by many who regularly receive our official publication.

During the year advisory pamphlets have been published, under the titles of "Hazards Ordinarily Found in Garages," "Hazards in the Dry Cleaning Industry," and "Elementary First Aid Instruction for Employees in Industry." The purpose of these pamphlets is to call to the attention of both employer and employee the particular hazards that occur in their respective industries, with suggestions for eliminating them, and to bring home the realization that physical injury may be prevented, and that accident reduction is the result of effort to that end and not merely a matter of "good luck."

STATISTICAL REPORT.

For the year beginning July 1, 1924, and ending June 30, 1925, there were reported to this Commission 211,178 industrial injuries.

Of these 89,069, or 42.1 per cent of the total, represent the tabulatable injuries; that is, injuries which caused disability lasting longer than the day of injury. The remaining 122,109 cases caused no disability, but required medical attention other than ordinary first aid treatment. Of the tabulatable injuries, 645 caused death, 1215 caused a permanent impairment of at least 1 per cent, and 87,209 caused a temporary disability.

The reports of injury filed by the employers, insurance carriers and physicians covering each six month period, that is, from July 1, 1924, to December 31, 1924, and January 1, 1925, to June 30, 1925, have been brought together and compared separately. The file for the first six months was closed on February 15, 1925 which was the last day, according to the rules of the Commission, for filing reports of injuries occurring in that period, and the file for the second six months was closed August 15, 1925. The tabulations which follow are a combination of those two periods and show the status of the cases as of the two closing dates. It is expected that some of the injuries tabulated as temporary will finally terminate in a permanent disability and some will result in death.

The following tables deal with tabulatable injuries:

STATE COMPENSATION INSURANCE FUND.

In 1914 the State Compensation Insurance Fund was created by act of the legislature for the purpose of insuring employers against liability for compensation under the compensation act. The law provided further that the Fund be fairly competitive with other insurance carriers and that it should become ultimately neither more nor less than self-supporting.

The compensation rates charged by all insurance carriers in California are under the control of the Insurance Commissioner and no insurance company can issue policies at rates less than the minimum rates approved by the Commissioner. The rates are made so that about 59.4 per cent of the premiums received go to pay compensation and medical losses and the other 40.6 per cent is for the payment of expenses of operation of the carriers.

The Fund's expenses of operation have averaged less than 15 per cent for the entire time it has been in business and the difference between this amount and the 40.6 per cent provided in the rates is available for dividends to policyholders.

During the first few years of the Fund's existence it was necessary to build up a catastrophe surplus as provided in the act. The majority of this surplus was obtained from interest earnings on its investments. This surplus, which on June 30, 1925, was $2,156,988.78, is deemed sufficient to take care of any catastrophe so the dividend plan of the Fund now provides for the return to policyholders of all savings in expenses as noted above and in addition all interest earnings, which earnings during the last fiscal year amounted to $301,266.13.

The total premiums written by the Fund from January 1, 1914, to June 30, 1925, amount to $37,499,332.65 and the dividends allowed policyholders during the same period are $9,521,699.29. This latter figure does not include any dividends on policies issued in 1925 and less than half the dividends on 1924 policies as these policies have not expired.

The following table gives a comprehensive picture of the Fund's growth since it was started in 1914:

Calendar year	Premiums written	Interest earned	Compensation and medical paid	Dividends declared	Total assets
1914	$547,161	$12,191	$89,207		$520,596

HONORABLE FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of the State of California.

DEAR SIR: In compliance with the provisions of section 88, chapter 176, Laws of 1913, we, as members of the Industrial Accident Commission herewith submit the annual report of the Commission for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1925, and ending June 30, 1926.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN A. MCGILVRAY,
JOHN W. CARRIGAN,
J. E. OLMSTED,
Commissioners.

Dated at San Francisco, California, this twenty-ninth day of November, 1926.

INTRODUCTORY.

The Industrial Accident Commission, during the period covered by this report, has continued its program of systematic and efficient enforcement of the Workmen's Compensation Laws of California. Its operations have been based upon a strict adherence to the provisions of the law and are given in the following brief outline of accomplishments, followed by detailed reports of the individual departments.

The personnel of the Commission is the same as reported for the previous fiscal year.

The principal office of the Commission has been maintained in the city and county of San Francisco. Another office of the Commission has been conducted in the city of Los Angeles, in direct charge of one commissioner.

Its attorney and legal adviser has represented and appeared for the people of the State of California and the Commission in actions and proceedings involving questions under the Workmen's Compensation Act, and has performed other services for the Commission as provided by law.

The secretary of the Commission has kept a full and true record of all proceedings of the Commission and has caused the issuance of all legal documents prescribed under the terms of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The manager of the State Compensation Insurance Fund has conducted the business and affairs of the State Compensation Insurance Fund under the general direction of the Commission, and has fulfilled such other duties as have been prescribed by law.

The superintendent of the department of safety, as well as all other officers and employees of the Commission, have discharged the duties imposed on them by law or the Commission.

Publication and distribution of reports and pamphlets covering its operations, proceedings and matters relative to its work have been made by the Commission.

In a general and broad review of the work it will be found that earnest and serious recognition has been given by the Commission to its responsibility to give employees relief from the consequences of industrial injuries.

THE WORK FOR SAFETY.

The Commission's engineers have entered places of employment, made their examination and report of conditions under which men and women work, and have secured general safety in these places of employment existing within the borders of the state. These industrial inspections have covered a varied and interesting field, from checking the minor, non-hazardous places of employment, upward through the line of human endeavor to examining employment conditions affecting the toiler on the steel skyscraper in the course of construction. Its engineers have gone into the oil fields, down into the deepest mines of California, and have carefully covered the lumber industry, as well as all the food canning and preserving plants in California.

INJURED EMPLOYEES RETURNED TO INDUSTRY.

Thousands of injured employees, temporarily or permanently incapacitated or maimed from accidents received while at work, have been given the splendid benefits of modern medical science. These disabled workers have received, without cost to them, surgical, hospital and other remedial treatment, and many of them have come under the care of highly trained medical specialists. These victims of industrial accidents have, in the great majority of cases, been cured or relieved from the effects of their injuries and have ultimately re-entered the open labor market, mentally and physically sound, to merge with the wage producing group and substantial citizenry of California.

SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC CONDITIONS STRENGTHENED.

The Commission's work and the far-reaching humanitarian influence of the Workmen's Compensation Law likewise has inured to the betterment of the salaried man and woman; social and economic conditions have been strengthened and uplifted; the financial and moral burden otherwise heavily placed upon competing industries of the state has been decreased and, of major importance, the family life of the worker, the foundation of government, has been kept intact through the preservation of the life and restoration to health of the family's breadwinner.

BENEFITS OF THE ACT EXTENDED.

The Workmen's Compensation Act as first enacted was a sociological experiment, the administration of which had fundamentally an economic basis. In its virgin efforts, the body selected to administer the act, the Industrial Accident Commission, adopted a very conservative interpretation of the provisions of this statutory legislation and the Supreme Court and District Courts of Appeal were even more conservative when their jurisdiction had been invoked to review the awards of the Commission. No one was certain as to what upheaval in economic conditions might result from this new humanitarian measure.

As the years passed, various problems have arisen and been handled by the Commission and the courts without any apparent upset in our economic and social systems as a result of the administration of this act. In handling these problems, both the Commission and the courts have acquired the knowledge of experience and in the last few years there has developed a marked tendency on the part of the Commission to extend the benefits of the act for the protection of persons injured in the course of their employment. Its broad interpretation is enjoined upon the courts by the provisions of the act to accomplish the real purpose and object of this legislation.

HERNIA AWARDS LIBERALIZED.

For many years it has been the unchanging opinion of the medical profession that hernias are not of traumatic origin in the sense that they are rarely the result of a single strain or injury but, rather, are caused by the successive strains to which the physical body is subjected in the ordinary course of living. Within the last two years the Commission, with its experience acquired in this field, reached the conclusion that the medical profession was not entirely correct in its position on this question for the reason that there had been a too constant association between the appearance of a hernia and an industrial strain. With this thought in mind, a more liberal application of the benefits of the act to employees suffering from hernia was adopted by the Commission and, whereas, a few years ago a compensable hernia was rare, today, it is the rule rather than the exception. By the adoption of this broad policy, the Commission believes it has given true and full effect to the real purposes and objects of this humanitarian measure. Men suffering from hernias are not as efficient workmen while the hernias last, as men without hernias, and in awarding operations and cures for these ruptures the Commission is returning to society physically able-bodied workmen, the results of whose efforts in the industrial world are of increased benefit to society as a whole. In this connection, and with reference to the cases referred to in the succeeding paragraph, it will be interesting to read the report of Morton R. Gibbons, M. D., Medical Director of the Commission, appearing elsewhere in this report.

ARTHRITIS CASES LARGELY INDUSTRIAL.

It is noteworthy that in the study of the causes for the derelicts in the industrial field of labor that one particular class should intrigue the interest of those engaged in the relief of those shelved by industrial injury. These are the so-called "arthritis" or lame-back cases. Formerly these lame backs were attributed to rheumatism, lumbago and like diseases and were not considered either traumatic or industrial. The Workmen's Compensation Act draws no distinction between the physically fit and the physically unfit so long as they are active workmen. Today, a slight strain on a workman predisposed to an affliction from a lame back, causing his cessation from work, is just as much an industrial injury and is just as much compensable as is a terrific strain on a workman with a normal back. Formerly, these weaker members of the laboring army of society, when thrown out of their employment by the onset of this affliction, became dependent upon charity, either from the public or from relatives. They lost grade as citizens and in even measure there was a loss to society in their producing power. With an open-handed policy of interpreting the act, their measure of suffering has been decreased and their earning capacity has been increased. They have returned to the ranks of active workmen in a shorter time, and society thereby has derived its immediate benefit in that it retains a self-respecting and contributing citizen instead of losing one.

What has been said of arthritis cases is also true of the workman who suffers a strain when predisposed to heart trouble. A slight strain may precipitate death. Today, if the precipitating strain is industrial, the Commission considers the death industrial and the dependent families are awarded a death benefit which, at least, removes them from immediate poverty and tides them over the period of readjustment to new conditions of life.

INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR PROVISIONS CLARIFIED.

The law under which we operate is entitled the "Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety Act." It was enacted to cover workmen who contribute by their labor to the ultimate advancement of society as a whole. The liability created by this Act attaches to the relationship of employer and employee. In past years there has been a decided effort made by those opposed to this form of legislation to inhibit the extension of the benefits of the act to a certain class of workmen. In this class there are many men who labor and, though working for another, still preserve a certain amount of independence in their method of working. Because of this independence it might easily be said that they partook of the status of independent contractor, that is, were in the same position in relation to society as an employer or potential employer and were, therefore, not entitled to the benefits of the act which, beyond question, were intended alone for employees. The determination in any individual case as to whether one of these injured workmen is an employee or independent contractor is usually an exceedingly difficult one to decide. The act creates a specific presumption in the law in favor of this class of workmen, tending to establish them as employees and entitled to the benefits of the act. Recently, this Commission has extended its policy of giving a broad interpretation of the provisions of the act by recognizing the full force of this legal presumption and has held these men, when injured, to be employees where there is any substantial evidence adduced in its investigations to warrant a finding to that effect. This has resulted in an extreme broadening in the last year in the orbit to which the benefits of the act are now extended.

MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES UNDER THE ACT.

The municipalities governed by charter under constitutional authority have for many years made provision in pension systems with widely varying terms for their employees. For many years the Commission, also created by the power of the state, refused to assert jurisdiction over the employees of these municipalities, under a mistaken interpretation of their powers, as set forth in the act. As a consequence, many employees of these municipalities, and the employees' dependents, have suffered following industrial injury occurring in the course of their employment because the provisions of the pension systems of the different municipalities have varied in many aspects. There was no uniformity or universality in the relief afforded these employees and their dependents by these various pension systems. In the last year or two, this Commission, recognizing this breakdown in our economic and social structure, has looked more closely to the real powers conferred upon it by the act and has made a new interpretation of the provisions conferring jurisdiction upon the Commission and has asserted jurisdiction over the employees of these municipalities, to the end that there may be universality and uniformity in extending the benefits of the act to all employees in the State of California. This new interpretation has received the approval of the courts.

MARITIME JURISDICTION BROADENED.

From the inception of the Workmen's Compensation Law there has developed constant friction between the powers of this judicial body in giving full effect to the purposes of this legislation and the jurisdiction of the admiralty courts which have, under federal powers, exclusive jurisdiction over the law maritime. The maritime law is notoriously incomplete. The limits of admiralty jurisdiction have never been concisely defined. Where port and harbor workers, at their labor, received injury, the injured men were often baffled as to which court to go to seek their legal remedy. The Commission has continually attempted to assert jurisdiction over injuries to this class of workmen. Their attempted assertion of jurisdiction has been repeatedly curtailed and denied. In the last year the Commission has, however, achieved an outstanding victory in this field where it asserted jurisdiction and extended the benefits of the act to a workman injured on a barge in navigable waters. The Supreme Court's decision approving this act of the Commission creates a distinction in favor of workmen engaged in the performance of a maritime contract where the services being rendered are local in character, that is, of immediate and direct benefit to the locality and not directly pertaining to or in relation with the movement of commerce by navigation. The actual result of this broadened policy, therefore, is the recognition of the right of many port and harbor workers in California to the benefits of the act where, formerly, they were without the pale.

RISK OF THE COMMONALTY CASES.

Another indication of the effort of the Commission to administer this legislation in a manner to extend its benefits to all workmen is found in the decisions of the Commission in recent years where the question of "risk of the commonalty" has been involved. Formerly, street risks, that is, injuries to employees going about the business of their employer on the streets and highways, caused by dog and insect bites, stones thrown, vehicular collisions and like dangers of the streets were rarely found to be compensable injuries. Recently, the Commission adopted the theory that when employees were sent into the streets away from the actual premises of the employer on business of the employer, that automatically the boundaries of the premises of the employer were extended to include the places wherein the employee had to travel on his employer's business, whether it be in the adjoining street, the adjoining county or far-off lands, and that the dangers to which all of the people were exposed in those places become thereby special risks to which that employment subjected that particular employee while in the pursuit of his duties. With the adoption of this theory, injuries from these risks become compensable and today this class of employee is entitled to the benefits of the act.

RIGHTS OF INJURED PROTECTED.

It is a well recognized principle of law that he who suffers a wrong is entitled to a remedy in the law. Corollary thereto, the person wronged must assert his right to the remedy within a reasonable time. To save argument as to what comprises a reasonable time, the Compensation Act has defined this time within which an injured employee must seek his remedy as six months. In the interpretation of this provision of the act, the Commission, in its early years, adopted a narrow and limited construction, in effect depriving many injured employees with a right to the benefits of the act from asserting their claim to the remedy. There developed a situation brimful of injustice as a result of this interpretation, which became a familiar picture before the Commission. An employee receiving a serious injury was given immediate medical attention and paid some compensation and then encouraged by the employer, or his insurance carrier, to seek light labor as his only hope for ultimate recovery. If he persisted at this work for over six months without either payment of compensation or rendition of medical treatment and, still disabled, claimed further benefits, he was met with the plea of the bar of the statute of limitations. By ingenious theory and broad interpretation of the reading of this provision of the act, the Commission overcame this legal stumbling block so productive of injustice in its denial to the injured employee of his rights to the benefits of the act, and today this class of industrially disabled is receiving a full share of indemnity and medical care provided for in this legislation.

PERMANENT DISABILITY INTERPRETATIONS BROADENED.

As originally enacted, the Workmen's Compensation Act gives to the injured employee the right to a weekly indemnity during his inability to work as well as the medical, surgical and hospital care necessary for the cure and relief of the condition caused by the injury. Upon the Commission was conferred jurisdiction over these injuries for a period of 240 weeks and the right to alter, in supplementary proceedings, a prior award within a period of 245 weeks. It was intended thereby that the injured employee should be compensated not only for his period of immediate disability following the injury, but also that he should receive compensation for any permanent loss of earning power which might ultimately result. This permanent disability rarely became fixed and determinable within a year after the injury or within six months from the last payment of compensation, or last medical treatment. Injured employees suffering such a permanent disability, upon asserting their claim for this permanent disability indemnity, were frequently met with the plea of the bar of the six months' period. The Commission now holds that the permanent disability is a new and further disability and that the six months' period prescribed in the act was not intended to bar such a claim. The Commission also construes that portion of the act establishing the right of the injured employee to medical treatment to be without any limitation of time, either six months or 245 weeks, and that the employee so injured, whether the condition becomes permanent or not, is entitled to medical treatment for the rest of his life whenever the disability caused by the injury necessitates medical treatment.

California ranks among the foremost of the states now adjudicating workmen's compensation laws. Chief among the Commission's functions has been its sincere and continued effort to accord substantial justice in all contested claims, and to accomplish this purpose without unnecessary delay, at a minimum of expense to all parties litigant and without incumbrance of any character.

COOPERATION SOUGHT AND SECURED.

The legal rights of injured employees have been protected by the Industrial Accident Commission and full recognition has been given to the cooperation and assistance accorded the Commission and injured employees by employers or their insurance carriers. The Commission, as a department of the state government, has consistently endeavored to carry out the social public policy of the state, as set forth in the laws entrusted to it for enforcement, and has received, it has the pleasure to report, the fine confidence of employees and the friendly and helpful cooperation of employers and insurance companies.

For the betterment of its service to unfortunate workers, the Industrial Accident Commission has broadened its activities and made active contacts with other agencies engaged in the performance of similar work. California has membership in the International Association of Industrial Accident Boards and Commissions of the United States and Canada, and a delegate was sent to each of the 1925 and 1926 conventions of this important organization, a member of the Commission being on its executive committee. Valuable cooperation was given by the Commission in promoting the success of the recent Pacific Safety Conference, held in San Francisco, California, in September, 1926, the Commission being a member of the National Safety Council.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS.

Consolidation of four governmental agencies of the state government brought the Industrial Accident Commission into closer contact with the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Industrial Welfare Commission and Commission of Immigration and Housing. Members of these four state departments meet regularly and discuss problems affecting their respective offices, providing for a more efficient correlation of the work and a deeper and more thorough understanding of general labor questions. In accordance with statutory requirements a written report of the work of the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations, which is composed of the offices enumerated above, has previously been made.

ALL EMERGENCIES PROMPTLY MET.

A word should be said about the Commission's promptness in handling investigations of fatalities of a catastrophic nature involving more or less the general public. Often it is later determined that agencies outside of the Commission have jurisdiction over the accidents yet, in an endeavor to protect any employees who may come under the act and who may have been involved in the disaster or serious accident, an engineer of the Commission is without hesitation dispatched to the scene of the accident and his report, for advisory purposes, is later transmitted by the Commission to the interested agencies. This is especially true in the cases of street car and train accidents.

ADVISORY INVESTIGATIONS HELPFUL.

Advisory inspections of school buildings in the state have been made, upon request, by engineers of the Commission, and a copy of the inspection report listing unsafe features has been sent to the school authorities in each instance. Although the Commission's jurisdiction extends only to the safeguarding of employees and it is powerless to enforce regulations for the safety of the public, excellent cooperation has been received in the case of all these advisory investigations, including those made of school premises, which denotes the great progress being made in the interests of "accident prevention" in the State of California.

MINING EMERGENCIES.

In the occurrence of mining fatalities, prompt and efficient action on the part of the Commission to meet the emergency is required. In its rigid investigation of disasters occurring in the mines of the state, the Commission works in cooperation with other relief agencies such as the American Red Cross and the mine rescue forces of the United States Bureau of Mines. In all mining catastrophies where the State Compensation Insurance Fund has written the policy of workmen's compensation insurance, medical service has been immediately furnished by the Fund, which has promptly sent its staff physicians and nurses to the scene of the accident.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE PROVISION ENFORCED.

The Commission has made special efforts within the limits of its resources to enforce compliance with section 29 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, as amended in 1925, which makes the security of compensation payment compulsory and provides that failure of the employer to insure his workmen shall constitute a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment. Many inquiries from employers with regard to this new amendment to the law have been received at the offices of the Commission. An interesting result of the amendment has been that ministers of the gospel have been made to realize that they are under the protection of the compensation act, and many church corporations are now taking out insurance to cover their pastors, paid choir workers, and all other persons engaged in the care and custody of the church premises. The Commission is very glad to report that most employers voluntarily had complied with the compulsory provisions of the act before the amendment. Far too many employers, however, have only taken out insurance since the penalty for failure became effective.

STATE COMPENSATION INSURANCE FUND.

Under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act, as amended by chapter 176, Laws of 1913, section 38, there is vested in the Commission full power, authority and jurisdiction over the State Compensation Insurance Fund. The Commission, fully realizing the responsibility imposed upon it, has carefully and earnestly guided the affairs of the Fund, ever seeking to increase its operating efficiency and stimulate its expansion in the insurance field, until, today, the State Fund outdistances its private competitors by covering more workmen's compensation risks and giving employers better service than any private enterprise writing the same form of insurance. As witness the ratio of the Fund's premium income to the total written in the state, based upon the following verified statistics:

Calendar Year	Compensation Premiums Written by All Carriers in California	Compensation Premiums Written by Fund	Ratio per cent
1914	$4,647,243 31	$547,161 24	11.77
1915	4,263,965 51	655,676 55	15.38
1916	4,582,894 38	928,286 15	20.26
1917	5,714,587 75	1,373,792 54	24.04
1918	8,569,904 93	2,459,086 08	28.69
1919	9,739,617 15	3,251,974 25	33.39
1920	12,944,506 67	4,417,761 32	34.13
1921	13,554,107 02	5,004,880 67	36.93
1922	13,771,888 33	4,635,013 97	33.66
1923	17,740,639 20	5,470,099 92	30.83
1924	19,258,217 77	5,807,777 22	30.16
1925	19,290,570 00	5,811,317 00	30.13

The great growth of the State Fund and the unhesitating confidence placed in it by the employers of the state is shown by the figures in the above table, which demonstrates that California's venture into the insurance business has been eminently successful despite the fact that the state must compete with many powerful commercial carriers.

The State Fund gives insurance protection to the vast army of public employees and, out of its carefully preserved surplus, stands ready to meet its financial and medical obligations to all injured employees of the state and its political subdivisions, or to pay the just claims of dependents of such injured civil employees.

ADDED PROTECTION FOR MARITIME WORKERS.

Injuries to maritime workers, as heretofore mentioned, and the equitable distribution of relief for these often serious accidents, form a problem confronting the various compensation jurisdictions today, and one which is even now commanding national legislative consideration. The State Fund takes a step ahead and paves the way toward the coming day when the thousands of maritime and harbor employees of the coast cities of the state may automatically come under the protection of the state law. Today, in spite of the maritime jurisdictional question, the Fund will, on request of the policyholder, give a policy endorsement which agrees to compensate injured employees working under maritime jurisdiction, except those persons employed on ocean-going and coastwise vessels, provided such accepted maritime workers elect to accept the provisions of the California Workmen's Compensation Law for any injuries which they may receive in the course of their employment. If injured maritime workers refuse to accept the provisions of the California law, their employers will be indemnified by the Fund, as their insurer, against limited loss and expense which such employers may be held liable for through damage suits filed under maritime law against them by their injured employees. The Fund will indemnify the employer in the amount of any benefit to which the injured employee would have become entitled under the California Workmen's Compensation Act.

SURPLUS FUNDS SAFELY INVESTED.

The financial condition of the State Fund is sound. After charging all liabilities, the Fund is in possession of a substantial surplus to act as a catastrophe reserve fund. The assets of the State Fund consist of bonds, cash and uncollected premiums developed by payroll audits. The law provides that the Fund may invest its money in securities which may be bought by savings banks and this requirement has been strictly observed. The investments of the Fund are handled by the members of the Industrial Accident Commission, who have followed the policy of purchasing only municipal securities and not those of private corporations, even though the latter may have been authorized by law as proper investments for savings banks.

THIRTY PER CENT YEARLY DIVIDEND TO POLICYHOLDERS.

The State Fund, after conducting its competitive business for the policy year, and having provided for claims and catastrophe reserves and made allowances for all other liabilities, has distributed its dividends equitably and has given substantial justice to the policyholders entitled to refunds. For the past few years an average 30 per cent yearly dividend return has been taken from the remaining surplus of the Fund, after caring for all of its prescribed obligations, and has been distributed to its policyholders. A system is now in operation in the Fund whereby a complete distribution is made within ninety days after the expiration of the policy year.

The State Fund's activities have been broadened and its position strengthened in that it now enjoys the right to appeal to the courts for a determination of any ruling made by the Commission, and the manager of the Fund has now been granted the right to enter appeals from the decisions of the Commission in contested compensation claims.

STATE FUND STANDS THE ACID TEST.

At the instance of the Insurance Commissioner of the State of California, Brigadier General S. H. Wolfe, noted New York insurance authority, who supervised the war risk insurance for the United States Government in France, during the World War, made a thorough survey of the State Compensation Insurance Fund, in October, 1925. This was the first examination and investigation of the Fund ever made by an outside authority. General Wolfe's report, filed with the Insurance Commissioner, holds the Fund to be solvent with a sufficient surplus on hand to guard against the effects of any catastrophe that may reasonably be expected to occur. The examination was particularly directed at the method and amount of dividend distributions made by the Fund. Covering this point, General Wolfe says in his report:

> "While underwriters and actuaries may differ as to the method to be followed in distributing surpluses among the policyholders of a mutual or participating company, it is our opinion that the method followed by the Fund has worked substantial justice to the various policyholders entitled to refunds."

An arithmetical average derived from the most recent group of claims examined showed an elapsed time of nine days between the receipt of first notice to the Fund and the first compensation payment which, we believe, establishes a record in compensation insurance.

General Wolfe paid particular attention to complaints which have from time to time been made to the Insurance Commissioner by representatives of other insurance carriers. These complaints were carefully checked and found to be without substantial merit.

The Fund was established in 1914 with a premium income for that year of $547,000. The total amount of premiums written by the Fund has increased steadily every year and, in 1925, reached $5,811,317.30. Claim payments in 1925 were $3,329,600.83, and dividends paid and declared to policyholders in that year amounted to $1,664,213.84. The Fund's total assets are $6,779,638.32, and there is a net surplus over and above all liabilities of $2,440,658.21.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Section 88 of the compensation act requires that the Commission shall make such suggestions or recommendations as it may deem of value for public information. Complying with the provisions of said section, the Commission herewith tenders the following recommendations:

EXCLUDED CLASSES.

This Commission, in its last annual report for the fiscal period ending June 30, 1925, called attention to the specific exclusion of certain classes of employment under the compensation law, calling particular attention to the exclusion of farm and kindred labor, and, at this time, wishes to again stress this important feature of the California Workmen's Compensation Act.

While the law makes provision for the inclusion of such employees if the employer so desires, and many employers throughout the state have voluntarily brought their employees under the benefits of the act, it is nevertheless a fact that many injuries are reported in these occupations, where the injured is left to his own resources or public charity. Until the burden of every industry is placed upon that industry, society as a whole must bear the burden.

If the theory is correct that compensation is the equitable distribution of the industrial burden, then it would seem that there should be no exceptions where the employment is a recognized industry with its hazards. Farm and kindred labor have grown more hazardous with the introduction of modern machinery, and their contribution to the list of injured has been shown in the statistical reports of the Commission. The Commission is again offering the consideration of this question as a matter of public concern.

REHABILITATION.

At the 1925 session of the legislature, the Commission caused to be introduced Senate Bill No. 514. This bill was intended to supplement the present compensation act by providing that upon the death of an employee through an industrial accident, his employer or insurance carrier must pay into a special industrial rehabilitation fund the sum of $350, if the deceased workman leaves no dependents. At the present time, the law makes the employer or insurance carrier liable only for burial expense if no dependents are left. The bill proposed that money paid into the fund is to be used for the purpose of rehabilitating injured workmen. Under this provision, the Commission proposed to take injured workmen, who are so seriously disabled that they can not follow their former occupations and teach them some other method of gainful employment whereby they will again be able to restore themselves to their places of useful, self-supporting members of society. It is very apparent that in many cases of serious injury the present compensation benefits are inadequate. The Commission, in cases of this sort, under the proposed legislation would be able to use part of the moneys available in the Rehabilitation Fund in order to assist, by additional funds, those injured workmen who, under ordinary circumstances, are unable to readjust themselves as self-sustaining members of society during the period to which they are entitled to compensation.

A measure similar to the one proposed was passed by the 1919 legislature, being chapter 183 of Statutes of 1919, but was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of this state. However, subsequently, the United States Supreme Court in Sheehan vs. Schuler, reported in 44 Supreme Court Reports, at page 548, upheld the constitutionality of a law in New York upon which Senate Bill No. 514 was based.

The Commission is of the opinion that the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Sheehan case is controlling and will be followed by the California courts, if this statute should be again attacked on the question of its constitutionality, and the Commission is strongly of the opinion and so recommends that the provisions contained in Senate Bill No. 514, 1925, should be enacted into law.

AN EXCLUSIVE STATE FUND.

From year to year since the enactment of the California Workmen's Compensation Law, the beneficent provisions of the law have been extended by legislative enactments and by broad and liberal interpretations of its provisions by the Industrial Accident Commission and the courts. The result is that, today, we have a workmen's compensation law that constitutes as near an approach to the goal universally sought by such legislation as has been gained by any other state operating under comparable conditions. This goal is "The greatest possible benefit to the workman and his dependents at the lowest possible cost to the employer."

As a result of this gradual evolutionary process, we have reached an impasse in workmen's compensation legislation in this state. Under present conditions, and due to existing legislative limitations, additional progress by way of extensions of the humane and economic provisions of the law cannot reasonably be anticipated. What, then, of the future? Shall we be content with the status quo, or shall we seek new paths to progress? After mature reflection, the Commission urges the latter course, and expresses the opinion that there exist heretofore neglected and unexplored avenues of activity in connection with this greatest of all humanitarian movements, and that these avenues may safely and wisely be followed by the state.

In establishing the State Compensation Insurance Fund, the legislature provided: "The Fund shall * * * be fairly competitive with other insurance carriers." The result is that the Fund has had to compete with commercial insurance carriers in the acquisition of business; it has been required to charge the same rates to its policyholders and has paid the same tax to the state. Notwithstanding these statutory limitations, and notwithstanding the fact that it now writes only approximately thirty per cent of the compensation insurance written in the state, the Fund has filled its niche in the insurance world precisely in accord with the designs of its creators, and probably with far more satisfactory results than were anticipated by the framers of the creative law.

The accomplishments of the Fund during the twelve years of its existence have been such as to inspire the absolute confidence of the insuring public. The Fund has more than justified its existence. Despite its restriction to a competitive field, it has been more than self-supporting. It has written compensation insurance at competitive rates and has returned to its policyholders refunds that have, for several years, averaged thirty per cent of the premiums originally paid. These refund payments aggregate over $11,000,000. The Fund has also paid into the accident prevention fund a total of $929,986.50, such payments being in lieu of, and comparable to, annual tax payments made to the state by commercial insurance carriers. In addition, it has built up a reserve fund for the possible "rainy day" in excess of $2,000,000. In view of this splendid record, the Commission feels that it is logical and entirely reasonable to propose that the Fund be freed from its competitive chains, and that it be given a monopoly of the workmen's compensation insurance coverage in this state.

There is nothing unusual or particularly revolutionary in this proposal. Six states now have exclusive state funds—Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Wyoming, North Dakota and Ohio, and other states are considering the adoption of similar systems. The Ohio Exclusive State Fund law has been in operation a number of years. It has been tried in the fires of fierce opposition but has come through triumphant in every instance. It has put Ohio far out in front of other large, industrial states in point of achievements in workmen's compensation and state insurance legislation and in resultant benefits to both employee and employer.

The California State Compensation Insurance Fund is, and has been from its inception, partly monopolistic in that all the political subdivisions of the state are required to carry compensation insurance with the Fund or become self-insurers. It is, therefore, only a short step to a completely monopolistic State Fund. It is the next, logical, forward step toward the ultimate, preordained destiny of the Fund.

The Fund was originally designed to function in its sphere as a "leveller of compensation insurance rates." It has so functioned only to the extent that, by reason of its partly monopolistic characteristics and of certain administrative economies, it has been enabled to return substantial refunds to its policyholders. Freed from its competitive fetters, the Fund can, and the Commission believes will, turn downward the present upward trend of compensation insurance rates in this state and, at the same time, by reason of the elimination of the waste that is characteristic of the competitive insurance-selling system, produce such additional revenues as may be needful to provide substantial additional benefits to both employer and employee.

Writing but 30 per cent of the compensation insurance sold in the state, the Fund has accomplished splendidly satisfying results. Writing 100 per cent of this insurance the Fund will be in a position to place California in the front rank of the states in the matter of providing the victims of industry with remedial and restorative relief, with a lowered cost to employers. Furthermore, and this is of paramount importance, the recommendation here made, if adopted, will enable the Commission to more effectively combat the rising tide of industrial injuries. This result must inevitably follow the substitution, in all cases, of inspections designed to make industry safe for employment, under full state authority and compulsion, for the thousands of inspections now being made primarily for ratemaking, premium-reducing purposes.

It is not the purpose of the Commission to set forth in this report, in extenso, the benefits it believes will flow from a monopolistic state fund. It will be prepared to do so, however, in the event that its recommendations shall result in a serious legislative proposal along the lines indicated.

The members of the Industrial Accident Commission are in complete accord with the great majority of our citizens who hold the view that, under ordinary conditions, the state should not enter into competition with private enterprise; that such activities should only be encouraged when it shall become apparent that the state can perform a service that cannot be performed at all, or with only meagerly comparable results, by private enterprise, and then only when some social, industrial or public need of paramount importance demands it. It was such a need that prompted the state to enact the Workmen's Compensation Law, with the provision for the present State Compensation Insurance Fund. To suggest, therefore, that the Fund be given a monopoly in writing workmen's compensation insurance in California is merely to propose that the state proceed, in an orderly, businesslike way, to the consummation of this great, humanitarian activity.

Detailed reports of the work of the various departments of the Commission are given on the following pages:

ACCOUNTING DEPARTMENT.

The appropriations available for the fiscal year July 1, 1925, to June 30, 1926, were:

Salaries and wages	$225,810 00
Support	57,950 00
Total	$283,760 00

At the end of the fiscal year there remained the following unexpended balances:

Salaries and wages	$8,799 85
Support	2,534 29
Total	$11,334 14

Our income from other sources was as follows:

Boiler fees	$1,786 87
Elevator fees	6,781 12
Testimony fees	1,343 38
Sales of publications	1,164 75
State Compensation Insurance fund tax	152,693 51
Total income	$163,769 63

As pointed out in last year's annual report, this income is not available to supplement our appropriations.

The regular statement of expenditures for the period July 1, 1925, to June 30, 1926, follows:

COMPENSATION DEPARTMENT.

In the compilation of the Commission's annual report for this fiscal period, certain matters of interest have been noted with reference to the Compensation Department.

On November 1, 1926, there were 574 original applications pending and undecided in the San Francisco office, and during the previous month of October, 220 original applications were filed in San Francisco. The ratio number between the cases filed in San Francisco and the number pending gives an index number of 2.61. By referring to the figures given for the compensation department in this report it will be noted that this is the lowest rate that has existed since June 30, 1919, and, probably, since the Commission started. The lowest index number heretofore obtained was in June, of 1925, it being 2.95.

At the present time the cases are set for San Francisco within a week of the time the application is received; the setting of the cases for hearing, of course, requires approximately ten days' notice. The Commission receives all parties who wish to have a hearing without notice, and probably not more than two such applications are in any way refused or delayed per month. In a situation of this kind the cases would be postponed for the next day or arrangement made to hear the claim at the earliest possible opportunity.

The Commission's detail work in connection with hearings of contested claims has been greatly expedited during the annual period reported upon. The hearings are held on an average, approximately, of one month after the application is received.

At the present time referees of the Commission are handling on an average of 35 original cases per month per referee, and each such referee has a list of approximately 50 cases pending at any one time. This is a great increase in efficiency and indicates that the work associated with the handling of claims is not only steadily progressing, but the matter of adequately caring for this great increase of work is well under the control of the Commission.

There was an increase of 22.1 per cent in the number of claims filed during the fiscal year 1925-1926 over and above the fiscal year 1924-1925. The increase bears a close relationship to the increase in population and in industry in the State of California and does not suggest any material change in the status of workmen's compensation.

LEGAL DEPARTMENT.

During the fiscal year 1925-1926, there were 81 petitions for writs of review from the Commission's decisions that were filed in the appellate court, as opposed to 74 for the fiscal year 1924-1925, and 63 for the fiscal year 1923-1924. On July 1, 1926, the 81 petitions had been disposed of as follows:

Petitions for writs of review denied	39
Petitions for writs of review granted	31
Pending	9
Settled and dismissed	2

This leaves on July 1, 1926, 9 petitions for writs of review pending unacted upon and 16 pending cases before the courts.

Adding the affirmances to the writs denied and the 3 dismissed, makes a total of 67 awards affirmed during the fiscal year as against 8 annulments, with 25 cases to hear from.

During the fiscal year, therefore, there were 35 writs granted and 42 denied.

The Department also filed 5 petitions for hearing in the Supreme Court, after annulment of the award by the District Court of Appeal, of which one was denied and 4 granted. Of the 4 granted, 3 are still pending and in one the Supreme Court affirmed the award of the Commission.

The Legal Department also appeared in answer to a writ of prohibition filed in the case United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company vs. Industrial Accident Commission, No. 5434, District Court of Appeal. The writ was denied.

In handling matters on appeal before the appellate and supreme courts during the year, 77 answers to petitions for writs of review, 47 briefs, 13 answers to petitions for hearing or rehearing and 5 petitions for hearing or rehearing were prepared by the attorney for the Commission.

During the fiscal year, the Legal Department assisted in two prosecutions for non-insurance, in the justices' court, securing one conviction and a hung jury in the other. In addition to having conducted criminal prosecutions for failure of employers to insure, the Legal Department also, during the fiscal year, instituted criminal prosecutions for violation of the safety provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act; handled 5 citations for violation of the elevator inspection law, participated in an inquest of the coroner, represented the Commission in special safety hearings and conducted investigations into employers' hospitals for violation of chapter 667 of the Statutes of 1916, as amended by chapter 73 of the Laws of 1917.

Noteworthy decisions handed down during the fiscal year were as follows:

City of Sacramento vs. Industrial Accident Commission (Streepy), 48 C. A. D. 159, in which the appellate court affirmed the decision of the Commission, wherein it asserted jurisdiction over employees of all municipalities.

Liptak vs. Industrial Accident Commission, 71 C. D. 266, in which the State Supreme Court reversed the decision of the Commission and held that a one-eyed employee who loses the sight of the second eye in the injury is totally permanently disabled and entitled to compensation for loss of sight of both eyes.

Makins vs. Industrial Accident Commission (Craig), 71 C. D. 573, in which the State Supreme Court found that a newsboy finishing his route but injured while still on the street in the district where his work lay and on his way home was still in the course of his employment.

Wm. Simpson Construction Company vs. Industrial Accident Commission (Tiefenbach), 48, C. A. D. 47, in which the district court reversed the award of the Commission, holding that the award could not be sustained by surmise and conjecture.

Johnson vs. Industrial Accident Commission, 71 California Decisions, 271, in which the State Supreme Court found that a working partner, drawing a salary irrespective of profits, is an employee of the partnership.

City of Oakland vs. Industrial Accident Commission (Paul), 71 California Decisions, 296, in which the State Supreme Court held that an employee working on a dredger is under the jurisdiction of the Commission, where the work performed is local in character.

Hutchinson Lumber Company vs. Industrial Accident Commission (Bohan), 49 C. A. D. 696, and General Accident Fire and Life Assurance Corporation vs. Industrial Accident Commission (Robinson), 49 C. A. D., 798, in which the two district courts of appeal by written opinion held a permanent disability to be a new and further disability.

When the annual report of the Commission for the fiscal period 1924-1925 was issued there were 6 petitions for writs of review pending which had not been acted upon by the courts. Of these 6 petitions, 3 were denied and 3 granted. Of the 3 granted, all awards were affirmed by the courts. There were also 13 matters pending in the courts on July 1, 1925. Of these 13 matters, two, Liptak vs. Industrial Accident Commission, 71 C. D. 266, and Gordon, Harrison & Russell vs. Industrial Accident Commission and Findley, 72 C. D. 321, are still pending before the Supreme Court on petition granted after the awards were annulled. Of the other 11, the award of the Commission was affirmed in 8 and annulled in 3.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

MORTON R. GIBBONS, M. D., Medical Director.

The Medical Department submits the following tabulated report which records the actual number of examinations, reports and bills handled by this office for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926:

July 1, 1925, June 30, 1926.

	General physical examinations	Special medical examinations requested by				Bills approved
		Ins. Co.	Employer	I. A. C.	Opinions
San Francisco	1,180	42	16	212	1,646	659
Los Angeles	601	183	49	172	652	217
Total	1,781	225	65	384	2,298	876

Among the many problems presented to the Medical Department, the most frequent are those of hernia and those in which osteo-arthritis plays a part.

It is equally impossible with both these disabilities to formulate rules for guidance in making decisions which shall cover all cases. Attention must be given to each case.

In the case of hernia, it must be assumed that (1) a predisposition existed, or (2) a hernia, known or unknown to the workman existed, or (3) some extremely serious injury or strain intervened to produce the disability. In the latter instance it is easy to decide. In the first instance the character and degree of injury must govern the decision. The claimant should generally be compensated in proportion to the severity of the cause.

In the second instance, we must decide whether or not an aggravation has been caused by industrial strain. If aggravation has occurred from industrial strain or injury, then the degree of strain or injury will govern the extent of compensation.

In considering osteo-arthritis, it must be borne in mind that this condition may exist to a marked degree and still be without symptoms. It must be remembered also that workmen are accepted as they are. Virtually, they are insured against their weaknesses.

When any adequate injury gives impetus to a pre-existing though painless, osteo-arthritis, it is not necessary to hold that the arthritis is caused by the injury. It is only necessary to remember that the injury caused a disability which the workman might never, or not for a long time, have developed, had he avoided injury.

The degree of compensability is found, then, by consideration of the factors of potential disability, character of injury, location of injury and experience with similar injuries with and without the complication of osteo-arthritis.

Many other intricate problems arise and are considered by the Medical Department, with, as always heretofore, the generous assistance of the best qualified physicians in California.

PERMANENT DISABILITY RATING DEPARTMENT.

In determining the percentages of permanent disability in cases resulting in permanent physical impairment, the Workmen's Compensation Insurance and Safety Act requires that three factors—nature of disability or disfigurement, age and occupation—be considered; and authorizes the Commission to prepare and adopt a schedule which shall correlate these three factors in their proper proportions.

Early experience proved that it was not possible to properly apply such a schedule without a central rating bureau to which all differences might be referred. The result was the formation of the Permanent Disability Rating Department as an advisory department of the Commission.

Permanent disability is a serious result of industrial injuries. In addition to the permanent impairment of the normal functions of the human mechanism, there is the reduction of earning capacity, the competitive handicap in an open labor market, and the difficulty of successful rehabilitation.

Rehabilitation depends partly upon the age and occupation of the injured workman. In some occupations a certain injury will not bar a successful return to regular employment, whereas the same injury, in another occupation will mean inability to return to regular work, and therefore a complete change of occupation. Increasing age means increasing difficulty to adapt oneself to changed conditions. Successful rehabilitation becomes more difficult as the age of the injured workman increases.

This department rates all cases involving permanent physical impairment which come under the jurisdiction of the Commission. The ratings are based upon information contained in the injured workmen's petition for permanent disability rating, and in the special permanent disability report of the attending or examining physician. Because the physician's report is often inaccurate, incomplete or indefinite, it is frequently necessary to have the injured workmen also examined by an examiner in the Commission's own Medical Department. When the information is considered complete, the schedule is consulted, the rating computed, and all interested parties advised by letter as to the percentage of permanent disability. This rating is not an order of the Commission; it is a recommendation of the Rating Department, based upon an assumed set of facts, and is subject to review at any time if any of the facts assumed are proven to be erroneous.

The following is a brief statistical summary of the work of the Permanent Disability Rating Department during the year 1925–1926:

Number of new cases rated	3,316
Number of cases rerated	411
Total number of cases rated	3,727
Number of ratings made for Commission in disputed cases (Formal claims; hearing held)	544
Number of men permanently disabled	3,206
Number of women permanently disabled	110

Percentage of disability by percentage groups:

Under 6%	1,318 cases
6% to 15%	908 cases
16% to 30%	699 cases
31% to 45%	229 cases
46% to 60%	92 cases
61% to 70%	22 cases
Over 70% (or life pension cases)	48 cases

DEPARTMENT OF SAFETY.

The Department of Safety is charged with the enforcement of the Safety Orders, issued by the Industrial Accident Commission, as applied to all places of employment in the State of California, as specified in the Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety Laws.

A record of work done by the department during the fiscal year 1925-26 shows a continued increase in efficiency of the men of the staff and a growing spirit of cooperation from industry that is very satisfactory. The results attained are believed to be in keeping with the conscientious efforts made to prevent accidents. While educational work has been done whenever opportunity presented itself, it has been realized that industry as a whole is far from providing equipment up to the standard of safety as fixed by the Commission, in spite of the notable progress made. Special stress has therefore been laid on compliance with requirements listed by inspectors against any plant where substandard machinery has been provided.

In order that the matter might receive systematic attention, a record has been developed of all cases where legal steps have been taken to secure compliance. During the year, 197 orders to show cause before the Commission why the use of unsafe equipment should not be prohibited, and 131 special tag orders authorizing inspectors to stop the use of unsafe equipment, were served in northern California. A similar number were issued and served in southern California. Few prosecutions have been necessary to enforce the orders of the Commission.

In every case where prosecution has been found necessary, the Commission has been sustained, which is very gratifying to the Commission, as tending to show that its orders are carefully considered before being promulgated.

PERSONNEL.

There were nineteen (19) men employed on the staff of the Department of Safety on June 30, 1926. The Chief Engineer and Superintendent of Safety is stationed in San Francisco with an assistant superintendent in charge of the Los Angeles office. Four inspectors have been attached to the Los Angeles office, the remainder working out of the San Francisco office.

Two engineers have been detailed on mining problems, one being responsible for the inspection of mines, quarries, cement plants and oil fields in northern California, and the other making similar inspections in southern California.

Two construction engineers have been employed, one connected with the San Francisco office and the other with the Los Angeles office. One inspector has handled inspections of logging and saw mill operations, planing mills and shipbuilding. One electrical inspector has divided his time between the north and south. Three men have been detailed to mechanical inspections in industrial plants, one man resigning and his successor being transferred to construction work beginning June 21, 1926. Three boiler inspectors, four elevator inspectors and one office assistant completed the personnel of the department.

During the year four (4) men were added to the staff and three (3) men resigned, leaving a net increase of one (1) man for the year.

Inspections.

The inspection work has been divided into six (6) divisions:

1. Mining
2. Construction
3. Elevator
4. Boiler
5. Mechanical-Electrical
6. Lumber and Shipbuilding

A total of 21,674 inspections were made during the year as compared with a total of 16,568 inspections made during the previous year of 1924-1925, showing an increase of 38 per cent. The gradual increase in efficiency of the department has been continued as is indicated by the following table of number of activities which cover regular inspections and special inspections (such as accident investigations, visits and reinspections) and the average cost of regular inspections for three consecutive years:

Fiscal period	Total number of regular and special inspections	Average cost of regular inspections
1923–1924	10,932	$9 30
1924–1925	16,568	7 10
1925–1926	21,674	6 00

The following table gives the number of inspections (by divisions) for the fiscal year 1925-1926:

Division	Regular	Special	Total
Mining	2,655	478	3,133
Construction	3,876	680	4,556
Elevator	2,642	1,838	4,480
Boiler	2,504	1,593	4,097
Mechanical-electrical	3,327	698	4,025
Lumber and shipbuilding	1,161	222	1,383
Totals	16,165	5,509	21,674

All complaints and fatalities have been investigated promptly whenever possible. The causes of many accidents have been studied to determine methods for preventing a recurrence and to place responsibility. Charges of wilful misconduct have been based upon such investigations.

The gradual increase in regular inspections is shown by the following table:

Six-months period	Number of regular inspections
July–December, 1923	3,319
January–June, 1924	4,766
July–December, 1924	5,300
January–June, 1925	7,965
July–December, 1925	8,247
January–June, 1926	7,918

A comparison of the number of inspections made in northern and central California with those made in southern California is given by the table which follows:

Division	Northern and central California Regular	Special	Total	Southern California Regular	Special	Total
Mining	533	48	581	2,122	430	2,552
Construction	1,508	387	1,895	2,368	293	2,661
Elevator	2,282	1,649	3,931	360	189	549
Boiler	1,554	909	2,463	950	684	1,634
Mechanical-electrical	2,059	460	2,519	1,268	238	1,506
Lumber and shipbuilding	752	212	964	409	10	419
Totals	8,688	3,665	12,353	7,477	1,844	9,321

The comparatively large number of inspections made in southern California in the Mining Division is due to the activity in the oil industry where plants are concentrated in a few localities readily accessible.

The small number of elevator inspections made in southern California is due to the inability to secure an inspector for that field, no inspections consequently being made there during the first half of the fiscal year.

Safety Meetings.

The department has continued its plan of furnishing talks and lectures by members of the staff at safety meetings for employees, foremen, inspectors and the general public. The table, which follows, gives the number of meetings held at various plants, universities, and conventions:

Group	Number of meetings held 1925–26	1924–25
Employees	17	18
Foremen	10	6
General public	25	17
Inspectors	22	5
Universities	1	2
Totals	75	48

Special Activities.

Several members of the staff have taken the time when requested to examine candidates for merit badges of the Boy Scouts in the principles of safety.

Members of the staff have attended and taken part in sessions of the American Petroleum Institute, Society of Safety Engineers of California, Society of Safety Engineers of Southern California, Electrical Development League of San Francisco, American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Safety Committee of Chamber of Mines and Oil of Los Angeles, Building Material Groups of Southern California, Annual Industrial Safety School and other similar organizations.

Mining.

During the past year approximately 400 mines were being worked, employing some 8000 men. If quarrying and tunneling are included, mining operations have called for the employment of at least 30,000 men. The smaller mines have received more attention during the year than was possible in the year 1924-1925.

The subject of ventilation has received more than casual attention. Plans for the ventilation of several tunnel jobs have been submitted and approved before the work was started. The number of tunnels being driven was greater this year than for previous years, due to the unusual amount of hydro-electric and irrigation development.

The interconnection between the Argonaut and Kennedy Mines, the two deepest gold mines in the United States, was completed during the year. This is the only case in California where two mines under separate ownership have been connected. The connection affords escape in case of fire or any other unusual occurrence to the employees of either mine.

A special effort has been made to interest both employers and employees in first aid instruction. Safety talks have been made frequently. Employers have been urged to organize safety committees and a number of such committees have been created at various mines, cement plants, and oil refineries.

The petroleum industry, employing over 40,000 men, has received adequate attention. Records indicate that the number of accidents due to drilling operations has been materially reduced, due, undoubtedly, to the keeping of one engineer continuously on the inspection of drilling operations in the oil fields of southern California. Reports indicate that conditions have greatly improved at refineries during the year.

Close cooperation has continued with the Chamber of Mines and Oil, California Metal and Mineral Producers Association, California State Mining Bureau, U. S. Bureau of Mines and similar organizations.

Construction.

This division has just completed a most active year. The building industry has continued to increase in volume and the development of power and irrigation projects is the largest in the history of the state. An endeavor has been made to visit all major work at its most critical period, pointing out hazardous conditions that existed or were likely to develop. Fixed requirements have been explained and efforts have been made to interest the employers and superintendents in safety work. Individual talks to men on the job were frequently resorted to.

In addition to the actual inspection of construction jobs, better cooperation with municipal building departments was actively solicited. A great deal of assistance has been given by municipal inspectors throughout the state.

The year 1925-1926 shows a record of over 115,000 permits issued, with a value of $395,000,000. This total exceeds that for the year 1924–1925. There has been a steady gain in activity in the building industry during the year, and with the power and irrigation projects under way, the coming year will probably establish a new record on construction work.

Elevator.

The inspection of elevators has been carried on under the authority of chapter 74, Statutes of 1917, as amended by chapter 330, Statutes of 1921, which requires that the Commission shall cause all power and hand-power elevators to be inspected not less frequently than once each year. Inspections have been made under the Elevator Safety Orders, which have been in force since October 1, 1916. Revised orders, effective January 1, 1925, have controlled the inspections for this year.

Insurance companies, employing inspectors certified by the Commission have, in customary manner, made regular reports on insured elevators. The employees of the Commission have made annual inspections of uninsured elevators. The number of elevators inspected by inspectors of the department was 2642. There were 1838 special inspections made, giving a total activity of 4480 inspections.

The Board of Mechanical Engineers of the city of Los Angeles makes all inspections of and issues all operating permits for elevators in the city of Los Angeles.

An accurate index as of June 30, 1926, has been developed, covering all the recorded elevators in the state. As this data has not been available heretofore, the following table is presented:

Locality	Number insured	Number uninsured	Total	Percentage
Southern California	2,603	3,392	5,995	42%
(1) City of Los Angeles	1,927	2,530	4,457	31%
(2) Exclusive of Los Angeles	676	862	1,538	11%
Northern California	5,117	3,356	8,473	58%
(1) City of San Francisco	3,706	1,760	5,466	38%
(2) Exclusive of San Francisco	1,411	1,596	3,007	20%
Totals	7,720	6,748	14,468	100%

This table indicates that there were, on June 30, 1926, 7720 insured elevators, (53%) and 6748 uninsured elevators (47%) in the state. This authentic information is important as there have been many estimates made that were erroneous and entirely unfounded in fact.

Boiler.

Boiler inspections have been made under the provisions of the Boiler Safety Orders of the Commission, effective July 1, 1925. Internal inspections (about 2500) have been made in a systematic manner of uninsured installations, external inspections being made on new installations only or on complaint. Inspections in the territory not covered during the year 1924-1925 were practically completed. A special investigation was made of air tanks for the purpose of securing some data bearing on standards for new construction now being considered by the Air Pressure Tank Advisory Committee.

Convention and Meetings.

On January 7-9, 1926, the Boiler and Elevator Inspectors certified by the Commission, held a convention at Fresno. At this gathering of inspectors, who are deputies of the Industrial Accident Commission and are employed by insurance companies, oil companies and railroad companies, an opportunity was given to consider the interpretation and application of the Boiler Safety Orders and the Elevator Safety Orders. This conference has resulted in much more satisfactory inspections and in benefit to operators of boilers and elevators by securing more consistent and uniform enforcement throughout the state. Five members of the staff participated, two being from the Los Angeles office.

Monthly meetings of the certified elevator inspectors have been held throughout the year, meetings being called alternately in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Mechanical-Electrical.

Continuing the effort to inject the educational side of safety in its work, various meetings have been called and attended at the larger industrial plants where safety committees exist. Literature has been supplied and personal talks to managers and superintendents of the smaller industries have been made.

During the month of August, 1925, canneries and various other industries in the San Francisco Bay district were inspected. In September the varnish industries were investigated for the purpose of minimizing the effects of occupational poisonings. The canneries, laundries and other mechanical establishments were carefully inspected. The latter part of the month was spent in the coast counties inspecting canneries of fruit, fish and vegetables. At the same time rigid inspection was carried on of air tank and garage equipment. Some inspections were made in Humboldt and Mendocino counties. In October and November cotton gins and allied industries in the San Joaquin Valley as far south as Bakersfield were inspected. During December work was conducted in Sonoma and Napa counties and coast counties as far south as Santa Cruz. At the same time the industries in general of Los Angeles and of San Francisco and the bay cities were carefully inspected.

During the months of January to April, 1926, there was a continuation of inspections in general industries throughout the state. An early inspection of spring vegetable canneries was made in an effort to get canneries under proper, safe working conditions before they began operations. Canneries in the San Francisco Bay district, as well as canneries in the coast and valley counties, where spinach and asparagus are canned, were inspected. Inspection work covered equipment used in berry and apricot canning.

During May and June inspections were made of such canneries that were not operating previously, and which were opened to take care of the first fruit of the season, mainly, apricots. These inspections were sufficient to take care of the plants on their peach, plum and pear canning. At the same time other food product plants, such as creameries, were inspected. Laundry, woodworking, printing, cleaning and chemical plants were visited. Those counties, south of a line from San Francisco to Sacramento, were visited, special attention being given to the inspection of canneries.

Aside from the regular inspections and recommendations, many concerns were interested in the educational information available through this department along safety lines. The management of large corporations welcomed inspection of their individual plants and their safety committees cooperated effectively. The work was so conducted that large areas were covered successfully.

The distribution of the Electrical Safety Orders has assisted greatly in obtaining safe electrical installations. These orders are being enforced by practically every municipality in the state. Copies are on file with all of the principal industries so that new electrical installations are being made in compliance with them in practically all cases.

The electrical work of this department consists mainly of making inspections in old installations where hazardous conditions exist and of interpreting the requirements of the Electrical Safety Orders in cases where there may be doubt as to their meaning.

Mechanical inspections have been combined with electrical inspections wherever possible in order to reduce the number of visits necessary to cover individual plants.

Lumber and Shipbuilding.

During July, August, September and October, 1925, the woods operations and plants of the lumbering operations in the pine industry, north of Sonora, were visited. There was a marked improvement in the condition of a number of these operations. Safety committees were functioning in a few of the larger plants. An improvement had been made in the storing and handling of explosives since previous visits, legal magazines having been provided, and a closer check being kept on the withdrawal of dynamite.

During November and December of 1925, and January, 1926, all lumber plants and shipbuilding yards in San Francisco, Alameda, San Joaquin, Sacramento, Solano, Napa, Fresno, Santa Cruz and Monterey counties were visited. This work was carried on in San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, San Diego, Riverside and San Bernardino Counties during February, 1926.

The inspection of the redwood industry was started in May, 1926. Monterey, Santa Cruz, Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties were covered by the end of the year.

The twelve shipyards and about forty boat yards in the state were not very active, most of the work being repair work.

A canvass of lumber companies operating logging railroads shows that, following request for compliance with Logging and Sawmill Safety Order 509 (a), forty-seven have operating rules, eleven operating under the rules of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Revision of Orders.

The San Francisco and Los Angeles committees, working on the revision of the Air Pressure Tank Safety Orders, have continued their labors throughout the year. These meetings culminated in a joint conference with five members of the Boiler Code Committee at one of the sessions of the A. S. M. E. National Convention, held in San Francisco in June, 1926. Tentative orders have been prepared, but public hearings will not be called until a decision has been made as to the adoption of the A. S. M. E. Unfired Pressure Vessel Code for use in the State of California on new construction. A special committee is now investigating the possibility of revising the A. S. M. E. Unfired Pressure Vessel Code to meet the demands of industry in California.

Revised Boiler Safety Orders were adopted August 25, 1925, effective on November 1, 1925.

Tentative revisions were prepared on committee recommendations covering certain Elevator Safety Orders, which revisions were designed to permit the installation of elevators having speeds in excess of 700 feet per minute, and the use of double safety devices under certain restrictions. Public hearings were held in August, 1926.

Due to pressure resulting from the collapse of an underpinned wall, which killed four employees, the Commission authorized the revision of General Construction Safety Order No. 1109. The revised order, effective July 1, 1926, will exercise a great influence in favor of better and safer practice during the excavation period of building construction where buildings are erected adjacent to existing buildings having foundations or underpinning insufficient to sustain horizontal pressures. No difficulties have yet been encountered in the enforcement of the order.

Revised Electrical Safety Orders, effective September 1, 1925, were ready for publication in July, 1925. Eight thousand copies were distributed by February, 1926.

Steps have been taken to revise the General Safety Orders of the Commission. Much data preparatory to forming an advisory committee has already been gathered.

Careful consideration has been given to a set of proposed safety orders applicable to the dry cleaning industry.

Publications.

The "California Safety News" was published quarterly, issues appearing for September and December, 1925, and March, June, 1926.

Various members of the staff have prepared technical articles covering accident prevention which have been published in the "California Safety News," "Chamber of Mines and Oil Bulletin" and other publications.

Cooperation With Insurance Companies.

While the Department of Safety is not concerned with insurance rates and is primarily concerned with making places of employment safe for employees according to the standards adopted by the Commission, an effort has been made to cooperate fully with all casualty companies to the extent of eliminating inconsistencies in requirements, wherever possible, in cases where duplication of inspections were inevitable and necessary. The inspection departments of the various insurance companies have invariably shown a willingness to assist the Commission in its accident prevention work.

A complete list of uninsured elevators has been furnished on request to thirty-one (31) insurance companies writing elevator insurance in the State of California. This is an example of the kind of cooperation that has existed during the past year.

Universities and Public Schools.

For the purpose of safeguarding and instilling the spirit of caution in the minds of students in the schools of the state, members of the staff have on request inspected mechanical equipment at manual training schools and laboratories of the universities and have given advice as to necessary safeguarding. Talks have been made to pupils and literature has been distributed with the hope that the seed sown will bear fruit when the students later become employees in the industrial world.

Conclusion.

While the efforts of the Department have been directed toward the important problems and some minor industries have of necessity been neglected, there is every reason to believe that material progress has been made in securing safer places of employment. Inspectors report consistently that plants are in much better condition than was true several years ago, and that the attitude of both men and management is more friendly due, probably, to a better understanding of the objective in view. Much more constructive work remains to be done, but there is the assurance that what has been accomplished during the past year is worthy of commendation.

LOS ANGELES OFFICE OF THE DEPARTMENT OF SAFETY.

The southern offices of the Department of Safety are located in the Sun Finance Building, Los Angeles, California. This department is charged with the enforcement, in all places of employment in southern California, of the Industrial Accident Commission's safety laws and safety orders.

The inspection work of the department has shown an increase, as is indicated by the following table, which gives the number of inspections, classified as to divisions, made by attaches of the Los Angeles office of the Department of Safety for the fiscal year 1925-1926.

Division	Regular	Special	Total
Mining	2,122	430	2,552
Construction	2,255	264	2,519
Elevator	13	38	51
Boiler	989	715	1,704
Mechanical-electrical	1,126	156	1,282
Lumber	9	10	19
Totals	6,514	1,613	8,127

In addition to the above tabulations, a large number of inspections in the several divisions of work were made by attaches of the San Francisco office of the Department of Safety, who operated periodically in this district during the fiscal year. The number and classification of those inspections will appear on the report of those inspectors respectively.

SAFETY EDUCATION.

In keeping with the preconceived plan for education in safety sense, members of the Los Angeles staff have taken an active part in the organization and functioning of, and have delivered addresses and talks before industrial safety committees and other organizations whose work is predicated upon the conservation of human life and limb, as follows:

Industrial Safety Committees.

There are 325 such safety committees in southern California industries, which are so constituted that the respective concerns receive insurance premium credits under the regulations of a rating bureau. These committees are the result of cooperation between the Commission, insurance companies, employers and employees.

Fifth Annual Industrial Safety School.

Six meetings of this school were held in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Auditorium during the early months of the year, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Industrial Accident Commission and other organizations. The attendance consisted principally of executives, superintendents, foremen, and workmen from local industrial concerns. The attendance at the six sessions were 403, 749, 748, 748, 451 and 371 respectively. The San Francisco and Los Angeles offices of the Commission were represented on the program, and the southern branch of the Department of Safety took active part in executive work.

Safety Committee of Chamber of Mines and Oil.

The Chamber maintains a permanent main safety committee, which embraces eight subcommittees, namely, automotive, pipeline, construction, sales, accident statistics, refineries, field work, and marine. All of the larger oil companies and the greater number of smaller oil companies are represented on these committees, which function to the end of accident prevention in the oil industry. The Los Angeles office of the department is regularly represented at the meetings of these committees and the department actively participates in their work.

Southern California Society of Safety Engineers.

This society meets regularly once a month and has a membership of approximately two hundred persons, who are attaches of industrial concerns and insurance companies. This body plays an important part in accident prevention work in this field. Attaches of the Los Angeles office of the Department of Safety are members of this society and take active part in promoting the work of such society.

Universities and Public Schools.

For the purpose of safeguarding and instilling the spirit of caution into the minds of students at these institutions, attaches of the Los Angeles office have inspected all such institutions in southern California; have advised as to the safeguarding of machinery and other equipment, and have given talks and distributed literature such that will better fit those students for safe industrial activities, in which many of them will engage in the future.

Plant Safety Meetings.

Numerous safety meetings at employment plants have been attended by representatives of the department, interesting talks on accident prevention given and motion pictures exhibited to the employees. These meetings have proved very instructive to both the employees and the managements.

American Petroleum Institute.

A convention of this body was held at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, in January, 1926. Among a large number of committees, there was one which dealt specifically with the safety problem appurtenant to oil field equipment. The Los Angeles office of the Department of Safety cooperated with that committee to the desired end.

Meeting of Representatives of Building Material Groups of Southern California.

The department was represented at this meeting and the safety problem was given due consideration.

These specific cases are but a criterion of the safety educational work that was carried on by attaches of the southern office during the fiscal year. The department has given its cooperation at all times in advising both with large and small gatherings of employers and employees, technical societies and public officials, with a view to furthering education in safety sense.

Drafting and Revision of Safety Orders.

Attaches of this office have contributed to the drafting and revision of Dry Cleaning Safety Orders, General Construction Safety Orders, General Safety Orders, Air Pressure Tank Safety Orders, Electrical Safety Orders and Elevator Safety Orders.

Accident Investigations.

Fatal and nonfatal accidents in the several divisions of work, have been investigated by attaches of the department and appropriate action has been taken to guard against recurrences.

STATISTICAL DEPARTMENT.

For the year beginning July 1, 1925, and ending June 30, 1926, there were reported to this Commission 246,083 industrial injuries.

Of these 710 caused death, 1,217 caused a permanent impairment of at least 1 per cent, 91,879 caused a temporary disability lasting longer than the day of injury, and 152,277 caused no disability but required medical attention other than ordinary first aid treatment.

The following tables deal with tabulatable injuries, that is, the deaths, permanent disabilities, and temporary disabilities lasting longer than the day of injury, but do not include the no-disability cases. These tables are comparable with those contained in the preceding report of this Commission, covering the period July 1, 1924, to June 30, 1925.

In making a comparison of the number of injuries reported for the fiscal year 1925-1926, an increase is noted over that of the year 1924-1925.

The increase in the total number of more serious injuries, that is, the deaths, permanent disabilities, and temporary injuries lasting longer than the day of injury, amounted to 4,737 cases. The increase in the minor injury or no-disability cases was much greater.

We attribute the increase in the number of more serious injuries to the industrial activity and growth of the state. There has been an increase in these cases each year, excepting two, since 1914.

We attribute the increase of the minor injuries reported to a better organization of the industrial medical service, to section 29 of the act, as amended, effective July 25, 1925, requiring employers to secure the payment of compensation to their injured employees either by insuring or obtaining a certificate of consent to self-insure, and to the industrial activity and growth of the state. We believe that many cases of minor injury that were formerly treated from a first aid cabinet at the shop are now sent, as a precautionary measure, to an emergency hospital conveniently located in the industrial district; each case so treated makes a reportable no-disability injury. From observation we have noted that when an employer is insured he will report more injuries than when he was not insured. Since the amendment to section 29 was approved, a great many employers, whose employees were not previously covered, have taken out compensation insurance. The growth of the state is self-evident.

STATE COMPENSATION INSURANCE FUND.

The fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, has witnessed the same steady increase that has characterized the growth of the Fund since its inception in 1914. The premiums written for this period amount to $5,872,795.16 compared with $5,680,142.58 for the preceding fiscal year and $5,739,827.60 for the year ending June 30, 1924, an increase of 3.4 per cent and 2.3 per cent.

The comparison of the 1926 premiums to date compared with the corresponding premiums for 1925 indicates that the business written in 1926 will exceed the business written in 1925 by 8 per cent.

The dividends paid by the Fund represent the surplus available after all expenses and losses have been paid and the necessary reserves set aside to take care of open claims. The dividends are paid on a sliding scale varying with the size of the risk and the extent of the losses, and have averaged 30 per cent, an amount considerably exceeding that of other participating carriers. This the Fund is able to do through its low operating expense which has averaged less than 15 per cent of the earned premiums during its history. The rates, which are determined by the California Inspection Rating Bureau, an agency of the State Insurance Commissioner, provide for an expense factor that amounts to about 40.6 per cent of the premium. This saving and its interest earnings have enabled the fund to maintain this high dividend.

The following table presents the growth of the Fund since it started in 1914:

Calendar year	Premiums written	Interest earned	Compensation and medical paid	Dividends declared	Total assets
1914	$547,161	$12,191	$89,207	....	$520,596
1915	655,677	27,762	180,640	$74,476	849,980

1917	1,373,783	59,425	580,790	146,734	1,839,988
1918	2,459,086	84,066	941,956	340,878	2,917,571
1919	3,251,974	115,998	1,351,070	489,691	4,135,856

TEXT OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

(Senate No. 15, Chapter 48, Statutes 1925)

CREATING THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the Legislature of the State of California at its forty-sixth regular session, commencing on the fifth day of January, 1925, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the houses thereof voting in favor thereof, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California to amend the constitution of this state by adding to article six a new section to be numbered one a, and by amending sections six, seven and eight of said article, to read as follows:

Sec. 1*a*. There shall be a judicial council. It shall consist of the chief justice or acting chief justice, and of one associate justice of the supreme court, three justices of district courts of appeal, four judges of superior courts, one judge of a police or municipal court, and one judge of an inferior court, assigned by the chief justice to sit thereon for terms of two years; provided, that if any judge so assigned shall cease to be a judge of the court from which he is assigned, his term shall forthwith terminate. The chief justice or acting chief justice shall be chairman. No act of the council shall be valid unless concurred in by six members.

The judicial council shall from time to time:

(1) Meet at the call of the chairman or as otherwise provided by it.

(2) Survey the condition of business in the several courts with a view to simplifying and improving the administration of justice.

(3) Submit such suggestions to the several courts as may seem in the interest of uniformity and the expedition of business.

(4) Report to the Governor and Legislature at the commencement of each regular session with such recommendation as it may deem proper.

(5) Adopt or amend rules of practice and procedure for the several courts not inconsistent with laws that are now or that may hereafter be in force; and the council shall submit to the legislature, at each regular session thereof, its recommendations with reference to amendments of, or changes in, existing laws relating to practice and procedure.

(6) Exercise such other functions as may be provided by law.

The chairman shall seek to expedite judicial business and to equalize the work of the judges, and shall provide for the assignment of any judge to another court of a like or higher jurisdiction to assist a court or judge whose calendar is congested, to act for a judge who is disqualified or unable to act, or to sit and hold court where a vacancy in the office of judge has occurred.

The clerk of the supreme court shall act as secretary of the council.

The several judges shall cooperate with the council, shall sit and hold court as assigned, and shall report to the chairman at such times and in such manner as he shall request respecting the condition, and manner of disposal, of judicial business in their respective courts.

No member of the council shall receive any compensation for his services as such, but shall be allowed his necessary expenses for travel, board and lodging incurred in the performance of his duties as such. Any judge assigned to a court wherein a judge's compensation is greater than his own shall receive while sitting therein the compensation of a judge thereof. The extra compensation shall be paid in such manner as may be provided by law. Any judge assigned to a court in a county other than that in which he regularly sits shall be allowed his necessary expenses for travel, board and lodging incurred in the discharge of the assignment.

Sec. 6. There shall be in each of the organized counties or cities and counties, of the state, a superior court, for each of which at least one judge shall be elected by the qualified electors of the county, or city and county, at the general state election. There may be as many sessions of a superior court, at the same time, as there are judges elected, appointed or assigned thereto. The judgments, orders, and proceedings of any session of a superior court, held by any one or more of the judges sitting therein, shall be equally effectual as though all the judges of said court presided at such session.

Sec. 7. The judges of each superior court in which there are more than two judges sitting, shall choose, from their own number, a presiding judge, who may be removed as such at their pleasure. Subject to the regulations of the judicial council, he shall distribute the business of the court among the judges, and prescribe the order of business.

Sec. 8. The term of office of judges of the superior courts shall be six years from and after the first Monday of January after the first day of January next succeeding their election. A vacancy in such office shall be filled at the next succeeding general state election after the first day of April next succeeding the accrual of such vacancy by the election of a judge for a full term to commence on the first Monday of January after the first day of January next succeeding his election. The governor shall appoint a person to hold such vacant office until the commencement of such term.

FIRST REPORT OF THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL OF CALIFORNIA.

To his Excellency, C. C. YOUNG,
Governor of California,
and to the members of the Legislature:

The Judicial Council of California was created through the adoption of a constitutional amendment, approved by the people November 2, 1926. This amendment declares that the council shall consist of the chief justice or acting chief justice, and of one associate justice of the supreme court, three justices of district courts of appeal, four judges of superior courts, one judge of a police or municipal court, and one judge of an inferior court, assigned by the chief justice to sit thereon for terms of two years. The chief justice or acting chief justice shall be chairman. The clerk of the supreme court shall act as secretary.

On December 3, 1926, the chief justice announced the assignment of the other members of the Judicial Council, for the term of two years, viz.: John W. Shenk, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court; John F. Tyler, Presiding Justice, District Court of Appeal, First District, Division One; N. P. Conrey, Presiding Justice, District Court of Appeal, Second District, Division One; William M. Finch, Presiding Justice, District Court of Appeal, Third District; T. W. Harris, Judge of the Superior Court; Peter J. Shields, Judge of the Superior Court; Walter Perry Johnson, Judge of the Superior Court; Harry A. Hollzer, Judge of the Superior Court; Henry M. Willis, Presiding Justice, Municipal Court, and W. Cloyd Snyder, Justice of the Peace.

The first meeting of the Judicial Council was held December 10, 1926, at the chambers of the Supreme Court in San Francisco. As a result of the deliberations of its initial session, the council reached the conclusion that its first duty was to survey the condition of business in the superior court throughout the various counties of the state—that being the principal trial court, and to ascertain the present condition of the trial calendars in the several courts. It was decided to at once determine in what counties the superior court has a comparatively small amount of business to attend to, and the judge little to do; what courts afford litigants a reasonably speedy hearing; where trials are delayed so long as to virtually amount to a denial of justice; to ascertain where judicial assistance is needed, and to determine from what courts judges can be spared, in order to render such relief. These were matters that seemed to demand urgent attention.

While it was recognized that it would be necessary to secure from the Legislature funds to defray the clerical and other expenses involved in performing the work of the council, the duty imposed by the mandate of the people, as expressed in the constitutional amendment, was regarded of so important a character that the council decided to begin its labors immediately and proceed as far as possible under the circumstances. One of the members of the council, Hon. Harry A. Hollzer, offered, if relieved from his immediate judicial duties, to assume the direction of a preliminary survey respecting the present condition of the judicial business throughout the state.

His offer was accepted and he proceeded at once to undertake the work. Through the whole-hearted cooperation of the justices of the Supreme Court, quarters for the council were established on December 15, 1926, in the chambers of that court in San Francisco. It is here that the principal work of the council has been carried on. However, since February 1, 1927, the survey has been continued from the Los Angeles Chambers of the Supreme Court.

As a result of extensive correspondence with the judges of the superior court, and also the county clerks, as ex officio clerks of that court, a large amount of data has been accumulated pertaining to the volume of judicial business filed in, and handled by, that court during the two periods, to wit, the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, and the six months period immediately following, ending December 31, 1926.

At the call of the chief justice the council held its second meeting on February 11 and 12, 1927, in Los Angeles. The consideration, at the Governor's request, of certain measures proposed by the Commission for Revision of Criminal Procedure, and of a report or preliminary survey, made by Judge Hollzer, summarizing the statistics and other information gathered by him respecting the condition of judicial business in the superior court, chiefly occupied the time of this two days' session. Judge Hollzer's report was accepted by the council as the substance of its first report to the executive and legislative branches, and follows herein. The sincere thanks of the other members of the council, and of the secretary, are due to Judge Hollzer for the accomplishment in an extremely limited time of a prodigious task, and appreciative gratitude is hereby extended to him. Because of its length, Judge Hollzer's report is appended as Exhibit A to this report.

Some idea, however, of the magnitude of the task confronting the council may be gained by calling attention to a few significant facts disclosed in the report referred to. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there were filed in the superior court more than 7200 informations and indictments in criminal cases. Of these, 2516 originated in Los Angeles County; 778 in San Francisco; 424 in Alameda; 412 in San Diego, and 403 in Sacramento.

Furthermore, in excess of 59,500 ordinary civil law suits were commenced during the same period, the major portion thereof being filed in the following counties, to wit:

Los Angeles, 27,803; San Francisco, 7177; Alameda, 4213; San Diego, 2141; Sacramento, 1382.

During this period approximately 21,000 probate and guardianship proceedings were instituted, the larger number thereof having been commenced in the following counties, to wit:

Los Angeles, 6984; San Francisco, 2904; and Alameda, 2138.

In the juvenile court, a department of the superior court, 11,823 proceedings were commenced, of which there were filed in Los Angeles County, 5277, San Francisco County 2845, and Alameda County 703.

In addition, more than 21,900 suits for divorce and maintenance were instituted. The counties which contributed most of this litigation were Los Angeles 9169, San Francisco 4197, and Alameda 2043.

On December 31, 1926, more than 2100 criminal proceedings, and in excess of 44,400 ordinary civil actions (not including divorce, probate, juvenile or miscellaneous proceedings) were still pending in the superior court throughout the various counties of the state. Of these 665 criminal cases and 12,534 civil actions were then on the trial calendars of these courts. The balance had not yet been set for trial.

It is but natural that, following in the wake of the tremendous growth in population, there should be a vast increase in the amount of litigation demanding the attention of the courts in California. On the other hand, there is a limit to the quantity of litigation which any particular number of judges can handle. In other words, wherever the volume of judicial business has gone beyond such limit, naturally the trial calendars have become congested, resulting in more or less delay, and frequently in considerable financial loss to the litigants and to other members of the community.

To appreciate the difficulties involved, it should be borne in mind that, after the lapse of more than three quarters of a century, the State of California, for the first time, is now engaged in making a scientific study of its judicial system, "with a view to simplifying and improving the administration of Justice." No commercial organization could have survived which had delayed for so long a period of time to investigate its methods of transacting business.

BUSINESS IN APPELLATE COURTS.

The condition of business in the District Courts of Appeal and in the Supreme Court is fairly disclosed by records kept by the Clerk of the Supreme Court and the table appended below. This shows the number of appeals pending in the several courts on December 1, 1926, which had not reached a calendar for hearing, and the months in which the transcripts were filed. The table does not include cases ordered upon calendars then to be immediately heard, nor cases heard and under submission and to be decided, or those in which petitions for rehearing or for hearing in the Supreme Court after decision in a District Court of Appeal were pending or had been granted, nor does it include that large volume of judicial business designated as "original proceedings," comprising petitions for review, mandate, prohibition and the like. The table may properly be supplemented by the general statement that within recent years it has taken, in the average appeal, about two years after filing of transcript to reach a hearing.

The following table shows the number of cases pending in the several Supreme Court Districts and Appellate Districts on December 1, 1926, which had not reached a calendar.

The table does not include cases which had been ordered on a calendar, or those under submission, or cases transferred on petition to the Supreme Court after decision in a District Court of Appeal.

UNCALENDARED CASES, DECEMBER 1, 1926.

Most of the cases shown in the foregoing table were first filed in the Supreme Court and later under the constitutional provision (Art. VI, Sec. 4) transferred to District Courts for hearing and determination. The rules of these courts (Rule XXXVII) provide that cases shall be placed upon the calendar in the order of filing of transcript, irrespective of the court in which the original filing was made, unless for good cause shown, the court otherwise directs. The table would seem to indicate that this rule has been overlooked in some instances.

There is a very marked increase in the number of new appeals due to the constantly increasing amount of business transacted in the superior courts. It is interesting to note in this connection that the amount of judicial business transacted in the various trial courts is in almost exact proportion to the population. In those counties in which the population is increasing in the highest ratio we find the greatest increase in suits filed and litigated matters. The volume of business in the trial courts is as accurately reflected in the number of appeals taken as is the growing population by the litigation in the superior courts.

Reference to the table shows 259 appeals in the Sacramento District of the Supreme Court and Third Appellate District, 744 in the San Francisco District of the Supreme Court and First Appellate District, as against 1332 in the Los Angeles District of the Supreme Court and Second Appellate District. With this preponderance of litigation originating in the counties of the Second Appellate District, it would seem obvious that the man-power of the Second District Court of Appeal should be increased by another permanent division.

The council is therefore prepared to recommend to the Legislature the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment giving to the Legislature the power to create additional divisions of the District Courts of Appeal as the business of the court requires.

READJUSTMENT OF APPELLATE DISTRICTS.

For the purpose of determining what readjustment of Appellate Court Districts might be made to bring about a greater equality in the work of the different courts, a compilation of appeals filed in the District Courts of Appeal and in the Supreme Court from the several counties, covering the period of January 1, 1921, to March 15, 1923, was made by the Clerk of the Supreme Court some years ago. This compilation did not in all cases assign the county in which original proceedings presented to the several courts originated.

For the purpose of comparison, a similar compilation has been made for the period of January 1, 1925, to March 1, 1927 (one-half month shorter in time). These compilations are presented in the following tables, which will be of value in determining the man-power necessary to be provided in the several Appellate Court Districts, as well as a possible readjustment of the counties comprised within those several districts, authority for which readjustment is vested by the constitution in the Supreme Court (Art. VI, Sec. 4).

MUNICIPAL COURTS.

By amendment to the constitution, article VI, section 1, adopted November 4, 1924, provision was made for the establishment of a municipal court in any city or city and county. Pursuant to this power the Legislature at the session of 1925 authorized the organization of such courts in any city or city and county of the state having a population of more than 40,000 (Statutes 1925, page 648). The purpose of the creation of such courts was to relieve the congestion in the superior courts by displacing the courts of justices of the peace and police courts, and bestowing upon the new courts increased jurisdiction to include matters theretofore within the exclusive jurisdiction of the superior courts. Such courts were thereupon established in the cities of Los Angeles and Long Beach. The statistical report prepared by the presiding judge, Henry M. Willis, of the business transacted in the municipal court in the city of Los Angeles for the period commencing February 1, 1926, until the adoption of the constitutional amendment creating this Judicial Council, is most interesting and indicative of the tremendous amount of business transacted. While the figures thus compiled are not of such general interest as are those contained in the survey of the work of the superior court, they are inserted here for the purpose of indicating what might be accomplished if the adoption of the municipal court plan were made compulsory in all cities or cities and counties having the requisite population.

ARBITRATION.

Within recent years there has been a trend in the business world toward arbitration. The American Arbitration Association, leading law schools and business administration schools have undertaken a constructive work in acquainting business men throughout the country with the opportunities for settlement of controversies afforded by arbitration procedure through providing legal sanction for executory contracts of arbitration before any dispute has arisen. The American Arbitration Association prepared and submitted for general consideration, a model arbitration act, the predominating feature of which was the making of agreements to arbitrate controversies which might arise in the future "valid, irrevocable and enforcible." Since 1920 the states of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Oregon, and the Territory of Hawaii, have adopted arbitration acts. Recently Congress enacted the United States Arbitration Act.

Arbitration, if legally sanctioned and properly conducted, affords a plain, speedy and adequate procedure for the settlement of a very large percentage of controversies, particularly those arising in the business world. In view of the fact that at the present time in this state it requires such a length of time to reach a final disposition of those matters in the courts, the council deemed it wise to consider the plan of arbitration as a possible manner of relieving the courts and of expediting business. To that end, a special committee consisting of Presiding Justice N. P. Conrey and Justice of the Peace W. Cloyd Snyder, was appointed to prepare a report on the subject. This committee has found that Assembly Bill

No. 460, introduced by Assemblyman Leland R. Jacobson at the present session of the Legislature, is, except in a few minor details, an exact copy of the New Jersey act. The committee has studied the provisions of the bill in the light of three questions: First, what is wrong with the present California law on the subject? Second, will the proposed act remedy the situation as desired? Third, what changes, if any, should be made?

The conclusion of the committee is that the bill with amendments in four particulars, fully discussed in their report, Exhibit B appended hereto, should receive the recommendation and approval of this Judicial Council.

While the Council, after a consideration of the Committee's report, has not reached a conclusion as to the terms of any specific law, it does take the position that the principle of enforcibility of arbitration agreements is sound, and that a law of that kind would be desirable, provided the rights of the parties are properly safeguarded.

JURISDICTION OF THE COURTS.

The constitutional jurisdiction of the various courts of California has remained practically unchanged since the adoption of the constitution of 1879, and that instrument practically adopted the jurisdictional features of the constitution of 1849. The changes since made were those made necessary by the creation of District Courts of Appeal in 1904, and the Municipal Courts in 1924. This is one of the features contributing to the congestion in the trial courts and in the appellate courts of the state. At the present time the superior court has jurisdiction in all cases at law involving $300 and more, and appeal in such cases involving amounts less than $2000 lies to the District Court of Appeal. Appeals in cases involving more than that amount are allowed to the Supreme Court. As an illustration of what may occur (and what has actually happened) in such a system, in a case involving little more than $300, which was carefully tried in the superior court; judgment entered for the plaintiff; an appeal taken to the District Court of Appeal, carefully considered and the judgment affirmed in a comprehensive written opinion, a lengthy petition for hearing in the Supreme Court after decision and judgment in the District Court of Appeal was filed in the Supreme Court, requiring consideration from that body. The petition was denied. The point is that in this case, involving such a small amount, practically two appeals were granted the losing party.

Under such a system the volume of petitions for hearing in the Supreme Court has grown to such an extent that one out of every two cases decided by the District Courts of Appeal is presented to the Supreme Court on a petition for hearing. The result is that the Supreme Court is compelled to devote the major portion of its time to the consideration and disposition of those petitions, with the further result that it does not have time to consider other matters as it should, and is compelled to assign to the District Courts of Appeal practically all the cases within its own original appellate jurisdiction.

The members of the Judicial Council are of the view that a complete revision of the provisions of the constitution relating to the jurisdiction of the different courts should be made. The council is also of the view that the jurisdiction of the justices of the peace should be materially increased, thereby relieving the superior courts of many trials which now have to be heard there. It is as firmly convinced that the jurisdiction of the District Courts of Appeal should be enlarged, and that practically all cases at law and many cases in equity should be originally appealed to that court. There seems to be no justification for using an arbitrary dollar mark as the dividing line between cases appealed to the District Courts of Appeal and those appealed to the Supreme Court, in view of the fact that there is reserved to the litigant the right to petition the Supreme Court for a hearing therein after a decision and judgment in a District Court of Appeal. Other suggestions have been made which will be presented in the event the Legislature is inclined to consider the submission to the people of an amendment revising the judicial system of the state.

For the purpose of providing a basis for such consideration, the council appointed two of its members, Presiding Justice William M. Finch and Judge Peter J. Shields, as a committee to prepare and submit, for presentation to the Legislature for its consideration at such time as it shall deem proper, a revision of the various sections of Article VI of the constitution which relate to the jurisdiction of the courts. Their report is appended hereto as Exhibit C.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.

The Legislature, in 1925, created a commission to make a study of the methods of criminal procedure, and to recommend to the Legislature now in session a better system of criminal procedure, the purpose of which should be to expedite the trial and final determination of criminal causes. During the opening session of the present Legislature, the commission made a comprehensive report of its studies and its findings. It also submitted to the Legislature, and recommended the passage of, a large number of bills amending or repealing present sections of the Penal Code, and adding new sections thereto. The Commission also reported that, in its judgment, certain changes necessary to the proper administration of criminal justice can be brought about only through the adoption of a number of amendments to the constitution. It therefore recommended the submission of eight constitutional amendments.

Being of the view that the bills in question related quite largely to court procedure, and tended to render more effective the administration of justice in California, Governor Young referred such bills to the council, with the request that it be prepared to give the Legislature information as to the council's judgment in relation thereto. These bills were carefully considered, and the council has reached certain definite conclusions as to the various measures, which are embodied in a short report to the Governor.

The council has also received from various sources requests that it likewise consider and report on the constitutional amendments recommended by the commission for adoption. One of these, that authorizing the Legislature to create new divisions of the District Court of Appeal when necessary, has already been referred to in this report, and is entitled to favorable consideration. Another, that shortening time from thirty days to fifteen days within which the decision of a District Court of Appeal in a criminal case becomes final, relates merely to procedure, and tends to the expedition of judicial business. It should therefore be approved.

We have examined the remaining proposed constitutional amendments and the comment upon each by the Commission for the Reform of Criminal Procedure. Other than the one relating to the compensation of members of the State Board of Prison Directors, and providing for them the services of trained experts, the proposed amendments deal with the substantive law and matters vitally affecting the rights of persons charged with crime. The council is a part of the judicial system of the state. A competent commission has recommended the adoption of the amendments. The policy of making such changes in the fundamental law of the commonwealth relating to guaranteed rights rests, first, with the legislative department, and, in the final determination, with the people. While the council is of the view that the amendments, if adopted, will tend to provide for this state a much more efficient system for the swift and certain administration of criminal justice, it has hesitated to let it appear that it was, in any way, attempting to usurp the prerogative of the Legislature in passing upon these matters. Individual members of the council, however, are free to voice their own views in this connection.

ASSIGNMENT OF JUSTICES AND JUDGES TO OTHER COURTS.

It is provided, in subdivision 6, section 1 (a) of the amendment, that the chairman of the Judicial Council "shall seek to expedite judicial business and to equalize the work of the judges, and shall provide for the assignment of any judge to another court of a like or higher jurisdiction to assist a court whose calendar is congested, to act for a judge who is disqualified or unable to act, or to sit and hold court where a vacancy in the office of judge has occurred." The amendment also provides that the several judges shall cooperate with the council, and shall sit and hold court as assigned.

The meaning of the provision, in its application to the Supreme Court and the District Courts of Appeal, was somewhat in doubt, and cases arose in which the power of the chairman of the Judicial Council to assign judges of the superior court to sit and hold court in the District Courts of Appeal was questioned. These cases also called in question the measure and exercise of the powers and duties of judges so assigned. These matters were considered by the Supreme Court in Fay vs. District Court of Appeal, 73 Cal. Dec. 291, and Landon vs. The District Court of Appeal, 73 Cal. Dec. 306, both decided February 28, 1927. The court held that the chief justice of the Supreme Court, acting as chairman of the Judicial Council, has power to assign judges of the superior court to assist a District Court of Appeal the calendar of which is congested, and to sit and hold court therein; but that the District Court of Appeal to which such judges are assigned is without power to designate such judges of the superior court to sit as an independent division. After pointing out that the appointment of judges pro tempore to serve in the appellate courts was an established practice, and commenting upon the relation of such pro tempore justices to the regular justices and to the court, the Supreme Court says that the cases "well illustrate the flexibility of the provisions of the constitution relating to judges pro tempore prior to the recent amendment; and we can see no serious obstacle in the way of so far enlarging that flexibility as to permit justices or judges, sitting and acting in a pro tempore relation to the regularly constituted courts, performing similar functions when the regularly elected or appointed members thereof [are] neither disqualified nor unable to act. The putting into operation of such a plan would seem to be merely a matter of routine and as such within the entire control of the members of these courts using the same for the more efficient dispatch of judicial business and the relief of congested calendars without in any way disturbing the constitutional organization of such courts as ordained by the constitution prior to the adoption of said amendment." In practical effect, the Supreme Court decision construed the particular provision of the Judicial Council amendment relating to the power of the chairman of the council to make assignments to other courts to allow the widest latitude in accomplishing the purposes for which the council was created, except that it denies to the presiding justices of the District Courts of Appeal the right to set up, with assigned judges, independent divisions of their courts.

SUPERIOR COURT ASSIGNMENTS.

Another provision of the amendment (Sec. 6 of Art. VI) clearly defines the extent of the authority of judges assigned by the chairman of the Judicial Council to superior courts. It provides that "there may be as many sessions of a superior court, at the same time, as there are judges elected, appointed or assigned thereto. The judgments, orders, and proceedings of any session of a superior court, held by any one or more of the judges sitting therein, shall be equally effectual as though all the judges of said court presided at such session." The authority vested in the Governor and in the various superior courts prior to the adoption of the amendment to assign judges pro tempore to the superior court, or to sit in extra sessions thereof, is now vested exclusively in the chairman of the Judicial Council. Since the adoption of the amendment, and with the wholehearted cooperation of the judges of the various superior courts throughout the state, more than one hundred and fifty assignments have been made. Judges of the superior court in California are paid varying amounts, according to the counties in which they are elected. Prior to the adoption of the amendment, considerable embarrassment was created by the fact that judges were frequently assigned to sit in courts where the compensation of the judges was more than twice that received by them in their own courts. The embarrassment and the unfair situation thus created have been done away with. Under the present system, any judge assigned to a court, wherein the compensation is greater than his own, now receives, while sitting therein, the compensation of a judge of the court to which he is assigned. The Legislature has provided that this extra compensation shall be paid in the same manner as the regular compensation of judges, i. e., in the case of judges sitting pro tempore in the Supreme Court and in the District Courts of Appeal, the extra compensation is paid by the state. In the case of judges assigned to the superior court, the extra compensation is paid one-half by the state and one-half by the county of the court to which assignment is made.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT.

The Legislature very promptly made financial provision for the maintenance and support of the Judicial Council for the unexpired portion of the present fiscal year through passage of Senate Bill No. 225, as an emergency measure. Senate Bills Nos. 223 and 224 were also passed as emergency measures appropriating a sufficient amount for the extra compensation of judges and justices sitting in the various courts under direction of the chairman of the Judicial Council, and their necessary expenses incurred under such assignment covering the same period. Provision for the future maintenance and support of the council and the extra compensation of justices and judges assigned to other courts, is made in the Governor's budget submitted to the Legislature.

THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL.

The constitution (Art. VI, Secs. 1 and 1*a*) provides that the judicial power of the state shall be vested in the senate, sitting as a court of impeachment, in a supreme court, district courts of appeal, superior courts, such municipal courts as may be established in any city, or city and county, and such inferior courts as the legislature may establish in the designated divisions of the state, and that there shall be a judicial council with the powers and duties prescribed.

The members of the council are of the opinion that the adoption of the Judicial Council amendment marks the beginning of the most significant movement in the interests of the administration of justice in California that has been initiated since the inauguration of the state government in 1849. Behind the motive which led the people to approve the amendment was the appreciation of the fact that there should be a coordination of the courts with the resultant speeding up of the judicial business of the state. When, prior to the recent election, the amendment was being discussed, a ready hearing was given by the people to those interested in securing its approval. It was ratified by a vote of approximately two to one in its favor. So much was said in advocacy of its adoption that it has come to be regarded by many as a panacea for all the ills in the administration of justice. Expectations have been aroused which it will be difficult to satisfy. In such a situation, it is encouraging to receive assurance that the council will have the assistance of the State Bar Association and of various active local Bar Associations throughout the state. Pertinent suggestions are being received from laymen and lawyers, which will later form the basis for discussion. The press generally throughout the state was most cordial in advocating the adoption of the amendment, and is solicitously watching the progress the council is making. The knowledge of this general expectation of possible results brings with it the realization that this council must, first of all, conduct itself as a judicial council—judicial in all that this word implies.* While the time has come for a bold advance in the administration of the judicial business of this state, such advance should be taken only after due consideration of every matter presented, and in the exercise of a sound judgment. The stability of governmental institutions, especially the courts, must be preserved. The present judicial system of the state has been developed through more than seventy-five years of constitional construction, legislative enactment, and judicial interpretation. In approaching the consideration and solution of the various problems which will be presented to it, it will be the purpose of the council to proceed with care, and to reach its conclusions after mature deliberation, acting only when well assured that such conclusions are sound in principle and are just.

*Note by Chairman of the Council: I have selected as members of the council those whom I know from long acquaintance and association, to be, first of all, men of judicial temperament; men who are not to be easily led into hasty or ill-timed action; men who, by virtue of their experience on the bench and their intimate knowledge of the judicial situation in the various courts of the state, realize the importance of the work to which the council is committed. Each one appreciates the fact that the deliberations of the council should, and will, give opportunity for expression of individual and collective ideas, and the broad liberal views of each; such expressions to be given without hesitation, and to be received in all reasonableness and open-mindedness in the consideration of the problems that are presented.

The time has been too short for definite conclusions to be reached upon many subjects which are demanding immediate consideration by the council. This report, therefore, contains but few recommendations. We have felt that the most important matter to engage the attention of the council was the survey of the condition of business in the several courts as a foundation for future recommendations tending to simplify and improve the administration of justice. Within the biennial period before the Legislature will meet again, the council will devote itself to the consideration of these problems, and will be prepared at that time to make more definite recommendations to the Governor and the Legislature concerning the business in hand.

Respectfully submitted.

EXHIBIT A.

PRELIMINARY SURVEY RESPECTING THE CONDITION OF JUDICIAL BUSINESS IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

February, 1927.

To the Honorable WILLIAM H. WASTE, Chairman, and to the Members of the Judicial Council of California:

Pursuant to the resolution adopted at the first meeting of the council held at San Francisco on December 10, 1926, the writer has made certain studies respecting the work to be done by the council, and, in particular, has undertaken a number of preliminary steps which, it is hoped, may lay the foundation for the work we are to carry on.

These studies have included, among others, an examination of the first and second reports filed by the Judicial Council of Massachusetts, a considerable number of articles published by the American Bar Association and the American Judicature Society, the annual reports filed by the County Clerks of San Francisco and Los Angeles with their respective Boards of Supervisors, also annual reports filed, respectively, by the clerk of the municipal court of Los Angeles, and by the former clerk of the former justices' court of Los Angeles township, and also conferences with various judges of the superior courts of San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Alameda counties, the county clerks thereof, municipal court judges, and a number of other officials.

Series of questionnaires have been addressed, respectively, to each of the trial judges throughout the state, including judges of the superior and municipal courts and the judges of all inferior courts, and also to the respective clerks thereof. For the purpose of easy reference these have been given specific designations as follows:

Form 1-A: Return to be made by the judge of the superior court showing condition of trial calendar at the close of 1926, and method of distributing work.

Form 1-B: Return to be made by county clerk showing volume of litigation filed and disposed of during fiscal year July 1, 1925, to June 30, 1926.

Form 1-C: Similar to Form 1-B, except that it covers the period of six months from July 1, 1926, to December 31, 1926.

Form 2-A: Return to be made by judge of the municipal court, and otherwise substantially similar to Form 1-A.

Form 2-B: Return to be made by clerk of the municipal court covering period of first year's business, and otherwise substantially similar to Form 1-B.

Form 3-A: Return to be made by judge of inferior court, and otherwise substantially similar to Form 1-A.

Forms 3-B and 3-C: Returns to be made by the clerk of inferior court, and otherwise substantially similar to Forms 1-B and 1-C.

Forms 1-A, 1-B and 1-C were mailed before December 24, 1926, to each of the various judges and clerks, respectively, of the superior court in the various counties throughout the state. The remainder were mailed within a week later. Each was accompanied by an explanatory letter. A copy of the letter addressed to the judges of the superior court and copies of Forms 1-A and 1-B are attached to this report and marked, respectively, "Appendix A," "Appendix B" and "Appendix C."

The chief justice assigned to the writer a room within the chambers of the Supreme Court in San Francisco where these labors have been carried on from December 15, 1926, to January 29, 1927, and since then the work has been continued in the chambers of the Supreme Court at Los Angeles.

At first the stenographer and several of the deputies in the office of the clerk of the Supreme Court, and also one of the secretaries of that court, were called upon from time to time to render clerical assistance. Toward the last, however, this feature of the work grew to such proportions that it became necessary to employ a special stenographer exclusively for this purpose.

No one can labor within the confines of the Supreme Court chambers without being profoundly impressed with the earnestness, zeal and devotion of the justices of that court, and particularly with the arduous labors of the chief justice. To the writer this environment has been, indeed, an inspiration. To this experience is due, primarily, whatever progress or success the writer has been able to attain on behalf of the council.

THE SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL CALENDARS.

Considering the great distances separating the various county seats from San Francisco (the headquarters of the council), the novelty of the work, the possibility of misconstruing the meaning of some of the questions propounded, it is not to be wondered at that the returns have been more or less slow in being filed, and somewhat inaccurate, thereby necessitating considerable correspondence.

Be it said to the credit of all the judges, and practically all of the clerks, of the superior court, uniform courtesy and cooperation have prevailed at all times. Once doubt and misunderstanding shall have been cleared away, the response will be prompt and complete in every instance, as they have been already in the great majority of cases.

The congestion of the dockets of the superior court being one of the outstanding grievances which gave rise to the adoption of the constitutional amendment creating the council, principal attention up to the present time has been devoted to a consideration of the respective trial calendars of this court. Accordingly Form 1-A has been prepared with a view of ascertaining the number of proceedings which, at the close of last year, were on the respective trial calendars of the superior court in the various counties throughout the state.

Recognizing that many of such proceedings are likely to be uncontested, or otherwise require but little time for their disposal as compared with contested matters, a classification has been devised, that will, it is believed, fairly approximate the true volume of business which awaited the court's attention at that time. Owing to the fact that the forms were not all filled out immediately, but returned on different dates, running from one to four weeks apart, an examination of the returns alone might be misleading. However, when read in the light of the correspondence explaining them, it will be found that these returns, to the extent that they are complete, show a fairly accurate picture of the condition of the respective trial calendars in the court in each county.

Attached to this report and marked "Appendix D," is a table summarizing the condition of these trial calendars. For the purpose of ready reference the table has been arranged in alphabetical order according to the names of the counties.

Under the column designated "criminal" are shown both the maximum length of time within which criminal cases were being set for trial, and also the total number of criminal cases on the trial calendar at the close of last year.

Under the column marked "civil" is set forth corresponding information pertaining to civil cases.

The next column, designated "estimated spare time," is intended to show the amount of time, which, in the writer's opinion, the judge or judges of the court referred to, can devote to assisting other courts. The absence of any data under this particular column indicates that the judge has no time to spare. The basis or theory upon which this computation has been made is as follows:

(1) Where the calendar shows no cases set for trial, or such a meager number of trials that the same could be disposed of within two weeks, it has been estimated that the judge can spare approximately three-fourths of his time;

(2) If the cases set are so few in number that they could be tried within one month's time, it has been assumed that the judge could spare one-half of his time;

(3) Where the trial calendar could be disposed of within two months, it has been estimated that the judge could spare one-fourth of his time.

In each instance this computation has taken account of both the volume of the litigation handled in the course of one year as disclosed by the returns filed by the respective county clerks, and also any information volunteered by the various judges.

CONGESTED CALENDARS—CIVIL CASES SET FOURTEEN MONTHS AHEAD.

Los Angeles County.

Viewing this problem from the standpoint of where the greatest congestion is to be found, the trial calendar of the superior court in Los Angeles County presents the worst situation. At the close of last year civil jury cases were being set for trial in November, 1927, while civil nonjury cases, except as hereinafter noted, were being set for trial fourteen months ahead. On December 31, 1926, in addition to the 296 criminal cases set for trial in the five criminal departments, 8154 contested civil cases had been set to be tried sometime between January, 1927, and the latter part of February, 1928.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there were filed in that court 2516 informations and indictments; 208 appeals in criminal cases; 27,803 ordinary civil actions; 551 civil appeals; 108 civil cases received from other courts; 9169 divorce, et cetera, suits; 6984 probate cases; 5277 juvenile proceedings; 195 failure to provide cases; 3102 insanity proceedings; and 25 miscellaneous applications.

Likewise during that period that court disposed of the following volume of litigation:

In criminal cases 67 appeals were decided; 369 verdicts rendered and 1648 pleas of guilt entered and judgment pronounced thereon, and 409 cases dismissed.

In ordinary civil actions: 3818 judgments were entered in contested cases tried by the court; 324 verdicts rendered; 5279 uncontested adjudications by the court; 919 judgments by the clerk and 8883 dismissals.

In probate: 16,767 uncontested adjudications were rendered.

In juvenile court: 266 judgments were pronounced in contested cases; while 3442 uncontested matters were disposed of.

In divorce and maintenance cases: 6092 interlocutory decrees granted of which 432 were contested. 718 actions were dismissed.

In failure to provide: 39 judgments were rendered in contested cases and 8 suits dismissed.

As to insanity proceedings: 1690 judgments were rendered and 317 cases dismissed;

In miscellaneous proceedings: 173 judgments were rendered.

To dispatch this volume of litigation, there were held—varying from one to seven per day—six hundred and twenty-nine extra sessions, in addition to the twenty-eight regular departments, of that court. This would mean in effect, an average of three additional judges sitting continuously for two hundred ten judicial days.

The method of distributing or dividing the business among the twenty-eight judges of that court, is as follows:

One department, that of the presiding judge, hears all applications for ex parte orders in civil matters, and assigns all civil proceedings and also all applications for writs of habeas corpus to appropriate departments, and also supervises the condition of the trial calendar. The presiding judge sets all civil cases for trial on specific dates in the various departments.

Two departments hear all proceedings in probate.

Another department hears all cases under the juvenile court law, including adoption proceedings.

Another department handles all proceedings upon charges of insanity, except in criminal actions and probate matters, and also hears a portion of the applications for alimony, custody of children and other pendente lite matters in actions for divorce, et cetera.

Another department hears all the default divorce et cetera cases and a portion of the pendente lite applications pertaining thereto.

Another department hears all other civil default matters; and also a portion of the pendente lite applications in divorce cases.

Another is designated as the Law and Motion Department. Here all demurrers, and preliminary motions (other than orders to show cause) are heard, and also all supplementary proceedings in civil cases.

Another department hears all proceedings for original writs, all applications for temporary injunctions and appointments of receivers and all proceedings subsequent thereto, except such as occur at the trial, and also all demurrers and orders to show cause pertaining to such proceedings; also all motions for new trial, which for any reason can not be heard by the judge who tried the case; all appeals in civil cases from inferior courts on question of law alone, and all petitions for registration of land titles.

Another department holds court at Long Beach to hear a calendar of all classes of cases.

Three departments hear all civil jury cases.

Five departments hear criminal cases.

Ten departments hear civil nonjury cases.

One of these ten departments, in case of emergency, hears criminal proceedings. Another tries only short cause matters, while in another are tried only injunctions, unlawful detainer, and similar emergency cases. In the latter two departments the calendars are set only about three months in advance.

CIVIL CASES SET BETWEEN NINE AND TWELVE MONTHS AHEAD.

San Diego County.

Four judges comprise this court:

At the close of last year the county clerk reported that there were 449 contested cases on the calendar ready to be set for trial.

On the 2d instant Presiding Judge Andrews of that court reported that this number had been increased to 475 cases. Judge Andrews further advised that, while criminal cases were being set about forty days in advance, contested civil actions were being tried anywhere from nine months to one year after being placed on the trial calendar.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there had been filed in that court: 412 informations and indictments; 7 appeals in criminal cases; 2141 ordinary civil actions; 13 civil appeals; 847 divorce and maintenance suits; 725 probate cases; 503 juvenile proceedings; 179 insanity cases and 162 naturalization and other miscellaneous applications.

During that same period the court disposed of the following volume of litigation:

In criminal cases: 75 verdicts were rendered and 184 pleas of guilt entered and judgment pronounced thereon. In ordinary civil actions: 1050 judgments were entered by the court in contested cases; 20 verdicts rendered; 601 uncontested adjudications by the court; 82 judgments by the clerk and 378 dismissals.

In addition to the proceedings in probate and juvenile matters, there were 1205 hearings on demurrers, orders to show cause, et cetera.

In this connection it should be noted that since October, 1926, one of the judges of that court has been engaged continuously in the trial of certain water litigation, and it is estimated that this trial will continue until about the end of next March.

At this point it may be well to observe the inequality in the amount of litigation demanding the attention of the courts in the counties of San Diego, Fresno and Sacramento, each of which has four judges, as shown by the following table:

County	A	Fiscal year ending June 30, 1926		D	E	F
		B	C
	Criminal and civil cases on trial calendar	Contested adjudications	Total proceedings filed	1920 census	Nov. 2, 1920, registration	Nov. 2, 1926, registration
San Diego	462	1,205	4,909	112,248	43,435	69,271
Fresno	163	1,239	3,401	128,779	38,508	50,035
Sacramento	113	547	3,335	92,029	39,432	48,371

NOTE.—Column A refers to the condition of the trial calendar on December 31, 1926.

Likewise attention is called to the fact that the civil actions on the trial calendars in Sacramento and Fresno counties were all set to be tried within three months.

The procedure for setting cases for trial in San Diego County is as follows:

On the first Monday of each month the presiding judge assigns a calendar of cases to be tried from the fifteenth day of that month to the fifteenth day of the following month. All cases are set for trial in this department and on the date of the trial are assigned to such departments as are open for hearing the same. Actions are set in the order in which they reach the waiting list, and are placed upon this waiting list by counsel for either party upon request made to the clerk and notifying the other side.

The business of that court is distributed as follows:

In one department are heard all criminal cases;

In two other departments are heard all contested civil cases;

In the remaining department are heard all other proceedings.

In this connection, attention is called to the fact that under Senate Bill No. 46 introduced during the first session of the present Legislature it is proposed to add two more judges to the superior court of San Diego County.

Beginning with February 16th, one extra session will be established for that court, through assignments of judges made by the Chairman of the Judicial Council.

San Bernardino County.

This court is presided over by two judges.

At the close of last year criminal cases were being set as late as March 1, 1927; while civil cases were set to be tried as far ahead as November 1, 1927. At that time 15 criminal cases were on the trial calendar, and in addition to probate, juvenile and other proceedings, there were 280 ordinary civil cases set for trial. Saturdays are set apart for pronouncing judgment, passing on applications for probation and other short cause matters. In addition, insanity proceedings are heard before and after regular court hours. Under date of the second instant the judges of that court sent a communication to the effect that the civil calendar was overloaded to the extent of more than twenty-five per cent each week, and likewise, from time to time, the court crowded in injunctions, unlawful detainer and other suits entitled to early hearings; and also the noon recesses were, whenever possible, used for hearing insanity proceedings and short cause matters.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, the following proceedings were filed in that court: 203 informations and indictments; 6 appeals in criminal cases; 1105 ordinary civil actions; 42 civil appeals; 21 civil cases received from other courts; 359 divorce et cetera suits; 350 probate cases; 254 juvenile complaints; 22 failure to provide cases; 118 insanity proceedings, and 52 naturalization and other miscellaneous applications.

During that same period the court made the following disposition of cases coming before it:

In criminal cases: 40 verdicts were rendered and 101 pleas of guilt entered and judgment pronounced thereon, and 45 actions dismissed.

In ordinary civil actions: 108 judgments were entered in contested cases; 6 verdicts rendered; 29 uncontested adjudications by the court; 30 judgments by the clerk and 279 dismissals.

Besides handling the petitions in probate, juvenile, insanity and miscellaneous proceeding, there were 1205 hearings on demurrers, orders to show cause, et cetera.

In this connection it may be appropriate to note the following comparative data, respecting the counties of San Bernardino and Kern, the former having two, and the latter having three, judges of the superior court.

County	A	Fiscal year ending June 30, 1926		D	E	F
		B	C
	Criminal and civil cases on trial calendar	Contested adjudications	Total proceedings filed	1920 census	Nov. 2, 1920, registration	Nov. 2, 1926, registration
San Bernardino	295	176	2,481	73,401	28,107	39,685
Kern	114	414	1,618	54,843	21,762	31,177

NOTE.—Column A refers to the condition of the trial calendar on December 31, 1926.

Furthermore it should be observed that, at the close of last year, in Kern County the five criminal cases upon the calendar were all set to be tried within forty days, while the contested civil cases were set to be tried within three months.

In the light of such facts it is easy to understand the difference in the condition of the respective trial calendars in these two counties.

City and County of San Francisco.

The business of this court is handled by sixteen judges.

The method of distributing that business is reported by the presiding judge thereof to be as follows:

Three departments hear all criminal cases;

Two departments hear all probate proceedings, and special proceedings incidental thereto, and, in addition, one of these departments hears some civil nonjury cases;

Five departments hear civil jury cases;

Six departments hear all other civil actions and proceedings. These cases are said to be divided on an approximately equal basis, except that one of these departments also hears all juvenile proceedings.

The method of setting nonjury cases for trial varies in different departments of that court. In some of them definite dates are given for the trial of all cases. In others, only some actions are set for trial on definite dates, varying from 30 to 60 days ahead, while many of the cases are kept on what is known as the reserve calendar.

The plan of handling the civil jury calendar is as follows:

When a jury trial is demanded and the case happens to be in a nonjury department the action is transferred to the department of the presiding judge where it is placed upon a reserve jury calendar. From day to day these cases are called for trial by the presiding judge who transfers such as are ready to the several jury departments wherever the calendar is open.

On the 5th ultimo, the Hon. T. I. Fitzpatrick, then presiding judge of that court and, who, at that time, supervised the trial calendars of civil jury departments, reported that actions of this class could be reached for trial within six months after being set.

Judge Fitzpatrick has further recommended that there should be two more judges added to that court, one presiding over a jury department, and the other to handle matters pertaining to the juvenile court and detention hospital.

The Hon. Harold Louderback, who has since become presiding judge of that court, reported under date of the 26th ultimo, based upon information given to him by the respective departments thereof, that the time within which civil nonjury cases could be reached for trial varied in the different departments as follows:

In two of the departments (Depts. 2 and 10) one and one-half months; in another (Dept. 3) two and one-half months; in two other departments (Depts. 1 and 9) three months; in another (Dept. 4) four months; in another (Dept. 7) between four and six months; and in still another (Dept. 14) eight months.

These estimates, however, should be construed in the light of the following data gathered, under date of December 31, 1926, from the San Francisco Recorder (a daily newspaper publishing data respecting the trial calendars and minutes of the proceedings etcetera pertaining to the various courts in San Francisco.

In Department 2: 81 civil actions (excluding divorce) were set for trial up to and including March 8, 1927 and also a list of 43 additional cases were noticed to be reset on December 31, 1926; thereby making a total of 124 cases on the trial calendar of that department.

Department 10: In addition to one day's probate calendar, there were 18 civil actions (excluding divorce) set for trial up to January 31, 1927.

Department 3: 119 civil actions were set for trial up to and including March 28, 1927. However, no cases were set on a number of intervening court days, and, in addition, 10 actions were on the reserve calendar making a total of 129 cases on the trial calendar.

Department 1: 99 civil actions (excluding divorce) were set for trial during January, 1927; also 5 civil cases set to be tried respectively on February 7, 8, 9, 15 and 24; 6 actions set for trial on March 2d, and also 6 actions set for trial on March 3d, making a total of 116 apparently contested cases then awaiting trial in that department.

Department 9 hears nothing but probate cases. Besides the probate proceedings set for January 3, 1927, the trial calendar showed six contested cases set for trial, respectively, on January 11, 18 and 25 and February 8, 15 and 28.

Department 4: 137 civil actions (excluding divorce) were set for trial up to and including April 28, 1927.

Department 7: 39 civil actions (excluding divorce) were set for trial in January, 1927, 26 in February, and 3 in March, 1927, up to and including March 2, 1927; also one additional case on jury calendar; also 45 additional cases on ready calendar and 94 additional cases on reserve calendar, making a total of 179 presumably contested cases then awaiting trial.

Department 14: 46 civil actions were set for trial up to and including January 31, 1927; 110 additional cases on reserve calendar, making a total of 156 cases on trial calendar.

In addition, there were 694 cases on the civil jury calendar awaiting trial at the close of last year. How many of these will ever be tried is, of course, problematical.

This would mean a grand total of 1553 civil cases (excluding divorce) on the trial calendar of that court at the close of last year.

In this connection attention is called to the following excerpt from a letter sent by Judge Fitzpatrick:

> "In our jury departments from January 1st to December 31st, 1926, 480 cases were disposed of in the following manner:
> Tried by jury: 186 cases.
> (Note: Included in this number was the Fallon will contest, which occupied nine weeks and three Key Route cases, which occupied fifteen weeks.)
> Settled and cleared from the calendar 223 cases.
> (Note: Many of these cases would have remained on the calendar for perhaps two or three years more, and would have crowded out live litigation.)
> Dropped from the calendar: 19 cases.
> Transferred to other counties: 5 cases.
> Cases where jury trials was waived, and transferred back to court departments: 47 cases.
> The work was accomplished by four jury departments, with some assistance from the department of the presiding judge, who tried jury cases whenever his court calendar permitted."

Attached to this report and marked "Appendix E" is a table showing the volume of business received and disposed of by that court during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926.

This is followed by a comparative table covering the counties of Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda. It will be noted, however, with respect to San Francisco, that the county clerk's return did not make any distinction between contested and uncontested adjudications in either criminal or civil proceedings.

CIVIL CASES SET FIVE TO SIX MONTHS AHEAD.

The counties of Riverside, Sonoma, Stanislaus and Shasta come within this category.

Riverside County.

Two judges handle the work of this court:

At the close of last year the calendar showed 13 criminal cases set to be tried within a period of slightly over three months and 83 contested actions set to be tried as late as six months ahead. However, the judges stated, that as a rule criminal cases are reached within 82 days and civil cases within 139 days after being set for trial.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there were filed in that court: 170 informations and indictments; 913 ordinary civil and divorce actions; 245 probate cases; 115 juvenile proceedings; 29 insanity cases and 80 naturalization and other miscellaneous proceedings.

During that same period the court disposed of the following volume of business:

In criminal cases: 46 verdicts rendered and 98 pleas of guilt entered and judgment pronounced thereon;

In ordinary civil actions: 596 judgments were entered by the court, 8 verdicts rendered and 51 judgments by the clerk. In addition to the hearings in probate and juvenile matters, 111 interlocutory decrees were granted in uncontested divorce suits; and there were 1014 hearings on demurrers, orders to show cause, et cetera.

In Riverside County cases are set for trial once each month.

Sonoma County.

Two judges preside over this court:

The returns filed by the judges of Sonoma County disclosed:

One criminal case, and 130 civil actions on the trial calendar at the end of last year, all set to be tried within approximately six months.

Judge Campbell of that court, under date of the 4th instant, wrote to the effect, that criminal cases were then being set for trial anywhere from one month to six weeks ahead, but that civil actions were being set for trial approximately seven months in advance.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there were filed in that court: 50 informations and indictments; 696 ordinary civil actions; 179 divorce et cetera suits; 322 probate cases; 76 juvenile cases; 73 insanity proceedings and 107 naturalization and other miscellaneous proceedings.

During that same period the court disposed of the following volume of business:

In criminal cases: 9 verdicts were rendered; 29 pleas of guilt entered and judgment pronounced thereon; 12 cases dismissed;

In ordinary civil actions: 280 judgments were entered in contested cases; 12 verdicts rendered; 250 uncontested adjudications by the court, 48 judgments by the clerk, and 25 actions dismissed;

In juvenile proceedings: 36 judgments were rendered; 35 pleas of guilt entered; and 40 matters dismissed;

In divorce et cetera suits: 137 uncontested decrees were granted; 76 decrees granted in contested actions and 2 were dismissed. There were also 482 hearings on demurrers, orders to show cause, et cetera.

In their report the judges state the grand jury of Sonoma County have recommended to the Legislature that a third judge be provided for that county.

Stanislaus County.

Two judges comprise this court:

While as a rule criminal cases were being tried within 60 days, there were at the close of last year 23 criminal actions set for trial over a period of three months. In addition there were 101 contested civil actions set to be tried within a period of five months.

However, under date of the 3d instant Judge Fulkerth of that court wrote that cases were then being set for trial as late as June, 1927, although some actions were being tried within two or three months after being placed on the calendar.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there were filed in that court 142 informations and indictments; 510 ordinary civil actions;

16 civil appeals; 148 divorce et cetera suits; 200 probate cases; 67 juvenile proceedings; 15 failure to provide cases; 56 insanity proceedings and 57 naturalization and other miscellaneous proceedings.

During that same period the court disposed of the following volume of business:

In criminal cases: 24 verdicts were rendered and 121 pleas of guilt were entered and judgment pronounced thereon:

In ordinary civil actions: 213 judgments were entered in contested cases; 7 verdicts rendered; 90 uncontested adjudications; 6 judgments by the clerk and 114 dismissals. In addition to the hearings in probate and juvenile matters, there were, 121 interlocutory decrees granted in divorce proceedings in which 77 were uncontested, and there were also 1685 hearings on demurrers, orders to show cause, et cetera.

Shasta County.

One judge takes care of the work of this court:

At the close of last year there were 4 criminal actions set to be tried within forty days, and 27 civil cases set for trial over a period of approximately five months. Of the latter, one case was estimated to require four weeks for trial; six cases one week apiece, and the balance, estimated to require from one to two days time each.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there were filed: 25 informations and indictments; 89 ordinary civil actions; 55 divorce et cetera suits; 72 probate cases; 19 juvenile proceedings; 20 insanity cases, and 15 naturalization and other miscellaneous proceedings.

During the same year the court disposed of the following volume of business:

In criminal proceedings: 5 verdicts were rendered and 16 pleas of guilt entered and judgment pronounced thereon.

In ordinary civil actions: 17 judgments were entered by the court, one verdict rendered; one judgment by the clerk and 8 dismissals. In addition to the hearings in probate and juvenile proceedings, 35 interlocutory decrees in divorce were granted (of which 28 were uncontested), 20 insanity cases were disposed of, and there were 66 hearings on demurrers, orders to show cause, et cetera.

At this point attention is called to the following comparative data showing the inequality in the volume of litigation demanding the attention of the courts in the counties of Riverside, Sonoma, Stanislaus and Shasta. Each county has two judges except Shasta which has but one.

County	A	Fiscal year ending June 30, 1926		D	E	F
	Criminal and civil cases on trial calendar	B Contested adjudications	C Total proceedings filed	1920 census	Nov. 2, 1920, registration	Nov. 2, 1926, registration
Riverside	90	761	1,552	50,297	17,085	21,746
Sonoma	131	377	1,473	51,990	20,324	25,978
Stanislaus	124	365	1,195	43,557	15,845	18,408
Shasta	31	30	295	13,311	5,612	6,607

NOTE.—Column A refers to condition of trial calendar on December 31, 1926.

Alameda County.

Eight judges comprise this court:

At the close of last year 45 criminal actions were on the calendar set to be tried within a period of 40 days; also 451 civil nonjury cases had been set to be tried over a period of approximately four months, and in addition to the proceedings in probate, juvenile, insanity and miscellaneous matters, there was a calendar of civil jury cases, the exact number of which has not been reported.

In a communication sent by Hon. T. W. Harris, presiding judge of that court, and a member of the Judicial Council, it appears that in order to keep the civil nonjury calendar within a period of four months, that court was setting from two to three cases to be tried on the same day.

Furthermore the clerk of the court has informed the presiding judge that there is a decided increase in the number of suits being filed. In addition, as reported in the letter referred to, for the last year and a half an extra session department of that court has been kept constantly busy assisting in the trial of civil jury cases.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there were filed in that court: 424 informations and indictments; 9 criminal appeals; 4213 ordinary civil actions; 121 civil appeals; 48 civil cases received from other courts; 2043 divorce et cetera cases; 2138 probate cases; 703 juvenile proceedings; 466 insanity proceedings and 613 naturalization and other miscellaneous applications.

Likewise during that same period the court disposed of the following volume of litigation:

In criminal cases: 114 verdicts were rendered, and 218 pleas of guilt were entered and judgment pronounced thereon, and 57 cases dismissed.

In ordinary civil cases 768 judgments were entered in contested cases; 379 uncontested adjudications; 161 judgments by the clerk and 757 actions were dismissed. Besides the hearings in probate, juvenile and other proceedings, 547 interlocutory decrees were granted in contested divorce et cetera suits; also 884 interlocutory decrees in default cases.

Likewise, as pointed out by Judge Harris, four of the departments each heard from 40 to 50 law and motion matters on one day of each week.

The business of this court is distributed as follows:

Two departments hear all the criminal matters, also habeas corpus and naturalization proceedings; one department handles the entire probate business, also all adoption matters, all proceedings under section 1810*c*, C. C. P., and 172*b*, c, and d of the Civil Code; also hears applications to establish marriage and date of birth, and also sits as the juvenile court. According to the report made to Judge Harris by the clerk of that department, the latter hears an average of 40 uncontested probate proceedings, and an average of two contested probate matters per day, and, in addition, has a calendar of about 40 juvenile cases each week.

To another department is assigned all civil jury cases as above noted. This department has required the assistance of an Extra Session Judge for the last year and a half. The four remaining departments hear all other cases and proceedings.

The matter of handling the civil jury calendar, is explained by Judge Robinson of that court, to be as follows:

When a jury is demanded the case is immediately assigned to the civil jury department. Except where there is some urgency therefor, civil jury cases are not set for trial on a specific date. Instead these cases are placed upon what is called the "jury calendar." In addition there is what is known as the "ready jury calendar," to which cases are advanced in the same order that they appear on the "jury calendar," five or ten cases at a time, and the litigants therein are then required to stand ready for trial when the cases are reached. As the latter are disposed of, a corresponding number of other cases are advanced.

Judge Robinson further writes: "about two years ago, I was confronted by about 300 cases in my department, and the adoption of the above rule has resulted in the reduction of the number, with the help of the extra sessions department."

It is proposed under Senate Bill No. 58, introduced during the present session of the Legislature, to add two more judges to this court.

CIVIL CASES SET THREE TO FOUR MONTHS AHEAD.

The counties of Santa Barbara and Santa Clara come within this category.

Santa Barbara County.

One judge presides over this court.

At the close of last year, besides five criminal actions set to be tried within the next thirty days, there were 79 contested civil cases set for trial over a period of approximately four months. Judge Crow of that court found the calendar so congested that, at his request, an Extra Session Department has been provided for that county, and such extra sessions have been held for a period of four weeks between November 2, 1926, and January 8, 1927. Since the latter date, additional sessions have been held, but the detailed information thereon has not yet come to the attention of the writer.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there were filed in that court: 99 informations and indictments; 436 ordinary civil actions; 161 divorce et cetera suits; 230 probate cases; 134 juvenile proceedings; 88 failure to provide actions; 10 insanity cases and 24 naturalization and other miscellaneous proceedings.

During that same period the court disposed of the following volume of business:

In criminal cases: 9 verdicts were rendered and 39 pleas of guilt were entered and judgment pronounced thereon and 23 dismissals;

In ordinary civil actions: 118 judgments were entered in contested cases; 5 verdicts rendered; 28 uncontested adjudications; 27 judgments by the clerk and 93 dismissals. In addition to the proceedings in probate, juvenile and other matters, 71 interlocutory decrees of divorce were granted, and there were 231 hearings on demurrers, orders to show cause, et cetera.

Under Assembly Bill No. 161, it is proposed to add one more judge to that court.

Santa Clara County.

Three judges preside over this court.

At the close of last year, the trial calendar showed 5 criminal cases set to be tried within the next 40 days, and 161 civil actions set for trial over a period of four months.

However, under date of the 3d instant, Judge F. B. Brown of that court, wrote to the effect that the average time between the setting and trial of a civil case varied from two and one-half to three months, and that the civil cases were divided between three departments.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there were filed in that court: 152 informations and indictments; 3 criminal appeals; 1415 civil actions, including divorce, failure to provide and adoption proceedings; 5 civil appeals; 14 civil cases from other courts; 590 probate cases; 146 juvenile proceedings; 184 insanity cases and 94 naturalization proceedings.

During that same period the court disposed of the following volume of business:

In criminal cases: 11 verdicts were rendered; 111 pleas of guilt were entered and judgment pronounced thereon; in ordinary civil actions 550 judgments were entered in contested cases; 10 verdicts rendered; 99 uncontested adjudications by the court; 13 judgments by the clerk and 152 dismissals.

In probate proceedings: there were 434 uncontested adjudications and one verdict was rendered.

In juvenile cases: there were 89 uncontested adjudications.

In insanity proceedings: 184 uncontested adjudications. In addition there were 5292 hearings on demurrers, orders to show cause, et cetera.

The business of the court is distributed as follows:

One department hears all the criminal cases; to another department is assigned all probate proceedings; to the third department all juvenile court matters. All other litigation is equally divided. The judges sit in the various departments alternately. The civil calendar is set now three months ahead.

CIVIL CASES SET TWO TO THREE MONTHS IN ADVANCE.

The counties of Butte, Santa Cruz, Mendocino, Siskiyou, Monterey, Tulare, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Kern, Orange, Fresno and Imperial come within this category.

However, it should be noted with reference to Butte County, that Judge Gregory is just now convalescent after several months illness. This undoubtedly explains the fact that the trial calendar contained only three criminal actions and eleven contested civil cases set for trial for that length of time.

Santa Cruz County, having one judge, showed a trial calendar consisting of two criminal cases set to be tried within forty days and three contested civil actions spread out for trial over a period of approximately two and one-half months.

In a communication received from Judge Lucas of that county, the statement is made that the calendar of that court generally is filled two months in advance.

On the other hand, in Mendocino County, having one judge, there were five criminal cases set to be tried within two months and seventeen contested civil actions set for trial over a period of approximately three months.

In Siskiyou County there is also one judge. The trial calendar showed three criminal cases set to be tried within forty days and twenty-three contested civil actions noticed to be tried within three months.

In Monterey County, likewise having one judge, while there were no criminal cases on the calendar, there were thirty-seven contested civil actions set to be tried within a period of approximately three months.

Tulare County, having two judges, showed a trial calendar consisting of six criminal cases of which five were to be tried within one month and one in March, 1927, and also, fifty-four contested civil actions set for trial within three months.

Judge Lamberson of that court, in a communication to the council, pointed out that formerly civil cases of that county were set for trial automatically as soon as they became at issue; that is to say, once each month, whether notice had been served or not, all cases then at issue, and not theretofore placed on the trial calendar, were set to be tried on specific dates. Recently this rule was changed and now cases are set only on motion. Commenting upon this change Judge Lamberson has written as follows:

> "Under the old method, the average time for getting civil cases to trial was between four and five months, while under the present method, the average length of time elapsing between the date of setting and the date of trial, is more nearly two months, or between six and eight weeks. The average length of time for criminal cases is between five and six weeks."

Sacramento County with four judges showed a calendar of 15 criminal cases set for trial within 50 days, and 98 contested civil actions to be tried within approximately two and one-half months.

Under date of the 27th ultimo, Hon. Peter J. Shields, one of the judges of that court, and a member of the Judicial Council, advised us, in part, as follows:

> "The civil case most distantly set is down for trial April 19 and 20, 1927. I have been able to try cases almost as fast as attorneys were prepared to present them. In cases of urgency, while the calendar is always filled ahead for about two months, attorneys generally will postpone less urgent cases * * * . The result is, that a large volume of business is handled and the work of the court kept pretty well cleaned up. Our work, however, is increasing, and I think that the Judicial Council can look to this county for very little help in doing the work of outside counties."

In addition, Judge Shields explained that the business of the court is distributed as follows:

Two of the departments handle all criminal cases, all appeals from justices' courts and naturalization hearings; the other two departments take all civil cases, all probate, divorce and guardianship, adoptions and other special proceedings. Likewise Judge Shields' department sits as the juvenile court. Insanity examinations are heard equally by all the judges.

San Joaquin, with three judges, had 16 criminal cases set to be tried within fifty days, and 79 contested civil cases set for trial over a period of approximately three months.

Under date of the 3d instant Judge Geo. F. Buck of that court wrote, saying, in part: "The average time between the setting and trial of a criminal case where the parties are ready to proceed is about four weeks, while the average time between the setting and trial of a civil case where the parties are ready to proceed is about ten weeks."

Respecting the method of distributing the business of the court, Judge Buck further advised us to the effect, that all justices' court appeals and one-half of the civil and probate business were assigned to one department; all divorce litigation and the remaining one-half of the civil and probate matters were assigned to another department; while all of the criminal cases and juvenile court business were assigned to the remaining department.

In addition, Judge Buck wrote saying, "also at the last calling of the calendar of the District Court of Appeal for the Third Appellate District, there were 17 cases argued and submitted, in five of which I am supposed to prepare an opinion for the consideration of the two regular justices * * * . There appears to be sufficient work in this county, if promptly attended to, to engross the entire time and complete attention of the local judges."

Kern County, also having three judges, had five criminal cases set to be tried within 40 days, and 109 contested civil cases noticed for trial within a period of about three months.

Orange County, likewise with three judges, showed a criminal calendar of eight cases to be tried within forty days, and 143 contested civil actions set for trial over a period of about three months.

Under date of the 2d instant, Presiding Judge E. J. Marks of that court reported as follows:

> "A criminal case is usually tried within thirty days from the filing of the information, unless there is some unusual reason for setting it at a more distant date. Ordinarily a criminal case can be tried within fifteen or twenty days from the entry of the plea, if the defendant desires it.
> "We have always endeavored to keep our calendars in such condition that we can set civil cases within ninety days from the motion or stipulation to set. At the present time, a civil case can be set in any one of the three departments here for trial during the month of March if the attorneys desire, providing the case is not a protracted one which will require several days' continued trial. If such case were set, it would have to go over until April for trial."

The business of that court is distributed as follows:

All juvenile matters in one department; all uncontested probate proceedings in another department; all insanity matters to the third department. The balance of the business is divided equally between the three departments.

Fresno County has four judges. At the close of last year, there were 14 criminal cases set to be tried within 50 days, and 149 ordinary civil actions, all set to be tried within approximately three months.

The method of distributing the business of that court is as follows:

All criminal cases and probate proceedings are heard in one department. All other cases are divided equally between the three remaining departments, except that one of these also sits as the juvenile court.

With respect to Imperial County it should be observed that both of the judges are new to the work, their judicial services only having commenced January 3, 1927. While the reports made by the judges disclosed 9 criminal cases and 102 contested civil actions on the trial calendar, it should be noted that the report from Judge Finney was prepared as of date January 31, 1927, and that the trial calendar of his department accounted for all of the criminal cases and 60 of the civil actions—five of these being set for March and three in April.

In a communication addressed to the council under date of the first instant, Judge Finney stated, that if sufficient advance notice be given, the calendars of the two departments could be arranged so as to enable one of the judges to assist in holding court in other counties.

The following table throws light upon the differences in the volume of litigation confronting the court in these counties. It is arranged in the order of the greatest number of contested actions, which, at the close of last year, had been set for trial.

NOTE.—Column B refers to condition of trial calendar on December 31, 1926.

COMPARATIVELY LIGHT CALENDARS—CIVIL CASES SET FOR TRIAL OVER A PERIOD OF LESS THAN TWO MONTHS.

In this category are found fifteen counties, to wit: Colusa, Contra Costa, Glenn, Humboldt, Marin, Merced, Napa, San Luis Obispo, Solano, Tehama, Tuolumne, Ventura, Yolo, Yuba.

In this connection it is significant that, at the close of last year, in the counties of Yolo, Napa and Colusa not a single criminal case was on the trial calendar; while in the counties of Marin, Ventura, Yuba and Tuolumne, but one criminal case had been set for trial at that time.

Under date of the 31st ultimo, Judge Warne of Tuolumne County wrote in part as follows:

> "The average length of time that ordinarily intervenes between the setting of a criminal case and the date upon which it is tried for the past year and a half has been twenty days and in civil cases the time has been about thirty-five or forty days.
> Civil cases are set on motion of either party and when the calendar is open is usually set on a day that is agreeable to both sides."

Judge Anderson of Yolo County, under date of the 6th instant, wrote in part as follows:

> "The criminal case is usually tried within less than a month, but the civil case may not be for more than a month, though usually less.

"To give an illustration of about what we handle, I am sending you a clipping from our local newspaper stating what will be on next Monday's calendar, which will be both the law and motion and trial calendar."

The clipping referred to shows seven probate petitions, one demurrer and order to show cause, one petition to establish birth, also two criminal cases and four civil actions to be set for trial as constituting the entire calendar for that date.

In the return filed by Judge McDaniel of Yuba County, the following statement appears: "If given at least two weeks notice could go where needed, provided Judge Mahon of Sutter County could be assigned to look out for business of both Yuba and Sutter counties during my absence. * * * Yuba City, county seat of Sutter County, and Marysville, county seat of Yuba, are only one mile distant from each other."

In Humboldt County at the close of last year there were no criminal cases on the trial calendar. Likewise there were a total of nine contested civil actions set for trial and all of these in the department of Judge Harry W. Falk. Five of these were noticed for trial in February, three in March and one in May.

In his report Judge Falk pointed out that owing to the death of his predecessor, Judge Murray, in May, 1926, that court had no judge for eight months presiding in Department 1 thereof and hence the business had become congested. It was further stated by Judge Falk that his calendar contained about twenty cases waiting to be set for trial, many of which are regarded as important matters, and which it is expected will consume a great deal of time for the next six months and may be more.

Subsequently, under date of the 29th ultimo, Judge Falk wrote, in part, as follows:

"Have two criminal cases awaiting trial possibly three days each; six two day cases to be set; two one week cases, and three cases that will consume about two weeks. * * * The above information is regarding Department 1 only. * * * A trial calendar has been called upon the first Friday of each month and cases are not set more than two months in advance unless good cause appears therefor."

Finally on the 7th instant an amended return was received from Judge Falk disclosing that, after the call of the February calendar, there were then nine contested cases set for trial in this department, of which five were to be heard in February, three in March and the remaining case in April, 1927.

The following comparative table discloses the inequality in the volume of contested litigation shown on the trial calendars of the court in these counties, and is arranged in the order of the greatest number of contested cases which, on December 31, 1926, had been set for trial.

VERY LIGHT CALENDARS—CIVIL CASES SET FOR TRIAL WITHIN A PERIOD OF ONE MONTH.

The counties included within this classification are Calaveras, El Dorado, Inyo, Kings, Lake, Lassen, Madera, Nevada, Placer and San Mateo.

In addition, the county of Mariposa is placed under this same heading. While the return filed by Judge Trabucco of that county showed that, at the close of last year, there were eleven cases (all civil) set to be tried—four in January—four in March and three in April, the judge, himself, has declared, that he can serve in other courts "Most any time." Furthermore, Judge Trabucco has accepted assignments to hold court in Alameda County from November 22 to December 31, 1926, and in San Francisco from January 17 to March 5, 1927.

While the return filed by Judge Buck of San Mateo County is incomplete, the latter recently wrote to the Judicial Council to the effect, that a criminal case can be tried in his court one week after being set, and that civil cases could be reached for trial within one month. In addition, the clerk reported that no criminal case was pending on December 31, 1926.

It is noteworthy that, in the counties of Calaveras, Lake, Nevada and Placer, not a single criminal case was on the trial calendar at the end of last year, while in the counties of El Dorado and Madera but one criminal case was then set for trial. Likewise, the counties of Inyo and Kings had only one civil action on the trial calendar at that time, in addition to a very few criminal trials.

In each of these counties there is but one judge.

The following table demonstrates the inequality in the volume of litigation before the court in these counties. It is arranged in the order of the greatest number of contested adjudications which had been rendered during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926.

County	A	Fiscal year ending June 30, 1926		D	E	F
	Criminal and civil cases set for trial	Contested adjudications	Total proceedings filed	1920 census	Nov. 2, 1920, registration	Nov. 2, 1926, registration

NOTE.—Column A refers to the condition of the trial calendar on December 31, 1926.

EXTREMELY LIGHT CALENDARS—CIVIL CASES SET FOR TRIAL WITHIN A PERIOD OF TWO WEEKS.

In the counties of Amador, Modoc, Plumas, Sutter and Trinity, whatever cases appeared on the trial calendar at the close of last year, were all set to be tried within two weeks; while in the counties of Alpine, Del Norte, Mono, San Benito and Sierra no contested cases of any kind had been set for trial at that time.

Each of these counties has but one judge.

The following table discloses information which rather convincingly, indicates that the court in these counties has comparatively little to do. The arrangement is in the order of the greatest number of contested adjudications during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926.

County	A	Fiscal year ending June 30, 1926		D	E	F
	Criminal and civil cases set for trial	Contested adjudications	Total proceedings filed	1920 census	Nov. 2, 1920, registration	Nov. 2, 1926, registration

NOTE.—Column A refers to the condition of the trial calendar on December 31, 1926.

Attention is here called to the regrettable fact that the Hon. W. I. Redding, late judge of Sierra County, passed away on the 18th ultimo.

In the light of the data thus far gathered, it is evident that there are quite a few judges of the superior court who can devote anywhere from three to nine months each year assisting in the trial of cases in those counties where the calendars are more or less congested. That some plan should be devised whereby the greatest amount of aid may be rendered, without substantially inconveniencing those counties whose judges are thus drafted, is, of course, essential. While the writer is not yet prepared to submit any complete plan, it is suggested that a series of county groups or circuits might be arranged, whereby there would always be at least two judges "at home" within any particular group or circuit. For that purpose it might be helpful to consider the series or groups set forth in "Appendix G." In addition, there is attached to this report in "Appendix H" a list of assignments of judges made during the months of November and December, 1926, and January, 1927, the same being arranged in the alphabetical order of the counties which received this assistance.

VOLUME OF BUSINESS.

County Clerks' Reports.

As previously noted questionnaires were forwarded to all of the county clerks, as ex officio clerks of the superior court in their respective counties. The information sought was intended to disclose the volume of business received and disposed of in each county during the two periods of time, to wit: the fiscal year from July 1, 1925, to June 30, 1926, and also the six months period running from July 1, 1926, to December 31, 1926. An attempt was made to classify these returns so that they would distinguish, on the one hand, between that type of litigation which is commonly known to consume the major portion of the court's time, and, on the other hand, that part of the judicial business which, though possibly large in quantity, requires but little time to dispose of.

A summary of the data thus obtained is set forth in "Appendix I."

To determine the number of criminal cases pending December 31, 1926, an arbitrary date, to wit, July 1, 1925, was taken as the starting point. It was assumed that any criminal case begun prior to the latter date, even if not tried and still pending at the end of last year, would not be likely to consume any appreciable amount of the court's time hereafter. Similarly with reference to the number of civil actions pending at the end of last year, July 1, 1923, was arbitrarily taken as the starting point, not only for an analogous reason, but also in the light of the provisions of sections 581 and 583, Code of Civil Procedure.

It has been a matter of disappointment that these returns, in a number of instances, have been incomplete and inaccurate. To that extent this survey is likewise incomplete and inaccurate. However, it is believed, that this report may serve a useful purpose.

In this connection attention is called to the fact that a number of the clerks, while expressing a willingness to cooperate, declared that the returns filed by them were incomplete because they did not have sufficient help to gather the detailed information sought. In one or two instances a disposition was shown to decline to cooperate with the council because not legally required to do so.

It is therefore recommended, in the light of the experience thus far had, that legislation be enacted making it mandatory upon the clerks of all courts of record—and also clerks of such inferior courts as may have a clerk—to keep such records, and to file reports with the Judicial Council, in such manner and at such times, as the chairman of the Judicial Council shall request respecting the condition, and manner of disposal, of judicial business in their respective courts.

If we are to carry out the mandate of the people, as expressed in the constitutional amendment creating the council, it is obvious that information should be supplied whenever requested by the council respecting judicial business in the various courts. The clerks of the respective courts are the official custodians of the records thereof and hence the furnishing of information pertaining to the same should be a part of their official duties.

Many suggestions might be incorporated in this preliminary survey. In order, however, that this report may reach the members of the council prior to the holding of the February meeting, further recommendations have been purposely omitted at this time.

That much research and labor remain to be done—work, which, if properly performed, will require years of effort, would seem to be obvious. The writer feels that the surface has been hardly scratched. Patience, devotion and industry, however, can and will accomplish much that is worth while, and which, in the end, will prove to be of great constructive value, both to the people, in general, and to the administration of justice, in particular.

If this report shall prove to be of assistance to the Judicial Council in helping to lay the foundation for the great task ahead, the writer will feel that his labors have been well repaid. Likewise, if, in the judgment of the council, it be deemed advisable that the writer shall continue with the labors thus begun, until such time as a permanent secretariate shall have been established, the service will be cheerfully rendered.

Respectfully submitted.

HARRY A. HOLLZER.

(Explanatory letter addressed to Judges.)

THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

State Building, San Francisco, California.

December 23, 1926.

As you doubtless are aware Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 15, creating the Judicial Council, has been certified by the Secretary of State as having been carried by a very large majority, and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, as ex officio chairman of the Judicial Council, has appointed the members thereof.

The council feel they voice the sentiments of every judge in this state in asserting that the bench welcomes the opportunity for greater public service which this measure affords to the courts and that the judiciary congratulates the people of California upon having taken this enlightened forward step to improve the administration of justice.

Enclosed you will find a copy of this constitutional amendment. At this time the council desires to call attention particularly to those provisions thereof which are printed in bold type. While the provision for increased compensation will require some action on the part of the Legislature as to the manner of its payment, it seems safe to assume that both the Legislature and the Governor will heartily cooperate in carrying out the will of the people as expressed by this amendment and that such legislation as the council may recommend in that regard will be enacted.

The time is too short for a full and detailed report respecting the condition of business in the several courts prior to the convening of the Legislature. However, a partial report is imperative, both to enable the chairman of the council to make proper assignments of judges and also to furnish a basis upon which an emergency appropriation of funds may be secured from the Legislature and other necessary legislation may be enacted without delay.

Three forms are enclosed. Form No. 1-A should be filled out by the judge. Forms 1-B and 1-C the judge is requested to ask the county clerk, as ex officio clerk of the court, to fill out. Please have these forms returned as soon as possible. Of course, in those counties where there is more than one judge, the judges can readily arrange between themselves as to who should make the request of the county clerk so there need be no duplication of Forms 1-B and 1-C.

Kindly have the clerk forward two copies of the rules adopted by your court.

Finally, in those counties where there are more than two judges of the superior court, attention is called to the constitutional mandate (Art. VI, Sec. 7, as amended) which requires such judges to choose, from their own number, a presiding judge. In the counties indicated the judges are respectfully requested to choose such presiding judge and to advise this office as to the one thus chosen.

Thanking you for your prompt cooperation and wishing you the compliments of the season, we beg to remain,

Respectfully,

THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
By B. GRANT TAYLOR, Secretary.

EXHIBIT B.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON ARBITRATION APPOINTED BY THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

February 25, 1927.

To Hon. William H. Waste, Chairman, and to the Members of the Judicial Council, State of California.

Gentlemen: The subject of arbitration is covered by sections 1281 and 1290 inclusive, of the California Code of Civil Procedure. In our state there has been a widespread dissatisfaction with our laws respecting arbitration which has been often expressed by chambers of commerce, mercantile associations and business men generally.

In order to ascertain just what use has been made of the procedure as prescribed by California law we wrote to the county clerks of San Francisco and Alameda counties and examined the records in the county clerk's office of Los Angeles County, believing that these three large counties would furnish a fair estimate of the use that is being made of the sections providing for arbitration in our Code of Civil Procedure. The clerk of San Francisco County did not answer our inquiry. Alameda County reported that there were no submissions to arbitration filed during the year 1926. In Los Angeles County there were only three submissions filed during the year 1926, and three have been filed to date during 1927.

It may be that business men would not make use of an arbitration statute designed to cover the needs of the situation. It is possible the small number of submissions regularly filed with the county clerks in the past lies in the reluctance of business men to make use of arbitration as a method of settling disputes. We do not think, however, that such is the case. We believe if an adequate procedure were furnished that people generally would use it and that our courts would thereby be relieved of a great deal of business which now causes delay and serious inconvenience to all parties.

We have before us:

1. Sections 1281 to 1290, Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California.
2. A copy of the New York Arbitration Act, which was passed in 1920 and amended in 1921.
3. New Jersey Arbitration Act, passed in 1923.
4. The Oregon Arbitration Act, passed in 1925.
5. The Massachusetts Arbitration Act, passed in 1925.
6. The United States Arbitration Act, approved on February 12, 1925.
7. A copy of Assembly Bill No. 460, introduced by Hon. Leland R. Jacobson and sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco.

8. A report of the committee appointed by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to consider passage of a workable Arbitration Law by the California Legislature and composed of Judge Dana Weller, Chairman; James H. Mitchell, Charles H. Kegley and William T. Craig.

9. Various data published, and sent to us by the courtesy of the American Arbitration Association of New York City, and including a copy of the Model Arbitration Act.

From an examination of this material we have come to the conclusion that there is a widespread demand for an adequate law which will make possible the settlement of commercial disputes outside of court, and also that if such a law is provided a very substantial amount of business which now encumbers our court records will be disposed of with less delay and inconvenience to the parties concerned and with a saving of much time and expense to our courts.

ARBITRATION LAWS IN OTHER STATES.

The Model Arbitration Act, which was produced by the American Arbitration Society, has been followed almost exactly in New Jersey, and substantially in New York and Massachusetts. Oregon departed somewhat from it in phraseology, but in many respects the substance of the act was retained. The pamphlets supplied by the American Arbitration Association indicate that that association has made an exhaustive study of the subject, not only in New York state but throughout the United States, and the Model Arbitration Act which that organization has produced, is designed to cover the needs of any state, with minor changes necessary to meet local conditions and procedure.

THE SITUATION IN CALIFORNIA.

Undoubtedly the strongest argument against the present system in California is, that in section 1283, Code of Civil Procedure, appears the following:

> "If the submission is not made an order of the court it may be revoked at any time before the award is made."

In discussing the matter with Mr. C. H. Matson, in charge of the Trade Extension Department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, we were informed by him that this is the principal complaint against the California procedure. He states that business men object to the method because one of the parties may decline to proceed with arbitration at any time before the award is made, and he states that on account of this weakness, arbitration is not a success. There is some law to the effect that if the submission is made an order of court it may not be revoked, under our present system. It is thought, however, that such a procedure is awkward and that only the award and not the submission should be made the order of the court. The general policy in California in respect to arbitration and the reason for the rules upon which it is based are given in the case of California Annual Conference, etc. vs. Seitz, 74 Cal. 287. We quote in part:

> "There are two time-honored rules in relation to arbitration, one that courts will not enforce an agreement to submit to arbitration, or, in other words, that it can be revoked; and the other that arbitrators must give notice of their sessions so as to afford the parties a right to be heard. These rules rest upon the same idea, viz., that an arbitration is a substitute for proceedings in court. It being considered against sound policy to allow parties to deprive themselves of their right to resort to the courts, agreements to that effect are not binding so long as they are executory: but if the parties choose to resort to other tribunals, such tribunals are held to the more important rules which govern courts in their proceedings."

See also Blodgett vs. Bebe Co., 190 Cal. 667.

Procedure for arbitration in California comes to us without amendment under the reenactment of section 380 of the Practice Act in 1872. Conditions in business and methods of procedure have changed so materially since that time that there can be no question as to the need for amendment. The data we have on hand suggests amendments in the following particulars:

1. Appointment of arbitrators.
2. Stay of proceedings brought in violation of the arbitration agreement.
3. Remedy in case of default.
4. Authority and jurisdiction of arbitrators.
5. Compelling attendance of witnesses.
6. Depositions.
7. Confirmation of award.
8. Method of vacating an award and grounds therefor.
9. Method of correcting an award and grounds therefor.
10. Judgment and enforcement thereof.
11. Stay of proceedings after judgment.
12. Appeal and procedure thereon.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO CALIFORNIA LAW.

Assembly Bill No. 460 introduced by Mr. Jacobson is, except in a few minor details, an exact copy of the New Jersey Act. In the report of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Committee above referred to, Assembly Bill No. 460 is recommended but certain amendments are suggested. We believe that the bill with amendments as suggested by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Committee should receive the recommendation of the Judicial Council. The amendments suggested are directed at four general defects in the bill as proposed and we regard those defects as important, and if they are not remedied the procedure provided by this act would result in much confusion and uncertainty.

The four points which the amendments proposed by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce are designed to meet are as follows:

1. Quoting the report of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce:

"In the uniform act and in other acts the application for confirmation, modification or correction of the award is made to a judge and after the judge has passed upon it the papers are then filed with the clerk. In our practice all petitions and applications to a court are filed with the clerk and come on in regular order for hearing before the judge. This procedure should be followed in this statute."

Throughout Assembly Bill No. 460 it is provided that all orders are made by the "justice or judge" and hearings are had before the "justice or judge."

2. Assembly Bill No. 460 provides no method for the taking of depositions.

3. Assembly Bill No. 460 does not specify what the powers and authority of the arbitrators are in respect to taking of depositions, appointing a time and place for hearing, adjourning from time to time, administering oaths to witnesses, hearing evidence and making awards.

4. In the New Jersey Act there was a provision giving the arbitrators the right to compel the attendance of witnesses by "summons." This was copied into Assembly Bill No. 460. It is suggested that the word "subpoena" be used instead of "summons," as a summons is directed to a party to the action or proceeding, whereas a subpoena is directed to one who is not necessarily a party to the action or proceeding.

Most of the amendments suggested by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Committee have to do with the four defects just mentioned. We are attaching hereto a copy of Assembly Bill No. 460, and have attached typewritten copies of the amendments suggested by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Committee and we recommend that the Judicial Council approve the bill with the suggested amendments, with one exception, however. We do not approve the suggested amendment to line 37 in section 1287 providing for the changing of the word "three" to "six." The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Committee gives as its reason for this amendment "the time for applying for a confirmation of the award should be longer than the time for the vacating or modifying the award." We do not agree with this contention. We believe that the word "three" in line 37, section 1287, should stand.

We suggest in addition to the amendments as proposed that a comma be placed after the word "thereof" in line 5, Section 1280.

Section 3390 of the Civil Code subdivision 3 provides among certain agreements which may not be specifically enforced "an agreement to submit a controversy to arbitration." We believe this section should be amended so that subdivision 3 shall read as follows: "3. An agreement to submit a controversy to arbitration, except in the manner provided by sections 1280 to 1293, inclusive, of the Code of Civil Procedure," or by entire elimination of said subdivision 3.

Respectfully,

W. Cloyd Snyder,
N. P. Conrey.

EXHIBIT C.

REPORT ON REVISION OF JURISDICTION.

To the Chairman and Members of the Judicial Council:

We, the committee appointed to draft certain constitutional amendments, submit the attached proposed amendments to sections 3, 4, 5 and the first and second sections 11, of article VI. We have gone beyond the purpose for which we were appointed, by eliminating dead matter, rearranging certain provisions, and proposing additional amendments.

Section 3. The obsolete provision relative to the classification of justices elected at the first election after the adoption of the constitution is omitted. The provisions relative to vacancies are reframed, making them similar to those of section 8, contained in the judicial council amendment adopted at the last general election. The same changes are made in section 4 as to appointees to fill vacancies in the district courts of appeal.

Section 4. The first paragraph is unchanged, except that the provision giving the supreme court jurisdiction on appeal in cases of mere money demands is eliminated.

Section 4*a*. We have reframed and combined paragraphs two and three of Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 12, introduced by Senator Baker. That amendment empowers the Legislature to determine the number of divisions of the appellate court in each district.

Section 4*b*. This gives the district courts of appeal jurisdiction on appeal from superior courts in all mere money demands. Jurisdiction of appeals in cases of removal from office is also given. This change is made to correct an injustice of long standing. The provisions relating to petition for hearings in the supreme court are copied from the Baker amendment.

The obsolete provision for classification of the justices elected at the first election is omitted. We have made a similar provision applicable generally to the creation of new divisions of district courts of appeal by the Legislature. The provisions authorizing the supreme court and the district courts of appeal to select a judge to sit in the place of a justice who is unable to act is omitted because that power is now vested in the chairman of the Judicial Council. The last paragraph also has been omitted, because the making of rules for the government of all courts has been delegated to the judicial council, and it would be unwise to have a conflict of authority.

Section 5. The first paragraph has been reframed in an effort to eliminate, generally, concurrent jurisdiction in the superior and the inferior courts and to correct certain apparent inconsistencies between the provisions of that section and other provisions relative to the jurisdiction of inferior courts. The provision for hearing and determination by district courts of appeal of cases in which judgments have been rendered by appellate departments of the superior court has been eliminated, as the effect would apparently be to slow down rather than speed up justice.

Section 11 (second section 11). When we took up the matter of giving jurisdiction up to $1000 to justices' courts in cities having populations of more than 40,000, we at once discovered that, if we carried out the suggestions made at the Los Angeles meeting, we would make such courts municipal courts in all respects except in name. We are quite doubtful whether the legislature would propose such an amendment and whether the people would adopt it if proposed. The fact that only two cities have adopted the municipal court system indicates that there may be opposition to it in other cities. We therefore have prepared an amendment to the first section 11 which would give the legislature authority to provide, in effect, for municipal courts in cities wherein there is no municipal court and to fix the jurisdiction thereof and the qualifications of the officers thereof according to population. We think this amendment should be submitted rather than an amendment to the second section 11 and that it should be numbered section 11*a*.

In view of the importance of accuracy in constitutional provisions, we invite the closest scrutiny of these proposed amendments. While we have given considerable time to their preparation it may well be that we have overlooked inconsistent provisions of other sections or have failed to make necessary changes in corresponding provisions.

Respectfully submitted.

WM. M. FINCH,
PETER J. SHIELDS.

Article VI, section 3.

Sec. 3. The chief justice and the associate justices shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state at large at the general state elections, at the time and places at which state officers are elected except as provided by Section $2\frac{3}{4}$ of article II of this Constitution; and the term of office shall be twelve years from and after the first day of January next succeeding their election. If a vacancy occur in the office of a justice, the governor shall appoint a person to hold the office until the election and qualification of a justice to fill the vacancy, which election shall take place at the next succeeding general state or primary election after the first day of April next succeeding the occurrence of such vacancy; the justice then elected shall hold office for the unexpired term; provided, that whenever the term of office of the justice whose place is filled by appointment is fixed by law to expire on the first day of January after the next or such succeeding general election, then the person so appointed to fill the vacancy shall hold office for the remainder of such unexpired term.

Article VI, section 4.

Sec. 4. The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction on appeal from the superior courts in all cases in equity, except such as arise in municipal or justices' courts; also, in all cases at law which involve the title or possession of real estate, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, also, in all such probate matters as may be provided by law; also, on questions of law alone, in all criminal cases where judgment of death has been rendered; the said court shall also have appellate jurisdiction in all cases, matters and proceedings pending before a district court of appeal, which shall be ordered by the supreme court to be transferred to itself for hearing and decision, as hereinafter provided. The said court shall also have power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, and habeas corpus, and all other writs necessary or proper to the complete exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. Each of the justices shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of the state, upon petition by or on behalf of any person held in actual custody, and may make such writs returnable before himself or the supreme court or before any district court of appeal, or before any judge thereof, or before any superior court in the state, or before any judge thereof.

Sec. 4*a*. The state is hereby divided into three appellate districts, in each of which there shall be a district court of appeal, consisting of such number of divisions having three justices each as the Legislature shall determine and until so determined otherwise, the courts of appeal for the first and second appellate districts shall each consist of two divisions, and the court of the third appellate district shall consist of one division. Each of such divisions shall have and exercise all of the powers of a district court of appeal. The district courts of appeal as existing immediately prior to the approval and ratification of this amendment by the people shall not be affected thereby as to the officers or terms of office of the justices thereof.

Upon the creation of any additional division of the district court of appeal the governor shall appoint three persons to serve as justices thereof until the first day of January after the next general election. The justices of said division elected at such general election shall so classify themselves by lot that one of them shall go out of office at the end of four years, one of them at the end of eight years, and one of them at the end of twelve years, and entry of such classification shall be made in the minutes of said division, signed by the three justices thereof, and a duplicate thereof filed in the office of the secretary of state.

The justices of the district courts of appeal shall be elected by the qualified electors within their respective districts at the general state elections, except as provided in Section 2¾ of Article II of this Constitution; and the term of office of said justices shall be twelve years from and after the first day of January next succeeding their election.

If any vacancy occur in the office of a justice of the district courts of appeal, the governor shall appoint a person to hold office until the election and qualification of a justice to fill the vacancy. Such election shall take place at the next succeeding general state or primary election after the first day of April next succeeding the occurrence of such vacancy; the justice then elected shall hold office for the unexpired term; provided, that whenever the term of office of the justice whose place is filled by appointment is fixed by law to expire on the first day of January after the next or such succeeding general election, then the person so appointed to fill the vacancy shall hold office for the remainder of such unexpired term.

One of the justices of each of the district courts of appeal, and of each division of said court, shall be the presiding justice thereof, and as such shall be appointed or elected, as the case may be. In cases wherein the presiding justice is not acting the other justices shall designate one of their number to perform the duties and exercise the powers of presiding justice.

The presence of two justices shall be necessary for the transaction of any business by such court except such as may be done at chambers, and the concurrence of two justices shall be necessary to pronounce a judgment.

No appeal taken to the supreme court or to a district court of appeal shall be dismissed for the reason only that the same was not taken to the proper court, but the cause shall be transferred to the proper court upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as may be just, and shall be proceeded with therein as if regularly appealed thereto.

All statutes now in force allowing, providing for or regulating appeals to the supreme court shall apply to appeals to the district courts of appeal so far as such statutes are not inconsistent with this article and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide.

The first district shall embrace the following counties: San Francisco, Marin, Contra Costa, Alameda, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Fresno, Santa Cruz, Monterey and San Benito.

The second district shall embrace the following counties: Tulare, Kings, San Luis Obispo, Kern, Inyo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial.

The third district shall embrace the following counties: Del Norte, Siskiyou, Modoc, Humboldt, Trinity, Shasta, Lassen, Tehama, Plumas, Mendocino, Lake, Colusa, Glenn, Butte, Sierra, Sutter, Yuba, Nevada, Sonoma, Napa, Yolo, Placer, Solano, Sacramento, El Dorado, San Joaquin, Amador, Calaveras, Stanislaus, Mariposa, Madera, Merced, Tuolumne, Alpine and Mono.

The supreme court, by orders entered in its minutes, may from time to time remove one or more counties from one appellate district to another, but no county not contiguous to another county of a district shall be added to such district.

Said district courts of appeal shall hold their regular sessions respectively at San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento, and they shall always be open for the transaction of business.

Sec. 4*b*. The district courts of appeal shall have appellate jurisdiction on appeal from the superior courts (except in cases in which appellate jurisdiction is given to the supreme court) in all cases at law in which the superior courts are given original jurisdiction; also, in all cases of forcible or unlawful entry or detainer (except such as arise in municipal, or in justices' or other inferior courts); in proceedings in insolvency; in actions to prevent or abate a nuisance; in proceedings of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, usurpation of office, removal from office, contesting elections, eminent domain, and in such other special proceedings as may be provided by law; also, on questions of law alone, in all criminal cases prosecuted by indictment or information, except where judgment of death has been rendered. The said courts shall also have appellate jurisdiction in all cases, matters, and proceedings pending before the supreme court which shall be ordered by the supreme court to be transferred to a district court of appeal for hearing and decision. The said courts shall also have power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition and habeas corpus, and all other writs necessary or proper to the complete exercise of their appellate jurisdiction. Each of the justices thereof shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of his appellate district upon petition by or on behalf of any person held in actual custody, and may make such writs returnable before himself or the district court of appeal of his district, or before any superior court within his district, or before any judge thereof.

Sec. 4c. The supreme court shall have power to order any cause pending before the supreme court to be heard and determined by a district court of appeal, and to order any cause pending before a district court of appeal to be heard and determined by the supreme court. The order last mentioned may be made before judgment has been pronounced by a district court of appeal, or within fifteen days in criminal cases, or thirty days in all other cases, after such judgment shall have become final therein. The judgments of the district courts of appeal shall become final therein upon the expiration of fifteen days in criminal cases, and thirty days in all other cases, after the same shall have been pronounced.

The supreme court shall have power to order causes pending before a district court of appeal for one district to be transferred to the district court of appeal for another district, or from one division thereof to another, for hearing and decision.

Article VI, section 5.

Sec. 5. The superior courts shall have original jurisdiction in all civil cases and proceedings (except as in this article otherwise provided, and except, also, cases and proceedings in which jurisdiction is or shall be given by law to municipal, or to justices' or other inferior courts); in all criminal cases amounting to felony, and cases of misdemeanor not otherwise provided for; and of all such special cases and proceedings as are not otherwise provided for; and said court shall have the power of naturalization and to issue papers therefor.

The superior courts shall have appellate jurisdiction in such cases arising in municipal and in justices' and other inferior courts in their respective counties or cities and counties as may be prescribed by law. The legislature may, in addition to any other appellate jurisdiction of the superior courts, also provide for the establishment of appellate departments of the superior court in any county or city and county wherein any municipal court is established, and for the constitution, regulation, jurisdiction, government and procedure of such appellate departments. Superior courts, municipal courts and justices' courts in cities having a population of more than forty thousand inhabitants shall always be open, legal holidays and nonjudicial days excepted. The process of superior courts shall extend to all parts of the state; provided, that all actions for the recovery of the possession of, quieting the title to, or for the enforcement of liens upon real estate, shall be commenced in the county in which the real estate, or any part thereof, affected by such action or actions, is situated. Said superior courts, and their judges shall have power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, quo warranto, and habeas corpus on petition by or on behalf of any person in actual custody, in their respective counties. Injunctions and writs of prohibition may be issued and served on legal holidays and nonjudicial days. The process of any municipal court shall extend to all parts of the county or city and county in which the city is situated where such court is established, and to such other parts of the state as may be provided by law, and such process may be executed or enforced in such manner as the legislature shall provide.

Upon stipulation of the parties litigant or their attorneys of record a cause in the superior court or in a municipal court may be tried by a judge pro tempore who must be a member of the bar sworn to try the cause, and who shall be empowered to act in such capacity in the cause tried before him until the final determination thereof. The selection of such judge pro tempore shall be subject to the approval and order of the court in which said cause is pending and shall also be subject to such regulations and orders as may be prescribed by the judicial council.

Article VI, section 11.

Repeal first section 11, appearing on p. xxiv, Stats. 1925.

Article VI, section 11.

Sec. 11. The legislature shall determine, according to population, the number and jurisdiction of each of the inferior courts in incorporated cities or towns wherein there is no municipal court, and in townships, counties or cities and counties, and the number of judges or justices thereof and their qualification and compensation, and shall fix by law the powers, duties and responsibilities of each of such courts and of the judges or justices thereof and may provide that the jurisdiction of such courts shall be exclusive.

Proposed Amendment to Section 13, Article VI.

Sec. 13. Notwithstanding any provision contained in this article, the Legislature may fix by law the jurisdiction of municipal courts and inferior courts in cities having municipal courts which may be established in pursuance of this article, and may fix by law the powers, duties, qualifications and responsibilities of judges thereof.

Any action heretofore taken by the Legislature in fixing exclusive jurisdiction of municipal courts in cases at law is hereby ratified and confirmed.

REPORT OF THE STATE LIBRARIAN

To the Governing Board of the Department of Finance.

GENTLEMEN: I beg leave to submit herewith my report covering the activities of the California State Library during the seventy-sixth and seventy-seventh fiscal years, ending June 30, 1926.

THE LIBRARY FUND

Funds, it is said, are the sinews of war. They are quite as truly and infinitely more beneficently the sinews of peace, in the pursuits of which no service can better qualify than that of the modern library. From the low level reached in 1923 when the State Library appropriation was $203,210, almost exactly two-thirds of the high mark of 1921, the figure was raised in 1925 to $253,490. Again it has been possible to increase book purchases—or perhaps it would be more nearly correct to say, increase the total spent for books. It is probably true that the gradual raising of the price of books, due to economic conditions, has prevented our acquiring many more titles. And when it comes to salaries it is demonstrable that the pay of the members of the staff has not kept pace with the change which has taken place since the war in the purchasing power of the dollar. It is hoped that when the library finally moves into its new home a fuller and more detailed study may be sufficient argument on these two most important questions in library economy: an adequate, even generous, book fund, and salaries which place library workers on an equal footing with comparable crafts and professions.

STAFF PROBLEMS

Most libraries have little difficulty with the attitude of their assistants, from messenger up, toward the work to be done, the hours put in, or the quality of the service done. One can not be so sure about the average compensation paid librarians; though no doubt the experience in this newer craft is similar to that of the older professions in their infancy and youth. But it is certain, despite the effort recently so strenuously put forth by the American Library Association, that the question of a reasonable supply of assistants of all ranks and grades has not been satisfactorily answered.

In November, 1924, the State Civil Service Commission announced the first examinations to form eligible lists upon which the State Library could draw. Wide publicity was given, and the examiners took themselves to the populous centers, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Sacramento, where if at all trained workers might be found. The results were pitiably small. Again in 1926 similar examinations were given with quite as poor a showing. The Civil Service Commission was reasonable in its requirements, and even noticeably sympathetic in its attitude toward candidates; but they did not put in an appearance. Eligible lists are lacking. What is the answer?

One might argue that salaries are too low; and therein may be found a partial reason for this little interest in a kind of work which is supposed to be of great drawing quality to women and girls. But that argument is not altogether convincing; the work is pleasant, the surroundings usually inviting, the hours not burdensome, and the pay is definitely on a rising scale. The surer answer, however, is that library schools have not grown with the development of the service. They have taken in young women as students almost exclusively. Young women have a habit of marrying—a habit confirmed by the long practice of a line of progenitors reaching back to the garden of Eden—and many of them for various perfectly sound reasons turn their talent to domestic uses, thereby denying the library the benefit of their training and experience. The library schools can accommodate too few students, especially since the latter have such a high professional mortality. And furthermore, the schools are all striving to turn out workers for top positions.

Library executives themselves have been at fault in attempting to secure assistants of college grade plus special training for positions which may satisfactorily be filled by persons who have not advanced so far but are able to work well under competent direction. The solution of this situation will be found in the development of better library schools of professional standing—the University of Michigan, Chicago University, Columbia University, and others, including we trust the University of California, are in the way of meeting this need—and also in the establishment of training classes either in the larger libraries themselves mainly to recruit their own ranks, or in junior colleges working in cooperation with neighboring libraries.

This statement is preliminary to the recommendation that when the State Library finally occupies its new building a training class be created, with a course not to exceed six months in the year, designed especially to put high school graduates in condition to serve our own library in positions of lower professional rank. At the present time intensive instruction for a short time in county library problems for assistants seeking service in that field would help out the work of the state; though we are confidently looking forward to the time the school at the University of California may have sufficient funds and faculty to meet all such requirements. Should the Sacramento Junior College ever find it possible to offer a training class course in library practice, the duty, which now so plainly confronts the State Library, could ethically be relinquished.

NEW BUILDING

A building is no doubt new until it is occupied and has become worn by the passing of many feet and the contact of many hands. The extension group consisting of the Library and Courts Building, and the Office Building, can consistently, therefore, be considered new; for while from the view point of the man on the street they are finished, they are yet untenanted. The original fund was insufficient to complete the project; the legislature of 1925 appropriated only $300,000, a fund designed to install the heating system but inadequate for the greater job of completing and furnishing two large modern buildings. And as it happened a controversy over this appropriation, occasioned by the Controller's doubt as to the constitutionality of the act, threw the matter into the courts and the heating plant was not placed until long after the cold weather had given way to the summer of 1926.

The buildings have now been standing long enough for them to become a part of the picture of the Capitol gardens. The grounds are being conditioned for planting; so that when finally the several tenants move in much of the dirt and confusion incident to the taking over of a new home will be very pleasantly lacking. The magnificent sculptured pediments and the heroic figures on the entrance level, so beautifully conceived by Edward Field Sanford, Jr., and so finely chiseled out of the granite and marble, have begun to weather in satisfactory manner. As citizens and visitors learn of the view which may be found in the enlarged Capitol group their numbers will constantly grow; and the fame of the state and of the architects and sculptor will spread accordingly.

The estimated $1,250,000 necessary to finish and furnish the new buildings is an item in a large bond proposition for state buildings in Berkeley and Los Angeles. It is probable, therefore, that the electors in November, 1926, will give it their approval. Final occupation of both buildings should be completed by January 1, 1928—almost fifteen years after the legislature approved the original bond measure.

MEETINGS AND PUBLICITY

Many meetings of library associations and similar organizations have been attended the past two years. The librarian and members of the staff have also talked on library subjects before clubs of a general nature.

The librarian has made five trips east, necessitated by his work on the American Library Association Executive Board and the League of Library Commissions as well as his attendance at the larger meetings.

In December, 1924, the librarian attended the midwinter meeting of the American Library Association and the annual meeting of the League of Library Commissions in Chicago. He was reelected president of the latter organization for a two-year term and at the same time a grant of $50,000 was made to the League to carry on a three-year library service demonstration in some state that had not advanced materially in a library way. Louisiana was chosen as the state for the work and in October, 1925, the Louisiana Library Commission was formed with Miss Essae M. Culver, a California librarian, as executive secretary. The work is progressing satisfactorily there. As president of the League and chairman of the Committee under which the Carnegie grant is being spent, the librarian visited Louisiana in April and in October, 1925.

On the April trip he went on to Chicago to attend the two-day meeting of the American Library Association at which the Board of Education for Librarianship and the Commission on the Library and Adult Education furnished the program. On the return trip, at the request of the Carnegie Corporation, the librarian conducted Colonel J. M. Mitchell, Secretary of the United Kingdom Carnegie Trust, from Chicago to California where he made a short visit investigating library and other subjects of interest to the Carnegie Trust.

At the American Library Association meeting in Seattle in 1925 the librarian and Mrs Henshall were the official representatives of the State Library. At this time the librarian was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Executive Board. In April, 1926, after a day at A. L. A. headquarters in Chicago, the librarian attended a meeting of the Southeastern Library Association in Signal Mountain, Tennessee, and of the Southwestern Library Association in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

At the California Library Association meeting in Eureka in 1925 the official representatives of the Library were the librarian, the assistant librarian and the library organizer. At the Long Beach meeting in 1926, the librarian, the assistant, and Miss Garoutte and Miss Mumm were those sent by the Library. All had a part in the programs.

Other organizations with which the Library has cooperated on programs are the California Conference of Social Work, the Adult Education movement and the California Economic Research Council.

Other clubs and groups addressed by the librarian or staff members have been Rotary Clubs, Sacramento Soroptomist Club, Sacramento Business Women's Club, various other women's clubs, schools, meetings of custodians of county library branches, and the annual meeting of the California Academy of Social Sciences.

The organizer has attended the meetings of the California School Superintendents and has continued to give the course on library law at the University of California School of Libranianship.

Besides the talks given, publicity for the State Library has been gained principally through articles prepared for newspapers and periodicals and through the exhibits placed at the State Fair. The exhibit in 1924 was divided into two parts, one showing the resources of the State Library, the other giving a picture of county library service through the use of a large map and some interesting photographs. In 1925 only one phase of State Library work was shown—that of the California Department. This was considered timely on account of the Diamond Jubilee celebration that year. The exhibit cases and walls showed pictures and documents dealing with the admission of California to the Union and other historical matters. The rest of the space was taken up with relics such as gold rockers, gold scales, early fire-arms, et cetera. The exhibit attracted much attention and was the means of making many good connections for this part of our work.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCY

The demand for library workers in California has far outgrown the supply and the calls for library assistants have been many and insistent. The State Library has made suggestions wherever possible, but many vacancies have gone unfilled for long periods and too frequently untrained workers have had to be taken in to fill the need.

During the past two years we have helped to place thirty-five applicants.

BOOKS FOR THE BLIND DEPARTMENT

Changes in the staff of this department have continued. Miss Carmelita Duff resigned as first assistant in December, 1925, and was succeeded by Mrs Blanche Harris Dalton. Mrs Dalton left the State Library in April, 1926, and Mrs Fanny Reynolds Howley, who has charge of the Library for the Blind in the Seattle Public Library, has been secured to fill this position for six months. She began work April 19, and, experienced as she is in similar work in another state, she is bringing to the department a fresh viewpoint that is very helpful.

Miss Mae Davies, a member of the State Library staff for six years and a faithful worker in this department for the last three years, passed away on March 30 after a month's illness. Her cheerful presence and her devotion to the work are greatly missed.

In January, 1925, the publication of News Notes was resumed. This is the small publication, reprinted from News Notes of California Libraries, giving news of this department and a list of additions to it. The publication had been discontinued after the April, 1923, issue.

On July 1, 1925, the State Library again assumed the administration of home teaching work, provision for this having been made in the new budget. Miss Kate M. Foley and Miss Catharine J. Morrison were again added to the State Library staff, and continued the work that had been done the past two years under the State Board of Control.

The work of this department is growing constantly and it becomes increasingly difficult as time goes on. The readers who have been borrowers from the beginning of this department have exhausted the older collection of books and the publication of new ones is not fast enough to satisfy the needs of quick readers. The ingenuity of the staff is therefore often severely taxed in the attempt to keep such borrowers in reading matter.

Our collection has been greatly augmented by splendid gifts from the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, the American Braille Press for War and Civilian Blind, Inc., (formerly the Permanent Blind Relief War Fund, Inc.), the American Brotherhood of Free Reading for the Blind and other donors of books and magazines. Hand-copied books, well selected, have been donated by the Women Volunteers of Oakland, the San Francisco Chapter of the Red Cross, the Pasadena Braille Club, the National Braille Transcribers' Society, and several individual borrowers.

CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT

An increasing amount of research work has been done by the California Department in response to letters from all over the United States and foreign countries. Also there has been a steady growth in the number of workers who come from distant states to work personally on the books, pamphlets, magazines and other material relating to California subjects. Many come who are tracing pioneer relatives or getting genealogical data on California branches of their families.

Within the state, too, there is a steady growth in the realization of the resources of this department. Many California authors have especially appreciated the fine collection of Californiana at their disposal and have spent much time consulting it while writing on California subjects.

One of the important phases of the work, continually being carried on, is assisting those who have lost their naturalization papers to reestablish their citizenship. This is done through our files of the great registers of voters, which became of great value after the fire of 1906, when so many naturalization papers were destroyed, as well as many official records of San Francisco.

Among numerous donations we note the following:

Miss Azelia L. Winchester, a large collection of letters written by her father, General Jonas Winchester, California's first State Printer. These letters cover almost the entire year of 1849, including his voyage around the Horn and experiences in San Francisco and the mines. They are voluminous and give a vivid picture of the life of that important year.

Miss Olga Bandel has placed in the collection her father's diary and correspondence covering a number of years, during which he was in the U. S. Army as a non-commissioned officer. The diary gives a detailed account of the movements of a detachment of the army which crossed the plains and arrived at Benicia Barracks in the fifties. Accompanying the diary are many letters written to his parents in Germany and they give a most interesting picture of the country and of the life of the people.

Miss Florence McKune, a collection of pictures of prominent people, among them a large framed picture of her father, Judge J. H. McKune; also valuable daguerreotypes of her parents and others.

Mrs Edwin H. Clough has recently presented a collection of letters written to Mr Clough by California authors who were his intimates.

Albert Dressler has added many interesting items such as pictures, pamphlets, and relics.

Mrs Pauline Dohrmann, Mrs B. G. Rousseau, William Campbell, and many others have enriched the collection with generous donations.

CATALOG DEPARTMENT

Number of books cataloged	7,547
Number of cards added to catalogs	52,534
Continuations added	2,994
Cards filed in Union Catalog	127,123
Cards received for Union Catalog	191,164

The entire collection of pamphlets was checked and recataloged. Several hundred bookplates, prints and maps were cataloged.

In 1925 we began the task of analysing the music collection but owing to the limited number of catalogers on the staff we were forced to abandon the project. Under the present conditions we are unable to do any work other than catalog the accessions as they are received.

DOCUMENTS DEPARTMENT

The department has received, entered and filed 44,354 government publications, and has distributed to libraries 20,122 California state publications. Public Affairs Information Service Bulletin and other lists have been checked regularly and documents material requested.

Current work during the biennium has been heavy, both in the amount of new material received and in the research and reference work done, including checking of the Union List of Serials. Little time has been left to carry out long-cherished plans of trying to fill gaps in the collection. However, quite a number of federal and state documents have been acquired by gift and exchange from various sources and added to the files.

A time-consuming piece of work incident to the session of the Legislature is the making up for binding of complete sets of the bills introduced, including copies of all amended bills.

LAW AND LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE DEPARTMENT

A new edition of the Library laws of California was compiled by the Department after the 1925 session of the Legislature and issued in printed form by the Library. A Handbook of Information for the use of the Legislators was prepared and issued before the 1925 session. The usual amount of reference work was done during the Legislature and afterward the Statutes were side-noted and indexed.

A list of California county charters and California city charters was prepared and appeared in News Notes of California Libraries for October, 1924, where it could be readily turned to for reference.

The Bureau of Children's Aid of the State Board of Control and the State Department of Public Welfare having decided to print a new edition of Laws of Interest to Women and Children, the copy which had been kept reasonably up to date was put into final shape by this department and made ready to be sent to the printer at the beginning of the new biennium.

The yearly requests for a revision of the material on California for the Statesman's Yearbook were received and complied with.

Among the bibliographies prepared are the following: The Bible in the public schools, Civil service pensions, Criminal law and procedure, Criminal procedure in England, Judicial Councils, Retirement of judges, Statutes and codes: codifications, consolidation and revision. The one on Judicial Councils was printed in News Notes of California Libraries for April, 1926.

PERIODICALS DEPARTMENT

The State Library receives regularly 1170 magazines and 166 newspapers—76 daily and 90 weekly. On account of a somewhat larger budget allowance for this biennium we were again able to make some headway in binding our periodicals and papers, but much still remains to be done. Our Repair Department has been of great assistance in the fine work it has done in putting many of our magazines and newspapers into very satisfactory temporary bindings.

REFERENCE DEPARTMENT

40,178 Author requests were looked up in all sources.
14,333 Subject requests were filled.
20,924 Shipments were sent out.
86,682 Books were lent.
1,284 Pictures were lent.
46,482 Request slips were stamped, marked and mailed.
22,726 Receipt postals were typed.

There has been a marked increase in the use of pictures during the past two years.

An "outline of State Library service to other libraries" dealing mainly with the procedure to be followed by borrowing libraries was printed in News Notes of California Libraries, July, 1925, and has helped greatly in facilitating the inter-library loan work.

SUTRO BRANCH

The Sutro Branch has been located during the period of this report in the San Francisco Public Library building. This central location has helped to make the Branch known to many new users. The work of cataloging the original Sutro collection has proceeded, aided by the addition of a third member to the staff. The immense task of reducing the collection to the original gift and such material as would naturally belong with it has been completed.

COUNTY FREE LIBRARIES

Prospects are good for the establishment of several new county libraries this fall. Work has been done in Sierra and Mariposa counties toward establishment under Section 5 by contracting with Plumas and Merced counties respectively. This plan, if adopted, will pave the way for others of the smaller counties to be assured of library service by securing it from some of the richer counties.

The library organizer countinues to give lectures at the University of California School of Librarianship and is contributing a page of library news to the Western Journal of Education every month.

Much information concerning the California county libraries is asked for constantly both verbally and by letter. This means many interviews for the organizer at the library and many letters, outlines and compilations of statistics to be prepared.

A new pamphlet was issued in April of this year. It is called "Your County Your Responsibility" and deals largely with the organizing problem in those counties still without county libraries.

WHAT IS AHEAD

Two years ago we expressed a feeling of fine confidence in the future of the library in California. Today that conviction is more firmly founded. Libraries in our state are doing a more thorough job of the work they were intended for; and the people are learning that education is not a thing completed in schools, but is a process which when most effective runs through the life course and, after the beginning, is largely individualistic. The recreational side of the service, long recognized, grows in public esteem as its wholesome character becomes more evident. And in a practical way the library is daily proving itself a profitable investment to the keener minds in our bustling American business world.

During 1926 the attention of the country at large was focused on the library because of the celebration of the half century birthday of the professional organization, the American Library Association. The officers and members of this body prepared for this event by making extensive surveys and studies of the more important problems relating to public book and informational service. It was brought out by one of these committees that despite the general acceptance of the library almost half the people in America are not within the circle of its influence. And it was found that the dwellers in the country, the tillers of the soil upon whom we depend for our daily bread, a class of people who because of isolation or freedom from the distractions of twentieth century civilization can best use what the library offers, are denied its benefits to the startling extent of ninety-three per cent of the rural population. In contrast thereto we take pride in recording that in California only about three per cent of the people are without good immediate library service; the prospects are excellent within the next few years for the spread of the county system to those more sparsely settled counties which make up this figure.

To the loyalty and intelligence of the personnel of the State Library, the public, the county, the special and the institutional libraries of California acknowledgment is due for the progress which has been made. At the same time we must express the confident hope that a task so well begun will be continued with growing enthusiasm and increasing public benefit.

APPENDIX E

BOARD OF LIBRARY EXAMINERS

MILTON J. FERGUSON, State Librarian, Chairman.
ROBERT REA, Librarian, San Francisco Public Library, Secretary.
EVERETT R. PERRY, Librarian, Los Angeles Public Library.

Sections 6 and 7 of the county free library law (Chap, 68, Cal. Statutes, 1911) reads as follows:

Sec. 6. A commission is hereby created, to be known as the board of library examiners, consisting of the state librarian, who shall be ex officio chairman of said board, the librarian of the public library of the city and county of San Francisco, and the librarian of the Los Angeles public library.

Sec. 7. Upon the establishment of a county free library, the board of supervisors shall appoint a county librarian, who shall hold office for the term of four years, subject to prior removal for cause, after a hearing, by said board. No person shall be eligible to the office of county librarian unless, prior to his appointment, he has received from the board of library examiners a certificate of qualification for the office. At the time of his appointment, the county librarian need not be a resident of the county nor a citizen of the State of California.

EXAMINATIONS

Three examinations have been held (July 1, 1924-June 30, 1926): 1. Los Angeles September 5, 1924; 2. Sacramento, May 22, 1925, and Los Angeles, June 5, 1925; 3. Los Angeles, June 7-8, 1926, and Sacramento, June 12, 1926.

Thirty candidates took the examinations and twenty-one passed.

On June 8, 1926, the Board adopted the following "Rules and regulations regarding life certificates":

The Board of Library Examiners will grant life certificates authorizing the holders to act as county librarians in conformity with the provisions of the California county free library law, under the following regulations:

1. The applicant must have had at least nine years of successful experience as county librarian in California.

2. The applicant must submit an application on a blank to be provided by the Board of Library Examiners. This must be accompanied by the county librarian's certificate.

3. On the blank mentioned above, applicant must submit a report of the last five years of service.

4. The Board of Library Examiners may require a recommendation from the county board or boards of supervisors under whom the librarian served.

5. The Board of Library Examiners reserves the right to refuse a life certificate to an applicant who has been out of employment as county librarian for a period of three years or longer at the time of application.

6. The Board of Library Examiners may revoke or suspend life certificates for unprofessional conduct or for persistent defiance of and refusal to conform to the laws governing county libraries or for evident unfitness for the duties of county librarian. A hearing before the board will be granted the librarian involved.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

Sacramento, California, January 2, 1926.

HON. FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,
Governor of the State of California,
Sacramento, California.

YOUR EXCELLENCY: Conforming with the provisions of section 2 of the Medical Practice Act of the State of California, Charles B. Pinkham, M. D., Secretary-Treasurer of the Board of Medical Examiners, has the honor of respectfully presenting for your consideration the annual report showing the activities of this branch of the state government for the year 1925.

The financial report for the seventy-sixth fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, shows that the Board of Medical Examiners has successfully operated well within its budget allotment.

Respectfully submitted.

C. B. PINKHAM, M. D.,
Secretary-Treasurer.

REPORT OF BOARD OF MEDICAL EXAMINERS FOR THE YEAR 1925.

1925 RETROSPECT.

The calendar year just passed has been marked by no startling accomplishment either in California or the other states in medical education, licensure and administrative function. All have kept pace with normal growth.

In commenting on the activities of the Board of Medical Examiners of California, the Journal of the American Medical Association, May 30, 1925, relates: "* * * during the last seven years the Board of Medical Examiners (of California) has conducted a thorough and continuous campaign against pseudo doctors * * * the prosecutions have been quite successful * * * from no other state during the last six or seven years have so many reports been received regarding the prosecution of illegal practitioners and the revocations of the licenses of physicians found guilty of criminal or illegal practice * * * In few states have such careful records been kept of those engaged in the various branches of the healing art * * *."

During 1925 some new schools of the drugless variety have been "born" in California under our asserted lax corporation laws, but they are of such minor importance as to occasion but passing comment. One of these recently incorporated "colleges" reports issuing diplomas dated five years before the date of incorporation. Commenting on this procedure our chief counsel states: " * * * The law does not contemplate that an outlaw organization, i. e., one not incorporated and not amenable to any regulation, should continue to give instruction for twenty years, then incorporate and issue diplomas, pre-dated to suit the convenience of such organization, or that such diplomas are of the type referred to in the medical practice act * * *."

The other drugless school incorporated in California as an offspring of its New York sire has distributed circular letters forecasting favorable legislation to be passed at the next session of the California legislature, which will guarantee a license to practice in the State of California to those who pursue the advertised course of lectures.

California (one of the states to feel the stigma of the diploma mill expose cast on us as the home state of the Pacific Medical College) in 1924 revoked the licenses of R. Adcox, Philip Dyment, Eugene Rinaldo and Frank P. Young, based on asserted irregularities in credentials. Attorneys representing these individuals then started court proceedings in an attempt to set aside the judgment of the Board of Medical Examiners. These proceedings have already been pending in court for several months and may drag along for one or two years longer before a final decision is reached.

During the past year no additional diplomas have come to our notice bearing the name "California College of Physicians and Surgeons" of Los Angeles, a "college" (?) incorporated by drugless practitioners who, by virtue of the charter granted by the State of California, are authorized thereunder to grant the degree of Doctor of Medicine. We judge the diploma mill expose has ruined the "market" for these documents asserted to have been a part of the "stock" sold by the "National Diploma Mill" promoters.

The "College of Medical and Drugless Sciences, Department of Medicine and Surgery," Los Angeles (also reported as promoted by a licensed drugless practitioner), has also sunk into innocuous quietude, presumably cut off in its infancy by the National Diploma Mill fraud publicity.

At the last (46th) legislative session, the Medical Practice Act of our state was strengthened by the addition of subdivision fifth-a to section 14, which empowers the Board of Medical Examiners to revoke the license of one who (after a hearing before the board) is found guilty of the purchase, sale, altering, fraudulently using, etc., of any diploma, document, etc., in connection with an application for a license under the Medical Practice Act. No longer will those who issue fraudulent California professional credentials (heretofore asserted to have been widely sold throughout the United States), boast that the California Medical Practice Act does not provide any punishment for such misdeeds.

The asserted confession of Dr. Robert Adcox (constantly referred to as the "clearing house" of the National Diploma Mill ring), which appeared in daily issues of the St. Louis Star from November 4 to 20, 1925, and printed in digested form in each issue of the American Medical Journal commencing November 14, 1925, furnishes a startling record of barter in high school credentials, college degrees, medical degrees, state licenses, etc.

In the Star of November 12, 1925, Dr. Adcox related his journey to Los Angeles, where at one of the exclusive men's clubs he called on Dr. Frank P. Young, with whom he asserts that he closed a deal for the purchase of fraudulent Pacific Medical College credentials, further relating "there are in the United States today some three or four thousand persons who have been 'graduated' from the Pacific Medical College, an institution that never had a graduating class."

California laws should provide some method to prevent a recurrence of such disgraceful profiteering in fraudulent credentials. We question the merits of "quo warranto" proceedings taken to forfeit the charter of this prolific brooder of medical "green goods," which, fortunately for the public, can not be foisted on many state examining boards. The nation-wide unsavory publicity given the credentials of the Pacific Medical College has warned all state boards to beware and has driven those who hold the fraudulent paper of this "college" to hide in shame.

Washington, our sister Pacific coast state, finding an asserted diploma mill operating in Seattle, brought action through its Attorney General to dissolve the corporation and as a result the charter of the American University of Sanipractic was reported revoked on the grounds that the institution has engaged in the "wholesale and fraudulent sale of diplomas."

The state's attorney of Missouri recently commenced "quo warranto" proceedings to revoke the charter of the "St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons" and the "Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery," both of these institutions, according to reports, having been most active in the operations of the National Diploma Mill.

In Missouri many certificates to practice medicine and surgery have been revoked following hearings before the state board of health of charges alleging irregularities in the issuance of licenses. Some of these certificates have been restored by the courts and other appeals brought by others whose licenses were revoked are pending decision by the state courts.

After receiving the requested resignation of the state board of health which held office during the diploma mill turmoil, Governor Baker of Missouri appointed a new board, some having been members of the former board.

The courts of Connecticut have brought to a close all the cases arising from the diploma mill scandal, a recent decision rendered by the chief justice and concurred in by the associate justices sustaining the Connecticut board in revoking the licenses of 173 physicians; however, according to reports, a number of those whose licenses were revoked have appealed to the United States Supreme Court and final determination as to the status of these appellants will be held in abeyance for some time.

Recent press dispatches from Washington, D. C., relate the trial in the United States Supreme Court of Bishop Helmuth P. Holler, president and owner of the "Oriental University," and Ralph Voigt, "master mind" of the National Diploma Mill, each charged with conspiracy to use the United States mails to defraud. Sam Kaplan, asserted member of the diploma mill and agent for the Oriental University, also indicted, plead guilty to all eighteen counts and was stated to have taken the stand as witness for the government, as did Dr. Robert Adcox. Press dispatches state Bishop Holler was found guilty on December 21, 1925, of conspiracy to misuse the mails and that Dr. Ralph Voigt, referred to as the "master mind" of the National Diploma Mill, will next go to trial on a similar charge. Verily "The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceeding fine."

The legislature of West Virginia has recently passed a law now in effect, which makes it a felony to issue, sell or use any fraudulent documents in connection with an application for a license to practice medicine and the penalty for conviction of so doing is confinement in the state penitentiary for one to three years and a fine of not less than one hundred dollars or more than one thousand dollars.

Oklahoma recently enacted a law which provides for the immediate forfeiture of the license of one convicted of a felony or a crime involving moral turpitude. Such a provision has been incorporated in section 14 of the Medical Practice Act of California for several years.

The annual registration feature of the medical act, in which California was one of the pioneers, is gradually being adopted by the various states and is now incorporated in the laws of Alaska, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Louisiana, North Carolina and Pennsylvania. Each year adds to the list, the latest to awaken to the advantages of annual registration being Iowa and Pennsylvania.

California has long been urged to pass legislation that would recognize those who pass the examination of the National Board of Medical Examiners. Commenting thereon the December issue of California and Western Medicine says: "There are nineteen states and territories that do not accept the National Board of Medical Examiners. California is one of them. and it is in poor company."

APPOINTMENTS.

Some changes in the personnel of the board were effected by your excellency appointing on October 7, 1925, Andrew Morton, M. D., of San Francisco, vice H. E. Alderson, and Wilburn Smith, M. D., of Los Angeles, vice Robert Campbell, M. D., each for the term prescribed by law.

President P. T. Phillips, vice self, and Secretary-Treasurer C. B. Pinkham, vice self, were favored by reappointment on October 10, 1925, for a term of four years, and on December 21, 1925, Wm. R. Molony, M. D., Los Angeles, vice self, was reappointed for the term prescribed by law.

MEETINGS.

The Board of Medical Examiners of the State of California has held four meetings during the year 1925, i. e., in Los Angeles in February and June, San Francisco in July and Sacramento in October. Written examinations for physicians and surgeons, drugless practitioners, chiropodists and midwives were held at each meeting. In addition to the routine business matters and written examinations, legal hearings consumed a larger portion of the time both day and night at the February and July meetings, but not so strenuously exacting at the October meeting.

Oral examinations required of certain reciprocity applicants under section 13, heretofore held at regular meetings of the board, have been demonstrated impractical largely due to the time consumed by the legal hearings and the exactions of the law that the same seven members must hear all the testimony submitted, thereafter rendering judgment. In order to render the applicant more efficient and satisfactory service, dates have been established for special oral examinations to be held simultaneously in Los Angeles and San Francisco. We believe that the small increase in our expenditures occasioned by this innovation will be more than equalized by the peace of mind afforded both the examiners and the applicant. Two oral examinations were held in 1925 under this new scheme and dates for three special oral examinations during 1926 have been arranged.

CERTIFICATES RESTORED.

During the past year, the board has restored three revoked certificates:

Elliott, Chas. R., M.D., revoked October 17, 1923; restored February 12, 1925
Mace, Robert, M.D., revoked October 23, 1924; restored July 6, 1925.
Marsh, Chas., Naturopath, revoked February 15, 1922; restored February 15, 1925.

APPLICATIONS PENDING, DECEMBER 31, 1924.

Reference to the 1924 report discloses that on December 31, 1924, applications of the following classes were pending final disposition as evidenced by application fees on deposit:

A—Physician and Surgeon	37
BB—Drugless Practitioner	13
C—Physician and Surgeon, reciprocity	58
D—Physician and Surgeon, government credentials	1
F—Midwife	5
Total	114

APPLICATIONS FILED, 1925.

The number of applications filed during 1925, when compared with those filed in previous years, shows a gradual diminution in the total number. The operation of the osteopathic initiative taking graduates of osteopathic schools from the jurisdiction of the Medical Board and placing such graduates under jurisdiction of the Osteopathic Board accounts for a small portion of the loss in applications filed. The chiropractic initiative has resulted in a slight decrease in the number of drugless practitioner applicants.

The table of "applications filed" shows a considerable loss in the number of reciprocity applications filed in 1925 as compared with any previous year. We believe this to be due to the gradual readjustment of the post war unrest which led so many physicians to seek new fields of endeavor.
